WAL Pilots OK Proposal; Strike Over

Planes to Return to Service Within Next Two Weeks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The three-month Western Air Lines strike virtually ended Saturday with the acceptance by the pilots of a proposal to submit unsettled issues to arbitration.

The company began work immediately to get its planes back in the air but said it would be at least 10 days before it could restore its flight service to 47 cities in the western United States, Canada and Mexico.

Under the proposal, which was accepted Friday by the airline, negotiations will continue for five more days. Any issues still unresolved will then go to arbitration, with both sides bound to accept the arbitrators' award.

• • • •

STILL TO BE WORKED out before the strike is officially called off are details of the back-to-work agreement and the machinery for arbitration. Both the company and the Air Line Pilots Assn. said they expected no difficulties on either matter.

The company said it would start at once recalling its 2,700 other employes, including stewardesses, flight engineers and ticket agents, and would put flying personnel through a refresher course.

Matters still to be thrashed out, either during the next five days or by the arbitrator, include wages, pensions, vacations, and the duration of the new contract.

Big 3 Car Builders Raise Pay

DETROIT (AP) — The automotive Big Three Saturday announced pay increases for 173,000 salaried employes and nonunion hourly paid workers.

Ford, Chrysler and General Motors have contracts with the United Auto Workers which provide cost-of-living allowances and an improvement-factor pay increase to UAW members. The companies traditionally make the same benefits to employes not represented by a union.

FORD GRANTED 45,000 salaried workers a $10.40 quarterly cost-of-living increase and a 2½-per-cent improvement-factor pay boost, effective June 1.

General Motors said the pay increases would apply to 10,000 non-union hourly paid workers and 94,000 salaried workers. The raises are effective May 29 and June 1, respectively.

Chrsyler Corp. announced at the same time its 24,000 salaried employes not represented by unions will receive increases effective June 2.

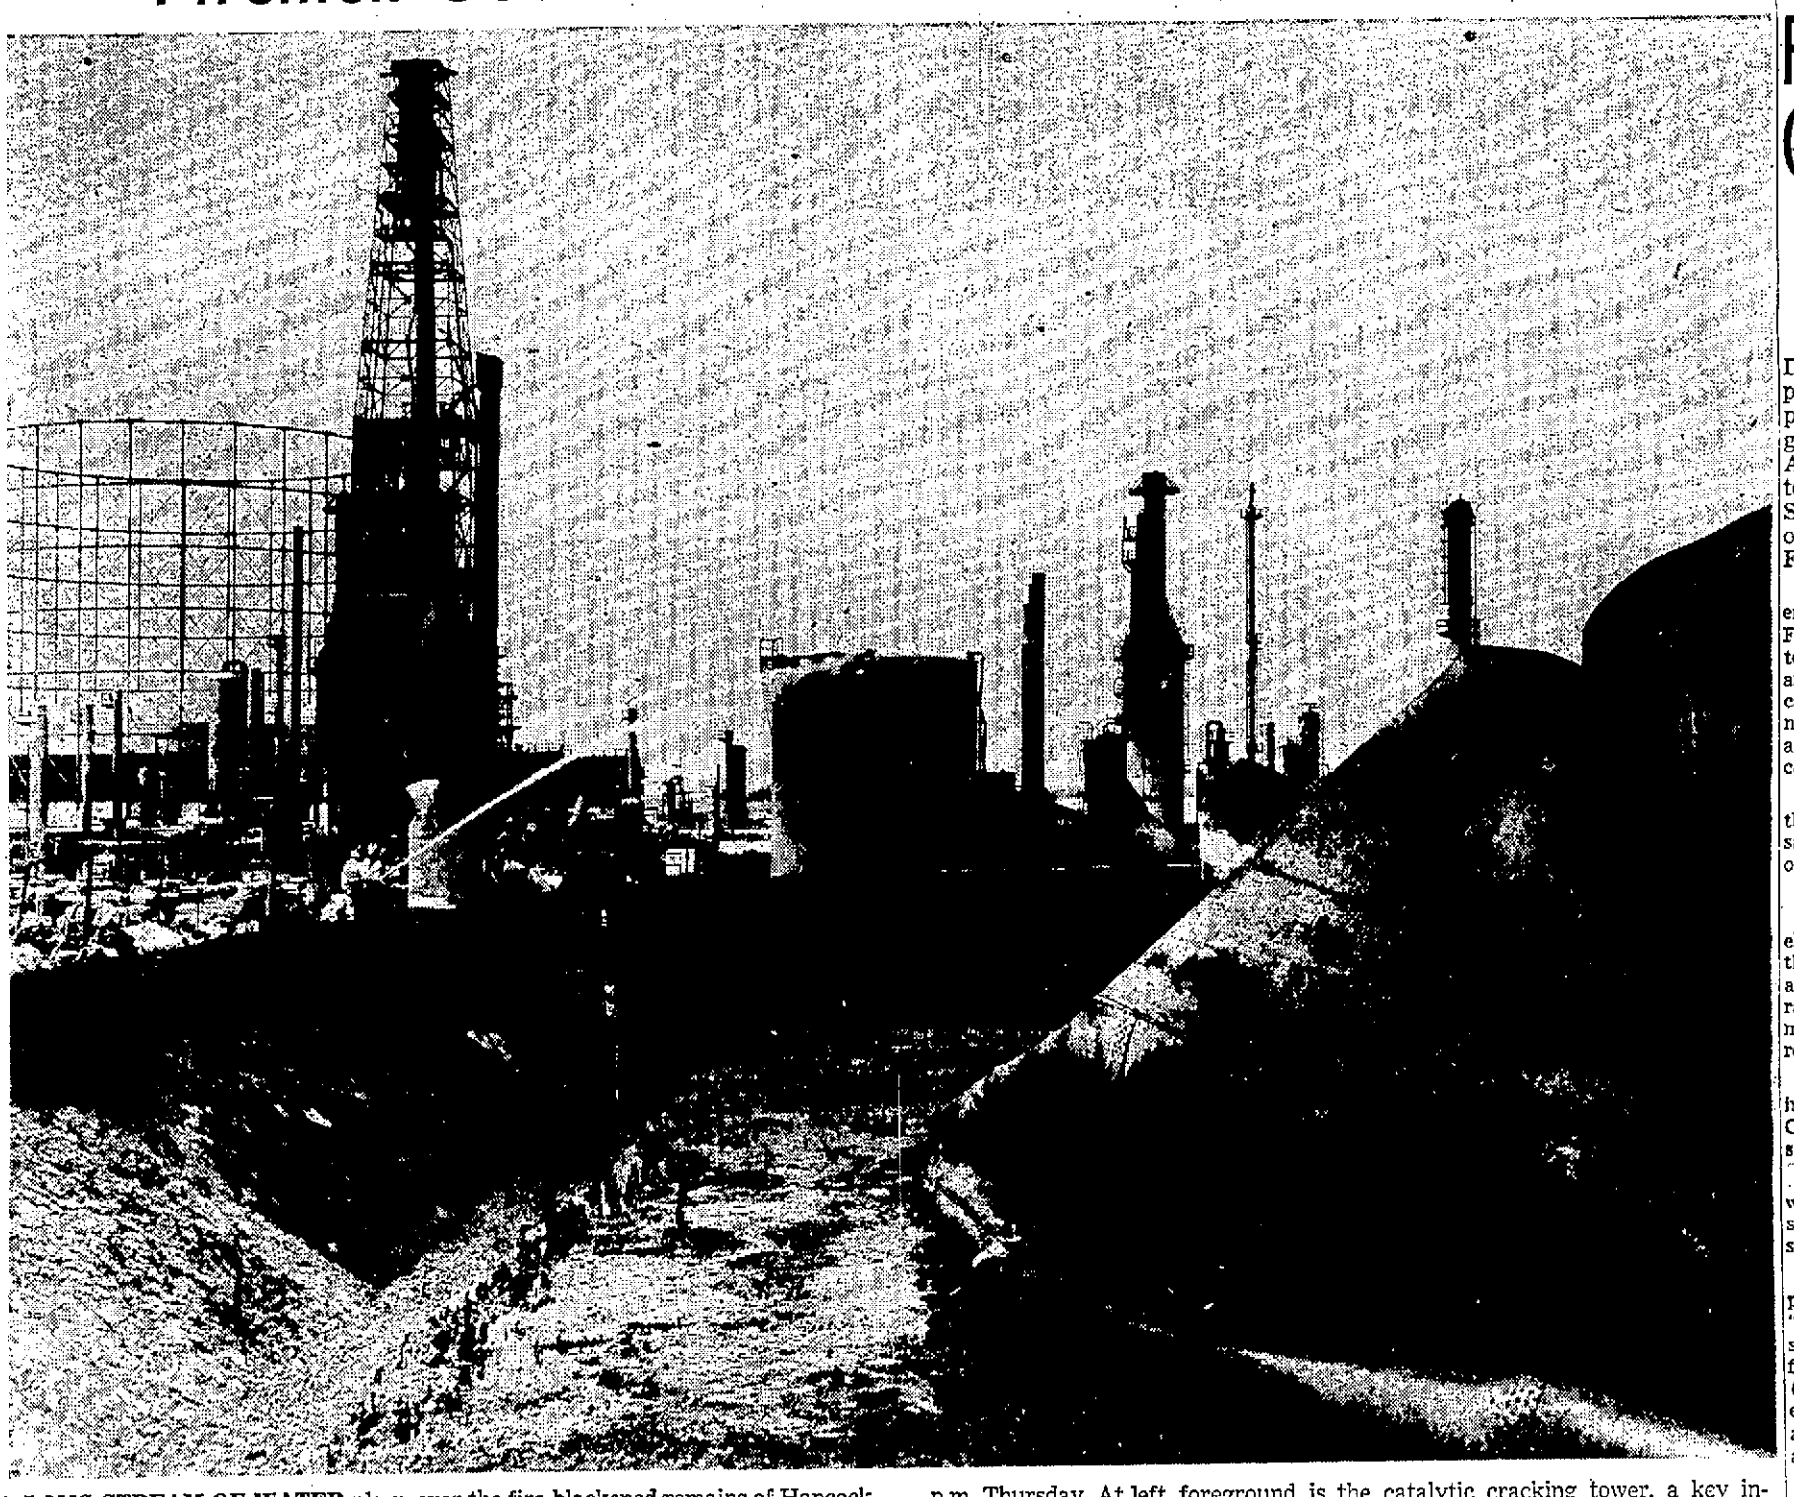

Four Injured in Collision of Car, Truck

HARBOR CITY—Four persons were hurt, two critically, when an automobile and a pickup truck collided Saturday at the intersection of Figueroa St. and Lomita Blvd.

Winford Brooks, 19, of 1033 W. 253rd St., driver of the automobile, and a passenger, Clifford Bynum, 42, of the same address, were in critical condition in Harbor General Hospital. Another passenger, Benjamin Thomas, 39, of 25502 Marigold Ave., was treated in the same hospital.

Police said the auto collided with a pickup truck driven by Lee King, 29, of 22138 Neptune Ave., Torrance. The car was hurled into a utility pole. King was treated at Wilmington Receiving Hospital.

Firemen Cool Blackened Remains of Oil Plant

A LONG STREAM OF WATER plays over the fire-blackened remains of Hancock Oil Co. refinery at Signal Hill Saturday as the last flames flicker and die. Firemen battled the inferno for three days and two nights. At right is the crumpled wall of the tank where the multi-million-dollar blaze started about 2 p.m. Thursday. At left, foreground, is the catalytic cracking tower, a key installation in the ultra-modern refinery. Hancock Refinery Fire Killed in 52-Hour Fight by 600 Men

The last flames of the devastating Hancock Oil Co. fire flickered out at approximately 6 p.m. Saturday, 52 hours after it began.

Saturday's breezes whisked away lingering ribbons of smoke, exposing the grotesque shapes of twisted metal.

The final toll was two dead, eight injured and property loss in the millions. Here are other items of the reckoning at fire's end:

An estimated 600 firemen fought the eight-million-dollar blaze. Four hundred of them, including off-shift personnel summoned back to work, were from Long Beach.

• • • •

SIGNAL HILL had its entire complement of 14 firemen on the scene. The county provided 75 fire fighters. The Air Force sent 100 men. The Navy and Vernon Fire Department provided the rest of the personnel. The Navy also contributed 500 cans of foam.

Streams of oil and water poured onto Temple Ave. and Spring St. This oily river entered the storm drains and emptied into Los Cerritos drainage channel.

A quantity of it flowed into Marine Stadium, but much of it was salvaged by vacuum trucks at points along the channel. The vacuum trucks were used also to salvage diked pools of fuel on Temple Ave.

Brennan S. Thomas, head of the Long Beach Water Department, said there was no estimate yet of the amount of water used in the fire-fighting operation.

He said, however, that a pumper rig uses about 1,250 gallons of water per minute. Long Beach had eight pumpers working on an around-the-clock basis.

Thomas reported that Long Beach householders at no time were threatened by a water shortage. Signal Hill householders were, as the levels in their wells went down.

Long Beach, in addition to providing direct water connections for the fire fighting, also replenished Signal Hill's reservoir at Wardlow Rd. and Gundry Ave.

The reservoir holds five million gallons. Thomas said Long Beach started providing water for it when it was a little less than half full.

No bill will be presented to Signal Hill for its use of Long Beach water, according to Thomas.

"We were protecting our own interests," he said.

He referred specifically to the

Excursion Boat, 1,100 Aboard, Rams River Gate, Injuring 22

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Twenty-two of the 1,100 persons aboard the excursion steamer Avalon were injured Saturday when the ship rammed into the gates of the Emsworth lock on the Ohio river.

The injured were not seriously hurt. Most were released from hospitals after treatment.

Many of the passengers were Girl Scouts, but practically all of the girls escaped injury.

There was no panic aboard the Avalon, here from Cincinnati for excursion trips. It suffered only slight damage to its bow and was readied immediately for a moonlight cruise down the Ohio.

• • • •

MOST OF THE 1,100 passengers were from Ohio. They had come here on a combined railroad-river excursion.

The ship was going through the locks on its trip downstream when the accident occurred. Scores of passengers were sent sprawling.

Pilot Arthur Schletker, who was standing watch, said the damage was confined to the bow, and a crumpled piece of deck. Captain Ernest E. Wagner quickly ordered the boat through the locks, swung it around and then headed back through the locks and upstream to Pittsburgh. Police ambulances were waiting to rush the injured to hospitals.

• • • •

THE EXACT CAUSE of the mishap was not determined.

Lockmaster Elmer Graber said it was possible someone missed a signal. He explained that a signal had been given for the ship to reverse its propellers but that it continued forward until it smashed into the lock gate.

The uninjured quickly aided those hurt. One was an unidentified nurse.

Mrs. Doris Peters of Lakewood, Ohio, said she was sitting on a deck chair when the accident occurred, adding:

"A man fell on top of me and I could not get up until he was lifted up. Others on chairs were bowled over too."

UP and INS Join Forces; Called 'UP International'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press Associations and International News Service joined forces Saturday around the world in the creation of a single news agency named "United Press International."

This is the first dispatch of the new service which will embrace the largest number of newspaper and radio clients ever served simultaneously by an independently operated news and picture agency.

Agreements covering the consolidation of services were signed by both sides on May 16, and the announcement was delayed until the physical change over could be worked out.

Rising costs were cited as a major factor behind the merger.

Frank H. Bartholomew, of United Press, will be president of the new global agency, and Kingsbury Smith, of International News Service, will be vice president and associate general manager.

The board will be enlarged by the addition of William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst newspapers; J. D.

First DC8 Jetliner Takes to Air Friday

The sleek and powerful "Number One," first of the DC8 series of Douglas Aircraft Company's jet-powered air liners, is scheduled to take the air for the first time Friday, Memorial Day, from Long Beach Municipal Airport.

Wilson Silsby, director of public relations at the Long Beach Douglas plant, said taxi tests on the swept-wing jetliner have been "most satisfactory."

Silsby said the take-off time will be determined by the weather. The skies must be clear.

Manufactured at a cost of more than 200 million dollars, "Number One" is the first of a series of jetliners for which more than $675,000,000 worth of orders have been placed by 17 air lines.

• • • •

ABOARD THE craft on its initial flight from Long Beach to Edwards Air Force Base for flight tests will be the veteran fliers, A. G. Heimerdinger, pilot; William M. Magruder, co-pilot; and Paul H. Patten, systems operator.

Routine work on the 150-foot-long jetliner is being completed at the Long Beach Douglas plant this week, Silsby said.

4 Fly in Car as Twister Picks It Up

HUDSON, Wis. (AP)—With a frightening roar and a blast of sand, a tornado Saturday scooped up a car carrying two women, a man and a little girl.

They saw it coming, but were helpless to escape the twister which sliced along the Minnesota-Wisconsin border.

Six persons were injured, including the four occupants of the car. Many farm buildings were destroyed, including a barn built at a cost of $58,000 some 30 years ago.

Hyman Sigal, 42, St. Paul businessman, who was at the wheel of the car which was picked up, said, "If the doors would have opened, we'd have been goners."

A 61-year-old West Los Angeles woman strangled Saturday after she fainted and became entangled in a broken arm sling she was wearing, police said.

The body of Mrs. Isabella Stanton was found in a sitting position hanging from a stove burner.

Police said the woman had apparently fainted while cooking.

All-Out Fight Promised by Government

Algiers Officers Lead Insurrection on Famed Island

PARIS, (Sunday) (AP) De Gaullist insurgents and paratroopers—following a pattern set in rebellious Algeria—seized control of Ajaccio and two other towns in French Corsica Saturday. Their action set off talk of civil war in France itself.

Premier Pflimlin called an emergency meeting of the French parliament for Monday to deal with the new threat. In an extraordinary radio broadcast to the nation after midnight he promised all-out action against the leaders of what he called the Corsican mob.

Pflimlin accused the group that set up Algeria-type public safety committees in Corsica of sedition.

• • • •

HE SAID SIMILAR seditious elements on the mainland threaten France with civil war and called for all Frenchmen to rally around the legal government for the defense of the republic.

An emergency cabinet meeting Saturday night branded the Corsica uprising as armed insurrection.

Pflimlin said the government will take all legal action possible against leaders of the Corsican public safety committees.

His voice rising in anger, the premier said in his radio talk: "We must face facts. In Corsica mobs have seized the prefecture and sub-prefectures (provincial and district government buildings) and have attempted to replace legal authorities."

• • • •

THE PREMIER drew a distinction between the public safety committee movement in Algeria and Corsica. He said there is some "popular emotional justification" for them in

Car Hits Train, 8 Injured

DAIRY VALLEY—Eight persons were injured when their station wagon ran into the side of a freight train at a crossing on Valley View Rd. just south of the Santa Ana Freeway Saturday night.

Treated for serious injuries at Carobil Emergency Hospital were a man sheriff's deputies said was the car driver, Herbert L. Jones, 39, of 6934 San Bruno Ave., Buena Park; his wife, Betty, 33; and their children, Douglas, 16, and Colleen, 12.

• • • •

LESS SERIOUSLY injured were their other children, Phillip, 10; Joseph, 5; Cynthia, 4 and Estelle, 2.

After striking the Southern Pacific Lines train, the vehicle plunged into a gully from a small train trestle over the crossing.

The parents and two older children were trapped in the vehicle for about 10 minutes. The front end was badly damaged and they had to be extricated with great care.

L.A.C. Says:

Two Age Viewpoints

There is serious conflict in the economic viewpoints of the young and older workers in our society. This is evident during the present recession when under seniority rules the younger worker is laid off first and rehired last. This is a policy laid out in most union contracts. It is a policy followed by management in many enterprises which have no union contracts.

Not many people disagree with such a policy except for the one principle that it is unsound to lay off the more efficient worker regardless of age. But the overall view is that, all other conditions being equal, the last employed should be the first to be laid off. But this becomes a great hardship on the younger worker because on the same system he or she is the last to be rehired.

The problems are intensified by the fact that the younger worker has greater responsibilities than the average older worker. The young man usually has several children and is buying his home and the many things needed by the growing family. The older worker's family is probably grown and its schooling completed. His home is usually paid for and he has had time to accumulate savings.

Another conflicting viewpoint is that of inflation. The younger worker does not greatly fear inflation. He knows that many union contracts call for wage increases as cost of living increases. The general policy of employers is to meet this increased cost. This applies to all government employment as well as private employers without union contracts. Over the past 15 inflation years, wages have increased faster than cost of living—so the workers have little fear—in fact, they seem to welcome inflation.

The older worker approaching retirement has quite a different viewpoint. Virtually everyone who retires does so on less income than he makes while working. This is usually a set amount which does not increase as his cost of living increases. Inflation is a deadly danger to the retired person and his family.

It is doubtful many people worry much about their retirement incomes until they pass 45 or 50 years of age. It is then they are on the down side of the economic structure. It is from then on stability of living costs and the income that have become of increasing importance to them.

These are conflicting economic factors deserving a greater understanding by all age groups. Each wage increase calls for higher prices because wages are the major cost of everything we produce. Taxes increased by adding to the federal debt, large public works and unsound public spending are all inflationary because they increase the cost of living.

It is the young and older workers who have conflicting viewpoints concerning the ever increasing cost of our industrial production. There needs to be a greater appreciation of the ultimate results of this trend. During recessions the younger worker suffers most. During inflations the retired worker can be terribly hurt. Recessions come and go, but inflation seems to go on forever—and there is reason to believe that we are in for far more inflation than we are for recessions.—L.A.C.

Corsica Seized by Rebels

Algeria which is lacking for the movement in Corsica.

He made the statement despite reports from Ajaccio that the uprising there was led by civilians and military officers from the Algiers military-civilian junta.

The dissidents in Algiers have called for similar moves in metropolitan France and other French areas.

There were unconfirmed reports that the Corsica movement leaders landed in a military plane from Algiers at 5 a.m. Saturday.

* * * *

PFLIMLIN said the movement in Algeria had some respectability because it grew from an intense popular emotional desire to remain French. He declared the movement had resulted in a new spirit of fraternization between the Europeans and Algerians which opened a path to a brighter future for all North Africa.

De Gaullist supporters in Algeria Saturday established a strongman triumvirate sworn to restore Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power in all of France.

A De Gaulle political leader, the parachute general who started the generals' revolt in Algeria and an Algerian physician-assemblyman made up the three-man supreme junta. They vowed to fight "unto death" for De Gaulle's return.

* * * *

PFLIMLIN said "despite the conduct of some Algerian leaders," the French government will continue to support the French army and population in Algeria with food, equipment and supplies so the army could carry on its mission against the Algerian nationalist rebels.

"But," he added, "in Corsica there is no such upsurge of popular emotion to explain or justify acts committed by a handful of seditious persons. It is clear today there is a plot against our public liberties, and thatt a certain number of misled Frenchmen endanger these liberties."

He said charges will be pressed against all members of the Corsican committees and against those who took part in the assaults on public buildings on the French Mediterranean island near Italy, where Napoleon Bonaparte was born.

Pflimlin declared it was his duty to warn Frenchmen that a similar danger existed in France itself.

"Seditious elements are trying to lead us over the cliffs into civil war," he said.

In addition to the action at Ajaccio, capital of Corsica, there were reports of government buildings being seized at Corte, near a paratrooper air base, and at Calvi.

Kim Gives Car Back to General

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kim Novak says she has given that $8,500 sports car back to Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr.

The blond movie star went to a fancy filmtown party Friday night in a taxi.

"I brought my mother, my sister and her husband," she told a reporter. "I only have my little Corvette now and I couldn't get them all in it, so I called a cab."

Kim previously said she would return the expensive car when the news first broke that the handsome son of the Dominican Republic's strong man had a wife and six children back home. It has since been announced he is in the process of getting a Mexican divorce.

Trujiulo, now back at the Army's command and general staff school at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., professed his love for Kim to a television audience before he left.

city's large gas-storage tank near the refinery and the Long Beach Municipal Airport.

INCLUDED IN the company' eight-million-dollar damage report was the thermal catalytic cracking unit, whose tower appeared so prominent in news pictures and telecasts.

Together with an ultraformer, the refining unit was installed in 1955 at an estimated 11-million-dollar cost.

Joe W. Perry, marketing manager for Hancock, estimated the damage to the unit at one-third. This primarily is a matter of "replacing parts," Perry added.

The refinery's principal problem will be in replacing the lost tanks. At last count, 13 of 21 principal storage tanks had been destroyed. The big tanks hold from 5,000 to 80,000 barrel of fuel products.

* * * *

COMPANY OFFICIALS estimated up to 400,000 barrels of fuel products, ranging from crude oil to premium gasoline, had gone up in smoke. In gallons, that total is 16,800,000.

Perry said the fire would not affect the work schedule of Hancock employes. All will report for duty as usual, despite the refinery's producing operations being shut down.

There were other damage estimates, including an estimated 15,000 claims by Long Beach householders whose homes and cars were sprayed with oil.

Long Beach Deputy Fire Chief William McGree said that half his firefighters had damage to their clothing.

* * * *

THREE PUMPERS will require mechanical overhaul. There has been "damage beyond repair" to a large portion of 40,000 feet of hose. This damage principally was inflicted when heavy trucks ran over the hose. The hose costs about $1.90 a foot.

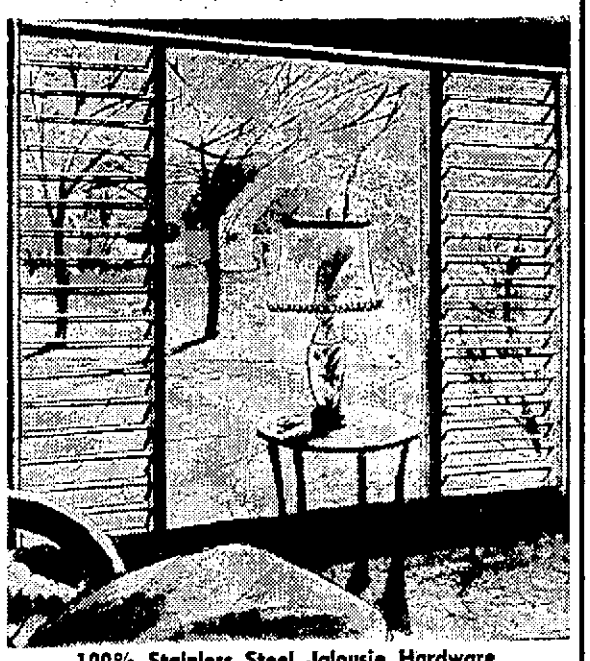

All the hose will have to be washed and scraped.

Firemen Looked Death in Eye and Defied It in Hancock Blaze

Raw Courage Kept Toxic Rain Off L.B. Homes

By BERT RESNIK

Call it "Operation Hold the Line."

Dig it from the ashes of a cold fire.

It's an account of a life-and-death battle by Long Beach firemen at one spot of the Hancock Oil Co. refinery on Signal Hill.

There may be other heroic stories that never get told. Let this one typify the firemen's courage.

Stubborn courage. Unfaltering courage. Courage with fear.

Fear when you are surrounded by white-hot gasoline flames. Fear when you know that death is 10 seconds away.

Courage when you keep manning the fire hose instead of dropping it and retreating.

* * * *

THE SPOT is on the inside of the refinery about a long city block from the west entrance on Junipero Ave.

It's a major trouble spot.

Right here is the tank containing tetraethyl. If it goes, a major part of Long Beach would have to be evacuated to escape the toxic fumes, authorities originally state.

Right here is an accented downhill slope. Down it pours a river of flame, crested on the top of tons of water.

If these flames get by the firemen's line at this point, they sweep on toward the main plant of the refinery, wiping out all tanks in their path.

If these flames get by, Long Beach Municipal Airport is exposed.

On the next day, an official handout from the company will minimize community danger from the toxic tetraethyl fumes.

But even in minimizing, the handout concedes there would be a great threat to the firemen nearby.

And the flames are plenty near. They're death-danger now—no future threat.

* * * *

THE FLAMES have reached through the shed housing the tank. They are two feet from the tank.

For 24 hours the Long Beach firemen have manned the hoses. They're assisted by a big turret nozzle mounted on a Vernon Fire Department rig. The nozzle, an "Intelligent," spreads its water in a half-circle.

A new crew relieves the men on the hoses every 15 minutes. It's that hot.

Their job is to snuff the fire out at that point. They cannot push it back. They must not let the flames come forward.

But sometimes the flames do.

They surround the crews on one man at a time. Surround is the word. The flames are in front of him, at the side, in back of him.

A man could break through and back away. To do so, he must drop the hose.

A CLOSE ONE

No fireman does that.

Each depends that his buddies on the other lines will snuff the flames around him in time. That time: 10 seconds at the most. And each watches thoughtfully as the flames near the tank are snuffed out, reignite, are again snuffed out, reignite.

It is about 5 p.m. Friday. At a huge tank to the left of the spot, Fire Capt. Ken Hoffman, a line tied around him, is lowered into a pool of oil, gasoline and water.

* * * *

There are no flames here now. There could be any second.

HOFFMAN SHUTS down a valve on a main manifold line. He hopes this will slow down the flow of fuel to the trouble spot. He does his job quickly. He's quickly hauled back to safety.

At another giant tank to the right, Fireman Burt Shaw duplicates the action. At another tank forward, Fire Capt. Hugh Henshaw triplicates the action.

But at the spot, there still is trouble.

High-octane gasoline continues to spurt from the ruptured valves of two 8-inch lines. The gasoline bursts into instant flames.

Fire Captains Bill Patterson and John Montgomery take another look at the flames licking near the tetraethyl tank. They must act now or it will be too late. The time is about 6:15 p.m.

Sixteen men manning eight hoses line up under Capt. Montgomery's direction. They're in a straight, horizontal line. In the center of this line is Capt. Patterson.

Together, their hoses pushing back the flames, the 17 men advance.

Their destination is 15 feet away, the pipes and the valves that control them. They wear no asbestos suits. In asbestos suits, they would be barbecued, according to Fire Chief Frank S. Sandeman.

* * * *

BEHIND THEM, two hoses keep a steady protective stream going.

Inch by inch the 17 advance. They're at the valves. Capt. Patterson reaches down, screws off four valves.

He tries the others. They won't budge. The threads have melted. Back out he races and picks up a sledge-hammer. Back in he goes and hammers the valves shut.

The gasoline stops spurting. It still dribbles from flanges in the pipe, but the major threat is out. It took five minutes—five minutes that were an eternity.

French-Arab Battles Rage in S. Tunisia

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Sharp fighting broke out Saturday between French and Tunisian troops in southern Tunisia.

Tunisian officials said both sides had put mortars and machine guns in action in two bitter clashes.

There was no report on casualties.

The Tunisian sources said one engagement was at Remada and another about four miles away from the French army post.

President Habib Bourguiba promptly called a special session of his cabinet to deal with the situation.

* * * *

THE TUNISIAN sources said French troops stationed at Remada attempted to break through barricades placed around French positions several months ago after an increase in tension between France and Tunisia.

The informants said French units opened fire and Tunisian troops shot back.

Reports reaching Tunis said the exchange was continuing.

Tunisia has demanded that France immediately withdraw all French troops still in this former protectorate.

Angry at Official, Callas to Quit La Scala Opera

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Temperamental soprano Maria Meneghini Callas says she is quitting La Scala Opera in Milan after this season because of a disagreement with the opera house superintendent.

"I will not sing at La Scala next year even if I am offered a contract," the New York-born prima donna told a group of friends.

After a year's vacation, she added, she might return if La Scala Superintendent Antonio Ghiringhelli has been removed.

"I have firmly decided not to accept further collaboration with the present superintendent at La Scala . . . it is not any longer compatible with my dignity as a woman and as an artist," she said.

* * * *

A MEMBER of Miss Callas' household in Milan said the opera singer made her declaration to a gathering of friends Friday and repeated it to ANSA, the Italian news agency, which distributed it Saturday morning. Miss Callas and her husband, industrialist Battista Meneghini, then left town for a rest at an undisclosed place.

Miss Callas has been performing at La Scala in Bellini's "Il Pirata." Her current contract ends after two or three more performances of the opera.

Miss Callas, now 34, has been first lady at the famous opera house for several years. Just last week Metropolitan opera soprano Renata Tebaldi, Miss Callass' old rival at La Scala, said she would not return to the Milan stage she left in 1955 unless Miss Callas sang here during the same season, because she didn't want her return to be controversial.

MARIA CALLAS
'Not Compatible'

* * * *

After being booed for walking out during the opening night of the Rome opera season Jan. 3, Miss Callas scored successes in the United States and made a triumphant return to the La Scala stage April 9. But more than 200 plainclothes policemen were on hand to watch for any demonstrations and Miss Callas did not like that.

Next day she said a cold war existed between her and La Scala officials, partly because of the police and partly because La Scala wanted her to apologize publicly for leaving the Edinburgh music festival last year after only three of the four scheduled performances.

In her statement to ANSA, Miss Callas said:

"I leave La Scala with deep pain—certain, however, that I have participated with dignity in the artistic events of that theater. . . .

"I take with me the hope to be able to appear again on that stage in the future, under more suitable circumstances."

Ghiringhelli was not available for comment.

100 Volunteers at Oil Fire Hailed for Aid to Crews

One-hundred volunteers were saluted Saturday for their aid to firemen and other emergency crews at the Hancock Oil Co. refinery fire in Signal Hill.

Major Howard Sloan of Salvation Army headquarters here reported the volunteers served 8,000 sandwiches, 15,000 cups of coffee, 3,600 bottles of pop and 3,500 half-pints of milk.

Salvation Army workers were at the fire within an hour after it started, Maj. Sloan said. Officers from seven Salvation Army centers in the area were on duty at the canteens.

Canteen trucks used two-way radios to co-ordinate service on the fire lines.

Nation Honors Warriors of World War II and Korea

THIS ONE WAS KNOWN

A photograph of a fallen warrior, a mother's hands clasping a posthumously awarded Purple Heart—these are symbols of the tribute we will pay this Memorial Day to the men who fought and died in America's wars.—(AP Photo)

By WILLIAM OWEN
Associated Press Writer

Somewhere on the now-peaceful North Atlantic, two ships bristling with the weapons of future wars are hastening to a reverent rendezvous with the past off the Virginia Capes.

The somber gray warships bear the bodies of three American fighting men who lost not only their lives but their identities on far-flung battlefields.

Two of them will join the Unknown Soldier of World War I in honored rest at Memorial Day services in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac from Washington.

They will be the Unknowns of World War II and the Korean War, chosen at random by surviving heroes to honor symbolically all the unidentified dead of each conflict.

Picking the latest Unknowns has been more complicated than was the selection of the Unknown Soldier of World War I. This time there was an extra war and an extra battle theater.

THE UNKNOWN of 1917-18 was chosen on a bright October morning in 1921 at Chalon-Sur-Marne, France. Sgt. Edward S. Younger placed a spray of roses on one of four caskets, stepped back, saluted and it was done.

Two World War II Unknowns already have been selected—one from among 13 candidates disinterred from European-North African battlefield cemeteries; the other from among six candidates from the Pacific Theater. The destroyer Blandy is bearing the first body from Europe.

The second is en route to the Virginia Capes rendezvous aboard the missile cruiser Boston, accompanied by the Unknown of the Korean War chosen 10 days ago at the National cemetery near Honolulu.

Final choice of a single World War II Unknown will be made Monday aboard the missile cruiser Canberra by Navy Hospitalman 3/c William R. Charrett of Ludington, Mo., a Medal of Honor winner. The candidate not selected will be buried with full honors at sea.

THE TWO CHOSEN warriors will be transferred to the Blandy Tuesday for the trip up the Potomac under escort by the Coast Guard Ship Ingham.

There will be little arrival fanfare compared to the day in 1921 when the measured boom of cannon greeted the World War I Unknown's homecoming aboard the cruiser Olympia, Adm. Dewey's Spanish-American War flagship.

The Blandy will swing from the Potomac and quietly tie up at Pier One of the Naval Gun Factory.

The two caskets, each draped with an American Flag, will remain on the after deck of the Blandy under honor guard through the night in quiet preparation for the homage of the nation.

KNOWN BUT TO GOD

A lone sentry paces his solemn watch at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery. "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God," reads the inscription on the tomb sanctified 37 years ago.

The official welcoming ceremonies will start at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday. Four ruffles and flourishes, a hymn by the Navy Band and the caskets, each preceded by a clergyman, will be brought down the Blandy's gangway.

The bodies will be borne to hearses through an honor military corridor, including the Secretaries of Defense, Army, Navy, Air Force and the Treasury. Then a 20-mile-an-hour motorcade heads for the Capitol while gun factory cannon boom a 21-gun salute.

ON MEMORIAL DAY MORNING, while lines of people continue to pass the biers, veterans, patriotic and civic organizations will hold services and place their official wreaths, one every four minutes.

Then, at 1 p. m., May 30, the two Unknowns begin their last journey to the side of World War I's Unknown Soldier on the wooded hillside in Arlington National Cemetery.

The heavy boom of cannon, fired once a minute, will punctuate the tread of marching feet and the roll of drums as the procession, three-quarters of a mile long, wends through Washington, across the Potomac to Arlington.

Navy to Build Polaris Plant at Sunnyvale

By BILL BROOM
of I. P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Navy Saturday informed Senator Knowland and Rep. Charles S. Gubser that it will construct a plant at Sunnyvale to manufacture submarine-launched Polaris ballistics missiles.

Official announcement will be made Tuesday when bids for the multimillion-dollar facility will be opened. An immediate start on construction was ordered a year ahead of schedule as a result of high strategic decision to put Polaris into mass production, Knowland said.

The Senator said the go-ahead on the new facility is "a major milestone in preparing the Polaris for operational service in the fleet."

* * * *

THE NEW BUILDING will be an addition to the Navy-owned Polaris plant aleady being built for development work on the Polaris. Site preparation already is in progress and the construction job was let out for bidding confidentially on May 10.

Addition of the new building will provide a "manufacturing capability to be available when the Polaris research and development phase is completed," the Navy said.

Exact date of the start of production is classified information.

When the Polaris development facility and the new production building are completed, all aspects of the Polaris weapones system will be integrated and centered in one location at Sunnyvale, the Navy said.

"The building and its future occupancy are designed to furnish the closest integration of Polaris management, technical skill, testing operations, and manufacturing so that the core of the Polaris effort will be unhampered by the requirements of any other projects," the Navy said.

* * * *

TO ALLOW FOR the expansion, Lockheed has deeded over to the Navy 36 acres of its Sunnyvale property. In addition, 13 acres were deeded to the Navy last December when the first stage of the building was begun, Knowland said.

Polaris work is also under way at other Lockheed facilities at Palo Alto, a test site in the Santa Cruz Mountains, and at the Air Force Missile Test Center, Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Seven Juveniles Arrested in Row

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four boys and three girls were arrested early Saturday after a mob of 20 bottle-throwing juveniles roughed up two policemen at Playland-at-the-Beach.

Nine police cars sped to the scene when patrolmen radioed they were being attacked. The melee began shortly after the police found beer and wine bottles in a juvenile's auto.

SURFACE CRUISE RISKY

Naval Aviator Loses Boat in Blast, Saved

A Navy officer lost his boat outside the Long Beach Harbor entrance Saturday afternoon.

Coast Guard officials said Cmdr. E. Z. Dixon of Los Angeles was pulled from the ocean, apparently uninjured, after his 21-foot cabin cruiser was burned to the waterline following a gas-tank explosion.

The Commander is a Naval aviator, the Coast Guard said.

His boat caught fire near another cruising boat about one-half mile from the harbor entrance, the Coast Guard said.

While Dixon was attempting to steer the flaming craft nearer to the other boat, an explosion occurred and he jumped into the water.

He was pulled from the sea by the crew of the other boat.

Heart Attack Ends Life of Defense Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Defense Williams H. Francis Jr., 43, collapsed and died Saturday after playing tennis.

Francis was appointed assistant secretary of defense for manpower a year ago.

The weathy Texan was a personal friend of President Eisenhower. He served as an Army captain in intelligence on General Eisenhower's staff in World War II.

Francis complained of being short of breath while playing tennis shortly before 6 p. m. Friends said he collapsed and was taken to Georgetown Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The former Houston attorney had extensive oil and ranching interests.

Francis is survived by his widow, Caroline, three brothers and his mother, Mrs. W. H. Francis Sr.

Large Jade Haul Made by Fishermen

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A group of commercial fishermen Saturdaly brought up 5,000 pounds of good-quality jade from 36 feet of water off San Simeon.

One chunk of the semi-precious stone weighed 3,000 pounds.

C. Douglas Woodhouse, retired geologist of the University of California at Santa Barbara, said the jade is of good quality, meaning that its market value may run as high as $5 a pound.

The jade was discovered by the crew of the fishing schooner Bali, whose skipper is G. R. (Swede) Armann. It took two days to get the find to shore.

Armann said this is the biggest single discovery of jade off the California coast. He and his crew are all skin divers.

State Traffic Kills 986 in 4 Months

Attorney, Civic Leader George Spicer Dies After Distinguished L.B. Career

George M. Spicer, for many years one of Long Beach's best-known attorneys and civic leaders, died Thursday at the age of 77.

He had lived quietly in retirement for several years.

Spicer was the first Democratic presidential elector ever chosen from Long Beach (in 1932). He also was famed for his municipal reform work early in the century, and for his work in promoting development of Long Beach Harbor.

He was born in Manti, Utah, Sept. 16, 1880, and studied law at Utah University. He was admitted to the bar at the age of 21, and came to Long Beach in 1904.

* * * *

SPICER BEGAN to build a reputation as a civic leader the following year when he led a movement resulting in a reorganization of the Police Dept.

A year later, he wielded the reform broom that swept the incumbent administration from City Hall.

After that victory, Spicer was offered the job of city attorney. He turned it down.

A few years later, Spicer organized the city of Belmont Heights. Under his guiding hand, the community agreed to become part of Long Beach—but only after Long Beach had pledged construction of a pier at Belmont Shore.

* * * *

HE WAS CREDITED with influencing major oil companies to build terminals in the harbor area. And, at one time, he had extensive real estate holdings in the city.

For many years he was active in Democratic Party politics, and in 1932 was one of William Gibbs McAdoo's most ardent supporters in Southern California. It was McAdoo, a onetime Treasury secretary and later a senator from California, who swung the Democratic nomination to Franklin Delano Roosevelt in 1932.

In business, Spicer was acclaimed as one of the most brilliant attorneys ever to practice in Long Beach. He specialized in corporation law.

HE WAS A LIFE member of Elks Lodge 888. He also was a past president of the Long Beach Bar Assn. and former director of the Chamber of Commerce.

At the time of his death, he resided at 233 American Ave.

Surviving is a niece, Mrs. Adrienne E. Martyr.

Service will be at 10:30 a. m. Monday in Patterson & Snively Mortuary.

Passers-by Refuse to Call Police for Bandit Trapper

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A grocer who trapped a gunman in his store after a fight Saturday said he appealed in vain to three men passing by to call the police.

Max Perkal, 52, told police one of the men replied, "Call the cops yourself," and that the other two were just as unconcerned.

Moments later, the thief forced his way out of a door Perkal no longer could hold shut and fled with about $10.

When the gunman demanded money Perkal struck out, hitting him in the face. The robber clubbed Perkal on the head with his gun, but Perkal fought back, tumbling his assailant into a stock of boxes. Perkal then ran out, held fast to the door handle and sought help.

Repeat of a previous sellout!

Scout Show Thrills Throngs

SEA EXPLORER SHIP, the Neptune, drew more than 2,500 boarders Saturday while on display at Veterans Memorial Stadium during the Long Beach area Scout-O-Rama. The Neptune, sponsored by the Downtown Exchange Club, was winner of the Waddington Trophy for performance in the annual squadron review, held in April.

HIS GOOD TURN for the day is performed by Cub Scout Bob Bailey, 8, of 3459 Senasac Ave., during Saturday's Scout-O-Rama as he feeds ice cream to 13-month-old Brad Williams of 6775 Parapet St. while Brad's mother viewed the exhibits.

Elevator Kills Man After Kin's Casket Selected

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A retired minister's son was killed Saturday in an elevator accident at a funeral home after helping select a casket for his father.

A funeral-home spokesman said Alvin Franklin Barfield, 52, apparently tripped as he stepped into a crowded freight elevator on the second floor.

The elevator started down and Barfield's head was caught between the elevator and the floor.

Barfield had picked out a casket for his father, the Rev. J. R. Barfield, 74.

BOAT OUT OF GAS

2 Drift 32 Hours off Catalina, Rescued

Two truck drivers drifted for nearly 32 hours in a 16-foot cabin cruiser, after running out of gasoline on a trip from here to Catalina, were rescued early Saturday 12 miles south of the island.

Robert Wright, 34, of 10414 Leeds Ave., Norwalk, owner of the Marcia Ann, and his passenger, John Reinhart of Los Angeles, were tired and hungry after going without food and with little sleep.

The two men left Pierpoint Landing shortly before 8 p.m. Thursday after a spur-of-the-moment decision to accompany a second boatload of friends on a cruise to the island.

• • • •

REINHART, who had been on the other boat, a 16-foot outboard, owned by Don Bradley of Los Angeles, changed places with Nevin Walkinshaw, also of Los Angeles, who had been boating with Wright since early morning.

The Wright boat lost sight of the other craft, which was carrying an extra supply of gasoline. About 11:30 p.m. Thursday, it ran out of fuel while in sight of the lights on the island.

Wright's wife, Bette, notified the Coast Guard when he failed to telephone her after reaching the island.

The Coast Guard launched an intensive search early Friday. A Coast Guard amphibian plane spotted the craft about 7:15 a.m. Saturday. A cutter towed the craft into Pierpoint Landing.

• • • •

WRIGHT SAID the boat was equipped with life jackets but no other emergency gear. The men ripped a seat from the boat and tried to use it as a makeshift oar.

Friday night was the worst ordeal, said Wright, because the sea became rough and they spent much of the night bailing out the boat with two small oil cans.

"We never lost hope that we'd be rescued," said Wright, "but we really were depressed last night."

Woman Held in Stabbing

A 41-year-old woman aircraft worker was held for questioning by Torrance police Saturday night in connection with the stabbing of Fred Wright, 30, of 6308 Eastern Ave., Bell Gardens.

Police said Wright was stabbed in the chest in the home of Mary V. Schumacher, 1687 Gramercy Ave., who was held.

Wright was reported in critical condition in Harbor General Hospital.

Siamese Kitten Triplets Parted

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) —Kittens born as Siamese triplets attached at their stomachs now are scampering around individually. Dr. C. R. Laforet separated them under anesthesia and says they would have died if he hadn't. Their mother, Tibs, apparently was not shaken by the unusual sight. She has six claws on each paw instead of the usual five.

Latin Reds Say Sub 'U.S. or British'

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A Communist newspaper claimed Saturday the submarine attacked Wednesday by the Argentine navy was either American or British.

Argentine navy sources have indicated the submarine most likely was Russian. They described it as a high speed craft. President Arturo Frondizi said it was either sunk or damaged.

La Hora, chief organ of the Argentine Communist party, said it couldn't have been Russian.

"The only country after Great Britain which has an interest in dominating Argentina as well as the rest of Latin America is the United States," it said.

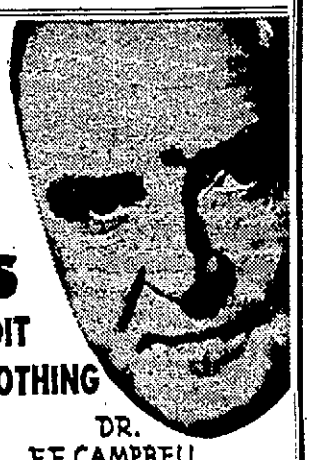

The paper gave no details to substantiate its claim that the submarine was American or British.

U. S., British and Soviet embassies here all have insisted the submarine was not theirs. The U. S. and British embassies said they received word from their governments that none of their submarines was operating in this area. The Soviet ambassador here said he felt sure his country had no subs in the South Atlantic. No comment has come so far from Moscow.

The only Latin-American countries with submarines are Peru, Brazil, Argentina and Chile. Chile's subs are not in operating condition and the only active one of Argentina's three is in dry dock.

Barber-Shop to Reality, History of the DC8

By JIM McCAULEY

That huge new DC8 jet airliner might be sitting in the back office of a Southland barber-shop these days if Douglas Aircraft Co. hadn't done some long-range planning.

That was the lesson given a management development conference of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Saturday by Kenneth G. Farrar, vice president and general manager of Douglas's Long Beach division.

Why a barber-shop for a jet airliner?

It was in the back office of a barber-shop where airliner pioneer Donald W. Douglas sat up his first California office 38 years ago, Farrar said. Douglas had just arrived in Southern California with a wife, two children, a dog and a bucket-seat jalopy.

* * * *

THE OVERHEAD was so high for Douglas's small aircraft business that he hired out as a laborer, hoed potatoes and washed automobiles in the early days.

Six employes shared the rented desk space in the back of the barber-shop. Douglas moved out of the barber-shop a year later when the Navy ordered three torpedo bombers.

Farrar blasted "defeatism" in tracing the history of Douglas aircraft from a backroom barber-shop to a $270,000,0000 company with 74,000 employes.

"Individual initiative today pays off as well as, if not better than, in the past," Farrar said. There is plenty of room for other small companies to grow big," he added.

For instance, Douglas now does business with 11,000 firms, 82 per cent of them in the small business field, so it can get the necessary parts for its giant planes. He declared:

Recent surveys disclose small firms are able to fabricate some of the parts for aircraft faster, better and cheaper than the prime contractor. Such firms will receive business from the aircraft industry regardless of the overall level of the aircraft program."

Other speakers were John E. Biby Jr., president, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce; Joseph W. Winkler, president, Orange Coast Chapter, Society for the Advancement of Management; Dr. Jesse B. Allen, professor of marketing, Long Beach State College.

Donald McLarnan, regional director, Small Business Administration; A. B. Leonard, chief of procurement and technical assistant; B. P. Gibbons, manager of material, Convair, San Diego Division; Dr. S. Austen Reep, professor of finance, LBSC; A. Hays Busch, vice president, Stromberger, LaVene and McKenzie, Advertising.

* * * *

THOMAS P. PHELAN, executive vice president and secretary, Los Angeles Division, Pacific Coast Stock Exchange; Frederick S. Huber, vice president and branch administrator, California Bank; N. A. Lamberti, vice president of manufacturing, Ryder-Elliott, Inc.

Charles W. Lauve, general manager of commercial and industrial loans, Prudential Insurance Co. of America; Charles A. McKeand, Charles A. McKeand Co.; Benjamin Borchardt, senior partner, Benjamin Borchardt and Associates; Dr. John R. Van de Water, professor of industrial relations and business law, University of California, and R. H. Rogers, industrial relations manager, BJ Electronics.

Presiding was Malcolm Epley, executive editor, Independent, Press-Telegram.

SCORES PESSIMISM Kenneth G. Farrar, vice president and general manager, Long Beach Division, Douglas Aircraft Co., says management should be optimistic about growth potential. Malcolm Epley, executive editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, who presided at the luncheon session, listens as Farrar addresses a management development conference.—(Staff Photo)

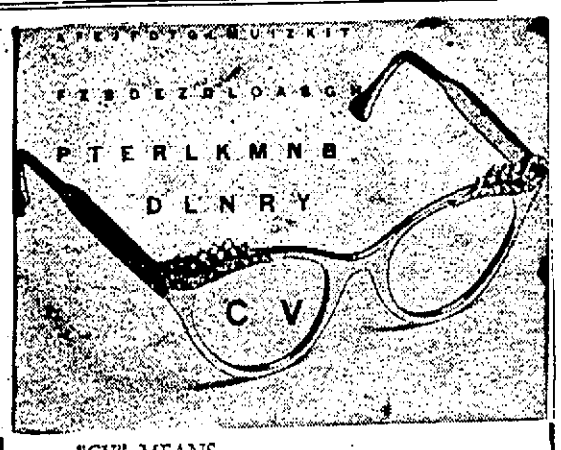

Pakistan Oilmen Return to Jobs

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — Three-thousand oil workers returned to work Saturday to end their two-day-old strike against four Karachi oil companies.

The workers voted to end their strike Friday night after Minister of State for the Interior Jalal Uddin Kman assured them they would get justice. The workers struck Thursday to back demands for higher wages.

New Rail-Bus Link Proposed in Report

AN OLD GRIPE against a traffic signal put two IPT staffers right on top of one of the biggest news stories in years Thursday p.m.

Sunday Editor Sterling Bemis has long been annoyed by a signal on Cherry Ave. in the Signal Hill area. He was convinced there wasn't enough cross-traffic there to justify a 24-hour signal.

Intending to prove his point, he recruited Photographer Roger Coar and they headed out that way to check traffic density at the signal.

When they reached the point, ambulances and fire trucks were screaming through the intersection, with the Hancock oil refinery a few blocks away a holocaust of flame and smoke.

Bemis and Coar were there for early picture shots and quick news reports, helping effectively in producing their newspaper's fine coverage of the big fire.

Conditions at the signal, they decided, were a little abnormal. They'll check it some other time.

SIMILAR lucky breaks put other staffers in strategic spots for coverage of the great blaze.

Photographer Chuck Sundquist and Reporter Herb Shannon had been up in a plane making air shots of the Long Beach area. They had just landed at the airport when the fire exploded. They took to the air and got some good shots of the blaze.

Photographer Joe Risinger was just passing the fire area on a society picture assignment. He went to the front with his camera.

Reporter Bob Swanson was right there, too. He was going by on his way home. It was a long time before he got to his domicile.

Such things make after-deadline shop talk in a newspaper office for a long time.

A WOMAN planning an accompanied motor trip to Canada asked B-C readers for safety tips the other day, and the response has been good. She's advised to keep her car doors locked, to travel by day, to avoid provocative dress, to be sure her car is carefully checked along the way to prevent roadside stops.

Less conventional is a report from a woman who was faced with the same problem. She was going to Florida alone, and decided that a good protective companion would be a dog. She got a Labrador Retriever from the pound and left for Florida, intending to turn the dog over to a pound back there.

By the time she got to Florida, of course, she had found the dog such a good friend and intelligent companion she wouldn't think of giving him up.

TOO MANY Long Beach area people are unaware of the size and significance of Long Beach State College. They just don't realize that one of the West's biggest institutions had developed right in their neighborhood in the last nine years.

LBSC began in 1949 in an apartment house on Anaheim St., with 169 students. Today it has more than 9100. It is growing still, it is expanding its service and scope, and it makes possible higher education for thousands of young people in our area who would otherwise find it difficult if not impossible to go to college.

The college occupies one of the nation's most modern campuses, located on E. 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) just east of the VA Hospital. Today is a good time to visit that campus. Open house, which was suggested in this dept. some weeks ago, will be held at LBSC from 1 to 5 p.m.

Go out today if you can.

New Signal System May Be Installed

The city may spend $90,000 next fiscal year for a new master traffic control signal system in the downtown district.

An allotment in that amount is the largest item on a list of traffic control projects recommended by City Traffic Engineer Robert D. Dier and pending before the City Council.

The type of control system to be installed is the subject of a survey now in progress by De Leuw, Cather & Co., city traffic consultants.

Extensive changes in regulation may be necessary when traffic volume is boosted by the 9th St. and Ocean Bl. Bridges and the southerly terminus of Long Beach Freeway, Dier said.

* * * *

HE ALSO RECOMMENDED seven traffic control projects totaling $56,152 and five street-lighting modernizations estimated to cost $63,096.

New traffic signal systems would be at Palo Verde Ave. and Conant St., Magnolia Ave. and 20th St., Woodruff Ave. and Conant St., Magnolia Ave. and 6th St., Long Beach Blvd. and Long Beach Freeway ramp, Seaside Blvd. and Gate 1 of the Naval Station, along with various other intersections where traffic conditions may materially change.

* * * *

RECOMMENDED FOR light modernizations are these street sections: Seaside Blvd. from Magnolia to Alamitos Ave., 3rd St. from Golden to Pine Ave., 6th St. from Golden to Pacific Ave., 6th St. from Atlantic to Alamitos Ave. and 6th St. from Pacific to Atlantic Ave.

In some instances property owners would be asked to share the cost of the light installations with the city.

Unknowns Give 'Y' $50,000

Two anonymous gifts totalling $50,000 were announced Saturday by Earl Fast, general chairman of the YMCA's "million dollar plus" campaign to finance capital improvements here.

"Each of the gifts was for $25,000," Fast declared. "Each donor made the gift on the condition that it be anonymous."

"Speaking on behalf of the YMCA," Fast said, "I wish to thank these donors and praise them for their generosity and public spiritedness."

Campaigners in the downtown, North Long Beach and Lakewood areas are on the march. Organization of the Los Altos district campaign is in its final stages and the drive in that area is expected to open in the near future.

Capital improvement needed by the YMCA, due to tremendous population growth, include new buildings for both the Lakewood and Los Altos areas, redecoration and expansion of the North Long Beach Y branch and modernization as well as enlargement of the Downtown Y.

Push-Button Safety Rules Told

Push-button intersections can be dangerous, especially for children, unless the buttons are operated correctly.

Tom Shreve, assistant city traffic engineer Saturday gave a few pointers on how to use the push-buttons.

On arrival at the intersection the pedestrian should:

1. Push the button, whether the signal light is green or not.

2. Wait until the signal turns red, then green.

THIS WILL ALLOW plenty of time to cross on the green.

If the pedestrian does not use the push-button, the light may turn from green to red when he is still in the intersection.

When the button is not pushed, the lights are activated by cars. If car traffic is light, the green signal may be on for only a brief period—not long enough to assure safe crossing for pedestrians.

Inventor Springs Ping Pong Ball That Flies Like a Toy Satellite

By WARREN WALTERS

Fred Saunders, inventor of tunnel vision for television, has found a new springboard to fame.

This time it's ping pong basketball. A key part of his new invention is a spring which propels the ping pong ball through a basket.

A prewar device invented by Saunders shuffles and deals a bridge deck in six seconds. An indispensable part of the mechanism is a spring.

Another more recent invention is a box-like device which shoots a series of weighted disks along a shuffleboard designed for rumpus room use. Needless to say, without a spring the weights would lack go power.

Among other inventions, the former Long Beach inventor lists the "Handy Dial," a small plastic device which enables the telephone user to turn a wheel which is geared to match a telephone number with a name.

* * * *

THE HANDY DIAL, which Saunders said is about to be sprung on the market, is springless.

Saunders sprang into the news a couple of years back with his "Natural Specs," which created for wearers the feeling of being moved from in front of the TV screen into the tube itself.

This mental, rather than optical illusion, was created by features of the glasses which removed all outside reference points—giving a tunnel impression — to concentrate the eyes on nothing but the TV screen.

The device gave a three-dimensional aspect to TV — it used no springs.

* * * *

SAUNDERS SAID his latest invention should find a tremendous market. It's the type of equipment, he said, that will make every other kid on the block want one.

It can also be adapted as a toy rocket launcher, he explained.

The invention is in the shape of an inverted T — the user places his feet on the T's cross. The ping pong ball rests on the top of the vertical staff portion of the T.

After adjusting an inclined piece of metal which controls the angle of flight, the player pulls back the spring. He lets go, and, wham, the ping pong ball is in flight toward the basket.

Saunders said arrangements are now being made to market his new invention.

In short, this is one spring that suits him to a T.

I, P-T Boy, 11, Winner of Award for Heroism

Pat Heneise, an Independent, Press-Telegram newspaperboy, Saturday received a California Newspaperboy Foundation award for heroism.

The 11-year-old was credited with saving four members of his family when fire broke out at night in their home at 1808 Stearnlee Ave.

He was presented a trophy on behalf of the CNP by Maynard J. Lockmiller, home delivery manager of The Press-Telegram circulation department. Pat carries an afternoon route in Los Altos.

The youth was awakened the night of May 1 by the sound of his 21-month-old brother Mike, coughing.

He got up to investigate and became choked himself by smoke billowing from the living room. Pat ran to the baby, carried him outside the house to safety, then rushed back into the blazing house to awaken his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Heneise, and his sister, Carol, 12. The fire caused $5,500 damage.

"We'd never have made it if Pat hadn't awakened us," his father said. "He was the calmest one of the bunch."

Pat, himself, disclaims any heroism.

"Well, gee—what else could I do?" he said.

Union Depot Service for SP Favored

By GEORGE WEEKS

Two staff engineers of the State Public Utilities Commission, agreeing with a recommendation of the City Bureau of Franchises, have proposed that Southern Pacific Co. establish direct bus service between Long Beach and the Union Station in Los Angeles.

A lengthy report filed in a current case before PUC asserted that Santa Fe and Union Pacific have "reasonably attractive" feeder service and therefore "are in a more advantageous competitive position for interstate passenger business than is Southern Pacific."

The document concluded: "The Southern Pacific Co. should experiment in providing direct bus service to the Los Angeles Union passenger terminal from outlying cities in the Los Angeles area.

* * * *

"IN VIEW OF the fact that the Long Beach area has an estimated population of 389,000 (including Lakewood and Signal Hill) and tariff rates are quoted to and from Long Beach, it is recommended that such experiment begin with connecting service for the 'Coast Daylight' to and from Long Beach."

The report was submitted by James K. Gibson, principal transportation engineer, and William R. Peters, senior transportation engineer.

It is still under consideration by PUC in connection with a commission inquiry into the sufficiency of Southern Pacific Company's passenger service.

The company is seeking to discontinue some of its intrastate trains and to consolidate others.

Henry E. Jordan, chief engineer for the city bureau, argued strongly for the bus link at hearings on the case.

* * * *

HE POINTED OUT that Long Beach-bound passengers arriving at the Union Station must make their way as best they can from the station to the Metropolitan Transit Authority terminal in order to reach their destination.

Jordan estimated that some 20,000 passengers are inconvenienced every year because of the missing transit link.

His argument was supported by spokesmen for the Convention and Visitors Bureau, who contend that Long Beach's convention business is suffering because of the lack of continuous transportation.

Southern Pacific representatives resisted the proposal, declaring that the company's passenger business is already unprofitable.

* * * *

An estimated 500 boys who obtain nine or more subscriptions will spend three days at Camp Seely in the San Bernardino Mountains.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

FBI Jails Man in SP Bomb Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—FBI agents arrested a Bible-quoting machinist early Saturday and said he admitted threatening to dynamite a passenger train unless paid $500,000.

Ira Paul Loux, 35, of Compton, was arrested as he crawled through weeds on hands and knees and picked up a bag thrown from the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited, agents said. He was charged with extortion.

His wife, Viola, said tearfully when told of his arrest: "It can't be him. He's not that kind. He always told me to live by the Ten Commandments."

D. K. Brown, FBI special agent, gave this account:

The extortion letter directed that a box of money be put in a mail bag and thrown from the Sunset Limited by a crew member when he saw a "strange flashing light." The light was seen and the bag containing a dummy package, thrown Friday night at La Puente, 19 miles east of here. An hour and a half later Loux, crawling through weeds, picked it up. FBI agents, waiting out, seized him.

New Atomic Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower, in a new move to break the disarmament impasse, proposed Saturday that American and Russian scientists meet next month in Geneva to study ways to police a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

In a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the President suggested that British, French and perhaps other scientists would be included on the western side. He left the door open for Russia to include scientists from Communist Czechoslovakia, Poland or even China.

The letter emphasized that the scientific talks at Geneva would not commit either side actually to agree to stop testing atomic weapons.

Knight Signs Record Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Knight Saturday signed a record state budget of $1,999,572,983 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He trimmed $244,089 from the amount approved by the Legislature last month. The state expects to finance the huge spending program without new taxes by using its 75 million dollar Rainy Day Fund, hoarded since World War II.

Baccalaureate at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The first racially integrated baccalaureate at Central High School will be held today with news coverage curtailed. Supt. Virgil Blossom announced the restrictions Saturday amid protests from various news media.

Among the 600 seniors eligible to attend the services is Ernest Green, one of the eight Negro pupils attending Central High.

Green and the other seniors will be graduated at commencement ceremonies Tuesday night. Both events will be held in the high school stadium if weather permits. Green would be the first Negro pupil to attend either the baccalaureate or commencement.

Newsmen will be restricted to a special section high in the stadium and will not be allowed on the field for interviews.

Egg Throwers Suspended

ITHICA, N. Y. (AP)—Cornell University Saturday suspended four students accused of inciting riots in which President Deane W. Malott was spattered with eggs and his house stoned.

One student was J. Kirk Sale, son of Cornell professor William Sale.

The suspensions are to be reviewed Tuesday by the men's judiciary board, a student disciplinary group that will submit recommendations to the faculty's student conduct committee. The students could be expelled.

CUBANS PLEAD PATRIOTISM

Probation Given 34 Smugglers

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-four men who pleaded patriotism as their justification got off with suspended sentences Saturday for conspiring to take a boatload of arms to Cuban rebels.

U. S. Dist. Judge James V. Allred imposed varying terms of probation after lecturing the group about the danger of involving this country in another nation's internal affairs.

He also freed the chaplain for the band of Cuban-Americans, the Rev. Ignacio Mosqueda Avila, setting aside a jury conviction.

Judge Allred said he was recommending that the men not be deported because of the conviction, as would have been possible for some who are not citizens.

U. S. authorities boarded and seized a converted fishing boat off shore in the Gulf of Mexico near here March 24, arresting 40 men on board. A Coast Guard cutter rammed the vessel twice before it halted.

Many of the prisoners later told newsmen they had spent $20,000 of their savings for arms and ammunition, and planned to fight alongside rebel leader Fidel Castro in Cuba. Most of them are from New York City.

They were charged with violating the U. S. Neutrality Act.

A federal court jury convicted 35 of the men, including the chaplain, last Thursday after a four-day trial. One of the original 40, Rolando Minguez de la Paz of Brooklyn, was not tried because he is in a hospital for treatment of a back ailment. Charges against the others were dismissed.

Judge Allred imposed three-year prison sentences, suspended on condition of good behaviour, on 33 of the men. Anthony del Conde, Mexico City storekeeper who had pleaded guilty to being contact man for the party, drew a two-year suspended sentence.

Five years' probation was ordered for Arnaldo G. Barron, Cuban-born New York construction worker who identified himself as leader of the band; for Mario Ybarra Lecour, second in command, and for Del Conde.

The others were placed under three years' probation.

Car-Theft Ring That Junked Hundreds of Vehicles Cracked

Stolen Autos Butchered With Amazing Speed

The mystery of hundreds of stolen cars that vanished from the harbor area was solved Saturday when a series of arrests was made at a Torrance auto-salvage yard, police said.

One single car-theft ring has been stealing six cars a day for the past year from Long Beach, San Pedro and other harbor-area communities, Los Angeles police said.

Most other stolen cars turn up eventually and are recovered by authorities. But baffled law-enforcement officials were unable to find what happened to the batch of stolen cars taken by this ring until good detective work paid off last week.

* * * *

THE REASON: these cars were taken to auto wreckers and cut up into parts a few hours after the thefts occurred. Any part of the car that might have identified the vehicle as stolen was melted down as scrap metal.

Los Angeles police detectives, Sgt. C. H. Simon, Sgt. Chet Baldridge, Sgt. Bob Kinsey and Lt. Ralph Weyant shadowed two men for days to break open the case.

They saw two men early Saturday steal a 1948 car and a 1952 car from streets in San Pedro and followed them to a deserted field in the Dominguez hills, where they parked the cars about 2 a.m.

Five hours later, the men returned and drove the stolen cars to the Albert Bullock auto salvage yard, 804 E. Carson St., Torrance. Officers then moved in and made the arrests.

Booked in San Pedro jail on grand theft auto were Charles E. Mitchell, 28, of 21404 Vera St., Torrance, and Oscar D. Bailey, 27, of 21936 Main St., near Torrance. Both admit taking the cars Saturday, police said. Also booked for receiving stolen property was Albert Bullock, 47, yard operator.

Sgt. Simon said the arrests cracked the car-theft ring, and predicted there will be other arrests. Officers found 30 discarded California license plates and 60 pink ownership certificates in a truck owned by Bullock. All are believed to be from stolen cars, police said.

The ring wasn't particular what year or model of car it stole, police said. The going price on a stolen car at an auto-salvage lot is only $15 regardless of its age or condition.

Some cars as new as 1956 models in excellent shape have been sold for $15 as "junk," police said.

* * * *

EARLIER THIS spring, the Los Angeles County Sheriff's office advised The Independent, Press-Telegram that the stealing of cars for junking purposes had become one of crime's No. 1 industries in the past year.

But it asked newsmen to withhold the story until enough evidence could be gathered to make an arrest. Deputies were assigned to keep under watch all auto-salvage lots in the county.

The law prohibits an auto-salvage dealer from buying a car as junk unless the seller has a registration slip to show he is the owner.

MYSTERY OF MISSING CARS was believed solved Saturday with arrest of men police said were responsible for stealing cars and then wrecking them for scrap metal and unidentifiable parts. San Pedro Detective Sgt. J. A. Mascitto checks license plates and registration forms, all that remains of a number of cars which have otherwise disappeared.—(Staff Photos)

Lynwood Officials Raid Machine Gun Factory

LYNWOOD — Police here Saturday night raided a garage at 3144 Oakwood Ave., and seized a machine gun factory. Five Spanish-speaking persons, who first pretended they could not speak any English, were detained for federal authorities.

Shortly after the raid a man identifying himself as an ambassador to the United States from a foreign nation phoned to inquire about the raid. Police declined to say what nation he said he represented.

Police Chief Ralph Darton said dozens of newly-built machine guns were stacked neatly in the corner of the two-car garage. Lathes and other gun-making tools jammed the tiny garage.

* * * *

"I CAN'T SAY where the guns were being sent because it may be a matter of the foreign policy of the nation," Darton said. But an anonymous tipster who phoned the Independent, Press-Telegram said the guns were destined for Cuba, where an uprising has been under way.

Authorities raided the garage after residents at a Lynwood motel complained some men with guns were disturbing the peace. Motor Officer Bill Freeman curbed a car carrying the suspects as it was driving on Long Beach Blvd.

ON A ROUTINE check of the car, police found eight machine guns in the rear trunk.

At press-time late Saturday, Darton said federal authorities had just found a large stockpile of ammunition at a second site in a Southland community near Lynwood. Darton declined to reveal the second location.

Threat Closes Yank School in Lebanon

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The American community school in strife-torn Beirut closed for the summer Saturday — 15 days early—because of a threatening note received by its principal.

Principal Clarence Schultz sent letters to the parents of the school's 440 children—mostly Americans—stating that the school was closing early as a precautionary measure.

A letter signed by an anonymous opposition group warned Schultz that the school should "sympathize with the opposition" in this country's current civil strife.

• • • •

THE CLOSING of the school came as Lebanon ended its second week of a general strike with a stubborn opposition still unable to dislodge equally stubborn President Camille Chamoun.

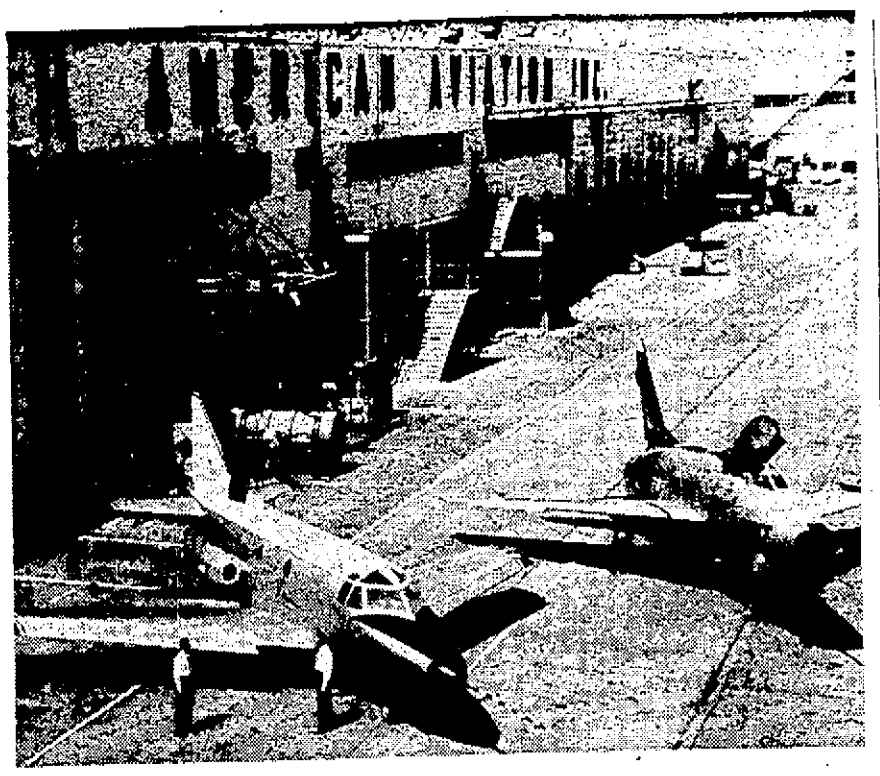

So far, neither side is strong enough to enforce a decision on the other. The government security forces are preventing street riots, but are unable to halt the bombings and hit and run terrorism which is keeping the strike effective.

Government forces have opened up the main roads in the country, but left huge mountain regions in the hands of opposition guerilla fighters.

For several days, there has been a comparative lull in the fighting. But in the historic tourist site of Baalbek, gangs loyal to oppositionist Sabri Hamadeh attacked a courthouse and sporadic fighting continued during the week. Outbreaks continued in the Akar region of north Lebanon and the suburbs of Tripoli.

Battles Polygamy

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Tadzhikistan's deputy supreme court chairman, M. Radzhabejov, is campaigning against bigamy, polygamy and taking of child brides. He preaches "creation of an atmosphere of intolerance" against what he calls numerous cases of such feudal practices in central Asia.

NEW JET TRAINER ROLLS OFF LINE

Rocket Fuel in Flare-up at Redstone

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Burning rocket propellant lit up the sky over Redstone Arsenal and damaged a small section of the Thiokol Chemical Corp. Redstone Division Saturday.

Sixteen workmen in the building fled to safety and an automatic deluge system had the blaze under control in about five minutes, a company spokesman said.

The fire occurred during a phase of the manufacture of solid propellant for rockets. Workers were operating the required mechanisms by remote control from behind a three-foot-thick wall.

The only person injured was a worker who skinned his hand while running away from the flames.

The spokesman said that one of the more than 10 bays in the damaged building will be out of operation for 10 days, but work will continue in the rest of the building.

Governor Knight Speaks This Morning at Harbor Day Ceremony in San Pedro

By BOB HOUSER

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight is scheduled to speak at 9:30 a.m. today at San Pedro in connection with Harbor Day activities.

Knight and the five other candidates for U. S. Senate are scheduled to appear on the same platform at the California League of Women Voters Candidates' Night Tuesday in the Ambassador Hotel.

Mrs. Robert Zurbach, of San Marino, state president, said each would have five minutes to talk and then all would answer questions from the floor.

Other candidates are Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco; William Jolley of Glendale and Alexander D. Williamson of Palm Springs, all Republicans, and Democrats Congressman Clair Engle of Red Bluff, and Fritjof P. Thygeson of Albany, a Socialist who cross-filed on the Democratic ballot.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN Thomas M. Erwin, candidate for First District supervisor, charged that opponent Assemblyman Frank Bonelli "has had to barter a pledge of $100 million in county tax money in exchange for political support of major downtown Los Angeles interests."

Erwin said Bonelli "has to make good on the $100-million opera house development planned in downtown Los Angeles."

Bonelli has campaigned on the promise he will place representation of the First District first in his supervisorial duties.

* * * *

RUSSELL L. HARDY, opposing incumbent John R. Quinn for county assessor, said Quinn "is denying the basic rules of simple arithmetic" when he "says he is not responsible for the tax situation which has caused such a wave of public indignation." Hardy added:

"Two factors make up your tax bill—the rate set by the Board of Supervisors and the assessment value of your property established by the assessor's office. If either one is raised the tax bill goes up."

* * * *

ROBERT W. FRAZER, Democratic candidate for 18th District Congressman, announced Saturday he has been endorsed by the California Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The group also endorsed Joseph M. Kennick and Thomas D. Griffin for 44th and 70th Assembly District seats, respectively.

Frazer disclosed that his campaign is being managed by his mother, Mrs. Hazel B. Frazer, a librarian at the Long Beach Main Library and oldest employe in point of service (47 years) with the city.

Other appointments announced by Frazer are Manny Phillips, UCLA honor student, for student relations, and Francis X. Kenney, past commander of the American Legion, for veterans relations.

* * * *

CO-CHAIRMEN Clarence S. Hunt and Charles C. Stratton of the Attorneys for Craig Hosmer Committee, issued this statement:

"Craig Hosmer (18th District Congressman, Long Beach) has served with outstanding strength and ability since he was first elected to Congress in 1952. Such dedication to duty, combined with three terms of valuable seniority, have made it imperative that the citizens of this district join in an all-out effort to insure an overwhelming vote of confidence for Craig Hosmer in the June primary."

* * * *

THIRD CANDIDATE for the 18th District seat, Dr. Harry S. May, Democrat, underlined the role of Long Beach as a world trading center, in a talk at a meet-your-candidates party at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zucker, 3144 Stevely Ave., Saturday night.

May noted that the tragic Signal Hill fire provided flash reminders of the dangers of an atom war as well as the potential of this community as part and parcel of a world community at peace.

He posed exporting our abundance and importing the needs of our economy as balances in a world whose traffic, prosperity and productivity are interwoven.

Stressing Long Beach's role in the nation's economy and as "our economic outpost for far-eastern markets," May said the voter should bear in mind we exported over $624 million in goods last year through our harbor, giving just one classification, our longshoremen, an income of over $15 million.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN Herbert R. Klocksiem (R-44th District) Saturday assailed an initiative proposal that would cut the state sales tax and raise personal income taxes.

The proposal will be on the ballot in the November general election.

Klocksiem, who is seeking his fifth term in the Assembly, noted that the proposal would lop off $200,000,000 in sales tax revenue—a full third of the present take.

"But the companion feature—the income-tax raise—would fall far short of making up this deficit.

"I don't see how this possibly can be done without hurting the state, its schools and its taxpayers. I urge a 'no' vote on this measure."

VOTE PROSPECTOR

Robert W. (Bob) Frazer, democratic candidate for Congress in Long Beach's 18th District, dramatizes the fact he is "prospecting" for votes in the June primary by loading up an ersatz party symbol with sourdough tools and "Frazer" stickers.

IF YOU SUFFERED DAMAGE from the Hancock Oil Fire

—contact your insurance agent immediately

YOUR Independent Insurance AGENT

Members of the Long Beach Insurance Association—your local, independent agents—have set up an emergency disaster unit to care for those who have had damage to automobiles, real property, and contents or personal property. In practically every case, your insurance will cover your losses.

FIRST, contact your local insurance agent immediately.

DON'T attempt any repairs or repainting until so advised and authorized by your own insurance agent.

DO wash your car, cut and rake your grass, clean your sidewalks and driveways.

BECAUSE OF THE GREAT MANY CLAIMS, special facilities are being established in Long Beach. Orderly block-by-block inspections will be made by trained insurance adjusters. Obviously it will take time for them to visit all claimants—but the delay will be as short as possible.

CALL YOUR INSURANCE AGENT at once so that your claim can be put into process.

BEWARE "DOOR-BELL" PUSHERS

Painting and other repairs under insurance claims will be handled by established and reputable local firms. Don't be victimized by irresponsible outfits. Use only State-licensed contractors. If in doubt, call the Better Business Bureau, HEmlock 6-7249, or the Builders Exchange, HEmlock 2-8985. But, we repeat, do not authorize any work until you have notified your insurance agent. He will see that proper steps are taken.

ROME (AP) — The Catholic News Service Centro Cattolico Stampa reports a possibility that Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will be received by Pope Pius II on a state visit to Italy. The royal couple was received by the Pope in 1951 before she mounted the throne and took oath as Defender of the Faith of the Churches of England and Scotland.

LONDON (AP)—British farmers are complaining about American chickenleggers. One breed of chicken that has turned up in Britain, American White Rocks, just is not imported. Let's Elect Bonelli in the Primary

ALL OF THE CONTESTS on the June 3 primary ballot are important, of course. But none is more important than the race for First District County Supervisor. The district would profit by settling that contest in the primary—and it is, by the way, the one contest with a good chance of being settled in the primary.

The First Supervisorial District, which includes a portion of Long Beach and Lakewood, takes in an area containing 1,400,000 people. These 1,400,000 citizens have been without represeniation on the Board of Supervisors since the death of the late Herbert Legg.

GOV. KNIGHT, who has the power to appoint a successor, obviously has been awaiting the outcome of the primary. The man who gets the majority of all the votes cast—if any man does—will probably receive appointment so he can assume the office immediately.

The recent attempt by the Supervisor of another district to wipe out the projected Long Beach branch court house illustrates why this district urgently needs to have its official spokesman on the Board.

Vigorous representation for the First District is always necessary. It is a district with interests that do not always coincide with those of districts covering Los Angeles city areas. The First District therefore requires a strong Supervisor dedicated to upholding "outlying" interests when they come under unfair attack by L. A. downtowners.

THE CANDIDATE WHO, in our opinion, fits the needs of the First District is Assemblyman Frank Bonelli of Huntington Park.

He is a vigorous, intelligent person. He has a long record of effective public service. He is not a "downtown L. A." man. He has been on the side of this community on the tidelands and subsidence issues in the State Assembly. He has pledged to fight for this district.

We urge voters of the First District to support his candidacy, elect him in the primary, and restore their voice immediately on the Board of Supervisors.

Bomb Will Create New Alaska Harbor

(EDITOR'S NOTE—With Drew Pearson on a reporting assignment in Europe, today's column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON—As a prelude to the day when nuclear power will be used to move mountains and divert rivers, the Atomic Energy Commission will blast out a deep-water harbor on the icebound northern coast of Alaska next year with a tremendous, underwater hydrogen explosion.

AEC officials have secretly contacted Alaskan authorities about the spectacular project, although the plans haven't yet been cleared with the Canadians who may object to a hydrogen explosion on their windward side. The AEC also anticipates an outcry from Alaskan, Canadian and Japanese fishing interests whose catches could possibly become contaminated from radioactivity.

The new seaport will be blasted into being near Point Barrow on Alaska's northernmost tip. The ice normally closes the northern coast to shipping 10 out of 12 months. However, a channel for ocean-going vessels would probably be cleared to the new harbor.

PLANS FOR THE "POINT BARROW Project," as it is known inside the AEC, call for planting a hydrogen charge under the surface at the harbor site. An explosion of about 10 megatons (equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of TNT) is contemplated.

This will be the first of several dramatic projects using H-bombs for peaceful purposes, all part of what the AEC calls "operation ploughshare." Another project which has been given serious consideration but not final approval is the blasting of a canal across the Alaskan peninsula. The AEC figures it would take 300 H-bombs, each having the explosive force of six megatons, to gouge a new water route across the frozen face of Alaska.

If the AEC can rearrange the geography safely in the remote regions of Alaska, it may attempt similar projects in the United States itself. Such ambitious ideas as rerouting rivers to make the desert bloom have been discussed.

THE BORDER PATROL PICKED up two Mexican wetbacks the other day on a Colusa, Calif., ranch owned by Charles Welch. Instead of shipping them back to Mexico and charging Welch with harboring illegal aliens, the immigration service strangely returned them to his ranch with temporary permits to stay in the United States. Welch is continuing to use them as cheap labor at a time when American citizens are begging for jobs.

It is a curious coincidence that Paul Posz, new immigration chief for the Southwest, owns a neighboring ranch at Colusa. The two ranchers have ridden the range together in their Cadillacs and moved in the same cocktail circles for years. When Welch was asked whether Posz had pulled the strings permitting the wetbacks to stay, he told this column: "I guess I had better plead the Fifth Amendment."

THE RUSSIANS MAY NOT be willing to share their scientific secrets, but they are eager to swap science-fiction stories with Americans. The Soviet science-fiction magazine, Znanie-Sila, has written to Ziff-Davis Publishing Co. which prints American science fiction, proposing:

"We still do not know enough about American science fiction. You will probably say the same about Soviet science fiction. So let's get to know each other better. We shall publish the best American science fiction, while you can introduce young Americans to the science fiction of Soviet writers and scientists who contribute to our magazine."

Chavez Ravine Row Is State, County as Well as L.A. Issue

MAYOR GEORGE CHRISTOPHER of San Francisco politely declined here last week to make a federal case of Chavez Ravine.

As a Republican candidate stumping in Southern California for his party's nomination in the U. S. Senate race and also as owner of a maddeningly peaceful baseball arrangement in his home town, Christopher seemed fair game to newsmen for the Chavez query.

HOUSER

"It's not an issue in my campaign," he demurred, "but I've offered to let anybody see a copy of our agreement."

It's true the gulch issue attains national stature only on sports wires. But the Dodgers baseball question is not exclusively a home-park item. It has already touched county and state bases as it rounds third and heads for home in the June 3 primary.

The county-state considerations are gratuitous headaches offered in the cause which already has a gully full.

Los Angeles city voters are the ones who'll decide on the Dodger-City contract. But there's been considerable choosing-up-sides in suburban sandlots too.

WE DISENFRANCHISED bums may see it like this: Either it's a wonderful thing to be in the big time, or it's an intrusion which has robbed us of our personal privilege of seeing any televised game of the week.

Since there is a county stake in the deal, it's a wonder all of us were not granted a ballot in the matter.

The county part dates back to Sept. 17, 1957. On that day our County Board of Supervisors committed the county, in a unanimously-passed resolution, to provide $2,740,000 to build access roads to the Chavez Ravine ball park acreage.

The state part involves a 25-acre parcel of the proposed 315-acre ravine site which the state bought from the city for a possible freeway route.

Now, the city owns some 185 acres of the site. They must buy up the rest of the package including the 25 state-owned acres.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL GRANT points up the odd fact, however, that the city cannot legally condemn land to give it to the ball club or to any other private owner.

It's conceivable too that the state might hold out on its 25 acres. If the state sold to the city then decided later it needed the freeway route, it would be forced to buy back through condemnation, probably at a much higher price.

WHILE THE COUNTY APPEARS in the role of road builder for the Dodgers to the tune of $2,740,000, the city is committed to spend $2 million preparing the ravine for the ball park use plus whatever it must pay to acquire the rest of the land package.

Over and above our covetousness of a vote in matters that concern us, there is an attractive alternate course: Since, if we were invited to this gulch party, we'd have to share its headaches, we can just lean back in the bleachers and watch.

"They also serve who only stand and wait" . . . and pay $2,740,000.

DAVID LAWRENCE

The Tax Bill Tug-of-War

WASHINGTON—The big tug-of-war on the new tax bill is shaping up. Unless a new tax law is passed before June 30, many rates automatically go down or are repealed.

Thus, if Congress didn't act, many excise taxes would be reduced. Also, corporate-tax rates would go down from 52 per cent to 47 per cent of net income.

LAWRENCE

This means that each group in Congress will have a certain leverage in the contest. A tax bill that favors low-income groups altogether would run into the stiff opposition of a non-radical coalition of both Republicans and Democrats which would insist that something be done to give incentives to business.

Naturally the administration has been deferring the announcement of its own tax plan. This is because, if the debate on new rates were started now, it would perhaps cause a blow-up in buying. When it is considered that autos and many consumer items could be affected by lower excise taxes, the hazard of a lengthy debate in Congress becomes obvious. There will be pressure, too, for lower rates on both passenger and freight transportation as well as lower rates on telephone calls and other items.

The Treasury, of course, is worried about the effect of all these changes on the federal deficit. For the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, the deficit will be about 3 billion dollars. For next year, it looks now like somewhere between 8 and 10 billion dollars in the red. Much of this is due to the severe decline in corporate profits.

How then to stimulate corporate earnings? It will not come by merely giving $2 a week a year to every taxpayer. It has to come from factors that will lead to job creation.

The Treasury is likely, for tactical reasons, to resist at the outset any changes in the corporate rates. But a substantial sentiment is building in favor of at least a 2½ point reduction; which would mean the halfway mark between 52 and 47 per cent. Businessmen would like to feel that the government is not a majority but a minority partner in profits.

* * * *

IF BUSINESSES which are climbing back out of the recession can see a chance to build up their surpluses, they can plan to invest in plant and equipment — something that is vitally needed if unemployment in the hard-goods industries is to be materially reduced. And that's where the recession has hit hardest.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks recently said:

"Let us keep in mind that in more than 4,000,000 private business enterprises, businessmen right now are engaged in decision-making as to production, sales, prices, re-hiring, research, plant expansion and other activities.

"Confidence — the dynamic foundation of spending—is on the rise. Government must encourage that revival."

The statement by the Secretary of Commerce is indicative of the whole attitude which the administration intends to take toward tax legislation—to remove unnecessary burdens wherever possible in the excise-tax field and to make changes that will provide a stimulus to business as a whole.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Bank Gives Scholarships Totaling $55,000 Yearly

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In all of the thousands of words that have been written lately about education, one of the outstanding achievements in this field has been, probably, somewhat neglected.

This is the program of the Bank of America in making achievement awards to outstanding and deserving students throughout the state.

MacARTHUR

Bank officials were in Sacramento recently, where an achievement award meeting was held, and four young people were given $1,000 apiece for being outstanding in their high schools.

This goes on all over California, and the total tab from the bank mounts up to approximately $55,000 a year, counting first, second and third prizes, not to mention the money it takes to administer this extensive program.

The Bank of America has engaged in the achievement award program since 1948, and has expended approximately a half a million dollars in gifts to these outstanding students.

The recipients of the awards are not chosen on the basis wholly of their scholastic ability. They are recommended for the awards first by their high school instructors, following which a board selects the top winners. Taken into consideration in making the awards are the abilities of the students as citizens.

In other words, it is the so-called "well-rounded" student, and not the book-worm, who is in line for the bank bonus. Scholastic ability, of course, has much to do with the final decision, but the activities of the student as a citizen, such as participation in school events, work on the school newspaper, etc., count as well.

And the bank awards are made in different fields, such as liberal arts, vocational arts and science, to make certain that no one field is selected as a primary vocation or profession to favor.

Trends in this modern day and age generally are for large concerns and philanthropic foundations to assist monetarily in the education of America's youth. It has even been said that eventually, the higher education of young people will be financed by private capital, without the exhaustive drains on the family pocket-book that are now disturbing the economics of many an American home.

Public Forum

Against Using Park Land for School

TO THE EDITOR:

I have subscribed to your paper for the past six or seven years and during that time have enjoyed the frank opinions expressed in L.A.C.'s columns, particularly his careful analysis of issues.

However, a recent Sunday column relative to the school district's proposal to acquire 20 acres of El Dorado Park land for a junior high school site presents a distorted picture.

* * * *

THE STATEMENT that the land in question belongs to "the taxpayers of Long Beach and those are the same taxpayers who pay for all the city's school costs," does not tell the whole story. The park land is owned by the city of Long Beach, but the city is only one part of the Long Beach Unified School District, a separate governmental body including a substantial area outside the city of Long Beach. Any special concession made by the city to the school district would benefit the members of the school district not living within the city.

If memory serves me correctly, L.A.C. opposed the city's purchase of a camp in the San Bernardino mountains, to be used by the school district, on the grounds that this would put the city in the position of subsidizing the school district.

* * * *

SELLING the park land to the school district for anything less than the fair market value would certainly subsidize the school district at the expense of the city. To replace the same area lost for park purposes, the city would have to pay the going price in the area for acreage. I believe this is one of the main reasons why the park land should be preserved intact.

Ike Demoted by Mistake

TO THE EDITOR:

Suggest Mr. David Lawrence change brands. Please see his column in the Sunday, May 18 issue of the I, P.-T., section "B" page 6. I thought Eisenhower was still President.

(Editor's Note: The error was not Mr. Lawrence's. A line was dropped, causing the name "Eisenhower" to appear by mistake after the term "Vice President.")

Replies to 'Best Letter'

TO THE EDITOR:

I have read the "best letter of the week" written to you by Mr. Gunderson, and I must state that any superlative quality it may have escapes me. When stripped of its prize-winning rhetoric the letter appears to make these points:

1. Tenure should not be granted to all teachers without regard to their performances.

2. The principles of competition in business should apply to the teaching profession.

3. Generally speaking, capable professional people keep their jobs.

* * * *

THE FIRST point is a straw horse, since the teachers and professors are not asking that incompetent teachers be retained but that competent ones not be fired.

The analogy between business success and advancement in teaching is a poor one, because of the crucial differences between the two fields in operation, aim, and criterion of success.

For point three, it is obvious that ALL capable professional people should be retained in their jobs.

Supports Use of Park for School

TO THE EDITOR:

Your editorial position on El Dorado Park land for a junior high school is very commendable and timely. The property in question belongs to the citizens of Long Beach. The Recreation Dept. serves its purpose, but our schools come first.

The people of Long Beach are paying for El Dorado Park, not the Recreation Commission. A school is necessary in that district. The situation of the park is such that it will not benefit Long Beach citizens to any degree. We have the land. Let's use it, save a little tax money where we can. Federal, state, county and city taxes are all increasing. There will be plenty of land left to develop in the park. Let us wake up. Education is the most important question today. Change the plans if necessary.

Morton Article on Opera Applauded

TO THE EDITOR:

May I congratulate you and Rachel Morton—she for writing the article on opera in English and you for publishing it. Opera would enjoy the great popularity it has in Europe if the people were able to understand the story as well as enjoy the music. It is only the snobbery of the few that prevents opera being the available joy it should be.

If we are to encourage the youth of this country to appreciate opera, we must help them to understand what they are listening to, not just to accept the fact that opera is something for the "intellectual" few.

Would Shakespeare be as well known as it is in non-English speaking countries if the people had to listen to the plays in English?

Carry on the good work—both of you.

LETTER OF THE WEEK

'These Mad Dashes'

TO THE EDITOR:

The highways in Southern California are becoming safer year by year. But how long must we tolerate police vehicles and ambulances careening down our highways, through intersections and through congested areas?

Last week I heard of two ambulances colliding in Los Angeles and a third on the way to remove the victims.

I PASSED A CHURCH on Palo Verde in Lakewood and witnessed a car of churchgoers injured by a speeding car. I learn that eight people narrowly escaped death at the hands of a speeding police officer.

I feel the time has come to put a stop to these irrational mad dashes that threaten the lives of innocent bystanders out of all proportion to the value of the project at hand.

Why kill eight people to catch three two-bit burglars!

Radioactivity Survey Shows Milk Safe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A year's study by the Public Health Service of radioactivity in milk has shown, officials said Saturday, that all milk examined from five metropolitan areas was perfectly safe.

The radioactivity in all milk examined was well below the permissible limits agreed upon by the national committee on radiation protection and measurement.

The study covered monthly samples from the milksheds serving Sacramento, Salt Lake City, St. Louis, Cincinati, and New York City.

In the five-area pilot study, milk samples were analyzed for specific radioisotopes, including strontium 90. The latter in sufficient quantities could cause bone cancer.

Resurrected Town Defies Tornadoes

UDALL, Kan. (AP) — Resurrected Udall today will honor 83 residents killed three years ago by a tornado that devastated this southeastern Kansas town in 10 terrible seconds.

Udall has become the state's newest and most vigilant town. It is a pattern for other towns trying to become as tornado-proof as possible.

Udall learned lessons from the storm that struck the night of May 25, 1955, and took 83 lives, injured 176 and destroyed most of the homes and business buildings.

The agricultural community quickly pushed away the wreckage and began rebuilding. The storm-conscious builders took many precautions against future twisters—and against surprise.

A sure-fire storm warning system has been set up. City Marshal Hal Payne keeps in radio contact with nearby communities and receives weather warnings from the U. S. Weather Bureau at Wichita.

* * * *

ON THE south side of Udall stands a lookout tower. It is manned by volunteers. Its wailing siren can be heard all over town.

In its vigilance Udall has built more storm shelters than it needs. It's ready to share them with residents of the surrounding area. Officials say the shelters offer 100 per cent protection from tornadoes — and could be used if ever necessary for escape from radioactive fallout.

Beneath the new high school is a shelter which alone will accommodate 200 persons. A shelter under the grade school has room for 250. Half the homes have shelters. Most are stocked with emergency supplies of food and water.

Of the 168 houses in the town, 158 are new. Other evidences of the comeback from the tornado are 16 new business buildings.

The present population is about 600. Three years ago, before the devastation, it was 587.

NEW DISCOVERY FOR HARD OF HEARING

To all readers of the Independent, Press-Telegram, the Diagnostic Office will give the first treatment for only $3.00

According to the Basic Diagnostic Office it is now possible for many people who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, "We have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else." Once they try this new and proved method they are overjoyed. Just like magic, in many cases they are able to hear without their hearing aid after the first treatment.

The treatment is simple, it consists of three steps, and takes about 45 minutes, if the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition a special treatment is given; if the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given; if it is a bone condition, the Tympanic Oscillations treatment is given.

According to Basic Diagnostic, 70% of all hard of hearing people will be helped by this method. We believe it is as great a discovery as insulin was for diabetes.

We are so sure that we can help you that we will give you the first treatment, including an ear examination for only $3.00 providing you bring in this ad within 10 days from today.

Imports, Higher U.S. Costs Adversely Affect Tuna Industry, Government Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department says increasing competition from imports plus higher costs of United States operations are adversely affecting the domestic tuna fishery.

"The consumption of tuna in the United States has increased almost continuously," Secretary Seaton said in a letter to President Eisenhower and the Congress.

"The domestic fisheries for yellowfin, skipjack and bigeye tuna, however, have shown a decline in production, employment, prices and sales.

"On the other hand, imports, especially of frozen yellowfin and skipjack tuna, have increased substantially."

The report was prepared under provisions of a 1956 law at the request of the American Tunaboat Assn., San Diego, and the Fishermen's Cooperative Assn., San Pedro. It said members of those organizations produce about 65 per cent of the domestic production of the three tuna species named.

It was emphasized the report presents findings, and not recommendations.

Among the findings:

United States landings of yellowfin and skipjack in 1957 were 237,113,000 pounds, down 27 per cent from the 1950 peak of 324,711,000 pounds.

The number of baitboats over 50 gross tons taking part in the fishery declined from 210 in 1951 to 146 in 1957 and the carrying capacity dropped from 44,300 tons to 33,875.

The average dockside price for yellowfin declined 25 per cent from $345 per ton in 1954 to a low of $258 in 1957; the skipjack price declined 28 per cent in the same period, from $304 to $220.

Employes on bait boats decreased from 2,730 in 1951 to 1,989 in 1956; on purse seiners from 1,661 in 1949 to 827 in 1956.

Imports of all types of tuna accounted for 6 per cent of the available supply in this country in 1948; for 39 per cent in 1956 and 46 per cent in 1957.

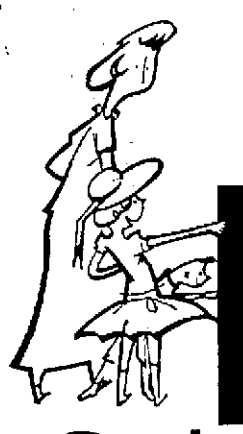

The imports of all tuna averaged less than 20 million pounds annually in the 1940s, jumped to 117,100,000 pounds in 1950 and to an estimated 259,600,000 pounds in 1957.

About 85 per cent of imports of frozen raw tuna have come from Japan.

Nearsightedness Halted by Contact Lenses?

According to reports recently presented at the National Contact Lens Congress, progressive myopia (nearsightedness) may be halted with contact lenses. Fourteen hundred patients with steadily worsening cases of myopia were fitted with contact lenses, and at the end of a two-year period none of these patients showed further increase in nearsightedness. Some even showed signs of improvement. A London physician stated that English specialists for eight years have been aware of the containing effect of contact lenses on progressive nearsightedness. These findings may be another factor in stimulating the already remarkable increase in adoption of contact lenses. Get ALL the facts from Dr. Soss, the optometrist who has served the people of Long Beach for 31 years. Come in, or write for fascinating booklet. Easy terms. DR. J. M. GRACE R. CHANDLER

REALTOR OF THE WEEK

In 1931 Grace R. Chandler with three other teachers from Columbus, Ohio, first saw the beautiful city of Long Beach, it was love at first sight!
She decided then and there to make this place her home when retirement time came.
And so, in 1947 she and her husband, James, came to California first locating in Downey. After a three-year experience in building and selling, they came to Long Beach, building a home in Belmont Heights.
They became members of the Realty Board in 1952. In 1954 they were awarded the Realtor of the Year trophy for services rendered . . . the first husband and wife team to be so honored. After a temporary setback two years ago due to an injury, Mrs. Chandler has continued her activities and this year is a member of the following committees: Program, Reception and Attendance Women Activities, Achievement Book, Multiple Listing and Court of Ethics. She also has a Business Opportunities brokers license.
After moving to their present location at 4115 E. Broadway, they have dealt primarily in the Belmont area properties using the slogan "In the Heart of Belmont Heights." Mr. Chandler has recently taken advantage of the adult education class in oil painting and has presented two paintings to the board.

Tele-Vues by TERRY VERNON

One of the most sought after youngsters in the country for TV appearances is Van Cliburn, the unknown pianist who came to fame by winning the International Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow, Russia.

Young Van has loyalty. It was Skitch Henderson who arranged for the first TV appearance of the pianist on "Tonight" back in 1955 and for a second appearance the same year. This sparked a concert engagement and helped Van get started. So it is only natural that he'll show up to play for the "Steve Allen Show" (4) at 8 p.m., in COLOR, with Henderson augmenting his orchestra by some 20 pieces for the Tchaikovsky Concerto No. 1. (Ed Murrow has the Texas pianist booked for Friday's "Person to Person.)

Steve is heading for Europe this summer so Peter Ustinov will be on hand to portray a tourist agent in three different lands to give Steve an idea of what to expect in his travels. Louis Armstrong will play selections from his new album and Barbara McNair will sing a new Allen-written song.

Irish Colt Upsets Round Table

EXTRA! EXTRA!

Yankees Finally Lose One, Tigers Finally Win, 3-2

DETROIT (UPI)—Frank Lary fired a seven-hitter Saturday to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees and bring to a halt the longest winning and losing streaks in the majors this season.

New York had won 10 games in a row and the Tigers had dropped nine straight before Lary, ever a Yankee nemesis, brought both of the streaks to an abrupt halt.

It marked the eleventh time in his career that Lary had been able to turn back the Yankees. New York has beaten him on only four occasions.

* * * *

THE YANKEES grabbed a quick 1-0 lead in the first inning on a double by Yogi Berra, an infield single by Tony Kubek and an infield out.

But the Tigers evened matters in the second on a bunt single by Al Kaline, a walk, a sacrifice and an infield out. Harvey Kuenn gave Detroit a 2-1 lead an inning later with his third homer of the year.

THE TABLES BEING TURNED

Seaneen, Irish-bred colt which has been chasing Round Table for the past year, finally gets revenge here as he leads The Table by more than four lengths while crossing the finish line Saturday in rich Californian at Hollywood Park. Trailing down along the rail are Terrang, the early pace-setter, The Searcher and Pit Boss.—(Staff Photo by John Neagle)

Longden Wins by 4¼ Lengths With Seaneen

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

'Twas a great day for the Irish Saturday at Hollywood Park as Seaneen, a Kildare colt who had chased the great Round Table five straight times in five months, reversed the tables the sixth time and registered a stunning four and one-quarter length victory in the $108,200 Californian.

The staggering upset of the millionaire colt from Kentucky was engineered by Mr. Dependable of the jockey fraternity, veteran Johnny Longden, who had spent the entire week slimming down to accept a 107-pound weight assignment on Seaneen.

Longden managed to tip the Fairbanks at 109 pounds at weighin time Saturday — and that was the difference as Seaneed held a big 21-pound advantage over the 1-10 favorite, Round Table.

* * * *

SEANEEN is Irish all the way. Bred in Ireland by the Irish National Stud Co., the four-year-old colt is owned by an Irishman, Neil S. McCarthy, and trained by an Irishman, W. B. Finnegan.

The surprising Seaneen paid $17.10, $2.70 and $2.10, while Round Table's supporters picked up $2.10 and $2.10. Terrang, three lengths behind The Table, paid $2.10 for the show.

The Searcher was fourth, four and one-half lengths behind Terrang, while Pit Boss brought up the rear of the five-horse field, three lengths behind The Searcher.

* * * *

SEANEEN picked up the winner's check of $62,200, bringing his lifetime earnings to $202,675, a far cry from Round Table's bundle of $1,025,764 (he added $20,000 place money Saturday.)

But the Irish colt's victory—reminscent of the famed Noor-Citation duels a few years back—was his most shining hour Saturday.

"Old Moneybags" Longden was content to let the flying Terrang set all the early pace. Jockey Bill Boland, flown in from New York for the classic, shot Terrang from the gate like a jet and opened up a three-length margin at the quarter pole. Seaneen was next, a length and one-half ahead of Round Table, with The Searcher two lengths further back and Pit Boss trailing, as he did most of the race.

Terrang's gap was cut to a length and one-half after a half mile, with the three top horses running in the same order.

At just the point where the crowd of 48,900 expected to see Round Table make his big move—at the backstretch turn—Seaneen took charge! Longden came around Terrang, stayed with Boland's horse a fleeting second, then quickly drew out to a surprising three-length lead at the head of the stretch.

* * * *

ROUND TABLE caught Terrang on the stretch turn and jockey Willie Shoemaker went to his whip in a frantic effort to catch the Flying Irishman. But it was not the millionaire colt's afternoon and Longden did little more than gallop Seaneen across the finish line first.

Seaneen, a tremendously improved horse, gave a hint that something big was in store for him just one month ago at

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Even though Nitehawk boss Joe Rodgers is disturbed at the amount of news space allotted to the Dodgers—and we'll have to go along with Joe that those Dodgers have grabbed more space than any other attraction in the history of Southland sports—it goes without saying that Walter O'Malley's clan has pulled out every stop en route to its headline-grabbing.

The Chavez Ravine referendum election alone should have been enough to command space from now until June 3, but the Dodgers (albeit not willingly) have added the Warren Giles and Buzzie Bavasi-Duke Snider incidents to their agenda of topics-for-conversation.

I have little doubt that Giles' statement was issued to stampede L. A. city voters into voting for the referendum. If O'Malley wants to locate his Dodgers in a lot adjacent to Seal Beach's famed Airport Club, he can (and will) do it without any interference from Giles.

Actually, Giles' statement meant a big, fat NOTHING! When he said that the voters, in effect, would decide June 3 if they wanted major league baseball in Southern California, he was being as absurd as the Schweppes man drinking soda pop. The site is the subject under discussion—not whether baseball is wanted!

And when Giles stated he knew of no other site where the Dodgers could play in this area, he was only showing his ignorance.

I don't think it's beyond comprehension that O'Malley and Giles cooked up the idea for Warren's speech. After the generally bad fan reaction, however, I'm certain Walter wishes Warren had kept his big, fat mouth shut!

ONE COLUMNIST claimed this week that Bavasi was trying to build up fan hatred of Snider in order to justify trading the Duke. If there was a file marked "Stupid Statements," this comment would land there with no difficulty.

Bavasi's irritation at Snider is understandable, especially in view of the Duke's tactics of trying to hurl baseballs from the Coliseum—AND OTHERS, which fortunately have not made their way into print.

Duke is the Dodgers' big man, any way you cut it. Without Snider's bat, the Dodgers are hurting. Duke is doing the Dodgers positively no good this season—and as the general manager, Bavasi is the fellow who has to shoulder the blame.

The best thing for both Snider and the Dodgers might be to put Duke on the 30-day disabled list, like Cleveland did to Bob Lemon. Duke keeps crying that his injured knee needs rest—and perhaps the 30-day enforced vacation is the only answer.

As far as Buzzie trying to generate fan hatred against the Duke—well, let's just dump that comment in the "S.S." file and forget it. Bavasi, a hard loser, still is one of baseball's finest gentlemen—even with sulking prima donnas!

I HAVEN'T SEEN one story yet about L. A. City Attorney Roger Arnebergh's statement a few days ago that the referendum election is "totally unnecessary." Arnebergh confirmed his statement Saturday—and it's mighty interesting.

"The June 3 voting on the Dodgers' Chavez Ravine contract is absolutely unnecessary," declared Arnebergh, "because five law suits—three of which still are pending—will test every facet of the document.

"I am surprised the referendum is coming to a vote—really, I am!

"IF THE CONTRACT IS ILLEGAL, THE COURTS WILL THROW IT OUT, WITHOUT THE NECESSITY OF A REFERENDUM. EVEN IF THE VOTERS FAVOR THE CONTRACT, THE COURTS COULD KILL IT. SO, WHY HOLD THE ELECTION?"

Now, there's the best question of the year!

Some readers have interesting viewpoints on the forthcoming election, like so:

"I am a Dodger fan against the Chavez Ravine deal," writes Donald G. Harp, 1202 Cary Ave., Wilmington. "I am voting against it because terms of the contract are overly generous to the Dodgers. Even though I am voting against the deal, and despite their miserable record, I plan to attend several Dodger games."

(Where, Mr. Harp, in the East Lakewood Little League park!)

"Since writing to you deploring the lack of any sports-writing skill in Southern California, I have followed your columns and must admit that some have been rather good. (Ed. Note: Thanks, loads!) ....

"Your column re Chavez Ravine opposition was an example, however, of blowing your top about something which your prejudice has blown you off on a tangent . . . for six reasons:

"1. You know O'Malley has found a gold mine here and any threat of his to leave the area is hogwash.

"2. Show me an instance of where someone in official capacity has called O'Malley dishonest. (Note: Oh, come now, pal!)

"3. Sportswriters have been acutely dishonest implying that the anti-Chavez Ravine movement has anything to do with the participants disliking baseball.

"4. Your comparison of this situation with two business firms living up to an agreement is a weak foul ball. Politicians must be responsible to their constituents.

"5. Your contention that L. A. is a national laughing stock is baseless. It is presumptious to assume that the rest of the country cares what goes on in L. A. (Note: You've been sleeping these past few months, friend!)

"6. What business is it of yours, if you're not an L. A. taxpayer?" (signed) W. D. Graff, 183 E. 68th St., L. B. 5.

BOWDEN RUNS 4:03.7

Troy Captures 17th PCC Title

BERKELEY (AP)—California's middle distance star Don Bowden cracked the Pacific Coast Conference record for the mile Saturday, winning in 4:03.7 as Southern California captured its 17th PCC track and field title in 18 tries.

Bowden grabbed the lead before the first turn and no one challenged the lanky, smooth striding senior. He thus became the only man to hold two conference records. He set his first in the 880 last year with 1:47.8 but skipped that event Saturday. His sophomore teammate Jerry Siebert won it in 1:51.

SC won with 60½ points. Second place went to California with 43½; third to UCLA with 40 and fourth to Stanford with 26½.

* * * *

A CROWD of 12,000 in California's Edward Stadium watched Bowden establish the third record hung up in this meet. SC's Rink Babka, becoming the only athlete ever to win a PCC championship three straight years, set the discus mark at 186 feet 8 inches Friday and Rafer Johnson, UCLA's fine all around trackman, threw the javelin 243-10½. Those records came in the preliminaries and were not surpassed Saturday.

California's sprinting Willie White copped the only double triumph, taking the 100-yard dash in 9.6 and the 220 in 21.4. Stanford's Dean Smith ran second in the century. Otis Davis of Oregon was runnerup in the 220.

* * * *

LITTLE MAX Truex of SC had no trouble winning his second in a row as he finished the two mile in 9:05.4. Maury Graves of Stanford was next in 9:19.3.

Newk Fails Again, 5-4; Erskine vs. Phils Today

By GEORGE LEDERER
(I, P-T Staff Writer)

CINCINNATI—Big Don Newcombe, who once brushed off the Redlegs as though they were nothing more than lint on his suit, couldn't locate the magic wand Saturday.

The former ace of the Dodger pitching staff failed to finish for the fifth time in as many starts and gave up all the runs as Cincinnati took its second straight from the Dodgers, 5-4.

* * * *

A THREE-RUN fifth inning sent Newcombe to the showers and enabled the Redlegs to pull three games in front of the last place Dodgers.

Jerry Lynch, who formerly played with Hollywood in the PCL, sparked a 10-hit Redleg attack with three singles and a double and drove in two runs.

Johnny Klippstein started on the mound for the Redlegs and was credited with his second win, but needed the stout relief pitching of Brooks Lawrence when the Dodgers scored three runs before anyone was out in the sixth.

Catcher John Roseboro started the Dodger rally with his third home run of the year, a 370-foot poke into the right field bleachers. After Elmer Valo beat out a high chopper to third, Carl Furillo smacked his fifth home run that brought the Dodgers within one run at 5-4 and finished Klippstein.

Lawrence came in and walked Charlie Neal, but made Gil Hodges bounce into a double play for the first out. Gino Cimoli singled, but was left stranded when Don Zimmer fanned. Lawrence allowed only two more singles for the remaining three innings.

Even though the Redlegs swept the rain-shortened series, manager Birdie Tebbets wasn't satisfied. He ordered his athletes to take extra hitting practice immediately after the game.

* * * *

THE DODGERS, who have won only four of 10 games on their current road trip, winged their way to Philadelphia where they will face comeback kid Robin Roberts 4-4 this afternoon in the first of a two-game series.

Carl Erskine will be on the hill for the Dodgers, seeking his third win against two losses. Both Erskine and Roberts shut out the St. Louis Cardinals in their last starts. Erskine pitched a 4-0 eight-hitter, while Roberts won, 1-0, and doubled home the only run.

The Dodgers gave indication they would make short work of Klippstein when they posted a 1-0 lead in the first inning and drove Redleg outfielders to the fences with several deep fly balls. In fact, not a Dodger hit the ball on the ground until third baseman Don Hoak threw out Zimmer in the fifth.

HOME AGAIN ON JUNE 3

Don Drysdale is scheduled to start against the Phils Monday. The Dodgers move to Pittsburgh for a two-game series Tuesday and Wednesday, then complete their 19-game road trip with a four-day stand in Chicago, including a Memorial Day doubleheader. They play at the Coliseum again on June 3 against Cincinnati.

A BIT OF IRISH AND LONGDEN

Once Over Lightly

By DAVE LEWIS
Sports Editor

Many of the younger sports fans have never seen a "pop bottle shower."

Today at sports events, soft drinks and beer are poured into waxed paper containers. The fans never get their hands on the bottles.

This is the result of too many dangerous bottle showers at the various sports events as the fans would vent their displeasure over some incident by bombarding officials or rival players with the deadly and crippling glassware.

The hazard of being hit by a bottle has still not disappeared. Fans still take liquid spirits to various events . . . and just a couple of years ago a person was seriously injured by a thrown liquor bottle at a Los Angeles boxing match.

Back in the late 1920's, pop bottle showers were not too uncommon in baseball.

I remember seeing several such outbursts at Wrigley Field. Bottles, cushions and refuse of every description was hurled onto the field . . . and it was a miracle that somebody wasn't killed.

THE STRANGEST RULING ever made in baseball concerned a pop bottle.

The incident involving this particular bottle occurred at Sportsman's Park in St. Louis on September 16, 1922. It eventually wound up as Exhibit A on the desk of the late Ban Johnson, then president of the American League.

The game that day was one of the most hectic ever played in St. Louis. The Browns, sparked by the mighty bat of George Sisler, were on an extended winning streak and making a strong run for what would have been a threat to the Yanks.

But the Yankees, managed by Miller Huggins, roared into town and wiped out the Browns' championship hopes and in so doing, they became involved in the famous pop bottle incident.

St. Louis supporters overflowed the playing field for the Saturday game. Temporary seats in front of the grandstand virtually covered the foul area and in the outfield, fans stood jammed behind ropes along the foul lines.

It was a tight game all the way with the Yankees leading 2-1 going into the last of the ninth when the incident took place.

JUST AFTER BOB MEUSEL caught a fly in right field for the first out in the bottom of the ninth, Whitey Witt, the Yankee centerfielder, was seen to drop, face downward, as though he had been shot.

There was a sudden silence in the park as Meusel and the other Yankee players rushed to Witt's aid. Witt was unconscious and bleeding from a deep gash in his forehead.

Rumors spread like wildfire through the crowd . . . Witt had been shot, he had stumbled and fallen cracking his skull, he had suffered a heart attack, etc.

But the Yankees knew what had happened as soon as they reached Witt for close beside him lay a pop bottle.

The matter became a subject for official inquiry right on the spot. Even though Bob Shawkey set down the Browns in order moments later to wrap up the New York victory, the Yankees were enraged and demanded immediate action.

The St. Louis club immediately offered a reward for the apprehension of the individual who had thrown the bottle. Several other groups contributed to the reward pool which finally totalled $2,050.

A considerable number of people reported the bottle-thrower to be a boy around 10 years old who disappeared into the crowd after conking Witt.

But no such boy ever was apprehended nor his identity ever discovered.

THE NEXT MORNING, Witt explained that he was running over to back up Meusel when "some . . . popped me. That's all."

Johnson moved into the picture then and all available evidence was turned over to his league office, including the bottle.

The Yankees left St. Louis after taking two of the three games, and when they pulled into Detroit they heard some amazing news.

One Brownie fan who had attended the game claimed in a letter to Johnson to have seen everything.

He, was James P. Hon of Evansville, Indiana, and his eye-witness account, according to those who date back to the time of the incident, to sound even more fanstastic today than it did then.

According to Hon, Witt had been running over toward right field when he stepped on a pop bottle lying on the grass. He stepped on its neck in such fashion that the bottle bounced up and hit Witt on the forehead.

Johnson ruled this the official explanation of the incident and that's how it stands today.

Meanwhile, selling soft drinks and beer in bottles was discontinued in the St. Louis park . . . and this new policy was to spread all over the country within the next few years.

Thus, much good came from a near-tragic incident.

Poly Third in CIF as Relay Team Triumphs

By RUSS TIFFANY

Led by sprinter Mel Clipper, Muir High of Pasadena nosed out Compton and Long Beach Poly for the 1958 CIF track title at Arroyo Saturday.

Clipper, who won the 100 and set a CIF record in winning the 220, staged a "Silky Sullivan" charge down the stretch in the anchor lap of the 880-yard relay to come from far off the pace and finish third.

The points for third gave Muir a total of 17 to Compton's 16. Poly, which won the relay, finished with 14 points for third place.

* * * *

THE RELAY, final event of varsity competition, decided the finish for the first three schools. Compton's failure to finish better than fourth cost the favored Tarbabes.

Clipper, who won the sprints as expected, turned in 9.7 for the 100 and cracked an 18-year-old record with a 20.6 clocking in the 220. The old record was set by Morris of Huntington Beach at 20.7 in 1940.

The most exciting race of the day was in the mile where Compton's Woody Covington came from behind in the last half lap to win in 4:22.1. Covington's sprint overtook Leroy Neal of Fulletron and Jack Hudson, who led the field for three and a half laps.

Photo finishes were taken in the varsity 880 relay. The photos will be studied Tuesday and there is a possibility that Compton may have finished sixth. If the judges rule against Compton then Poly will gain a tie with the Tarbabes for second place.

* * * *

POLY STANDS to win a first place tie in the Cee meet as photos were taken in the 100. The judges will decide if Kelton Reece finished higher than third place, and if he did, Poly will tie with California.

The winning 880 relay team of Dee Andrews, Dick Davis, Jerry Galbreath and Bill Barbee from Poly turned in a sizzling time of 1:27.9, which is also the best time for high school sprints in the country.

* * * *

Poly's Jim Smith, with exception of Arizona's Dallas Long, the best high school shot putter in the nation, won his specialty with a best effort of 60 feet, 10½ inches. Millikan's Jack Slocombe, probably No. 3 in the nation, again was second to Smith.

TAKE SERIES, 2-1

Braves' Rally Edges Giants

MILWAUKEE (AP) — After trailing most of the way, the Milwaukee Braves broke loose for four runs in the eighth to beat the Giants 6-3 Saturday and move within a game and a half of pacesetting San Francisco in the National League race. The Braves won the series, 2-1.

Going into the eighth one run down, the Braves teed off on Al Worthington and Marv Grissom to sew up the decision.

With two on Andy Pafko and Wes Covington hit back-to-back singles to produce the tying and lead runs. After Pafko was out on an attempted squeeze play, Red Schoendienst drove in a third run and the big Milwaukee rally was capped by a fourth marker when Grissom wild pitched with the bases loaded.

* * * *

THE VICTORY was credited to Milwaukee reliever Don McMahon, now 2-0, who replaced Gene Conley in the eighth. The defeat was charged to Worthington, who is now 3-2.

The Giants scored a single run in the second on Orlando Cepeda's triple and Willie Kirkland's double. They added a pair in the third on singles by McCormick, Whitey Lockman and Cepeda and Jim Davenport's sacrifice.

Meanwhile, the Braves scored in the first on a walk and singles by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock and in the second on Del Crandall's fifth home run.

Pirates Topple Cardinals, 6-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Right-hand pitcher Bob Friend became the first National League pitcher to win seven games this season as he went the route in hurling the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Friend, who now has a 7-2 record, gave up 10 hits. He was backed up by fine defensive work including three double-plays. Two of the hits he gave were singles by veteran Stan Musial who flied out on his other two appearances.

Jackson gave up 12 hits as he went down to his second loss against two victories. Until the eighth, Jackson was tight in the clutches.

Two were out in the 8th when the Pirates exploded. Bob Clemente stole second base and scored what proved to be the winning run on Bill Mazeroski's single. Friend beat out a hit after Danny Kravtiz had been walked intentionally. Then came a two-run double by Bill Virdon, an intentional walk and a two-run double by Dick Groat who had knocked in the Pirates' first run in the third inning.

Phils Club Drott, Shade Cubs, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A single by Willie Jones with Granny Hamner on third in the eighth enabled the Philadelphia Phillies to edge out the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, at Connie Mack Stadium Saturday.

The victory came after two losses to the Cubs and was pitcher Dick Farrell's first conquest of the season. Farrell took over in the seventh, relieving starter Curt Simmons, with the score 4-4. It also snapped Don Elston's five-game winning streak as a relief hurler for the Cubs. Elston replaced Dick Drott in the seventh.

Farrell held the Cubs to one scratch hit, by Alvin Dark, in the ninth.

The Phils earned their margin when Hamner led off with a single, went to third on Stan Lopata's single. Lopata, trying for second, was tagged out on a rundown. Jones then came through with the third single of the inning, scoring Hamner.

Chisox Triumph on Dropo's HR

CHICAGO (AP)—First baseman Walt Dropo, starting in a game for only the fifth time this season, smashed his first homer of the campaign in the eight inning Saturday to propel the Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 decision over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Sox swept the three-game series to complete their longest winning streak.

The winner was Bill Fischer, who relieved starter Bob Keegan after five innings and held the Orioles to two hits, one of them Bob Nieman's homer in the seventh that tied the game.

The score remained locked 2-2 until the sixth when Fischer doubled in Jim Landis.

But the Orioles again knotted it on Nieman's blast into the left field stands for his fourth homer of the campaign.

Aragon Nabs TKO Victory

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Art Aragon, mixing comedy with punches, was awarded a technical knockout victory Saturday night when Alfonso Flores, of Torreon, Mex., failed to answer the bell starting the seventh round in a scheduled 10-rounder at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Flores, 153, was cut and bleeding badly when his handlers decided he was in no condition to continue. Aragon, 155½, had the fight well in hand in spite of being wild with his punches throughout.

The California Golden Boy, a 10 to 1 favorite decked Flores in the sixth round with a right upper cut. The referee counted to 2 when the bell sounded ending the round.

An estimated 3,500 fans attended the fight.

Braves Trade Hazle; Bruton off Injury List

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves Saturday traded outfielder Bob (Hurricane) Hazle to the Detroit Tigers after obtaining National League permission to restore the injured Billy Bruton to the active list.

The surprise inter-league deal climaxed a disappointing spring for Hazle, who helped spearhead the Braves' drive for the NL flag by hitting .403 at the tail end of last season. His 1958 batting average had shrunk to a paltry .179.

FORMER CHAMPS TRY AGAIN FOR L. B. GOLF TITLE

Record Field Spotlights Burnett, Youth Brigade

By JERRY WYNN

Mayor Ray Kealer will hit the first ball off the first tee at 8:18 this morning to signal the start of the 34th annual Long Beach City Golf Championship at Recreation Park.

While the mayor's ability to spank a drive remains to be seen, there's little doubt about the talent of most of the 176 amateurs who will compete in the 18-hole medal round. The field is the largest and one of the finest ever.

Sixty-three match play berths in Friday's first of two rounds will be at stake today. The 64th is automatically filled by defending champion Verne Burnett of the host club, who as a little-known 17-year-old a year ago, was probably the longest longshot ever to win the title. Burnett will play today, but just for the practice.

* * * *

A SIX-UNDER par 66 by Bill Nunnally, now a professional, captured the medal in 1957. The cutoff mark was 74 and a playoff at 75.

When match play does begin, Burnett will be battling a jinx that has seen only one man ever successfully defend his crown. That was Mr. City Championship, Del Walker, who won three straight times from 1943-1945.

Former champions in the field in addition to Burnett are Willard McCay, 1947; Wally Taft, 1949, and Larry Griggs, 1955. It is interesting to note that eight of the last 14 champions either are now professionals or did a stint as pro.

Although the entry list is top-heavy with Long Beach area stars, two "invaders" must rate as pre-tournament favorites. They are Joe Gallardo, the reigning Southern California Public Links champion who was Burnett's upset victim, 3 and 2, in the 1957 finals, and veteran Bob Reed of Candlewood Country Club, a defeated finalist in 1950 and 1956.

Wynn's Top Ten

1. Joe Gallardo, Griffith Park.
2. Pinky Stevenson, Recreation Park.
3. Bill Foote, Santa Ana CC.
4. Craig Olson, Lakewood.
5. Gerald Zar, Palos Verdes CC.
6. Bob Reed, Candlewood CC.
7. Verne Burnett, Recreation Park.
8. John Richardson, Palos Verdes CC.
9. Dennis Murphy, Meadowlark.
10. John McMonegal, Recreation Park.

Prominent with Gallardo, 21, and Burnett in the "youth will be served" category are at least a dozen outstanding players from the Long Beach area. They include Pinky Stevenson, Gerald Zar, Dennis Murphy, Dick Carmody, Ron Ankrom, Keith Lopp, Bobby Lewis, Johnny Lucas and Dick Smith.

Stevenson, former National Junior champion from Recreation Park, and Zar, powerful two-time straight Long Beach junior champion, are two in particular who have all the shots and poise to register their first major victory in senior competition.

Stepping up in age only, there are such title threats as Long Beach Masters champion Craig Olson and former pro Tommy Hickman of Lakewood; Dick Clover and John McMonegal of Recreation Park; Chuck Cassaday and John Walter of Virginia CC; Jack Augsberger of Meadowlark; Palos Verdes CC champion John Richardson; Ed Korylak of Rancho; UCLA ace Bill Foote and Don Baker of Santa Ana CC; Fred Valenzano of Willowick, and Lolo Saldana of Catalina Island CC.

First and second round match play will be held Friday; third and fourth Sunday; 18-hole semi-finals Saturday, June 7, and 36-hole finals, June 8.

* * * *

UPWARDS of 250 players competed in handicap flight qualifying, which ended Saturday. First round play is Saturday.

Bill Nicolaus of the City Golf Commission is tournament chairman. The committee is compromised of B. K. Jones, course manager; George Lake, head pro; Gene Combs, chief starter; Jack Sandefer, club president, and Bob Mills, South Course president.

Bob Kelley Says---

Aragon made me an offer. "We're going down to the Slate Bros. nightclub to see Don Rickles after my fight tonight," he told me Saturday. "I'd like you to be my guest—Caruso's picking up the tab. We'll see the first show."

"Second show, you mean," I interrupted.

"No, the first show," Arthur insisted. "I don't want to stay out too late."

"Look," I told him. "The first show goes at 10:30. You'll be fighting about then, remember?"

"Wreng," emphasized the Golden Boy. "My fight goes on at 9:45. "It's over by 10. I shower and get dressed, and it's only 10:15. We're there in plenty of time, right?"

I am writing this piece a few hours prior to Art's fight with Alfonso Flores Saturday night at the Hollywood Legion. Elsewhere on these pages, you will be able to learn if we made the first show.

"You're pretty confident," I told him.

"You're pretty right," Aragon said. "You don't think I bring a guy all the way up from Mexico to beat me, do you? If I want to take a licking, it only takes me five minutes to drive out and see my wife."

HOW CHILDISH can that bunch in the Northwest get?

The other night on the air, I reported that the Trojans and Bruins were dumping Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State off their football schedules, as of 1959, even though they had already agreed to games.

In fact, the local schools have already lined up replacements.

So the announcement a couple of days ago, by Oregon, that they're ceasing athletic relations with SC, beginning in 1959, fit right into place. Obviously Jess Hill told the boys the old ball game is over after this season.

Oregon evidently flew into a childish tantrum, and came out with the announcement that THEY were dumping SC. Actually the move will hurt the Trojans a little, because they'd like to maintain their basketball schedule with the Northwesters.

Not as much as it will eventually harm Oregon, however. Have they forgotten we'll have an 18,000-seat arena ready for the 1959-1960 season? Have they forgotten that by playing here they can pick up a lot of loot?

A pretty childish and short-sighted move, I would think. It will be interesting to see if Oregon State and Washington State follow along, thereby cutting their own basketball throats in the new arena.

THAT FAMOUS creator of minus pools, Round Table, recalls a gigantic one that befell Hollywood Park last summer. Two standout colts named Rulership and Fleet Nasrullah went as an entry in a stake there. They wound up finishing one-two. It looked like one of the biggest cinches in the place bet department ever to roll along the backstretch. As it turned out, the entry was.

However, an intriguing thing happened in the Turf Club, where members are permitted to cash big checks. For the full half-hour before the race in question, the man who cashes the checks in the Turf Club could not be found.

When anxious plungers raced to his window, armed with check books and pens, they were told the man had "gone to the bathroom."

Evidently, he went for the works—a steam bath, rubdown and massage — because Mr. Cashier didn't return to his window till after the race.

Don't ever let anybody kid you. Racing is a business, and that's the way the track runs it. Can't say as I blame them.

Graduates of 8 Area Schools to Cavort June 27 at Stadium

Long Beach's first annual Century Club Senior Bowl Football Game will be staged on June 27 at Veterans Stadium, Century Club co-ordinators Loren Proctor and Les Elchorn announced Saturday.

The game will be sponsored by the Century Club and the participants will include graduated seniors of eight area high schools.

The schools will be lined up thusly:

Blues — Poly, Lakewood, Jordan, Downey.

Red—Wilson, Millikan, St. Anthony, Warren.

Warren High School of Downey has no seniors this year, but the game directors felt that Lakewood High School's small senior representation this year would offset that disadvantage.

* * * *

THE TEAM alignments point up four natural rivalries: Poly vs. Wilson (Long Beach's oldest public schools), Lakewood vs. Millikan (Long Beach's newest public schools), Jordan vs. St. Anthony, and Downey vs. Warren.

School teams will not be paired against each other, but the complete Blue and Red squads will be selected by the respective head coaches, Bob Parke of Jordan and Skip Rowland of Wilson. The coaches were chosen by lot, a procedure which will be followed annually so that each head coach will be eligible to lead a Blue or Red squad every fourth season.

Parke and Rowland will announce assistant coaches sometime this week.

The unheard-of June date for a football game was selected after polling many coaches. The mentors expressed a desire to have the game one week after completion of the school year because players would be in much better condition than at the end of vacation.

Both Parke and Rowland were enthused at the early date "because this way we can have a real ball game with kids still in top playing condition."

A two-week practice session will be held, both clubs using facilities at Long Beach City College.

Every senior selected for the game will be presented a special Senior Bowl dress sweater, while each player also will be able to retain his Senior Bowl game jersey. (Jerseys will be red for one team, blue for the other, with white stars on the shoulders.)

A trophy will be presented to the game's most valuable player immediately after the contest. A selection board of college coaches will choose the top player.

Proceeds of the game will go into participating schools' activities' fund.

Aussie Mile Ace, Delany at Compton

The mile field which will chase the world's number one and two ranking stars—Herb Elliott of Australia and Ron Delany of Ireland—in the 19th annual Compton Invitational meet June 6, has been completed, Meet Director Herschel Smith announced today.

The other starters will be another sub-four-minute miler —Laszlo Tabori, ex-Hungary; 1956 Olympian Jerome Walters, Southern California Striders; and Max Truex and Bob Shankland of Southern California.

* * * *

IT WAS originally intended to limit the field to only sub-four-minute performers. However, two runners who had accepted bids — Sweden's Dan Waern and Roger Moens of Belgium — have been forced to withdraw, necessitating a change in conditions.

Waern, a 3:58.5 miler, is out for two months with leg ailments, while Moens, a 3:58.9 runner, has been temporarily suspended by the Belgian AAU for unknown reasons.

The race will be the first meeting of Elliott and Delany and brings together the standout four-lap stars in the world today. Elliott is fresh from a 3:57.8 effort in the Coliseum relays, while Delany this week defeated Derek Ibbotson, claimant to a world record of 3:57.2, and Brian Hewson of Great Britain.

3 Dragsters Deadlock at 144 MPH

Three gas-dragster drivers were practically deadlocked with 144 mph sprint runs at LADS big 223rd St. course Saturday, as the two-day, all-western grand prix drag meet opened for nearly 500 contenders in 34 car-cycle classes.

The new 750-horsepower dual engine dragster driven by Mickey Thompson of El Monte earned a one-tenth mph top speed margin over the Ted Cyr-Bill Hopper rail job from Escondio and the flashy Nicolini-Duncan "Sidewinder," driven by Jack Chrisman of Compton.

* * * *

THE FIRST dragster to top 150 mph twice during today's finale will get a 750 dollar savings bond atop other prizes.

The big meet will go all day until sundown.

Plus several hundred runs in the drag meet, some 70 youngsters will hold final competition in the Southern California special quarter midget race meet, during the afternoon.

Davis Equals World 440 Mark in Big 10 Trackfest

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Despite a world record-matching 440 effort by Ohio State's Glenn Davis and five new Big Ten marks, it was Illinois' consistency which won the conference outdoor track title Saturday.

Davis sped to a :45.8 quarter-mile triumph, even though he slackened 10 feet from the finish. His performance was even more notable because it was around two turns. The present record was set around only one turn by Jim Lea of Southern California in Modesto, Calif., May 26, 1956.

Illinois, indoor team champion, dethroned Indiana with a total 46 points although the Illini captured only two firsts on the 14-event, two-day program. The Illini, however, captured seven second places to crumble the Hoosiers' defense.

In all five Big Ten records were set and another tied.

* * * *

OTHER conference records were set by Minnesota's Bob Henry in the shotput with a toss of 56 feet 11½ inches, and Buddy Edelen with a two-mile clocking of 9:03.2, by Michigan State's Dave Lean with a time of 1:50.1 in the half mile, and by Indiana's mile relay team with a 3:11.7 performance. The record tied was by Indiana's Willie May with :14.0 in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Indiana had 41 points, Ohio State 35, Michigan State 23½, Minnesota 16, Iowa 15, and Purdue 13, Michigan 11½, Wisconsin 8, and Northwestern 7.

GRID LINE COACH

Downey's Eilerts Set for Vike Job

Roland R. Eilerts, co-coach of Downey High's 1957 C.I.F. gridiron champions, will be recommended to the Board of Education Monday as assistant football coach at Long Beach City College.

A line-coaching specialist, Eilerts was a center at Kansas University in 1948 and '49 and received his B. S. degree there in 1950. He has previously been a football coach and physical education instructor at Topeka High School, Garden City (Kansas) High School and Junior College, Imperial Valley College in El Centro, and is now finishing his first year at Downey.

IF APPROVED MONDAY, Eilerts will become the second former Downey coach to move to the LBCC staff. Viking head coach Jim Stangeland was head man at Downey in 1954-55.

Bill Poore, LBCC line coach last fall, is giving up coaching for a full-time teaching position and will return to Orange Coast College next fall.

Eilerts, 32, lives at 1312 Devonshire Rd., Anaheim. He is married and the father of two children.

to center. Except for a strikeout by Roseboro, the next 10 Dodgers were out on fly balls. But after the first inning, Klippstein didn't give up another hit until Roseboro's leadoff homer in the sixth.

The Redlegs got to Newcombe for a pair in the third on a walk to Gus Bell, Alex Grammas' single, a sacrifice and Lynch's double.

They knocked Newcombe out by sending nine batters to the plate in the fifth. Bell walked, took second on an infield out and scored on Klippstein's single. Singles by Lynch and Frank Robinson produced another run and finished Newcombe, tagging him with his fourth defeat against no wins.

SOUTHPAW Sandy Koufax who pitched an 11-inning two-hitter against the Braves Tuesday, came in to walk George Crowe to fill the bases and followed by passing Ed Bailey to force home the final run. Ed Roebuck was able to put out the fire in his 15th relief appearance and Clem Labine, also working for the 15th time, pitched scoreless ball in the last two innings, although giving up four hits.

The Redlegs failed to score in the seventh despite three straight singles off Labine. A relay from Cimoli to Zimmer to Roseboro cut down Lynch at the plate on Crowe's sharp single to center.

Dodgers dis and data—Small world dept.: Olympic diving champion Pat McCormick of Lakewood is appearing in a downtown Cincinnati department store on behalf of a swim suit company . . . Crosley Field's right field bleachers, labored "Moon Duck" Friday night, became the "Sun Deck" Saturday afternoon. The signs are interchangeable. Senator John Griffin, the Dodger's eighth vice president in charge of equipment, wore costume No. 24 for the season Saturday when he appeared in an engineer's hat and kerchief. He wears the same getup as long as the Dodgers win. So far he has been the next thing to a quick change artist . . .

Only three umpires worked the Dodger-Redleg series. Hal Dixon, the fourth member of the team, was hospitalized because of a bleeding ulcer.

Redleg second baseman Johnny Temple played despite having eight stitches in his leg, the result of a spike wound inflicted by the Giants' Willie Mays Wednesday . . . Cincy coach Jimmy Dykes cites Mays the greatest player in the game today . . . Dodger pitcher Ed Roebuck looked at the pitching averages in the morning paper and remarked, "Mays leads 'em all. He's won 15 games and lost none."

Don Newcombe, the first Dodger to be ejected from a game this season, could not understand why umpire Frank Secory chased him from the bench Friday night. "I never opened my mouth," Newk said.

Mrs. Gus Bell, wife of the Redlegs' center fielder, was honored as "baseball's mother of the year for 1952" in pre-game ceremonies. She received an automatic dishwasher. Two of the Bells' six children were present. The others had the measles . . . Bell, who hit .292 last year, is off to one of his slowest starts. He is hitting .207, has only one home run and has scored only five times in 116 at-bats.

Seaneen Scores Major Upset in Rich Californian

Golden Gate Fields when he set a track record of 1:40 4/5 for a mile and a sixteenth stakes race.

Longden was aboard Seaneen that time, too, and commented then that the Irish colt was ready to set California tracks afire.

"Old Moneybags" had the mount on Seaneen last Saturday in the $50,000 Los Angeles Handicap when Seaneen ran fourth. At the time, Longden maintained the colt needed the race and would do better at a distance more than seven furlongs.

"I told 'em I'd make 109 and now they know why," Longden chuckled in the jockey's quarters after his victory. "My colt was a little rank, but he settled down and rated good once we hit the first turn. I moved to the lead at the three-eighths pole easily and I knew then they'd never catch me. I told everyone in this room Seaneen would win today if he was ever going to beat Round Table.

"I guess now they'll believe me."

Shoemaker was upset visibly over Round Table's loss, but volunteered no excuses.

* * * *

"HE JUST didn't run his usual race," sighed Willie. "I tried to move up to them at the three-eighths pole, but John's horse just pulled away from me. He responded when I got into him, but he couldn't close the gap. It just wasn't his race—he wasn't picking 'em up as usual any part of the way."

Boland had only praise for his tiring horse.

"We went as far as we could with what we had to go with. Terrang's dead game and he ran his heart out, but when Longden went by us on the far turn, standing up in the irons, I knew we had no chance. This is a grand, kind little horse, but the winner was too much for him."

McCarthy and Finnegan were so thrilled they almost did an Irish jig after the race.

* * * *

"I BOUGHT this horse as a suckling at his mother's side at Kildare in 1954," said McCarthy. "I bought Royal Charger, his daddy, and some mares at the same time and I can't even remember how much I paid for Seaneen. Finnegan and I've been in racing together 30 years and Bill certainly did a great job with Seaneen."

Seaneen's time for the mile and sixteenth race was 1:41, two seconds off Swaps' track (and world) mark.

Hollywood Park suffered a minus show pool of $8,597 on the race.

Round Table's defeat snapped a string of eight triumphs for the Kerr Stable ace and was only his second loss in his last 22 races.

The Californian is Round Table's "jinx" race. The Table was second to Social Climber last year in the same affair.

* * * *

PJT BOSS was ridden by a substitute rider, George Taniguchi, as Long Beach jockey Willie Harmatz was taken off all rides for the afternoon. Harmatz suffered a bruised right shoulder when he was thrown from his mount, Petite L., in the sixth race Friday.

Harmatz was stiff and sore Saturday morning and became ill later in the day, so his agent Harold Levenson pulled him off all mounts.

It probably was just as well. Harmatz got a better view of the race in front of his TV set than he would have had aboard Pit Boss!

TRIBE PUTS LEMON ON ACTIVE LIST

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians Saturday placed veteran pitcher Bob Lemon on the active list and placed outfielder Carroll Hardy on the disabled list.

Lemon, 38, was returned to active duty after a final batting practice session at the stadium Saturday. The Tribe mound staff, looking increasingly brighter with consecutive complete games by Dick Tomanek, Jim Grant and Cal McLish was expected to take on an even brighter glitter with the return of Lemon.

Terrang Handlers Shaken as Boland Turns up Late

Jockey Bill Boland threw a scare into the owners and trainer of Terrang, an entrant in the $100,000-added Californian at Hollywood Park Saturday.

Neither trainer Carl Roles nor Al Connors, custodian of the jockey's quarters, heard from Boland when the day's racing program got under way at 1:45 p. m.

The jockey was scheduled to arrive in the Southland early Saturday from New York to ride Terrang. Ordinarily, jockeys who don't have mounts in the early races and who have flown in from the East report to the track later than the regular track riders, but usually by the first post time.

However, when Terrang's handlers didn't hear from Boland by the first post time they gave hurried thought to securing services of another rider for the featured race.

Boland, however, reported into the jockey's quarters before the third race, saying he had been "resting" in his quarters before the big chase.

The New York rider did get one mount, Playtown, in the sixth race, to get "the feel of the track," before the Californian. Injured Willie Harmatz was the original rider on Playtown.

Ravine Issue, Seven NL Rivals Worry Dodgers

By GEORGE LEDERER
(L P-T Staff Writer)

CINCINNATI—The Dodgers have enough trouble on the playing field, but for the last three days their problems have increased.

In the clubhouse and hotel lobbies, on the bus and on the plane, it is evident that the players are concerned with the Chavez Ravine referendum almost as much as with the National League standings.

When league president Warren Giles issued his ultimatum to Los Angeles voters Thursday, the Dodgers began to wonder.

* * * *

WHAT WILL really happen if the referendum is defeated June 3? Was Giles serious when he said the league will take "immediate steps" to relocate the franchise? Where will we go? Back to Brooklyn? Minneapolis? Houston, Toronto?

Most of the players refuse to blame their poor showing on the political upheaval in Los Angeles and the uncertainty of their future.

But all admit they are uneasy.

* * * *

HERE IS what a private poll on the gallop revealed about the wondering wanderers:

Don Drysdale—"It's a shame the way they have treated Mr. O'Malley. Los Angeles promised him everything. The city can't possibly lose by trading Chavez Ravine, Milwaukee has shown what baseball can do for a city.

"The people of Southern California actually haven't had a real taste of Major League baseball in the Coliseum. Take the two games we played at Milwaukee. The fans saw real big league ball in a big league park.

"If the referendum passes it will help our club as far as playing is concerned. It will help the city. Sure, we're always talking about it. The players have got to think about it. Right now we can't figure on anything permanent."

Randy Jackson—"Sure, we're a little uneasy. But I don't believe the referendum is affecting the club that much."

Elmer Valo—"I can't understand it. Chavez Ravine was accepted once and now a minority group opposes it. There must be some undercurrent somewhere.

"The fans seem interested in Major League ball. They're coming out in droves and that's a good sign. Psychologically it has affected the entire team, even the writers. If people are interested enough to see the game they should go out and vote."

Carl Erskine—"It's a topic for the players to kid about. There are more current things to occupy the players' minds, such as the games each day. The players didn't let last year's moving talk affect their play. But I guess L. A. is trying to pull the rug out from under us. We feel like orphans, but there's nothing we can do about it."

Norm Larker—"A yes vote would help the city more than anything. But all this talk isn't affecting our play."

Joe Pignatano—"I'd like to see it pass if for no other reason than to get us out of the Coliseum."

Gil Hodges — "It would be a shame if it doesn't pass. Southern California is ready for Major League ball and the fans have showed it by the way they've turned out for our games."

Clem Labine — "The uncertainty is unfair to all. Of course it's affecting the team."

Carl Furillo—"It isn't hurting the players on the field because no matter where we are we still have to play a game. But we still don't have a home or know where we're going. A man would be crazy to buy a home out there."

But whatever fears are harbored by the Dodgers, Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbetts dispelled with more optimism than he has shown for his team all year.

"I have no doubts that the Dodgers will get Chavez Ravine. The vote will be at least five to one. The people will be voting for baseball, not for the Ravine."

THEY MADE IT A GREAT YEAR FOR VIKINGS

Long Beach City College coaches and athletes admire the Metropolitan Conference All-Sports ("Iron Man") trophy—won by the Vikings for the third straight year for the best all-around sports record in the league. Coaches in the back row are Charlie Church (basketball, golf), Eddie Hasson (gymnastics), Chuck Acosta (tennis), Del Walker (P.E. Department chairman), Joe Hicks (Athletic Director, baseball coach), Joe Lanning (track, cross country), Jim Stangeland (football), Monte Nitzkowski (swimming, water polo). Representative athletes are (left to right) Dick Markowitz, Bob Berry, Jack McCaddon, Dean Welin, Dan Adams, Jim Duke, Roy Mitchell, Henry Andrews, Dick Duty and Ron Crawford.—(Photo by Gary Shelton)

BANNER YEAR FOR LBCC

Vike Teams Won 4 Metro Crowns

Long Beach City College athletes have concluded a banner year by winning their third straight Metropolitan Conference All-Sports trophy with a record total of 66½ points. Since 1950 the Vikings have won the "Iron Man" trophy four times and placed second three times.

Highlights of one of the outstanding years in LBCC history included state championships in basketball and swimming, Southern California titles in swimming and water polo and Metropolitan Conference championships in all these sports plus cross-country.

THE VIKINGS also finished near the top in football (third), track (second in dual meets), tennis (tied for second in dual matches) and baseball (tied for third).

Four Helms Foundation "Conference Athlete of the Year" awards went to LBCC players. They are Chuck Bittick, a double winner in water polo and swimming, Bill Tomasic in football and Harlan (Pinky) Stevenson in golf.

Monte Nitzkowski's aquatic forces, who contributed 20 of the 66½ "Iron Man" points, started the year off in a big way by going undefeated in jaysee competition for the third straight season.

Church's basketballers, led by co-captains Dick Markowitz and Bob Berry, won the Sam Barry Tournament en route to Church's basketballers, led by co-captains Dick Markowitz and Bob Berry, won the Sam Barry Tournament en route to league and state titles and established new scoring records.

In swimming, the powerful Viking squad completely outclassed all J. C. opposition and also defeated such "big time" powers as UCLA, California, Stanford and Denver. Backstroker Chuck Bittick, butterfly artist Doug Martin and the relay teams shattered several national J. C. records.

SOME OF the oldest track records at LBCC fell this year—in 440 and 880, plus the shotput and mile relay. In tennis, singles ace Dante Merlino won the consolation championship at the state junior college tournament. Stevenson was medalist in the Metro golf tournament and placed second in last week's state tournament.

In baseball, coach Joe Hicks' freshman-dominated squad, picked to finish in the lower division, surprised observers by making a strong bid for the pennant before dropping into a third-place tie. Pitchers who saw the most action were all converted from other spots after the season began.

by JERRY WYNN

"The reason we don't play in the City Championship handicap flights is because of the difference in handicapping between our golfers and Publinx players," one prominent Virginia Country Club member told me. "It's no fun to spot a man strokes, and then have him close you out on the 13th hole."

The man was not attacking the Publinx handicapping system as much as he was the laxity of some clubs and individuals to keep handicaps properly.

This seems to be a prevalent opinion at Virginia and other rock-ribbed Southern California Golf Assn. clubs. Their handicaps are made of sterner stuff than Publinx golfers. They would be at a disadvantage playing against them.

Prevalent yes, but is it factual?

"No," says Recreation Park's Gene Combs, a veteran championship player of all types of competition. "Of course, there are individual cases of poor handicapping, but on a whole, our Publinx handicaps under the new USGA system, are much tougher than theirs."

Combs backed his statement with a personal illustration.

"I'm a four, and so are Jim Ferrie and Nell White. Why I couldn't beat them with a four-stroke spot at Virginia, and would probably lose here at Recreation Park. On a whole, I'd say that Virginia golfers with similar handicaps would murder us."

Combs then cited many Recreation Park golfers playing to lower handicaps than one would believe they should . . . high handicappers as well as low.

A reason for this discrepancy would be that many golfers can have "hot" practice rounds at a course such as Recreation, but can shoot nowhere as well under the pressure and conditions of tournament golf.

Virginia and other SCGA golfers, on the other hand, are far more accustomed to tournament play.

As Combs pointed out, there are always instances of poor handicapping that crop up to the extreme detriment of a tournament, Virginia Invitational as well as Long Beach City Championship. In fact, I will say that I have heard more complaints during the Virginia event, than in any City Championship.

As for "lax" or dishonest individuals, it certainly doesn't figure that there would be more of them on public courses where gambling is normally carried on in dollar bills than on private courses where hundred dollar bills are commonly exchanged.

For a Long Beach golfer not to play in the Long Beach City Championship because of this distrust would appear to me to be either poor reasoning or a weak excuse.

P.S.—According to Combs, there was but one Virginia golfer among the 250 who competed in handicap flight qualifying.)

HELEN BUCK is the new South Course Women's Club champion by virtue of a 4 and 3 victory over Dora Nielson. Mrs. Buck made it a grand sweep by also capturing the medal with a 67. Flight results:

First—Marge Kilmont def. Mickey White, 20th hole; second—Yula Tollefson def. Odessa Alperson, 5-4; low net—Helen Hartling, 80; consolation—tie among Lillian Smith, Yolande Booth, Ethel Shell.

DEADLINE for entering the National Public Links Championship is Thursday. Entries are available at all public courses and information may be obtained by calling USGA committeeman Mark Greer at GEneva 8-4442. Other USGA competition entry deadlines are Women's Open, June 13, and Junior Boys', June 27.

HOLE-IN-ONE honors to Wes Carroll Jr. of 3918 Country Club Drive who aced the 139-yard 15th hole at Virginia CC while playing with brother George Carroll and Peter Williams.

Vossler Maintains Lead in Kansas City Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., protected his lead in the Kansas City Open golf tournament Saturday with a 2-under-par 70 that gave him a 54-hole total of 202, two strokes better than his closest challenger.

With one round left in the $22,500 tournament on the 6,668-yard Hillcrest Country Club course, Vossler's nearest rival was Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who had a 65 Saturday for 204.

Vossler, who has been playing well since investing in a new putter and a pair of glasses six weeks ago, was out in 34 and home in 36. He had two long puts for birdies on the front nine and was steady all the way except for a short putt he missed on the 16th green.

Gary Player, the young pro from Johannesburg, South Africa, and PGA champion Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., each posted 1-under-par 71 for a score of 205 at the three-quarter mark.

Two Races in Spotlight

The mile and 70 yards Laurel Handicap and the five and one-half furlong Light Brigade Allowance, highlight today's program at Caliente.

Sir Gareth will be trying for his 14th win in 21 starts in the Light Brigade but will face tough opposition in War Marshal, Zodiakos, Rillito Boy, Valiant Ace and Sleepy Brook.

So Valiant and Fast Clipper top the field for the Laurel Handicap.

Lincoln Road Triumphs at Garden State

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Lincoln Road made every post a winning one Saturday as the bridesmaid of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness won the $59,100 Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park. It was the colt's first victory of the year.

Isaac Blumberg's front running 3-year-old had no Tim Tam to contend with Saturday and there just wasn't enough speed among Lincoln Road's 10 rivals to catch the With Pleasure thoroughbred as he rushed to the front from the gate with his familiar burst of speed.

* * * *

ADELE L. Rice's Talent Show chased the 2-5 favorite of the crowd of 37,877 all the way, making three or four challenges during the mile and an eighth run for 3-year-olds, but jockey Chris Rogers kept the pressure on Lincoln Road and he was equal to the test.

He earned $37,865 for his effort Saturday boosting his total earnings to $108,735, not bad for a $3,100 investment.

Lincoln Road was timed in 1:49 for the nine furlongs, 1 3/5 seconds off the track record set by Subahdar in 1955. He returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.20. Talent Show, sixth in the Preakness, paid $4.60 and $3.00, while Li'l Fella was $3.20 to show.

Big Effort Nabs Belmont Feature

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brookmeade Stable's Big Effort easily won the $35,850 Acorn Stakes for 3-year-old fillies Saturday at Belmont Park, drawing away at the finish for a six-length victory over Ned W. Brent's Polamby.

Pete Anderson rode Big Effort, who was scoring her second victory in as many starts this season, and the bay filly paid $23.80, $9.50 and $4.80 in turning back 10 rivals. Time for the mile was 1:37 2/5 on a fast track.

Backbone Wins at Suffolk Downs

BOSTON (AP) — Brookfield Farm's I've Got Rhythm, an even-money favorite, stumbled and threw his rider at the start in Saturday's Suffolk Downs feature and Backbone went on to win the six-furlong race.

Backbone was timed in 1:11 1/5 and paid $9.80, $5.40 and $4.80. Dandy Blitzen, the second horse, paid $9.60 and $7.40 and Admirals Joy returned $22.60 for show.

MAN CATCHES 3 CORBINA—ALL AT ONCE

Three corbina—they must have been triplets—added a bit of the unusual to fishing reports Friday.

J. B. Makemson, of Sims Bait and Tackle, 6065 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., reported that he weighed the three fish for B. G. Sims, of Bellflower. Each fish weighed 1¼ pounds.

The angler caught all three at once on a three-hook outfit at Tin Can Beach. One hook was baited with a clam, another with a sand crab and the third wiht a mussel. The triple strike came simultaneously.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

A 51-pound Mackinaw trout, the largest ever caught on rod and reel, adorns one of the walls of the Linger Longer Lodge dining room at Priest Lake in the Idaho Panhandle. The giant fish was caught four years ago and mounted for Bud and Ella Thompson, who run Linger Longer.

Since that fish was caught, thousands of anglers have set their sights on Priest, hoping to better the record. Hundreds of big Macks have been hooked and landed, but no fish has reached that size. That record may stand for a long time. Not that there aren't large Macks; there's an 80-pounder on record, but it was taken by commercial nets in Lake Athabasca, in northern Saskatchewan.

Priest, like Pend Oreille and Coeur d'Alene Lakes, is an enormous body of water, 20 miles long and connected with Upper Priest (3 miles long) by what Idaho residents call a "thoroughfare." The thoroughfare is a winding, shallow river 1½ miles long, with heavy forests on each side. At some places the trees almost meet overhead.

The best way I can describe the thoroughfare is to say that as you make each turn in a boat, you'll swear that at the next one an Indian will most certainly come paddling a canoe around the bend. It's that primitive.

BEFORE WE START FISHING either of the Priest Lakes, let's meet Kyle Walker, secretary of the Coeur d'Alene Chamber of Commerce, and my host for four days in the Panhandle. Kyle's as much a part of Idaho as are the tall cedars, the white pines, the tamaracks and the ponderosa.

Normally you think of a C. of C. secretary as a man devoted to his home town and nothing else. Kyle is in love with Coeur d'Alene, but the outdoors and nature come first. He knows every little country road, every stream, each lake, the names of wildflowers, trees and the mountains to the north that mark the boundary of the U. S. and Canada.

He's the kind of man who can whip a dry fly for 80 or 100 feet, lay it down gently on a placid, mirror-like surface and come up with a cutthroat trout that will fight every inch of the way to the boat.

He'd rather fish with a dry fly for 15 minutes and catch average-size fish than to troll six months for the big Macks. And that is what we did on Upper Priest. I couldn't match his technique and resorted to a small spinning outfit, taking similar fish on Daredevle lures.

THE EXTREME FRIENDLINESS of Idaho people disarms a stranger immediately upon arrival. In fact, those residents of the Panhandle country refuse to admit that you are a stranger.

Kyle and I were guests of George and Lois Hill, who operate 29 cabin units at Hill's Resort. They took us on a fast speedboat run on Priest, along the thoroughfare and into Upper Priest. Returning, we stopped to see Vern and Della Howell at Grandview Lodge and Al and Phyllis Elkins at Elkins Resort. All of those resorts are extremely popular through the fishing season, which runs from May 1 through Oct. 31.

September and October are classed as the top months for Mack fishing, and that period, similarly, is the best time for the Kamloops at Pend Oreille. There's a world of difference in fishing for Kamloops and Macks. The Kamloops, a true rainbow, rises to the surface and fights half his battle in the air, whereas the Mack sounds and dogs it out on the bottom. Strangely, you find no big Kamloops in Priest and no Macks in Pend Oreille. Yet, there are huge Dolly Vardens in both lakes and cutthroat as well.

Entirely too much emphasis has been placed on the big fish—Mackinaws and Kamloops—and Idaho people are beginning to realize that they have other types of fishing to sell to recreation-minded America. And how much California fits into that picture can be realized from the fact that out-of-state licenses bought by Californians pay half of Idaho's DF&G salaries.

THE ENTIRE PANHANDLE is filled with lakes and streams, all of which afford excellent fishing. Kyle took me to Kelso Lake, a small pond, comparatively speaking, that was cleaned of rough fish three years ago and replanted with rainbows. We had a circus catching 10-to-13-inch fish on dry flies.

We took quick tours to see Twin Lakes, 18 miles from Coeur d'Alene; Spirit Lake, 24 miles away, and Hauser and Hayden, not to mention Fernan Lake, which is almost within the city limits.

We drove around Coeur d'Alene Lake, one of the most beautiful sights in the west and then on to the St. Joe River, where Lewis J. Papes, editor of the St. Maries Gazette-Record dropped his chores in midday and took us for a boat ride along the shadowy St. Joe. As we rounded each bend in the river, the noise of the outboard stirred up flight after flight of mallards.

The St. Joe is 50 to 70 feet deep and is navigable 15 miles upstream from St. Maries and down all the way to Coeur d'Alene. It offers excellent fishing for rainbows and cutthroat and is one of the prettiest streams in this country when fall turns the foliage to reds and yellows.

ALL LAKES OF THE PANHANDLE open May 1, but the streams are not opened until June 4, and that latter date applies to central and southern Idaho, except some places where fishing is permitted the year around.

If you are interested in any of the Panhandle country, by all means communicate with Kyle Walker at the Coeur d'Alene Chamber. If you wish general information about all of Idaho, write to E. Kleiss Brown, information officer, Dept. of Fish & Game, State House, Boise, Idaho.

Of all the places I visited, three stand out vividly in my memory, so much so that I'll go back there some day. They are the shadowy St. Joe, Upper Priest and its thoroughfare and Kelso.

It would be hard to forget Stanley and Dorothy Reed who operate the concession at Kelso. Both are former Texans. It was Dorothy who had an old-fashioned chicken dinner on the table when we finished a morning of fly fishing on Kelso.

Ocean Fishing Summary

This week should be one of the best for ocean fishermen along the entire stretch of Southern California's coast. Last week's fishing was excellent until winds slowed action Thursday and Friday. Here's a brief summary:

SAN PEDRO—Both Norm's and Joe Martin's landings reported numerous catches of barracuda, kelp bass ranging up to bull size, plus a few white sea bass and yellowtail.

NEWPORT—Davey's Locker had a fast start on the week but wind and weather conditions slowed everything Thursday. Barracuda schools still plentiful south toward Dana Point. Oceanside and San Clemente have similar reports.

SAN DIEGO—This weekend should be tops. New yellowtail schools moved into Coronados and Rock Pile to boost daily totals to better than 1,200 fish. Sunday, however, is often a hoo-doo because of hundreds of fishing boats moving into the fishing banks.

SANTA BARBARA and PORT HUENEME—Limits of kelp bass ranging to bull size at offshore islands. Barracuda also showing for Hueneme boats just offshore.

SURF—Best bets for corbina, Tin Can Beach, Salt Creek, Crystal Cove and Morro Beach. Opaleye hot along Palos Verdes stretch and breakwaters. Lots of spotfin croakers taken near 5th St. beach at Oxnard; also in Santa Monica Bay near Topanga Canyon intersection; few reported along south coast near Carlsbad. Perch hitting well everywhere.

MEXICO — All ports, Guaymas, Loreto, La Paz and Mazatlan having red-hot fishing, but so's the weather. Billfish taken in large numbers in La Paz area.

Fresh-Water Fishing Roundup

Best bets this week for trout in Southern California should be Big Bear Lake, Jenks Lake and the recently planted streams (lists carried in Thursday's editions). Cachuma Lake near Santa Barbara, showing signs of trout activity, with bluegill, catfish and small bass very active.

IRVINE and SHERWOOD LAKES best for crappie and bass; HODGES LAKE improving, especially for lure fishermen; WOHLFORD producing trout from earlier plants; HAVASU and MEAD LAKES excellent for bass, but weather's hot.

INYO-MONO—Bait's the best for all areas. Crowley Lake showed spurt late last week, with many limits of browns and rainbows. Twin Lakes at Bridgeport good; Bridgeport Reservoir only fair; Grant, Silver and June Lakes at new peak for bait fishermen, especially those in boats. Convict Lake finally picking up. Best creeks are Lee Vining, Convict, McGee, Hilton, Big Pine, Baker and Bishop. Parts of Owens River good for fly fishing.

WESTERN SLOPE—Blicks and Almanor Lakes best bets and mostly for trollers. Sacramento River picking up for steelhead and salmon and small trout. Other streams very high and runoff is one of heaviest in recent years. Mokelumne, Stanislaus, Tuolumne, Merced, San Joaquin, Kings, Tule, Haweah and Kern Rivers all high and muddy and hard fishing.

Isabella Lake still slow for trout, but kingsize crappie hitting well, even on lures.

Nuss Wins Jr. Bowl Honors

Karen Nuss walked off with individual game and series honors among the girls Saturday in the first annual Long Beach Junior Bowling tournament at Belmont Bowl.

Miss Nuss, with her handicap, rolled a high 224 and 576. High game among the boys went to Bill Rafferty with a 251 and the high series to Jim Stoop with 748.

The Eastside Boys' Club won the top team trophy with a handicap aggregate of 3,063. Jordan No. 1 was second with 2,978 pins.

The tournament was held under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

200 Stock Motors Off Today

The first of four flights among nearly 200 stock outboards will start at 9 a. m. today off Pacific Landing in the rough 50-mile ocean stock outboard derby of the United Stock Runabout Association.

An outstanding threat among the hot 60 mph, twin-motor outfits is Jack McBeeth of Long Beach. McBeeth will have Chuck James, 15, as his riding mechanic.

Amongst the entries, cowboy film star Roy Rogers' Miss Yellowjacket II will be driven by TV actor Dick West. Rogers is away in the East. Bill Vint, West's uncle, will be co-pilot.

The course will be five trips around a 10-mile triangular course with a return leg directly off the Seal Beach-Long Beach strand.

IN STRONG westerly winds, the yawl Skylark, sailed by Don Davidson of the host club, was first to finish the 22-mile windward race from the Los Angeles Yacht Club to Howland's Landing at Catalina Island Saturday in just under three hours, near record time.

On time allowance, however, the winner in two hours, 31 minutes, 54 seconds was Commodore Gould Eddy's Ycomo followed by Skylark, 2:33.22, Holiday, Robert Allan Jr., 2:36.08, and Freedom, Fred F. Harris, 2:38.41.

Ashton Castle's Pamlin was first to finish in the arbitrary handicap fleet. More than 75 yachts were moored Saturday night at Holland for the 47th annual festivities. Boats will race back starting at 1:10 p. m. today to the Monterey Oil Island off Seal Beach.

'Brass Ring' Fast-Moving Comedy With Gay Excitement of a Circus

"The Brass Ring," which started its run at the Magnolia Theatre this weekend, opens to the accompaniment of circus music. Nothing could be more appropriate, for the play is a colorful, fast-moving comedy which often makes as little sense as a circus but offers the same gay excitement.

A curious mixture of fantasy, satire, and sentimental comedy, it combines time past with time present, the dream world with the real world, and wisdom with wisecracks in a thoroughly amusing jumble. Irving Elman's lines and situations are kept lively by the excellent cast under the direction of Milf Cooper.

Cliff Medaugh, a veteran of local stages, plays the central character, George Westman, one day of whose life is presented in the action. It is a full day. Medaugh is an adept comedian who does not have to work hard to be funny, and consequently is comfortable to have around. He is a steadying influence on the whole play.

* * * *

BILL BUSH is a relative newcomer to the stage, but is obviously talented and should go on to further triumphs. As Herbert Westman and young George Westman he plays a dual role with good variety and a fine comic flair, particularly in the scene where he gives up his girl for his job with "the company."

Betty Hill also plays a dual role, Joan Westman in the present and Corliss in the past. She combines a youthful freshness with complete poise, and often carries away the scenes in which she appears.

Terrence Doyle plays the office wolf. When he isn't wolfing, he is explaining office routine to Herbert in the funniest single scene of the play. Betty Jo Guiver portrays the attractive secretary to George Westman. Though her part is not demanding, she makes it interesting, and she herself cannot help being ornamental.

* * * *

THE CAST is supported by an excellent technical crew. The play calls for an unusually large number of light cues, minor scene shifts, quick costume changes, and musical accompaniments. The smooth coordination of all of these with the action on stage is a triumph for the often unsung workers behind the scenes.

This is all in all a lightweight play, but it is also a lighthearted one, and everyone at the opening seemed to have a good time. The play is designed for adults only. The adults liked it.

The play will continue on weekends through June.

Just Another Average Man?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Mary Treen ad-libbed some dialogue on "I Married a Monster From Outer Space" and Producer Gene Fowler kept it in the picture.

Mary plays the mother of Gloria Talbott, who secretly sees her husband transform himself into one of those creatures that only horror movies can conjure. Gloria phones her mother and says: "My husband's a monster."

"All husbands seem that way at times, dear," ad libbed Miss Treen during a rehearsal of the scene.

French Radio Bans Political Satire

PARIS (AP)—The government-controlled French radio Saturday banned two programs of political satire.

They were "Wink" and "Salt Shaker." In both shows, performers specialized in making fun of politics in song and doggerel.

It Happened Last Night

By Earl Wilson

OSCAR ON THE COUCH

BEVERLY HILLS—Oscar Levant came puffing and perspiring into the cool living room of his home, and after we'd greeted each other I asked him, "When are you going network?"

"Everybody asks me that"—he was already gulping some coffee a maid had brought in—"except the networks."

Levant has made neuroses, instability and mental institutions popular on his local TV show. When he says "Debbie Reynolds never needs to worry about losing her voice," Debbie can shrug it off by pointing out that Oscar was a mental patient for 15 months which he eloquently and publicly admits.

DEBBIE

"With all due respect to Ed Murrow—I'm not as good-looking but I have a 10 times better show," Oscar announced, walking up and down, sipping more coffee as he paraded. "Ed shares his good looks with his audience," he laughed.

"Do you often see Ed's program?" I asked him.

"ME!" He seemed scandalized. "You think I care what Julie London's house looks like inside? Maybe I've seen his show twice."

Nevertheless, without seeing it, he knew his was much better. Occasionally he paused to say, "Here's something pretty devastating I said."

* * * *

BUT HE UNDERSTANDS his self-centeredness. When Fred Astaire volunteere dto go on his show, Oscar said, "Fred, I'm so suffocated by nostalgia and so unhappily happy that I cannot speak—which is one of the great public services of all times."

"Are you over your mental troubles?" I asked.

"I'm still ill, I always have pain in my chest and back." He held his hand over his heart, a gesture familiar to his TV fans.

Suffering from what he called "deep apathy," he'd lain in a hospital deprived of pencils, glasses, and razor blades, "in case somebody in the group should be suicidal—which I'm not."

With a laugh, he said, "I obviously will commit suicide immediately after tonight's show, following that remark."

"Do you want to know how she stood by me?" he asked suddenly. "Well, she didn't. She sent a lawyer to divorce me. She did it as a trick to get me to go to the sanitarium. The thought of losing her would have made me do anything."

"Did the shock treatments help you?"

"No, but they helped the doctor. He got paid for them."

* * * *

IN THE middle of a piano concert at Lewisohn Stadium in 1953, Levant lost his co-ordination.

"Gershwin lost his, too," he mentioned. "I got so terrified, I ran home. It is associated with guilt. The government is suing me for my monopoly on guilt."

After recovering at Mt. Sinai, he took up the piano with all his old mastery and will soon give a concert. He's supposed to keep fit with bicycling and swimming but he finds it hard.

"I never swim," he said. "I used to fight with bees when I was swimming. I would strike at them, try to beat them to the punch, to the sting. They would always win."

Oscar's been getting famous guests on his show—all except Grouco Marx.

"Grouco's one of my heroes," Oscar said. "We had dinner recently and fought all night amusingly.

"He said 'Do you know that song "Sometimes I Love You, Sometimes I Hate You?" Well, sometimes I have a deep affection for you.'

"I said, 'I'm sorry, Grouco, but I'll have to learn to live without your love, as so many of your friends have.'"

Oscar looked at me. "That's pretty devastating."

After a second, he gulped more coffee and said, "Being me is not easy."

'Pedersen' Murals Really by Picasso

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Murals by "Pedersen" probably will be the main attractions in the new 15-story Norwegian government building to be completed next fall. "Pedersen" is a cover-up name used by 76-year-old Pablo Picasso, who for more than a year has secretly cooperated with Norway to decorate the building.

Susan Acts for Money, Not Glory

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Susan Hayward says she makes pictures only for money now.

The comment stemmed from a reporter's suggestion that only Academy Award scripts can lure her from her new life as Mrs. Eaton Chalkley. Between films, she lives the life of a small town southern matron in Carrollton, Ga.

Her current movie, "I Want to Live," is the tour de force that actresses usually seek around Oscar time. It's the wild life story of Barbara Graham, gun moll whose record, dating from 13 to 30, included charges of reform school escape, narcotics, prostitution and finally murder. She died in San Quentin's gas chamber.

"I used to make movies for Academy Awards," Susan said. "But no more. Not since 'I'll Cry Tomorrow.'"

* * * *

SUSAN'S PORTRAYAL of the Lillian Roth fight with the bottle is generally considered the best of a career that has seen four Oscar nominations. Many thought she would win, but the award went to Anna Magnani for "The Rose Tattoo."

Susan is fulfilling contracts made before her marriage to Chalkley in February 1957. She probably will retire when the contracts run out. She likes being a housewife.

"You can have Hollywood," she says. "This smog and traffic is not for me. I'll take Georgia."

REGATTA TIME

Early morning brisk ocean breezes sent Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's race committee indoors during sign-up time. Robert B. Hoffman, chairman, and Lyman H. Alguire, vice chairman, are assisting committee members Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Grace Hurt (seated) as they fill out entry blanks for Sheila Bixler (left) and Barbara Bixby. The girls will be among hundreds of skippers and skipperettes participating in the annual Memorial Day Regatta Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Full Speed Ahead! Yacht Club Regatta!

Alamitos Bay Yacht Club will celebrate its 32nd birthday during the annual Memorial Day Regatta which will include ocean and bay races on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Members will take time out for a gala buffet dinner at 7 p. m. Saturday in the clubhouse, 5437 E. Ocean Blvd.

A six-foot boat-shaped cake, decorated in red, white and blue, will combine the birthday and patriotic themes of the dinner, which has been arranged by social events chairman Sherman Pruitt Jr. and Mrs. Pruitt. Mrs. Harry G. Wood will assist with decorations and Mrs. James P. Nieukirk is co-chairman of reservations.

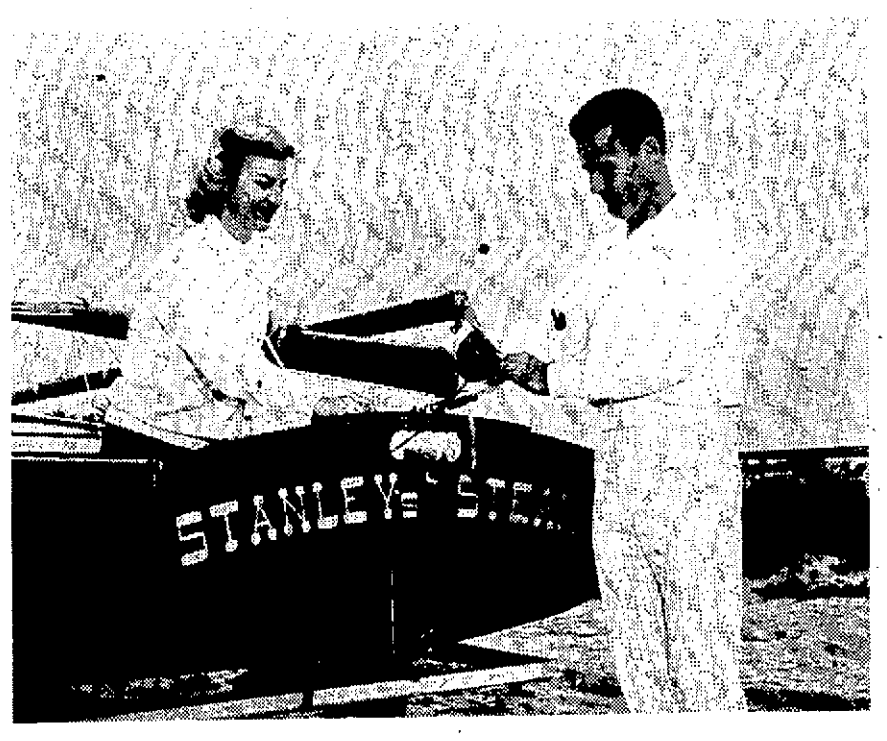

* * * *

NOT TO be outdone by the lovely dresses of the distaff members, Long Beach's family sailing club will be spic and span with a fresh coat of paint for the official opening of the sailing season.

Alvin A. Bixler, building chairman, assisted by Mrs. Bixler and Commodore and Mrs. Theodore C. Matson, last weekend headed a work party of skippers. Armed with ladders and paint brushes, they turned to with a will while Mrs. Matson manned the coffee-maker, Mrs. Ken Pierce served her homemade spaghetti and Mrs. George L. Coates cut her luscious apple pies to spur them on.

AMONG volunteer workers were Vice Commodore Palmer Wentworth; Past Commodores Sid Exley Jr. and Llewellyn Bixby Jr.; Earl B. Arnold, Tracy Bryce, Dr. Douglas Byron, Dr. George L. Coates, Johnny Coy, Roy and Margaret Coon, Ralph De Luca, Bernard W. Fowle, Loyd M. Landes, Jack London Jr., Charles London, Raleigh E. and Joy Moffett, James P. SKIPPER AND CREW

The Millers—Stanley Jr. and Jackie—secure the boom as they trail their new Thistle, No. 1070, "Stanley's Steamer," to home port, Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, where they will take part in the Memorial Day Regatta. High light of the three-day event will be a buffet birthday dinner Saturday evening.

Good Sports Club

The Good Sports Club of Long Beach will sponsor a public luncheon at noon and card party to follow Monday in Mottell's and Peek Garden Room.

One Language for World

By ILKA CHASE

Professor Mario Pei is a tall rather heavy-set, pleasant-faced man of Italian birth with a glowing mission. What he wants is, in the title of his new book, "One Language for the World." Where the professor differs from others who advocate this plan is that he doesn't give a darn what it is. Esperanto, Lingua Franca, Swahili, Turkish—it doesn't matter.

His point is that for the convenience of mankind every child born into the world should learn in infancy its own tongue plus the universal language. The amount of time, money and misunderstandings that would be saved is incalculable.

Pei is professor of philology at Columbia, (philology meaning literature and linguistic history) and gets around ably in 10 languages with knowledge of some 30 others, but for those who don't have his time and inclination, what a blessing a common tongue would be!

There are something like 2,796 languages in the world and more than 100 are used by large civilized groups, numbering from a million to the 600 million who speak Chinese.

* * * *

THE OFFICIAL languages of the United Nations now are five: Russian, English, French, Spanish and Chinese, which means that every piece of paper must be printed in quintuplicate and every speech must be translated four times. The Russians actually have had to compile a glossary of diplomatic terms which they almost completely lacked, because in the old days French was their diplomatic tongue. The Chinese Reds, rejecting the English favored by the Chinese Nationalists, are said to be engaged grimly in a similar project.

In diplomacy and commerce alone a common speech, once learned, would set people free to communicate and to do business without the tedious or insurmountable barrier of foreign tongues.

In discussing what language might be chosen, whether a constructed or a natural one, people forever are trying to pick one they feel would be easy for them to learn, but they are thinking as adults set in their ways.

Professor Pei's whole point is that the universal language is basically for our children and grandchildren and ourselves, of course, if we can learn it, but for a child any tongue is easy.

* * * *

TO A CHINESE baby Chinese is pie. What small Arab flinches at Arabic? Their facility in language is not because they are Chinese or Arabian but because they are small. The child who has one French parent and one English learns the two languages automatically and feels no strain. If all the governments of the world would agree that a world language should be taught in kindergarten they could toss a coin or pull a paper out of a hat to decide which one it would be.

In case anybody should feel his sovereignty was being stepped on, it might be wise to choose the language of a small nation such as Finland which scarcely can be accused of imperialism or, of course, a constructed language, but the point is to choose it and get on with it.

People would go along with the idea. John Gunther was saying the other day that the Russians already have 100,000 students studying Chinese and recently one of our own small-town radio stations received 4,000 requests from listeners wanting to know where they could get a course in Russian when its announcer discussed that language.

According to Professor Pei, the way the world is wagging it's hard to escape the conclusion that the four great "zonal" tongues of the future will be English, Chinese, Russian and Spanish.

* * * *

THE PROFESSOR is no fanatic. He doesn't think that a common speech is any particular deterrent to war. As he says, "There have been too many civil wars and revolutions to be able to think that." And look at the people who understand each other perfectly and murder each other.

But just the same if businessmen and tourists, scholars and diplomats, no matter where they came from, could have some common means of communication, it would relieve world headaches to a vast degree.

Pei stresses the practical side. Everyday speech first, a literature can and undoubtedly would develop later. After all, Latin was the tongue of rustics until Cicero, Virgil and Horace and those lads came along and polished it up.

A common tongue might well save the lives of those who became ill in foreign lands. And there is the story of the American general captured with his staff in World War II by a superior force of Germans in the Battle of the Bulge. The Germans issued a command. "What are they saying?" muttered the general to his aide. But the latter shook his head. He had picked up Spanish not German in high school. "I think they want us to hand over our revolvers," said the general and he reached for his belt. The Nazis, misinterpreting the gesture, opened fire. Most of the Americans were killed.

There is, of course, the charge that if there is one language that can be spoken and understood by everybody the world will become even more standardized than it is. This is undoubtedly true "but" says Professor Pei, "so much standardization is unfortunate — why not make use of and propagate that which is good about it?"

BACHELOR ABOUT TOWN

Tall Dark and— You Guessed It!

By IOLA MASTERSON

There isn't anything that sets an American girl's heart beating faster sooner, than a handsome, successful, young American bachelor! Season that combination with a soft, Texas drawl and you have the kind of a guy who creates traffic jams along Sigh Blvd. You have, in fact, a fellow like Dave Tallichet!

We chose Dave to lead off a bachelor of the week series because he typifies many of those qualities which have made the word "bachelor" one of the most tantalizing in the English language.

Check the record: He looks like a Hollywood leading man. Has dark hair (lots of it) curly enough to be youthfully rakish yet tempered with a sophisticated gray streak. He's trim (163 pounds); tall (a little under six feet); has black-brown eyes that look lazily at the world, to belie a tremendous energy, apparently perpetual; and his smile, which always stops short of grin proportions, has a gently quizzical quality.

* * * *

OUR BACHELOR is general manager of the Lafayette Hotel, one of the busiest in Southern California. His imagination and business acumen have been responsible for an astounding expansion of its facilities since transferring here in 1955, one of the staff of managers for the Conrad Hilton Hotels chain.

"Ever considered marriage?" we asked. Complete candor marked his answer, or so it seemed, until we tried to recapture it in type. Then we realized this fellow can be, when he chooses, as adept as a veteran of the British Diplomatic Corps in the art of straightforward double talk. The gist of his answer was—or so it seems now—time has gone so fast he just hasn't really had—time.

* * * *

DAVE WAS BORN in Dallas, Tex., in 1922, making his home there until World War II interrupted university studies and he became a bomber pilot. He jockeyed a B-17 for the 8th Air Force in Europe; flew 21 missions over enemy territory including raids on Berlin, Munich, Frankfurt, Kiel and Hamburg. His plane caught a few punctures and dents, but not Dave, who managed to get through without a scratch.

It did leave him a confirmed flier, though. Now he is part owner of a novelty World War II primary training plane with acrobatic tendencies. There's nothing he likes better than to put it through loops, slow rolls, snap rolls or any other hot rod maneuver within the bounds of safe piloting procedure. He does it for fun—not practice. All we can say is, Dave better get it out of his system before the "right woman" comes along because if she's as intelligent as the kind of girl he claims appeals to him he's going to be more than married—he's going to be grounded!

* * * *

BUT WHAT KIND of a girl does he prefer? Well, blonde, brunette or redhead doesn't matter to Dave as long as she's young, pretty, a typical American girl, poised, intelligent, charming. Which makes him a member in good standing of the largest fraternal order in these United States—the Brotherhood of Men.

She'll like the things Dave does: beach parties, swimming, dinner dancing, good drama and music, lazy weekends in Palm Springs. There's one other think he'll want to know "foh shuah"—can she cook those old-fashioned southern dishes in true heart-of-Dixie fashion; delicacies like turnip greens, black-eyed peas, corn bread, ham hocks, fried chicken, rice and gravy. Okra, too. "Mighty good eatin'."

In fact, that's the one thing that could, we think, make Dave decide to switch from single harness to double. When he wants REAL southern cookin' now he has to fix it himself. He brags a little about his cookery. Says, "I can remember how my mother did it and can do it, too. My fried chicken and gravy comes up real fine."

ON WOMEN'S fashions and what he likes best, he claimed he "never thought much about them," but with the next breath, asked if he liked the chemise, he answered: "Sure do. It's right purty." Ha! So he doesn't think about women's styles." Not much!

Dave has mixed emotions about the advantages of bachelor life. He enjoys the personal freedom, independence of being single; but a single man's existence can be, like Marshal Matt Dillon always says, "a chancey life—and a little lonesome." Dave expresses it, "you find yourself spending a lot of time with casual acquaintances . . . not too much with people who are really important to you."

* * * *

OTHER LYRICS TO add to the Ballad of Tallichet: He spent five years in college—both at the University of Texas, Austin, and SMU, Dallas, but his interest didn't stay in any one area long enough to gather credits for a specific degree. His business career began after the war when he went back to Dallas to complete college but decided, instead, to go to work for Hilton in 1948; introduced to a hotel man's career by an uncle, a Hilton man.

He began as a desk clerk in Longview, Tex., and in

The Wild Waves Say

By IOLA MASTERSON

EVEN IF Tom Duggan were interviewing Meg and Peter on the same program next Tuesday morning, still TV sets would be blank in the homes of over 150 usually well-informed women of town!

The reason? They've been invited to a blithe-hearted brunch at Sue Buell's home, 1052 Amelia Dr., being co-hostessed by Peg Webb and Carlene Burrell from 10:30 to 12:30.

"Blanked out"

Assisting Mmes. Buell, Webb and Burrell will be those always pleasant party partners Dorothy Dunlap, Helene Drown, Lorain Lungren, Waula Pearson, Helen Fielding, Virginia Stanton and Liz Tucker.

HERE'S ANOTHER "even if" because even if Harry and Nikita had been billed to co-star on a debate program, "live," with John himself serving as moderator, TV windows would have remained blank last Thursday during brunch hours, too! That day Sue and Marian Hardesty were co-hostesses at Sue's home and received the highest entertainment rating in town by unanimous vote of their guests. Assisting were Betty Godwin, Louise Voigt, Anita Stevenson, Stella Kellogg, Beverly Matlock, Mary Liz Kendig and Kitty Rosenbaum.

A Bavarian lilt was given the festivities, the merriment backgrounded by the merry music of a concertina, Art Wentzell providing the tunes.

WHAT A BOUNTIFUL crop St. Mary's Hospital Guildswomen raised! Oh, those gals have very green thumbs, indeed! From counting greenbacks! Joan Bescos, chairman, and Mickey Jones, ticket chairman, took the final tally on all those 5s, 10s and 20s, profits from the guild's "Day at the Races" and announced the results this week. The crop in full bloom totaled $10,515!

THE CASE OF Rogers and Rogers vs. Marlin, Marlin and Marlin was tried in the court of "Judge" Davy Jones, called to order on the deep sea out of Guaymas, Mexico, the other day while the Rogers, Vera and Frank, were vacationing at Hotel Playa de Cortes. Some fellow by the name of Izaak Walton was attorney for the plaintiffs—must have been! The Rogers, on their first try at ocean game fishing, were given the decision, with Frank boating two and Vera reeling in one. Average weight was just about 150 pounds.

THE STUFF THAT dreams are made of and the kind of an item that makes the desk-bound likes of us go grrrrrr. It happened to Sallie and Dr. Milton Van Dyke, their son, Dr. Iko Van Dyke, and Nancy and Phil Hartley. They returned home last Sunday after a week's cruise as guests of Ralph Larrabee aboard his magnificent schooner, "The Goodwill," 172 feet-worth of de luxe ocean travel. The travelers flew from Long Beach to La Paz to meet Skipper Ralph and from there they cruised at leisure; sighting whales, sea turtles and catching marlin, dolphin and all manner of sea creatures prized by anglers. Of the game fish, none were taken but just brought in for a close and prideful look and then let loose to swim some more. Nancy caught her first marlin (in 35 minutes) and they conceded her the record catch, estimating its weight at over 200 pounds!

AS A GRAND finale to the year's escapades (it could prove the end of them all!) board members of Sema Club will present "The Original Sema-nsky's Final Revue" Tuesday at the new Marina Shores home of Barbara (Mrs. Charles) Jones, 637 Beachcomber Dr. They're billing it thus: "No talent and little practice will make this great variety show a must for all members." Cast members who pose no threat as competition to other aspiring actresses anywhere will be Marilyn (Mrs. Leonard) Brock, Beverly (Mrs. James) Gardner, Maureen (Mrs. James) Cone, Bella (Mrs. John) Snider Jr. and Mary (Mrs. Douglas) Watland. To steel their nerves for the fray members will be served cocktails first. To sweeten their jangled tempers afterwards, they'll be cajoled with dessert and lots of hot, steaming coffee.

IRENE TREPANIER moved Saturday but she had the moving men scratching their heads and mumbling in their beards. They'd never seen anything like Irene's modus operandi before—and likely never will again. "Take everything but this," said she to them, pointing to the grand piano. And they did; chair, by desk, by lamp, by rug, removing every stick and scrap BUT the 88. All through the crating and boxing Irene taught pupil after pupil. When the last student plunked the last chord and said goodbye, Irene picked up her purse, turned to the moving men, said "now," and walked out of the completely vacant apartment (except for one piano even then being hustled through the door) drove to her new apartment to wait for the piano, her next pupil and a scarcely interrupted schedule!

WAY UP YONDER in "good, old Boston the home of the bean and the cod" these days is Anne G. Phillips, maybe rubbing elbows with the Lowells and the Cabots but, if not with these members of Massachusetts' royalty, certainly with another exclusive batch of people—members of the American Institute of Decorators all there for their annual conference. Her plans called for a house tour through New England, browsing through some of this nation's most history drenched country. Before returning here next Saturday Anne planned visits in Syracuse, New York and finally Chicago where she'll rendezvous with Eleanor Hayes Samuelson of Winnetka.

THE ROAR OF speedboats is like a mother's lullabye to lions. Not all lions of course, but certainly to the Belmont Shore variety who will lick their chops blissfully next Friday when they hear the deep-throated growls of boats warming up for the Shore Leo club's annually sponsored Memorial Day Speedboat Regatta at Marine Stadium.

"That you, mother?"

Clem Fromlath is chairman of the 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. sports event. Understand President Paul Deats isn't the only member who has literally insisted on "more duties" since they met lovely regatta queen Nancy Hunter at last week's meeting! Marshall Le Sage, for instance, sent film rolling through his camera so fast getting pictures of Nancy you could see smoke pouring from the shutter. And as for incoming prexy Don Smeallie, just ask his wife, Gladys, what an interest he's taken in hair tonics, other good grooming lotions since he learned it would be his duty to serve as official host and chauffeur for the Queen!

Following their day-long job at the stadium, lions and lionesses will have a "come as you are" party at the clubhouse, 5103 E. Ocean. There will be cocktails, buffet and plenty of talk about the day's activities. Helene Fromlath is in charge and assisting her prepare homecooked smorgasbord fare will be Marge Ruby, Bobby Vance, Esther Weed, Sybil Beshe and Helen Hahn.

THE NEXT nicest thing to hearing compliments about yourself is having good friends win national recognition and then bask in reflected glory.

Many a long time Long Beach resident can enjoy this second hand type of prideful "I know them!" when they read the current issue of Ladies' Home Journal which has a long feature story, heavily illustrated with full color pictures on Hugh and Cathy Beaumont. Hugh lived here a long time before hitting Hollywood movie studio payrolls and now plays the father in, "Leave It to Beaver," on television. The article is entitled, "Between Jobs," and is part of the magazine's How America Lives series.

PARADISE, HAWAII-STYLE!

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Burmester, pictured at the Halekulani Hotel, Honolulu, just prior to their return trip to the mainland, let their smiles attest to the fact that they found Hawaii to be truly the Isle of Paradise. Their island sojourn followed Burmester's retirement as editor of the Press-Telegram and a colorful career of more than half a century as a journalist. A prominent leader in civic affairs here for many years, he is a past president of both the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

HIS FAVORITE places in the United States are Colorado for beauty—Texas for loyalty—California for everything.

Will he be a Dodger's fan? He'll try. But it's going to take some doing to transfer his affections from the White Sox, a long-time favorite.

He tries to compress his work day into nine hours but it has a habit of bursting its seams, more often than not requiring an 11-hour size.

Dave's "leisure" time is currently spent with three partners working out details on construction of a lush new restaurant on the southeast tip of Pier A overlooking Long Beach's skyline. Ground was broken Monday morning and it will open sometime this summer.

Come to think of it—maybe he was right the first time. Perhaps he's a bachelor because he really HASN'T had time to be anything else.

Chillen' With Wings on Flight to Desert

"Flying, anyone?"

Some of our nicest Long Beach chillen got wings this weekend—or at least they planned to go the bird route in their own planes to Desert-Aire (weather permitting) for the final dinner dance of the season before summer temperatures slow Palm Springs-Palm Desert social activities to a lizard's pace.

Hoping murky skies would lift or lessen to afford proper visibility for a flight were Margaret and Bob Sully, Norma and John Craig and Dorothy and Bill Macrate who invited as plane guests Katie and Carter Boswell, Barbara and Jack London and Emmy Lou and Will Ingram (in that order per couple.)

Incidentally, Norma and John are both learning to fly as you probably know. With expert pilots the Londons (both of 'em) along with the Craigs should get in some good practice. Norma soloed last fall and has been building up hours in the air ever since to complete requirements for a private pilot's license. Dorothy Macrate took lessons last fall, too, but decided winter was no time for a fledgling so she's been "vacationing" from flight patterns until this summer when she'll probably "take off" where she left off.

Installation plans will be finalized when new and retiring officers of Unit 133, Ladies Auxiliary of the Fleet Reserve Assn., meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday for a joint board session in the home of Mrs. Harry A. Lund, 3842 Rose Ave.

DUV Meeting

Anna Etheridge Tent 58, Daughters of Union Veterans, will meet at 12:30 p.m. Monday in Veterans Memorial Building with Elsie Chase presiding.

Members will gather for practice night Thursday under the leadership of Byrd and Vern Garten.

A summer party also is being planned at Los Coyotes Country Club.

New Petroleum Club Opens

Men of the oil industry, accompanied by their stunningly coiffed and gowned wives, turned out 300 strong last Saturday night to herald the opening of their swank new Petroleum Club at 36th St. and Locust Ave. with a gala dinner-dance.

The formally attired gathering enjoyed entertainment headlined by Rudy Vallee, and featuring vocalist Kay Cee Jones, and the 10-piece recording orchestra of Jimmy Talbert. Also enjoyed were the antics of the comedy vocal trio, the Happy Jesters, and the intricate dance routines of the Albins.

Centering each of the dinner tables was a giant crystal champagne glass filled with yellow carnations and overflowing with irridescent bubbles. A seven-foot working model of an oil derrick was center of interest in the plush lobby of the club, and guests will remember the occasion with laminated plastic ashtrays bearing inlaid gold oil wells showering gold dust over the Petroleum Club crest which they received as favors.

RESPONSIBLE for the unusual decor were Mrs. W. T. Westergard, Mrs. John J. Turner and Mmes. Don A. Kuster, Earl Wallace, Decatur Mitchell, Greg Hoskins, Lloyd Hilligoss and Harry L. Stafford.

Children's Theatre Installs

By JEAN B. MOORE

There breathes not a theater group alive that wouldn't yearn to play before 16,000 persons.

No such troupe exists? Oh yes it does, and right in Long Beach!

"The Wizard of Oz," given by the Long Beach Children's Theatre counted noses—16,000 belonging to assorted children and adults—during 26 performances last fall and winter.

These, and other pertinent statistics, loaned a note of proud informality to the annual meeting and installation of Children's Theatre Thursday morning in Virginia Country Club.

BEFORE SHE handed the president's reins to Mrs. Douglas B. McFarland, Mrs. William V. Artman remarked that Children's Theatre officers have many an occasion to step from their lofty perches and take part in the plays.

Mrs. Artman herself played the Cowardly Lion in "Oz," while others on her board were everything from makeup artists to backstage crew.

Although the forthcoming production cannot be named as yet, the prospective dates for the show are Nov. 28-30. Public tryouts will take place in September.

"The quality of each production must be the highest if we are to continue to play before such a vast audience," Mrs. Artman said, in commenting on the artistic as well as financial success of "Oz."

ROUNDING OUT Mrs. McFarland's board next year will be Mmes. Lewis B. Kean, first vice president, C. Frederic McKinney, second vice president and production manager; Robert Sully, assistant production; Ray O. Gould Jr., third vice president and business manager; LeRoy Jansen, recording secretary; Carl H. Powell Jr., corresponding secretary; Robert Matteson, treasurer; William V. Artman, parliamentarian; William T. Pillsbury, social; Richard Driscoll, house; Mae Mathers, James J. Wood, transportation; Norris A. Nesmith, publicity; Eugene E. Kinsey and C. H. Beasley, tickets.

Also Mrs. Fred Kunkle, stage manager; Miss Charlotte Shuman, stage designer; Miss Kay Shuman, stage technician, Mrs. James W. Patton, assistant technician.

OTHERS ARE Mmes. Kenneth Hurley, property properties; Eric Schwarz, costume designer; Boyd Lemmon, assistant; Donald Eaton, costumes; Howey Beckman, make-up; Eric Laddey, assistant; William V. Artman, scripts and casting; William F. Macrate, director.

New members taken into Children's Theatre since the last production are Mmes. Harold B. Clemens, Charles Fabish, Edward R. Ingle, Edward H. Kay, Eric Laddy, James W. Patton, Leon Rubenstein; Walter Landis J., Thomas Brown, James Worsham and Galen Thomas.

The new president has served twice as vice president of the theatrical group, has been makeup chairman and has appeared in many productions as an actress.

'New Citizens' Feted at Soroptimist Club Party

By ANNE GILCHRIST

One of the most pleasant affairs in the memory of Soroptimists of the downtown club was the party Tuesday honoring the new American citizens of this area given in Recreation Park Recreation clubhouse. Doris Brown chairmanned the event assisted by Helen Fuller and Lola Stanley with Mrs. Helen Wilkinson and Vito Romans, teachers of citizenship classes.

This evening of fellowship and entertainment for foreign born who have chosen this country as their own and who recently took their oaths of citizenship was hostessed officially by President Georgia Clark of the club.

* * * *

ANOTHER RECENT event of satisfaction to Soroptimists, both members of the downtown and Lakewood-Atlantic clubs, was a luncheon given for them by the Associated Women's Student Body of Long Beach City College. President Mary Wright welcomed the service club women and presented Carol Keegan, general chairman of the luncheon and fashion show, provided by Penney's. AWS board members served as models. Dean Robert Swenson gave a brief talk, telling interesting facts about the local college and of its founding and delevopment. Royal Stanton, director, presented the college madrigal singers in a group of songs. Following the program members toured the campus under supervision of women students, members of the board.

Altrusa Club

Kay Langan, vocational information chairman for Altrusa Club, was in charge of the women service club's May meeting at the Lafayette Hotel. She introduced Betty Jacka, guest speaker, who described her work as vocational counselor at Long Beach City College and told how counseling aids students in selecting the vocation best suited to their abilities.

Aptitude, intelligence and interest tests in various fields are given students and from the results the counselors and students work out an overall plan for their careers.

Osteopathic Assistants

Maypoles and spring flowers graced tables at the Hawaiian Restaurant for the May meeting of Long Beach Osteopathic Medical Assistants, arranged by hostesses of the night Ruth Smiley and Milly Vencouusky.

Guest speaker Joseph M. Kennick, chief of the Long Beach Juvenile Bureau, was accompanied by Mrs. Kennick. Other special guests included Orange County Chapter members Ruth Jacobs, Margaret Nixon and Millicent Furst; from the bay area club, Louise Melton and Alice Helicker.

* * * *

KENNICK pointed out in his talk describing the work of his department and of delinquency problems in general that it frequently is the little things done for a child that count and help with the building of character and future personality stability.

During a short business meeting conducted by President Eileen Ware she announced that as a result of the chapter's bond drive they would be able to present a much needed isolette to the Long Beach Osteopathic Hospital for use in its nursery. Elgene Erickson, chairman of ways and means, will present the check for its purchase to the hospital's executive board at the June meeting.

New Chapter

Long Beach members of Osteopathic Medical Assistants were special guests at the recent installation ceremonies of officers for the newly formed Bay-Harbor Chapter composed mainly of former Long Beach chapter members. Taking office as president was Mrs. T. Dorsey Melton (assistant to Dr. Robert M. Patterson) who was instrumental in forming the new group.

Installed with her were Mrs. Peggy Purves, vice president; Dorothy Ashton, recording secretary; Dolores Parker, corresponding secretary; and Alice Helliker, treasurer. Mrs. Verrill Ellwanger, state president, served as installation officer.

GOP Juniors' Spring Ball Colorful

GOP Juniors and their friends today are basking in memories of the club's highly successful social event of the year, the traditional Spring Fantasy Ball held last evening in the new Petroleum Club.

The intriguing theme of Tahitian Paradise chosen for the headdress dinner dance proved truly inspirational, with beautiful headdresses and exotic decorations creating a riot of beautiful colors everywhere. Having the headdresses small enough to wear throughout the evening added much to the festive decor and atmosphere.

In addition to the excitement of the judging of the winning headdresses was Audrey Castle's specialty dancing, La Conga led by Shirley and John McCune and Lucille and Bert Garver and the winning of the elegant mystery headdress—a glittering coral sea fan studded with sequins and containing money and gift certificates valued at $150.

* * * *

PRE-DANCE PARTIES added to the delight and festivities of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Tibbett's home at 3732 Myrtle Ave. was a veritable flower garden with the many beautiful headresses and gowns. The Gene Hadens were there with club president Joan looking radiant in a pale pink gown of silk organza and lace, with a glamorous headdress of orchids, pink feathered birds and sparkling rhinestones.

Chuck and Naomi Chandler also were among the guests, Naomi's headdress of gold seaweed trimmed in pearls and shells blending beautifully with her white gown with Grecian neckline and gold and black trim. Citrus colors were chosen by Mrs. Bob Driscoll for her cotton and silk print with graceful green chiffon panel floating free in the back. The basket of artificial limes, oranges and lemons worn on her head carried out her color scheme.

Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Earl Gates and Messrs. and Mmes. Logan Goodnight, George Lake, Bob Burroughs, Floyd Williams, Arnold Romeyn, William Nesbitt, Jack Marquette and Glen Doody. Mrs. Doody's white organdy bouffant gown with pink cummerbund was be-sprinkled with large pink embroidered roses. Her clever headdress was a Tahitian sailboat on a sea of pink flowers.

* * * *

ALICE AND DICK GUESS hosted a cocktail party at their home, 3957 Gaviota Ave., with Alice looking lovely in a powder blue embroidered satin sheath and flowered headdress. The Guess's guests were Ted and Juanita Godwin, Gage and Mabel Helms, Don and Virginia King, Keith and Clarion Drew, Harry and Myrtle Hachmeister, Gifford and Ethel Hanson, Bob and Dorothy Davidson, Ferris and Helen Dangberg and, from Crystal City, Mo., Frank and Lucille Evens.

Gathering at the home of Jean and Don Gray, 1216 E. 36th St., with co-hosts Bea and Norman Scott and Walla and Dean Gilmore, were the Bev Buchanans, Chris Meyerses, P. I. Wilseys, Frank Baders, Harry Fultons, Fred Weisenhutters, Jim Lineberggers and Fey Loomans. Mrs. Scott's beautiful white chiffon gown with dainty appliqued lace flowers, tucked bodice and low back was complemented by her sophisticated headdress of gold and white grapes. Mrs. Gilmore wore pink peau de soie low-waisted dress enhanced by a headdress composed of a gold sea fan intertwined with pink net, coral and gold starfish. Mrs. Gray's printed chiffon gown in shades of gold with graceful full skirt was in contrast to her brightly colored headdress of flowers and butterflies.

ENJOYING THE HOSPITALITY of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wing Jr., 1430 Iroquois Ave., were Messrs. and Mmes. Peter Trafas, Calvin Rossi, Van Strahl, and Robert Bayless. Mrs. Wing wore a becoming white ribbon sheath contrasted by a huge brilliantly colored butterfly poised lightly in her hair.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kay Walton, 3715 Myrtle Ave., was the setting for a delightful pre-dance party with the Robert Irwins, Sam Taylors and John McCunes acting as co-hosts. The hostesses were a study in black and white with Mrs. Walton and Mrs. McCune choosing all white ensembles. The former wore a rhinestone-studded crepe sheath with graceful streamers in back and glamorous headdress of feathers and orchids, while the latter chose a beautiful Chantilly lace sheath and single white flower in her hair. Mrs. Taylor's black lace with bouffant skirt and pink flowered headdress was in direct contrast to Mrs. Irwin's elegantly simple white linen sheath banded in yellow with matching yellow headdress.

* * * *

GUESTS WERE Messrs. and Mmes. Ray Bredenkamp, Bill Gillis, Chris Conway, Marvin Clark, Mel Gienapp, Chuck Dorrans, Ed Grisinger, Phil Graham, Dick McConnell, Merle Dempsey, Hal Horrocks and Stan Clithero. Also attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Earle Donaldson, Tom Fagan, Don Barden, Ray Parker, Lee King, Wendall Jordan, Max Nelson, John Roggeveen, Bert Garver, Douglas Benwell, Clinton Belcher, Larry Freighly, Paul Webb and Philip Carey.

A low-backed floral print silk sheath in electric blue and green and hibiscus headdress was chosen by Arlene Johnson when she and husband, Bob, greeted the Francis Merchants, Glenn Gilmores, Walter Downings and Stan Churches at their home, 425 Santiago Ave.

BIDDEN TO THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Dumm, 1052 Tehachapi Dr., were Dr. and Mrs. Orville Hastings and Messrs. and Mmes. C. L. Fowler, M. H. Stansbury, Tex Westergard, Harold Larsen, Paul Nowlin, Ronald Raasch, Frank Shlemmer from New York City, Walter Everts of Claremont, and R. C. Mcaulay and Robert Dumm from Garden Grove. The hostess wore an exquisite yellow and white flowered chiffon with gold silk midriff, and a headdress fashioned from a Tahitian straw hat in the same colors.

Vera and Charles Goodrich, 7131 Mezzanine Way, invited the following friends in for pre-dance cocktails: Louise and Cliff Milspaugh, Mary Lou and Ray Hill, Lois and Mac Mckibben, Audrey and Verne Upton, Peggy and Don Harrington, Lorraine and Roy Webb, Alice and Deane Tummell, Virginia and George Williams, Betty Lou and Stuart King and Pepper and Wally Simmons. Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Goodrich were attired in pink, the former wearing a cotton with interwoven filigree design and extremely full skirt, and a flowered headdress also in pink tones. Mrs. Goodrich chose chiffon with draped bodice and graceful full skirt, her head adornment a single passion flower.

* * * *

FRIENDS ENJOYING the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thurmond, 2808 Palo Verde Ave., were Messrs. and Mmes. Bill Wallis, James Wilder, Rocky Gulen, Bob Woodruff, Ralph Cormany, James Edmonds, John Richardson, and David Mosely. Mrs. Mosely was attractive in an embroidered yellow linen with bell-shaped skirt and off-the-shoulder neckline, and a flowered headdress also in yellow. Mrs. Thurmond wore a lovely princess style gown of flowered Italian silk in tones of taupe, brown and white with a high neckline in front and low in back.

MOLLY MAYFIELD

His Fiancee Becomes Flirt

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

You'll not think this serious, but I do. I recently became engaged to a lovely-looking girl, with personality plus. BUT she has developed into an outlandish flirt.

When I take her out with my friends, married or otherwise, she starts buttering up to the most attractive males on hand — and I'm not usually in that category. Sometimes her obvious flirting amuses them — but more than half the time they flirt back.

You can see what a fool I feel. Furthermore, I don't like the idea of having a wife who flirts with other men — and how do I know she'd change after marriage, huh?

LEE.

DEAR LEE:

I agree. How do you know she's going to change? In fact, I've never understood why so many people go into marriage on the premise that the dear one is going to change his or her spots. It doesn't usually work that way.

That's why, if there's going to be a change — and I sure can't blame you for wanting one — you'd better see that it takes place now and not then. Maybe this young lady needs someone (you, of course) to literally lay down the law — and show her that you mean it.

M. M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

What can you do with parents who argue all the time? When they aren't arguing they're hollering at me (I'm 17) or my two sisters. This goes on every day as soon as I get home from school.

I got so tired of it yesterday that I told Dad to quit it, but he told me to shut up before I got my mouth smacked.

I will try anything you suggest. My Dad reads your column sometimes, so maybe we can get my parents to wise up.

MISERABLE TEENAGER

DEAR MISERABLE TEEN:

Let's all wise up together. Is there something they're "hollering" about that you can do something about? Take the next "hollering" session and analyze it. Are you provoking them needlessly? If so, then stop it. Arguing takes all the fun out of living.

Next time they connect verbally, quietly say, "You gave me eyes and ears. At times like this I wish you hadn't."

'Club Circuit' Pays Off!

By JOYCE KENT

Husbands who grow discouraged when their wives embark on the "club circuit" and who question the merit of endless board and committee meetings as the ironing piles higher, will find it therapuetically valuable to visit the new chronic and convalescent wing at Long Beach Community Hospital, Termino Ave. and Pacific Coast Hwy., between 2 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

There in the lounge and two children's rooms they will find mute testimony to the end result of seemingly endless meetings.

Furnishings for the lounge and lobby—tastefully done in Oriental modern—have been paid for entirely through the efforts of the 150 members of the year-old hospital auxiliary.

Funds for the construction and furnishing of the wing's two two-bed rooms for children were realized through philanthropic efforts of Children's Benefit League.

* * * *

PECAN RATAAN furnishings in the sumptious lounge harmonize with restful Arcadia green walls—main color throughout the wing—and with the rosy beige nylon carpeting.

According to Mrs. Howard Hatfield, wife of Community's administrator, who supervised the wing's decor from floor to ceiling, the carpeting was the most difficult problem.

Nylon was selected for wearing and cleaning features, but had to be clipped close both to retard germ growth and to avoid excessive wear by the carts and wheelchairs which will be used in the lounge.

Cushions in the two huge circular sofas and other occasional chairs all are in vinyl plastic and table tops are in formica.

Adding to the feeling of spaciousness is a 12-foot pecan ratan planter divider which separates what will be a dining area from the "living" area, and an entire window of glass gives a panoramic view of the Lakewood-Los Altos area.

* * * *

SPECIAL 30" by 30" "flip-top" tables will be used by patients who wish to play cards, and can be opened to 30" by 60" for dining. Desks for letter writing also are to be found.

A corner fireplace, huge cork base lamps, and bas relief plaques of Balinesian dancers further the room's Oriental favor.

Each of the wing's 25 two-bed rooms feature three walls of Arcadia green, with the fourth wall in paper. Seventeen of the rooms have been furnished with funds donated by individuals, and will be marked with plaques bearing the names of the donors.

The $340,000 wing is built on city-owned land adjacent to the hospital and was paid for through a federal Hill-Burton grant which matches funds given by the state and the hospital. The facility will be opened to patients June 1.

THIS ARTIST'S CONCEPT of the lounge in the new chronic and convalescent wing at Long Beach Community Hospital captures the room's air of spaciousness and calm. Furnished through funds raised by Community Hospital Auxiliary, the room is done tastefully in Oriental modern. The new 25-room facility will be open to the public from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Worry Clinic
Atheist Is Rebelling Against His Family

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Q-318: Horace X., age 29, is a science professor at a small church college.

"But he is becoming a problem to us," the dean informed me, "because he can't resist stressing the fact he is an atheist.

"He seems to delight in trying to upset the religious faith of his students.

"Since we are a church school, we can't keep him on the faculty. Is his atheism just a form of intellectual sadism?"

Intelligent people soon realize there is some remarkable force back of this vast universe that far transcends our smartest human scientists and scholars.

* * * *

FROM TIME immemorial, brilliant leaders of mankind have admitted there was a God behind the world.

Some ancient peoples started with the more primitive idea that there were many gods, as of harvest and field and ocean and love and war.

It is a rare thing to find any educated person nowadays who denies that there is a God.

"Yes, Dr. Crane, but don't people have to take the existence of God on pure faith?" I often have been asked.

No sirree! You can prove the existence of God just as mathematically and logically as you can prove that the square of the hypotenuse of a right angle triangle equals the sum of the squares of the other two sides.

On pp. 779-783 of my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," you can find this complete "Logical Proof of God." But it is likewise included in the booklet below.

* * * *

SPACE WILL not permit its full presentation in this brief column. But I want to explain why occasionally people, even of high I.Q., claim to be atheists and even delight in ridiculing the beliefs of their students.

Most of these atheists simply are giving vent to a misplaced emotional grudge against their fathers.

If those parents forced too much religion down the throats of their shy children and if the parents were domineering, go-getter types, the youngsters finally may have rebelled, albeit inwardly.

They may have developed hatred for their dads. But they were too fearful to argue with their dominant parents, so they nursed their ire.

Then, when they finally got away from home, they unleashed a belated attack on their hated dad, via an assault on what their fathers stood for.

In psychology we call this a "transference." The children simply shift their hatred to "father symbols," such as religion or "free enterprise."

A basic, underlying emotional maladjustment thus is at the core, so it is a waste of time to try to argue with such victims of an unhappy parent-child relationship many years before.

Send for my booklet, "The Logical Proof of God," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents.

(ALWAYS write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long three-cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

G. C. Seguines Celebrate 50th Anniversary

In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Seguine were honored last Sunday afternoon in their home, 6174 Myrtle Ave., with a reception given by their sons, daughters and grandchildren.

A golden motif was stressed in home and patio decor, with many lovely bouquets and gifts from friends on display. Punch and a wedding cake trimmed in gold were served. The patio and garden proved popular for friends and relatives to gather to visit and renew old times.

* * * *

THE SEGUINES were married in May, 1908 in Greeley, Colo., and later lived in Denver, Colo., and western Nebraska before coming to California in 1923 to settle in Long Beach. LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

by PLACER MINER

Busy, busy, busy is the watchword on the Long Beach State activities front this week. But before we tell you about it, a quick look back.

Last Tuesday night, Sigma Chi Nu (nurses' group on campus) held their installation dinner at the Hawaiian. At the helm of the organization during the year coming up will be the following: Edith McCormick, president; Barbara Bostwick, vice president; Ann Stubblefield and Julia Ash, recording and corresponding secretaries; Marian Zaranton, treasurer; Rose Dessloch, historian; and Mavis Stapp, scholarship chairman.

Among the honored guests on hand to hear featured speaker Dr. Wilfred P. James discuss "Jets, Jargon and Journalism" were several members of the LBSC administration including Sigma Chi Nu advisors Dr. Kenneth Johnson, Dean Karl A. Russell Jr., and Miss Dorothy Walsh.

LAST NIGHT Zeta Tau Alphas held their Crown Formal at the Hacienda Hotel. More than 40 couples were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Tom Handley of Sherman Oaks (Mrs. Handley is ZTA province president). Highlight of the evening was the naming of Don Schultz as Zeta Man of 1958. Today the sorority is busy again, this time with the senior luncheon in the Captain's Inn.

Tuesday noon in CR 100 on campus, 'tis time for the final concert of the year by the College Chorus, Mr. Paul Stroud, director; a program ranging from Bach's "A Stronghold Sure" to "The Saints Go Marching In" will be presented.

Wednesday, Creative Writing Club will have a tea in the Soroptimist House from 3 to 5 p.m. Imagine their conversation will consist mainly of oh's and ah's over the recently published "Hornspoon" (IBSC literary magazine) in which the writers are well represented.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT it's back to the Hacienda as members of next year's student Executive Council are installed.

Thursday, from 10 to 11 a.m. in the Little Theater, students will gather for the last assembly of the year, the annual "Awards Assembly." Providing the entertainment will be the Buddy DeFranco Quartet. When the musicians are not sending out a solid beat, a large number of Forty-Niners will receive recognition for a job well done as note is taken of Who's Who in American Colleges nominees, Nugget Award winners (standouts on the activity front), and special winners in science classes and for service to the Long Beach Safety Council.

FRIDAY, MEMORIAL DAY, being a holiday, should prove mighty popular with LBSC students who either are weary from hitting the books in preparation for finals or who are a little bit behind and need extra time for study. Only outfit which is planning anything definite, however, seems to be the Ski Club who have a water skiing expedition scheduled.

Saturday at the Hawaiian again, seniors gather for their traditional brunch. Mixed in with soon-to-be alumni will be several old grads of years gone by, a few of whom will take part in ceremonies honoring two of the seniors, a boy and a girl—or should we say man and woman—for significant contributions to the LBSC scene during their stay on our campus.

ROUNDING OUT the week's activities that night is "Baroque Fantasy," the annual Beaux Arts Ball sponsored by art students at State. Prizes will be given for the best costumes in keeping with the theme, but all costumes are acceptable says chairman Sheila Wright. Tickets, at $1.25 per person, are available from Art Club members on campus or may be purchased at the door. Playing for dancing are The Refreshments—the name of the band, not what you get during intermission.

And briefly noted, since they are being covered in separate stories are today's Open House on campus, Thursday night's Bennett Cerf lecture which is open to the public free of charge in the brand new gym, and Thursday afternoon's Home Economics Club fashion show, "Orient Yourself to Fashion."

Coffee Hour for P-T.A. Board

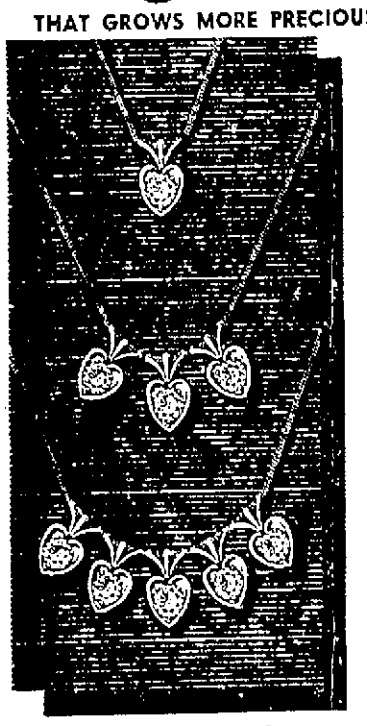

Mrs. George Gordon, president of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers, will entertain members of the executive committee at a coffee hour, 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, in her home, 702 Armando Dr. A business meeting will follow, marking the last official assembly of the group for the school year.

Ladies of the Elks

Chairman Amelia Blume and her committee are in charge of arrangements for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon and an afternoon of cards for Ladies of the Elks' Wednesday at the Elks Club.

Wife Shouldn't Withhold Extra Cash From Family

By RUTH MILLETT

When he earned the only pay check in the family he put it in a joint checking account and his wife regarded it as "our money."

Now she has taken a job, too. But what she earns she regards as "my money"—to spend exactly as she pleases.

She even resents it if her husband wants to know what she is spending the money for.

"Is that fair?" he wants to know.

No, it isn't fair. But women sometimes get a little mixed up in their thinking.

This man's wife probably reasons like this: Until I took a job we were getting along on my husband's pay check. He didn't expect me to help him earn a living. So if I choose to take a job and make a little extra money, then the money should be mine to do with as I please.

But today's husband who is generous enough to open a joint checking account and to regard the money he earns as belonging to both husband and wife isn't forcing his wife into holding out any money for herself.

Anything his wife has in the way of income should be put into a common fund and regarded as our money, shared by both, as his income is shared.

If a husband's pay check is "our money," a wife's pay check should be considered the same.

Something for the Boys

Ol' Ted Comforts Frazzled Salesman

By TED KREC

As you know, men, every year about the middle of May the well-dressed gentry of this nation celebrates Straw Hat Day.

In keeping with this splendid endeavor, last week I visited a store to equip myself with one of these stylish toppers—and thereby hangs an anecdote.

I took my wife along, for she had some shopping to do, but I sent her on her merry way before I started this hat business.

When I arrived at the appropriate department, a stalwart young college-boy salesman threw himself at my service. He was a big fellow, about 6 feet 4 (not tall — WIDE), and he had a most ingratiating manner.

"I want a straw hat," I told him, "and I like THAT one. Do you have it in my size?"

* * * *

"WHAT SIZE do your wear, sir?" he asked.

"Seven and a quarter."

"I believe so, sir. Just one moment and I'll check."

"You'd better bring a bigger size," said a familiar voice with a down-east accent. "He has a pretty fat head!"

Yes, you guessed it. It was my wife. She had been unable to find anything expensive enough to buy, so she had come over to badger me.

The salesman threw her a withering glance and withdrew into an inner chamber. Ten minutes later he was back, pointing at the hat I had picked out and whispering to an older statesman in the department. The other man gestured with his hands (evidently indicating a location in the storeroom) and our portly friend withdrew again. He was gone another lengthy period of time and my wife said aloud:

"Do you suppose he's growing the straw for that hat?"

The elder statesman heard this and now HE threw a shriveling look our way. I pulled my neck down in my collar so recognition wouldn't be too easy.

Back came our oversized friend — this time there was a thin shine of perspiration on his upper lip.

"Sir, don't you see another style you'd like? I - - -"

"THAT one," I insisted.

* * * *

HE SLUMPED and withdrew. More time went by and the little woman kept making these pointed remarks and I kept pulling my neck further down into my collar until I resembled a turtle.

Finally our buddy returned, drenched in perspiration but bearing aloft two hats — one the color I had selected and the other in another hue.

"Success!" he caroled. "Here you are, sir. And we also have it in THIS color in your size."

"I like the one I selected first," I said, trying it on. "How do YOU like it?" I said to my wife.

She put a bemused smile — one of tolerance — on her face, but before she could speak, the frazzled young man lost his composure completely and said;

"Lady, if you say you don't like it, I ought to belt you one!"

"Son," I said, "I endorse your position — but if you should try belting her, watch her left. She can strike like a cobra with it!"

Whereupon I donned my new hat, paid the man and left.

* * * *

YOU SHOULD see this new hat. It's made of a soft, oatmeal straw and has a tricolored band of charcoal tones in brown, beige and rust. The brim is two inches wide and the crown is flat and dimpled.

The selection of straw hats this year is outstanding — and they're most reasonable. Take it from me, they REALLY dress up your suit and give you a finished look.

If you've never worn one, buy one. It won't take you long to get used to it and it will pay dividends in appearance.

Actually, it isn't hard to get used to anything. For example, in a recent column I referred to Harry Fulton, that popular Independent columnist, as "the Lawrence Welk of the written word." Harry must have gotten used to this label, for the last time I saw him he was counting his money "uh-one and uh-two!"

Memorial Services

Oracle Sue Denkman will conduct 8 p.m. memorial services for Long Beach Camp 3822, Royal Neighbors of America, Tuesday at 728 Elm Ave. Gladys Bender will serve refreshments.

Dear Abby

Don't Believe All You Hear

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine moved into a new home and I wanted to give her a little gift.

I do nice crocheting so I made her a three-piece doily set. I washed and starched it and wrapped it in tissues and ribbons. I know doilies aren't being used much nowadays but I thought these were special. She said she loved them. A friend called me up and told me not to feel hurt if I never saw my doilies used, because this lady said she loved them only to make me feel good but she had no intention of cluttering up her new house with anything so old-fashioned as doilies. My problem is, should I ask for the doilies back (I could sell them for $10 the set, I'm sure) or should I skip it? —"CHAIN ONE, TWO"

ABBY

DEAR "CHAIN": Skip it, certainly. You have only the word of this "friend" (some friend?) who could have made up the vicious lie just to hurt you. If the lady to whom you gave the doilies said she loved them —believe her.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell that woman who signed herself "CAPABLE OF HAVING MY OWN" a few things for calling adopted children "second-hand, tossed-out merchandise." HAVING a child doesn't make a woman a mother. Pigs can reproduce. She is darned lucky she IS capable of having her own because if the adoption agency investigated HER, she'd never get an adopted child. They are very particular about who gets their babies. Pardon me, lady, but your ignorance is showing.—BOILING MAD.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I am married and have three children. I don't get out much so I like to talk to my friends on the telephone. This one friend of mine gets me sore. When I call her up she always cuts me short by saying something is burning on the stove or somebody is at the door. I am tired of these excuses. What should I do?—CUT SHORT

DEAR CUT: People who have time to kill on the phone usually call someone who hasn't. Find another telephone pal.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a lovely daughter-in-law but she looks like she belongs in a circus. She won't get on a scale, but I think it would take a freight scale to weigh her. She has had four children. By looking at her you can't tell if she is about ready to have the baby or if she has already had it. She eats all day long and I am afraid she will bust out of her skin. Can you tell me a smooth way to get her to lose some weight without hurting her feelings?—MOTHER-IN-LAW.

DEAR MOM: If you want to help your daughter-in-law, don't be too concerned if the manner in which you get her on a diet is "smooth" or "rough." . . . Plead, beg, bribe, but get her to a doctor and let him take it from there.

* * * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO PINKEY: The surest way to make a man wonder if he still loves you is to keep asking him.

* * * *

FOR A PERSONAL reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Art, From Seaman to Sir Winston

By VERA WILLIAMS
Independent, Press-Telegram Art Editor

Watercolors of sailing ships, which the artist says "were as alive as the seas on which they sailed," will dominate an exhibition by Emmett Hoskins, San Pedro seaman-artist, from 2 to 9 p.m. Monday in St. Luke's Episcopal Church Parish Hall, 7th St. and Atlantic Ave.

The exhibition will be sponsored by Mariner Girl Scouts of Long Beach, and all persons interested in ships or watercolors are invited, according to Mrs. Lloyd Baum, chairman of the senior waterfront committee, Long Beach Area Council of Girl Scouts.

Many of the sailing ships depicted plied the West Coast lumber trade and at one time or another berthed in San Pedro.

Exhibited also are Hoskins' watercolors of modern cargo vessels.

Hoskins does a good deal of research on all the vessels. Many of his drawings and paintings are accompanied by descriptions and histories.

The watercolors have been exhibited in the Exodus Gallery in San Pedro, and this fall will go to the Mariners' Museum in Newport News, Va. The artist also has work in the Smithsonian Institution and in Sailors Union of the Pacific halls in Portland and in Washington.

Major & Minor Notes

By RACHEL MORTON

Today Long Beach State College is holding open house from 1 to 5 o'clock. Recently I had the privilege and pleasure of being escorted through the new music building by Dr. Lawrence Peterson, chairman of the music department. It was a revelatory and thrilling experience. I had no conception of the magnitude and magnificence of this latest addition to the pride of Long Beach—and I think this applies to most of the residents here.

Opened in February of this year, the building is the latest and perhaps the finest of its type on the west coast. It cost three-quarters of a million dollars and the innovations leave one spellbound.

For instance, there is in every classroom and studio a recording machine operated by a professional sound and recording engineer on duty at all times from a central sound control room. Recording can be done in any room, by remote control, on a moment's notice.

* * * *

THE ATTRACTIVE studios and classrooms are done in light wood and each has at least one piano. There are altogether 55 pianos and 15 grand pianos. And imported from Germany is a beautiful custom-built Wittmayer harpsichord used for concert performance and instruction.

I was very impressed with the charming little auditorium which seats 112. With its theater-like appearance, it is for the use of teachers and pupils only.

The cabinets housing the different instruments comprise a little city in themselves—and house a valuable lot of tenants. Long Beach State College owns $200,000 worth of orchestral and band instruments. The pupils borrowing these valuable instruments are given a key to the cabinet and are held responsible.

* * * *

NEVER HAVE I seen such a music library! One room alone holds hundreds of records and there are besides, in other rooms, orchestral and band music, scores, chamber music of all types, representing many thousands of dollars. There is enough music in this library to educate musically thousands of pupils. It is a most complete and tremendous collection.

There is throughout the whole building an atmosphere of elegance, cordiality and joy of accomplishment. I think that a visit through this music building would give great pleasure and a new pride in the city of Long Beach and its State College.

Long Beach also may well be proud of the talented young musicians who are making enviable reputations for themselves in music. The remarkable career of Marilyn Horne, soprano, who only a few years ago was a student here, would fill pages. As a member and soloist of the Royal Wagner Chorale, she went to England for the Coronation Festivities of Queen Elizabeth. Now she is in Germany singing in one of the opera houses there. I am told that she will sing at the Salzburg Festival this summer.

a great future. The brilliant violinist, Camilla Wicks, has concertized all over Europe with great success and has played with the New York Philharmonic as well.

And from what I heard at the festival concert of the consolidated schools the other evening, there is much latent talent in our city which will bloom gloriously in the near future. So let us be grateful and keenly aware of the excellent musical education being given in the schools of Long Beach.

Laguna Makes Elaborate Plans for Festival

More than 100,000 spectators drawn from every state in the union and from many foreign countries are expected to attend the 23rd annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 19-Aug. 17 in Laguna Beach.

Six acres of grounds will display the work of painters, sculptors, ceramists, photographers and handicraft artisans.

The famous nightly highlight of the annual Festival of Arts is the Pageant of the Masters, staged in the hill-protected natural amphitheater of Irving Bowl.

* * * *

THE WORLD'S heritage of great painting and sculpture comes to life under the stars with the men, women and children of Laguna Beach acting as models.

The 1958 Pageant of the Masters will be made up of 28 living pictures with the bas relief from the Albert Memorial, London, closing the first half intermission and the reverent and traditional "The Last Supper" closing the nightly program. The same program will be shown each of the 30 nights.

Popular Play

Theatrical historians of the Broadway scene observe that "Blue Denim" may be the most solid hit at the Playhouse on New York's 48th St. since Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" opened there exactly 13 years ago.

Cornell Stars

"The Firstborn" brings about a welcome reunion of Katharine Cornell and Roger L. Stevens as producers and Miss Cornell as star in a vivid and exciting drama by England's leading playwright, Christopher Fry.

Levant, Stravinsky on Festival Program

An exciting season, highlighted by the first concert appearance in many years of pianist-television star Oscar Levant and a return engagement of Igor Stravinsky, celebrated composer-conductor, has been planned for the 1958 Los Angeles Music Festival by founder and music director Franz Waxman.

This 12th annual festival series will be presented by the Los Angeles Orchestral Society in cooperation with the UCLA Committee on Fine Arts Productions on June 2, 7, 9 and 16 on the UCLA campus.

Two notable symphony concerts and an opera production for children are scheduled for Royce Hall, while an evening of chamber music is set for Schoenberg Hall.

* * * *

OPENING NIGHT, June 2, will find Franz Waxman conducting the Festival Symphony Orchestra in a program which will include the West Coast premiers of the Shostakovich Piano Concerto No. 2 with Oscar Levant as soloist and the first movement of Mahler's unfinished Symphony No. 10. Waxman will also direct the popular Tchaikovsky Symphony No. 6, "Pathetique," and Ravel's "La Valse."

In response to numerous requests, "Babar the Elephant," delightful opera by Berezowsky which was given its West Coast premiere at the 1953 Los Angeles Music Festival, will be repeated in two special children's performances on June 7 at 11 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

* * * *

STAGE DIRECTOR is Henry Reese, while Trudi Schoop is the choreographer. The all-star cast will be headed by Yola Casselle, Katherine Hilgenberg and Allan Gildersleeve.

On Monday evening, June 9, in Schoenberg Hall, the Paganini Quartet, contralto Eva Gustavson and baritone Allan Gildersleeve will present an evening of works for string quartet and voices.

Climax of the Festival will be the June 16 symphony concert at which Igor Stravinsky and Robert Craft will share the podium. Stravinsky will direct, for the first time in the United States, his song cycle "The Faun and the Shepherdess," with Marina Koshetz as soloist, and a staged production of his one-act opera-bouffe "Mavra."

Harold F. Mitchell

Chef of the Week

Linen Is the Line of Harold Mitchell

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

Chef of the Week Harold F. Mitchell, Long Beach manager of American Linen Supply Co., has a "lord 'n master" chair from which everyone scrams when they see him coming. Sounds real comfortable, doesn't he?

Another native-born "chef," he stayed in the fertile San Joaquin Valley, where he first saw the light of day, until he had completed grammar school. He came to Long Beach in 1935, was graduated from Woodrow Wilson High, attended Long Beach Junior College, and studied mechanical and electrical engineering at Northwestern University.

* * * *

MITCHELL'S engineering know-how was put to use at Douglas Aircraft, Santa Monica, prior to his transferring to the Long Beach plant when it opened here in 1941. Come 1943, however, he enlisted in the Navy, and spent the next three years aboard a destroyer as an electronics technician.

After being discharged in 1946, he returned to the states and journeyed to Salt Lake City to make a big visit with all the relatives. He wound up buying a home and settling his family there.

After several months he made an important decision—the one which established his present profession. He went into the industrial laundry business, purchasing a small industrial route. He "cleaned up" so well that a year later he and two other fellows formed a partnership, and the Industrial Linen Supply Co. was founded. The plant was located in Sugar House, Salt Lake City.

In 1951, the American Linen Supply Co. purchased the business and Mitchell has remained with this firm ever since. He came to Long Beach in 1952 to assist in the transition of the old Queen City Linen Supply to the present company.

* * * *

AN EAST LONG BEACH Kiwanian, Mitchell also belongs to the Chamber of Commerce 500 Clubs, the Long Beach Sales Executive Club, and to the Los Angeles Sales Managers Group. Active in the Church of Jesus Chirst of Latter-day Saints, he has served as ward finance clerk for the past seven years.

Though he recently moved into a new home, he still finds time for some golfing, fishing and hunting with his five children. They range in age from 16 to 4 years.

As to his cooking ability . . . he possesses very little . . . that is, unless it's either cook or starve . . . then he does a pretty good job. His recipe today for Mock Chicken Casserole would belie this fact, however. You'll agree after you've tried it.

MOCK CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Grind or chop one onion, one green pepper—½ bunch of celery.

Fry 1 pound bulk sausage. Remove meat and cook vegetables in small amount of sausage grease. Cook one cup rice in 4½ cups boiling water. Simmer 30 minutes and add one package of Lipton Chicken Noodle Soup. Cook 7 minutes longer. To rice mixture add meat, vegetables and one can cream chicken soup, and one soup can of milk. Top with ¼ cup sliced almonds. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Try Browsing at Museum

Among the important graphic art exhibitions seen in this area this month is Contemporary British Printmakers currently on display through June 1 at the Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

Included are lithographs, drypoints, silkscreens, engravings and etchings and an unusual process called sugar aquatint. Works showing the highest quality in abstract and expressionistic thinking are represented. Brilliant and unusual contrasting colors are seen in silkscreens and lithographs; black and white compositions in etchings and engravings are also displayed.

Richard Coutu's "Descending Bird" and studies in movement and form by Merlyn Evans render excitement to the exhibit.

* * * *

THE COLLECTION is shown in conjunction with Arts of Southern California—III; Art in Film, works from the museum collection, and paintings by Bettina Brendel.

The Art in Film exhibition is the third in the series showing the best in creative thinking in Southern California. The work of the art director and many examples by scenic and set designers, sculptors, costume and makeup artists and the cartoon artist are shown. Material is from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, 20th Century-Fox and UPA Pictures, Inc.

Drama Students to Enact Scenes From Seven Plays

For two nights, Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m., The Magnolia Theatre, 2400 Magnolia Ave., will be taken over by teenage students of the School of the Magnolia Theatre in a presentation called "Scenes at Eight."

Scenes from seven well-known plays will be given entirely by the students, from acting and production to handling the box office. Overall supervision is by Ridge Walker, school director, but direct responsibility for each scene lies with the students.

To be presented are the prologue from "Summer and Smoke" and three scenes from "The Glass Menagerie," both by Tennesse Williams; a scene from "Member of the Wedding," by Carson McCuller; four scenes from "Tiger at the Gates," by Jean Giraudoux; scene from "The Diary of Anne Frank" by Goodrich and Hackett; scene from "The Fourposter" by Jan de Hartog and a scene from "Mr. Pickwick," by Stanley Young.

* * * *

IN THE CASTS will be Doris Taylor, Becky Jackson, Pat Decker, Blaine Nelson, Lois Wright, Rick Larson, Richard French, Danealia Hill, Lennea Stevens, Vickie Garret, Tim Banks and Pat Moorehouse.

The school was envisioned by Pat Brown, managing director of Magnolia Theatre, two years ago with the basic thought to help children learn to express their ideas, learn how to develop the imagination and put ideas to work spontaneously.

Classes stress poise, diction and creative dramatics; older students learn characterization, stagecraft and play participation.

The public is invited to attend the production. Tickets may be purchased at the box-office.

Chamber Concert at City College

Outstanding music students at Long Beach City College will be presented by the music department in a chamber music concert at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Lakewood campus auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Performers will include sopranos Carolyn Coward and Stephanie Norwood, violinist Sharon La Nobs, pianists Richard Wilkinson and Norma Lineberger, bassoonists Harold Hanson and William Watilo, the City College String Quartet and Brass Ensemble and the Viking Band Brass Choir and Clarinet Quartet.

Music to be performed will include works by Handel, von Weber and Mozart and two compositions by Dr. Gerald Daniel of the City College staff.

The program is sponsored by the Liberal Arts Division student body. A chamber music concert honoring Dr. Gerald Strang will be presented by members of the LBCC music department and guest artists on June 3.

Card Party Benefit

Sisters of the Holy Family Guild will sponsor their annual card party benefit Wednesday at 8 p. m. in St. Anthony's Catholic Center, 6th St. and Alamitos Ave. There will be door awards, refreshments and games of the players' choice. Alice Pickett is general chairman; Betty Williams is ticket chairman.

Comedy Set for 4-Night Presentation

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," comedy classic by George Kaufman and Moss Hart, will be presented by Long Beach City College General Adult Division drama students at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in Millikan High School auditorium, with additional performances scheduled June 4-5. All are open to the public without charge.

Plot of "The Man" involves a dinner guest who breaks his leg, then settles down to convalesce in the home of his hosts. He whiles away his time by meddling in family affairs and filling the house with penguins, Hollywood characters and mummy cases.

Lead role of Sheridan Whiteside, the part originally made famous by Monty Woolley, will be played by Paul Teschke. Other leads will be shared, in alternate weeks, by Ilene Ferris and Nicki Lopez as Whiteside's secretary, Geri Martin and Susanna Hitchcock as a Hollywood siren, and Gordon Gearhart and Jesse Ferguson as Bert Jefferson, the apex of a romantic triangle.

In other major parts Denis Miller takes the role of actor-playwright Beverly Carlton both weeks and Phil and Sal Pandolfo share the part of Banjo, a Hollywood comedian. Supporting roles are divided among 21 additional cast members for the four performances.

Director of the production is Maryalyce Rivard, General Adult Division radio-television and drama instructor.

LET'S SAY IT THIS WAY...

Gordon Gearheart, assistant director, checks last-minute script changes in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" with, from left, Nicki Lopez, Ruth Barrett and Geri Martin. LBCC General Adult Division play opens Wednesday in Millikan High School auditorium and is open to the public.

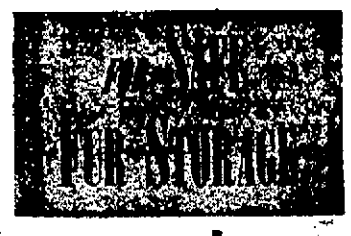

On Broadway

With the theatrical season past the half-way mark, The Playwrights' Company—this year celebrating its 20th anniversary season—is represented on Broadway with two continuing hits, a top comedy, "Time Remembered," and a leading drama, "The Rope Dancers." Bidder Fools Self During Long Huddle

West's opening diamond was a semi-psychic lead directing bid and did not keep North and South from bidding their spade game.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and took stock of the situation. Obviously, the only way to beat the hand would be to collect two club tricks and he had to attack the suit immediately.

This left him with the problem of which club to lead. Should his partner hold ace-nine-small his choice did not matter, provided his partner would hold back the ace.

Opening lead—♦ Q

If South held the ace nothing mattered at all.

A low lead would give declarer an automatic low play if he held the nine so that was out and it was up to East to choose between the ten and the jack. He selected the ten on the theory that a false card play was more likely to work than the natural one.

It worked all right. South went into a long huddle and finally came to the conclusion that the ten spot was the higher card of a doubleton. He played the king and when West took his ace and returned the suit South was doomed to defeat.

While credit is due East for his deceptive lead, I feel that South should not have fallen for the play. If East held a doubleton club West would have held five of the suit and probably would have chosen to take a save at five diamonds against the vulnerable game contract.

$2,500,000 Apartments Project Set

Construction will start in 60 to 90 days on 206 de luxe, plaza-type apartment units in Lakewood, the deterday).

Boyar Investment Co., the developing firm, reports the project will cost in excess of $2,500,000.

The apartments will be located on the north side of Del Amo Blvd. just west of Lakewood Center. Edward H. Fickett, A.I.A. is the architect.

LESS THAN 30 per cent of the eight-acre tract will be occupied by buildings, permitting extensive landscaping and beautification, the firm said. A dead-end street leading into the tract will give easy access to the apartments, while eliminating all through traffic.

Entrance to garages will be from roadways on three sides of the tract. There will be 259 off-street parking spaces.

The 206 apartments will be mostly two-bedroom units, with some single and some three-bedroom units planned.

Wall St. Overlooks Big Bright Spot

By ELMER C. WALZER

NEW YORK (UP) — Wall Street, which has been looking all around for recovery spots, missed one right at the tip of its own figurative nose.

That bright spot is Wall Street itself.

There are two reasons coming from the stock market. Trading is up nearly 10 per cent compared with last year, and secondly, commissions are higher.

These two make for higher income for the brokerage houses which have trimmed down their overhead costs.

Also the market for new issues has been humming along at a good clip and that, too, helps with Wall Street's income. The new issues get "sticky" once in a while, but market men say if they're priced right they sell readily.

The Street isn't resounding with cheers even if business is good. The problem is, will it stay good. If it doesn't the financial community — always a feast or famine economy — will go back to famine days.

This is why the Wall Street houses aren't building up giant staffs because business is good. There's more efficiency, tighter working schedules, close economy.

Hence, if the year goes along at a fast clip, there'll be a good prospect for bonuses for the employes. The pickings in bonuses were mighty slim at the 1957 year-end.

Right now, market experts say the list looks tired, and many of them wonder if the market can hold up. They are particularly worried over the recent strength in the so-called cyclical stocks which Standard & Poor's says "could easily turn out to be a premature policy of general bullishness."

However, the statisticians just couldn't resist projecting the sales volume for the remainder of 1958.

They took the volume for a week ago when the daily average sales amounted to 2,820,762 shares. On that basis for the remaining 156 trading days, the total transactions for 1958 would come to 662,252,932 shares.

And that total would be the best for any year since 1930 when the volume was $10,632,546 shares. There were only two years bigger than the 1930 total—1929 when sales crossed a billion shares, and 1928.

The 662 million plus shares projected for 1958 by the pencil pushers is only 14 per cent of the 4,852 million shares listed. That would be the best only since 1954 when the turnover was 19 per cent of the then 2,927 million listed shares.

Back in 1930 when the average of shares listed totaled 1,212,238,474 shares, the turnover was 67 per cent. In 1929 when sales totaled 1,124,800,410 shares, the turnover was 119 per cent of the 942,492,073 average shares listed.

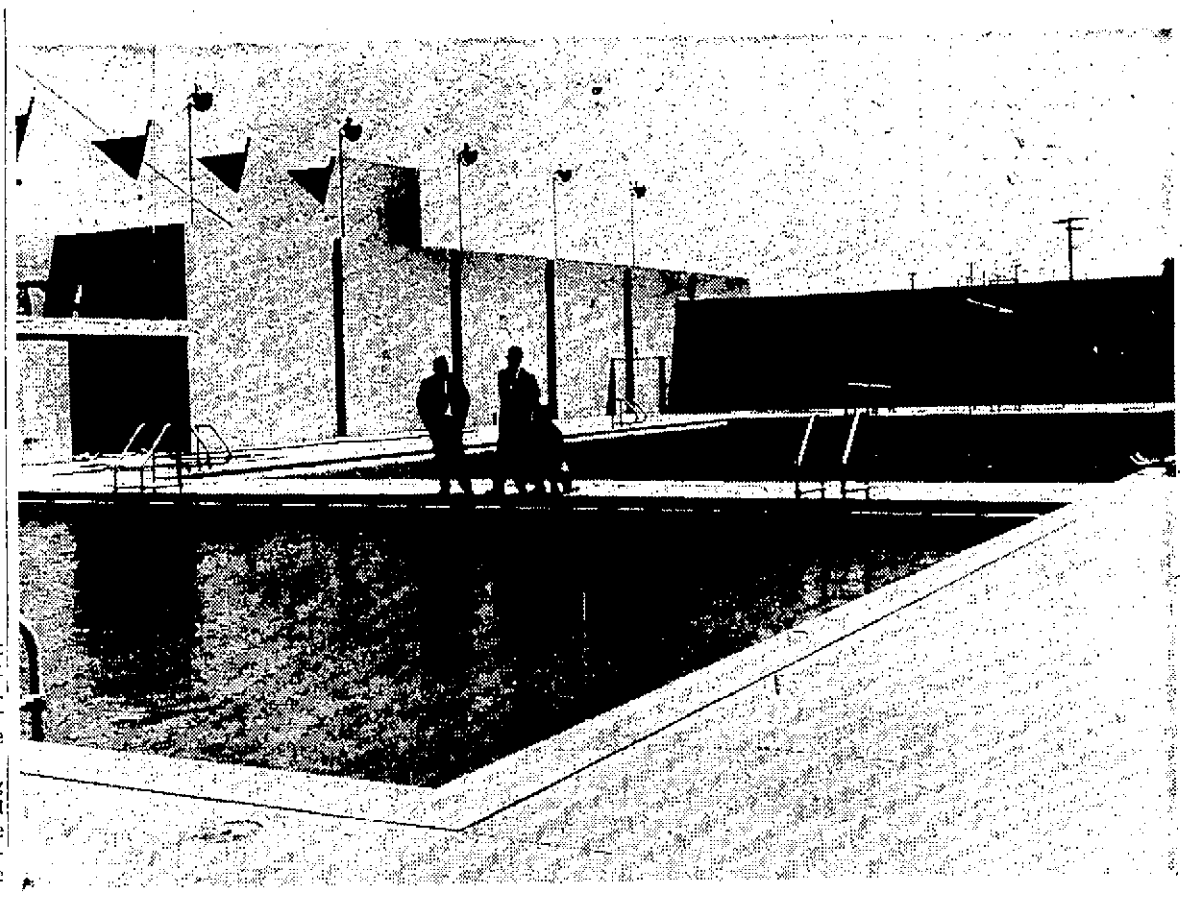

Clubs Set Joint Dinner Meeting

Plans for a joint dinner meeting of their respective organizations were announced Saturday by Iline Peters, president of Real-ette Toastmistress Club and Henry Arras, president of Beach City Toastmasters.

Vet Home Costs More Last Year

WASHINGTON (UP) — The cost of homes bought by veterans continued to advance during 1957, Veterans Administration statistics showed today.

Veterans paid an average of $13,800 for the homes they purchased last year under the GI home loan program, administrator Sumner G. Whittier reported. That was $895 more than the $12,905 average in 1956.

The average paid for new GI houses last year was $14,335, compared with $13,390 in 1956. And last year 72 per cent of all GI home loans closed were for new houses. More than 40 per cent of these were in the $12,000 to $15,000 price range.

Used-homes cost an average of $12,100 last year, up only $130 from 1956. Nearly one-third were priced less than $10,000.

A closed-circuit television demonstration will be given in Language Arts 205 by the Speech Dept.

Student demonstrations in ceramics, sculpture and painting will be conducted in the Fine Arts Bldg. Exhibits will be on display throughout the building.

Films of the 1956 Olympic Games will be shown by the Physical Education Dept. from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Gymnastics and wrestling exhibitions will be staged in the gym from 2:30 to 3:45 p.m.

Special exhibits are planned by the library and the Education, Psychology, Industrial Arts and Home Economics Depts.

* * * *

FACULTY MEMBERS will be available for consultation concerning the college's instructional program. Administrative staff members will greet guests in the cafeteria, where refreshments will be served.

The college's initial enrollment of 169 students in 1949 has grown to a figure in excess of 9,000. New buildings continue to rise.

It cost but $125,000 to operate the college its first year.

Plastic Shell Case Produced for Army

WASHINGTON (UP)—A 105-millimeter plastic shell case weighing less than half as much as metal cases has been developed for the Army.

Tube Turns Plastics, Inc., of Louisville, Ky., has been awarded a development contract to produce several hundred of the plastic cases for full-scale firing tests at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground.

In research, the plastic case has withstood gas pressures as high as 35,000 pounds per square inch and a flame temperature of 4,000 degrees F. at the instant of percussion. Weighing only 2½ pounds, the new cases are expected to ease the burden of transporting shells and handling them at gun sites.

REALTORS CAMPAIGN

Map 'Buy Home First' Drive

Long Beach Realtors are making plans to participate with thousands of others throughout the country in a "Buy a Home—First" campaign now being launched by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Larry Miller, president of the Long Beach Board, said the campaign is an intensive effort to tell the public of the value and importance of buying a home first.

Realtors across the nation will promote the slogan through special advertising the various media, display posters, stickers for correspondence and windows, and other means.

* * * *

"A home is the best buy on the market today," Miller said. "Real estate values generally, more than any others hold their own whether it is the day of the declining dollar or the era of hard money. The current home market is probably more favorable to the buyer than in any time in recent history."

Home ownership traditionally has been and will continue to be a sound long-range investment and an excellent hedge against sustained inflationary periods.

Making monthly payments on a home, he noted, is the easiest and surest form of savings for the average family.

* * * *

"THE LONG term nature of home ownership, generally upwards of 20 years, dictates that home purchase should not be deferred because of short term economic uncertainties," Miller said.

"Young couples in particular, whose long range earning potential is bright or stable," he added, "should not be unduly influenced by uncertainties they know or feel are temporary."

The local board president said those who overemphasize the debt obligation of home ownership tend to overlook the fact that in the course of years, the home owner reduces the principal of the mortgage and gains considerably equity. The fluidity of the existing home market usually makes this equity available as cash within a very short time, he noted.

"Next to food, providing for a family's future happiness and security through proper shelter is a man's foremost responsibility. There is no better way of doing this than making a down payment on a home which suits the individual's needs and budget."

Cost Per Plane Pound Going Up

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (UP)—The complexity of high-performance aircraft is reflected in cost per pound. Republic Aviation here reports that a World War II aircraft cost about $10 a pound, by the time of the Korean conflict it had risen to $25, and today's supersonic planes, such as the F-105 fighter-bomber, which Republic is building for the Air Force, average about $50 a pound. Thunderchief jets require 26 times as many engineering hours as did World War II planes

Varied Program for L. B. State Visitors

The operating budget for 1958-59 comes to $4,500,000.

One of the newest buildings on campus is the two-story Music Bldg., erected adjacent to the Little Theatre. Built for $530,000 and equipped at a cost of $135,000, the Music Bldg. was occupied just last February.

The structure is of contemporary design and is built of reinforced concrete and brick. It contains a choral rehearsal room that seats 100, a large band and orchestra rehearsal hall, 11 classrooms, 10 faculty offices, a music library, 30 individual rehearsal rooms and an instrument repair shop.

* * * *

NOT YET OCCUPIED—but open for inspection today—is the one-story Art Bldg., built of brick and metal at a cost of $524,000. Another $92,000 has been spent to equip the building.

The Art Bldg. will be ready for use during the summer session. It contains a gallery, eight faculty offices and seven laboratories—one each for advertising design, lithography, sculpture, theater design, industrial design, elementary school art and general art. Each division has a host of auxiliary laboratories.

Another new building, which will be ready for the summer session, is the $700,000 Men's Gym. It cost $36,000 to equip this building.

The new gym contains an intercollegiate basketball court with three crosscourts. Seating capacity: 2,200. There also is a large multi-purpose room with a dividing partition that can convert it to two rooms for boxing, wrestling or gymnastics classes. Eight faculty offices are available.

* * * *

ADJACENT TO the gym are two outdoor swimming pools. One is of regulation size—for intercollegiate water competition—with a three-meter diving board and a one-meter board. The other is a beginners' pool, four feet deep, for instructional purposes. Both are lighted for night use.

Campus visitors will find three major buildings under construction.

One is a $2,500,000, two-story biological and physical science unit—an addition to the existing $1,500,000 Science Bldg. The addition will be ready for occupancy by February 1959.

Another is a $1,500,000, three-story concrete and brick addition to the library. Scheduled for completion by the fall of 1959, it will give the college six times more library floor space than is available in the present structure.

A third building under construction is a $250,000 Home Economics Bldg. This is a cottage-type, one-story frame and stucco structure located on E. Anaheim Rd. just east of Soroptimist House. Scheduled for use in the spring semester of 1959, it will contain four teaching laboratories, four offices, a living room, dining room and patio area.

* * * *

APPROVED FOR construction in the 1958-59 budget are these buildings:

Classroom Bldg. and Faculty Office Bldg., to be built jointly at a cost of $1,500,000. Will provide about 50 classrooms and 100 offices. Construction of the three-story structures shoud begin by July 1 with occupancy by September 1959.

Men's Dormitory and Women's Dormitory, each to accommodate 200 persons. The three-story structures will be located north of E. Anaheim Rd and will cost $1,700,000. Should be ready by fall of 1959.

Industrial Arts Bldg., a single-story structure on Lower Campus. Will include shops and offices. Cost: $1,000,000. Construction to begin by Jan. 1, 1959, with occupancy by January 1960.

* * * *

COLLEGE OFFICIALS hope to obtain funds from the 1959-60 budget to erect an Engineering Bldg.

By 1965 at least 14,300 full-time students are expected at State. Total enrollment that year probably will exceed 18,000. By 1968 college officials expect 20,200 full-time students and a total enrollment of 25,000.

METER-HOGS

Judge Nicks Space Grabbers

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP)—City Court Judge Walter J. Relihan is at war with the so-called meter-feeders.

A $5 fine is the penalty for motorists who insist on slipping additional coins in parking meters here to permit the use of the same space for long periods.

Offenders are issued yellow tags which require their appearance in court. However, they are not compelled to face Judge Relihan and fines may be paid to court clerks.

According to the judge, the "parking meters are designed to keep motorists moving, and to give everyone a chance to park and shop."

New Car Inventories Dwindling

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry appears to be winning one of its major problems—the burden of top-heavy inventories.

In two months the stock of new cars in dealers' hands has been cut by more than 88,000 (T) units. Production schedules for May have been tightened and there will be a further reduction of unsold units when they are counted again on June 1.

The most recent tabulation shows the retailers had 777,445 new cars in stock or storage on May 1. The high for the year to date was 865,566 units on March 1. The industry's record high was 903,789 cars on hand on March 1, 1956.

* * * *

RETAIL SALES have fluctuated in recent weeks; unofficial surveys indicate April deliveries exceeded those of March by perhaps 25,000 units. If the figure is correct April sales amounted to about 425,000 (T) units.

But there has been no return to the traditional spring upsurge. The sales chiefs have about given up hope that there will be any seasonal increase of substantial size. And the car makers are not counting upon a production upturn in the weeks immediately ahead that would end recurring plant shutdowns.

The inventory-reduction effort is gearing output to demand more closely than ever before in industry history. Its success means there will be few, if any, giveaway schemes to speed up sales at the model year end.

* * * *

THE INDUSTRY has numerous sales incentive programs in operation. Ordinarily these campaigns would wait until the model year neared its end. In most instances the contests provide bonuses of varying amounts for sales above a preset minimum. In others there are prepaid vacation trips for salesmen.

There also are some contests in which additional bonuses are given for sales in which the tradein car is that of a competitor. The industry calls these conquest sales—winning a customer from a competitor.

If the unofficial computations are about correct more than 91,000 imported cars have been bought in this year's January-April period. That is almost double the total of comparable 1957.

* * * *

CHEVROLET is tightening its hold on the industry's No. 1 spot in production and retail sales. It built 442,141 cars in this year's first four months. Its sales for the same period came to about 421,500 units.

Ford division, which ousted Chevrolet from top place in 1957, built 358,282 cars in this year's January-April period. Its sales for the same period amounted to about 328,000 units.

In the first four months of last year Chevrolet built 536,314 cars and sold more than 460,000. Ford division built 561,454 units and sold more than 492,000.

MESA VERDE MODEL . . . Open Daily

Mesa Verde Rich in Historical Background

People moving into Mesa Verde, planned community in Costa Mesa, will be living on land rich in historical background.

Mesa Verde, overlooking the Pacific Ocean, has a romantic past linked to Father Junipero Serra and the Juaninian Indians, named after the mission San Juan Capistrano. A small adobe hut still stands on Mesa Verde. It is reputedly the hut where Father Serra stopped over on his journies.

NEARBY INDUSTRY, schools, churches, shopping and Disneyland and other recreational areas were taken into consideration in planning Mesa Verde.

An interesting feature of the planned community is the Mesa Verde Country Club Golf Course to open early in October.

Walter Gaynor, spokesman for Mesa Verde, said 50 per cent of the first unit is 50 per cent sold and plans for the second unit are near completion.

* * * *

NO DOWN payment and $195 moves in non-vets and low GI terms are available for veterans.

Models are open daily and illustrate typical Mesa Verde features as large kitchens and bathrooms, open-air plans, built-in ovens and ranges, garbage disposals and forced air heating.

Models and playground may be reached easily by taking the Santa Ana Freeway to Harbor Blvd., then south to the sign of the Golfer.

Mesa Verde can be reached from beach areas by following the Coast Highway to the Costa Mesa turnoff.

New Low Terms at Bolsa No. 2

New non-veteran terms of $100 down plus $90 costs are offered on $11,850 homes at Bolsa Gardens No. 2.

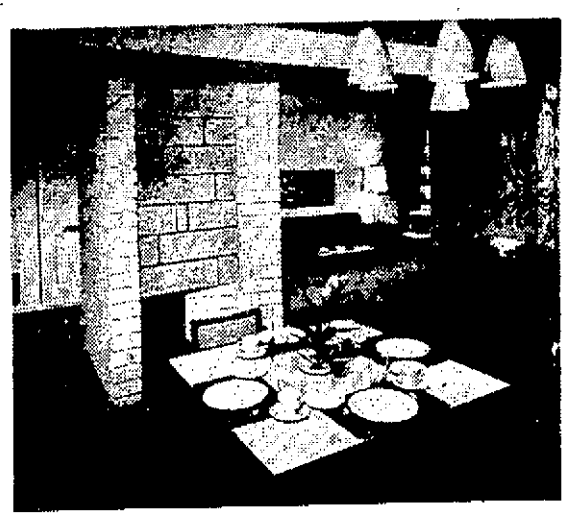

Gilbert J. Hayes, sales agent, said these three-bedroom and family room homes with 1½ and 2 baths are fully equipped with wall-to-wall carpeting, drapes and curtains and ready for occupancy. Lawns are planted.

Nine different styles of exterior elevations offer a variety of contemporary designs, including large modern windows.

The development is south of the Santa Ana Freeway. To view these homes, drive out 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Hwy. 39; turn right to Bolsa, left on Bolsa to the model homes.

Japan Hits Proposed Salmon Ban

TOKYO (AP) — An official of Japan's fishing industry declared that an American proposal to ban importation of salmon caught in the North Pacific "is equal to a ban on all Japanese salmon."

Kenjiro Nishimura, deputy chief of the government's fishery agency, indicated that a sectional import ban would spread to a total one, because it would be impossible to tell where a canned salmon was caught.

U. S. Rep. Thomas M. Pelly (R-Wash) said Monday he would press for congressional approval of a bill against salmon netted in the North Pacific by Japanese.

Japan has already placed a voluntary restriction of 11 million on its salmon fishing this year, a figure which Pelly claimed was so big it could have "fatal results" in the Bristol Bay area.

"Eleven million is half of last year's catch," said Nishimura.

Station Wagon Week Opens

Long Beach Dealers Display New Models

By ART STEPHAN
Press-Telegram Automotive Editor

Station wagons are as much a part of Southland living today as the barbecue and patio. You just are not enjoying life in its fullest without one.

While the sales of station wagons over the nation are showing a good increase each year, Southern California paces the world in the purchase of the roomy comfortable suburban cars.

May 25 through May 31 is "Station Wagon Week" in Long Beach and the local new car agencies will be featuring displays of the many types of station wagons.

Only a few years ago the station wagon was a luxury car for the estate-class of home. It then was a beautiful body which combined wood panel and metal. The car was used to go to the station to meet guests and escort them to the rural estate for the week end.

• • • •

NOW THE WAGONS come in the finest of metal designs and are within reach of nearly every family budget. Of course, the luxury models are still carrying a luxury price because they are powered with the biggest motors and contain rich upholstering and fittings.

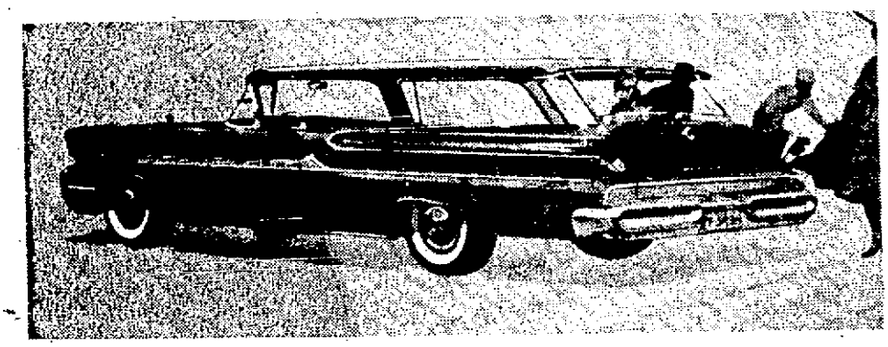

But, the average family can have just as much fun and enjoy a vacation trip in a lower cost model as those in the luxury class.

One of the greatest advantages of the modern station wagon is the way it combines the advantages of a pickup truck with the comfort of a sedan

BUICK ESTATE WAGON IS PRACTICAL BEAUTY
The dashing Buick Estate Wagon shows a smart combination of classic lines and roomy interior. The Estate Wagon and the Buick Caballero station wagon are on display at the showrooms of Campbell Buick, Long Beach dealership.

STUDEBAKER SCOTSMAN THRIFTY PERFORMER

Here is what Studebaker officials say is today's lowest-price, full-size station wagon—the 1958 Studebaker Scotsman. Produced as a six-passenger wagon, the Scotsman can be converted in a few minutes to a closed delivery van, or by the addition of a rear seat, to a nine-passenger station wagon. According to Bob James, Studebaker-Packard dealer at 1350 American Ave., the Scotsman will get up to 27 miles per gallon and delivers in Long Beach for $2,198.

FORD'S PREDICTION

Ford Motor Co. stylists believe seating in station wagons of the future will be much different than in current models, possibly with passengers seated in a semi-circular lounge to the rear of the driver.

Big Changes in Station Wagons Are Foreseen

As the leading producer of station wagons in the United States, Ford Motor Co. stylists are interested in what changes will be made in tomorrow's models.

Along with lounge-type seating they foresee the possibility of sliding or roll-top roofs made from aluminum or plastic and swing-up sides for easy entry and exit, bunks, tables, a living room on wheels and built-in television, cooking facilities and plumbing.

Recommend Light Touch for New Car

If you're the proud owner of a shiny new car, or even a not-so-new car, the National Automobile Club advises you that you can keep your car in tip-top shape by practicing the light touch in your driving.

It's the light touch that does it. It's the light touch that will use your power to propel your car safely and secenely along the highway.

The heavy touch is another story. The heavy touch will work to wrack and strain your car's frame, clutch, transmission, differential, wheels, and tires and make your car old long before its time.

Think about stepping down hard on that accelerator in terms of torque or the twisting power of your motor. Modern motors have a high twisting power and the car's parts are built to handle this power. But step on the accelerator too vigorously and the torque goes up slowly with the car's parts easily absorbing the strain.

Think, too, of stepping on the accelerator in terms of what it does to your brakes. More fast starts and high speeds mean more violent braking. It's violent braking that will wear down your linings and wear the rubber from your tires.

And don't be heavy handed with the steering wheel. Twist and spin that wheel violently and sharply when turning. You'll put strain on the entire steering system and wear more rubber from your front tires.

It's the light touch that does it. It's the light touch that will help to keep your new car young. How are you when you drive? Do you have the light touch?

Traffic Deaths

More than 21 per cent of 1957 United States highway deaths occurred on Saturdays, reports the National Automobile Club.

Traffic Accidents

The annual cost of traffic accidents in the United States averages around five billion dollars, according to the National Automobile Club.

$500 Prize Awarded Salesman

Jimmy Zecchini, salesman in the Winston Head, Inc., dealership in San Bernardino, is the winner of the $500 Triumph Topper prize for outstanding sedan salesmanship in the Southern California territory, it is announced by Dorothy Deen, executive vice president of Cal Sales, western importer-distributor.

Zecchini had a score of over 90 per cent in the Triumph Topper contest for salesmanship and successfully presented 23 of the 26 unique features of the Triumph sedan. He also scored above 90 per cent on 33 general points of effective salesmanship.

Winston Head will be presented with a special plaque by Miss Deen to mark his sponsorship of the top Triumph salesman in Southern California.

Cops Fined When They Litter Hwy.

Our Pacific Slope seems to have its full measure of public-minded citizens.

Recently, according to the National Automobile Club, a traffic officer stopped two of them for infringement of some minor traffic law, wrote them out a ticket, and tossed the carbon paper down on the highway.

Our public-minded citizens then made a citizen's arrest for littering, easily convinced the judge that they had a case, and the judge slapped a fine on the offending officer.

Public minded? Revenge minded? Whatever their motive, they did a little something to help keep our highways clean.

Remember Spare

When the service station man is putting air in your tires, remind him not to forget the spare locked in the trunk. Two flat tires can be distressing.

RAMBLER STATION WAGON

The 1958 Rambler Cross Country station wagon continues to feature the popular notched roof with chrome travel rack and roll down rear window. Severin Motors is the Long Beach Rambler dealer.

DODGE SOLVES PROBLEM

Spare tire stowage is no problem on the 1958 Dodge Sierra station wagon. The spare is tucked away in a well in the right rear fender. The Sierra is on display at local dealer Glenn E. Thomas.

Chapin Says Rambler to Push Models

Station wagon popularity, which already has reached levels not thought possible a decade ago, is continuing to grow, according to Roy D. Chapin Jr., executive vice president of American Motors Corporation and general manager of its Automotive division.

Chapin predicted that station wagons will account for almost 20 per cent of all car sales in 1958, compared with only 1.4 per cent in 1940. At the same time, he added that American Motors gives even more emphasis to station wagns than do other auto makers.

In the 1958 model year, almost 50 per cent of Rambler sales will be station wagons, he said.

CHEVROLET NOMAD STATION WAGON
The famous Nomad is but one of the "Winsome" station wagons now displayed by Cormier Chevrolet, Beach City Chevrolet, Harbor Chevrolet and Parkwood Chevrolet during "Station Wagon WeeK."

Chevrolet Has New Winsome Models

"Chevrolet's 1958 models are putting more and more people in a station wagon mood," says Chet Henson of Harbor Chevrolet, a spokesman for the Long Beach Chevrolet dealer group. He believes that the current sales trend toward wagons of all makes and models reflects customers' dual desire for practicality and beauty.

This year, Chevrolet boasts five distinctive models to fill customer desires, no matter how diverse. Five live-wire wagons—2- or 4-door, 6 or 9-passenger, and real station wagons to the core, with large tires, safety-girder frame, and smooth-flexing heavy-duty coil springs at all four wheels.

All Chevy wagons offer a full 88 cubic feet of load space with the deck cleared for gear. Easy loading may be achieved with any size load.

PLYMOUTH SUBURBAN STATION WAGON
Plymouth now offers 14 station wagon models including the new deluxe Suburban shown above. The Suburban is as large as any station wagon, regardless of cost.

FIRESTONE'S NEW RUBBER-X
Bert Sewell, manager of the Firsetone Store at 7th St. and Locust Ave., displays the new Firestone tires made from Rubber-X, said to be the longest wearing material used in tires.

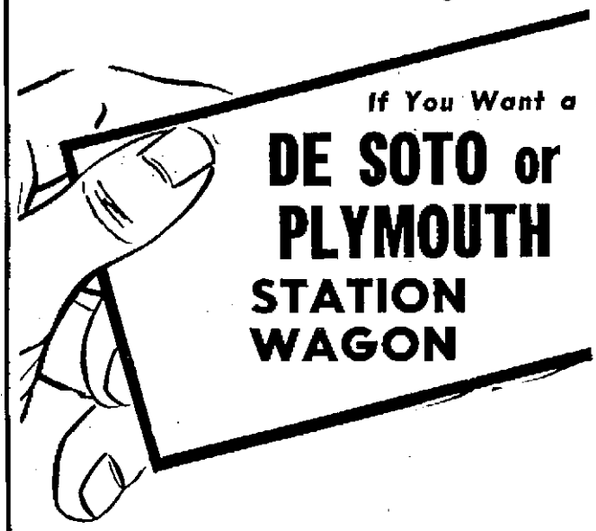

Plymouth Travel Case Pleases All

Choosing a new car to suit travel needs is becoming as much a part of family vacation planning as cross-state and mountain trips. Evidence of this is the fact that more than one out of every four Plymouth buyers are choosing the Plymouth station wagon for travel comfort as well as the everyday uses, says Bob McClure, local Plymouth dealer of 5105 Atlantic Ave.

Plymouth's "forward-Look" styling makes its Surburban popular in all family circles. Its roominess, which is not excelled by station wagons in any price range, provides pullman comfort and the spaciousness for all purposes, even on camping trips, McClure observes.

With the fishing season approaching, fisherman all over are finding their station wagons ideal for carrying equipment right in the 100-cubic-foot cargo area. The full-level 10-foot loading deck can be made into a comfortable bed by using Plymouth's special mattress.

New Tire Is Evolved by Firestone

Firestone scientists and engineers have taken a long step into the future to develop Firestone Rubber-X, Bert Sewell, manager of the Firestone Store at 7th and Locust Ave., claims.

Sewell said:

"It is a dramatic Firestone development in the evolution of tire rubber.

"It's the longest wearing material used in tires and its road gripping ability increases driving safety.

"After many months of testing this superiority has been proven.

"A radically new kind of tire rubber, it resists abrasions and wear like no other tire material.

"But this is not the only good news about Firestone Rubber-X.

"Due to new and exclusive Firestone formulas for rubber, you can get unmatched protection against punctures, blowouts and skidding.

"Firestone Rubber-X absorbs road shocks with amazing softness.

"Because this revolutionary tire material resists cracking and aging, tires with Firestone Rubber-X will outlast and outrun previous tires.

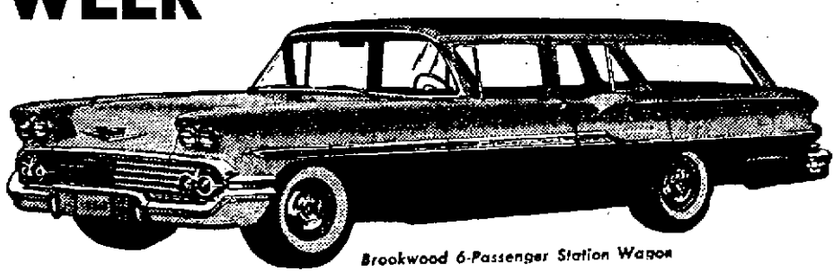

Two or More Cars

More than one in every six families owning automobiles has two or more cars, according to the National Automobile Club. In 1948 the ratio was less than one in 20.

LONG BEACH, CALIF. .....MAY 25, 1958

OUR COVER

Scenic beauty abounds on Santa Catalina, and everywhere provision is made for the visitor who tarries there to have fun. The island for generations has lured mainlanders across the channel from Long Beach to swim, fish, hunt, skin dive, go boating or hiking or riding, to dance and dine, or just plain loaf in the sun. This peaceful seaside view is part of a walkway linking the St. Catherine Hotel with Avalon's famous Casino (background) and Avalon itself, and is a favorite retreat of Avalon regulars for a brisk walk in early morning or a leisurely stroll when the moon is high. Novel lanterns light the way by night and cast intriguing shadows for those who pass this way. Catalina can be reached by ship or plane and offers attractions for a day, a week, or an entire vacation. Buses ashore and boats afloat provide interesting tours; even a peek below the waves at a world of fabulous beauty that surrounds this tiny gem of the Pacific.

They 'Retired' to Go to Work

By FRED J. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

AT MOST U. S. colleges and universities, professors approaching their mid-60s are headed for imminent retirement —voluntary or otherwise.

Not so at the University of California's Hastings College of Law in San Francisco. Here 65 is the minimum age for the faculty of 12 full-time professors. The oldest member is 82.

This "65 Club," as it's known, started under the pressure of circumstance in 1940 but blossomed into an established institution that pleases faculty and students alike.

The elderly professors, forced into retirement at other schools, welcome the opportunity to pro-

Boy (Dog) Meets Girl (Cat)

"Well," says he. "What a funny looking little runt. G-r-r-r. . . . Scat!"
"Why, you big oaf!" says she. "I'll just teach you a thing or two!"

"So-o-o, that's your game!" says he. "Gonna swipe my blanket, eh?"
"Big goof," says she. "All I want is just to be friendly and play!"

Big Boy (he's a dog and what a hunk of dog!) had things all his own way at home. That is, he did until Little Girl arrived (she's a cat—and what a kitten!). They met, and Big Boy took a pretty dim view of sharing his house and home with—a cat! But feminine wiles and frisky antics can soften hearts, even of dogs—and Big Boy is a soft-hearted, good-natured old fellow beneath all his big, gruff exterior. Little Girl soon had him eating out of her hand . . . er, paw, as the saying goes. And she'll be eating out of his dinner dish, next thing he knows. Just like a woman! Ingratiate, then appropriate! (Oh, come now, ladies. We men like it that way; or, at least, you make us think we do.)

"Wotcha s'pose she's up to now?" says he.
"Ha-ha-ha, you can't catch me!" says she.

"Well, well! Just want to play!" says he.
"Certainly, Oaf! Let's have fun!" says she.

"I'll have to admit, she ain't such a bad little pal. Guess I'll have to look after her!" says he. "Wonderful, Big Sweetie! I'm going to like it here," says she.

"Man with the Donkey" in Melbourne pays tribute to courageous Australian soldier.

Gen. Grant is memorialized by this statue in the Vicksburg National Military Park.

A Day the World Remembers

By Maymie R. Krythe

AGAIN the nation observes Memorial Day by paying tribute to our war dead.

It was just after the War Between the States that the custom began in our country. Several different persons and places claim the honor of starting what was called for many years "Decoration Day"—now Memorial Day.

However, the most acclaimed incident (and the one responsible for the poem, "The Blue and the Gray") took place in Columbus, Miss., on April 26, 1866. After the Battle of Shiloh, about 1,500 Confederates and 100 Union soldiers were buried in an 18-acre tract that had earlier been used as a recreation ground for the Odd Fellows of Columbus.

WHEN WOMEN arrived to decorate the soldiers' graves, they decided to forget the past; they also laid flowers on the resting places of the Northern soldiers. Horace Greeley, in the New York Tribune, honored these women for this act, saying:

". . . the women of Columbus, Miss., have shown themselves impartial in their offerings made in memory of the dead. They strewed flowers alike on the graves of the Confederate and of the National soldiers."

And a young lawyer, Francis Miles Finch, was so impressed by the deed that he wrote "The Blue and the Gray" with these unforgettable words:

"Sadly, but not with upbraiding
The generous deed was done:
In the storm of the years that are fading,
No braver battle was won;
Under the sod and the dew,
Under the blossoms, the Blue,
Under the garlands, the Gray."

The idea of a special day to honor war heroes soon spread. In May 1868 Gen. John Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, chose May 30 as the date. So the nationwide observance began.

Memorial customs are ancient and worldwide. Many centuries ago the Druids in Northern Europe observed it, as did the early Greeks and Romans. The Italians, on All Souls' Day, decorate tombs of relatives and friends.

NOW THAT AMERICANS have fought in two great World Wars, and thousands of them lie buried in foreign soil, each Memorial Day services are held in their memory around the globe. They take place in national cemeteries in the United States, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, in military cemeteries in England, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Holland, Italy, Japan, Korea, the Philippines and various South Pacific islands.

The United States is not alone in honoring war dead. Great arches, such as in Paris, with the eternal flame below it, the Cenotaph in London, and other fitting memorials are evidence.

IN MELBOURNE, Australia, there is a distinctive Shrine of Remembrance, and nearby the 1939-1945 War Memorial.

Not far away is an unforgettable statue—a bronze replica showing a tall Aussie soldier, with head up, walking beside a donkey that carries a wounded comrade. The memorial was erected in 1935 by grateful Australians to honor Pvt. John Simpson Kirkpatrick, an Englishman who was in Australia in 1914 and at once enlisted when World War I involved that country.

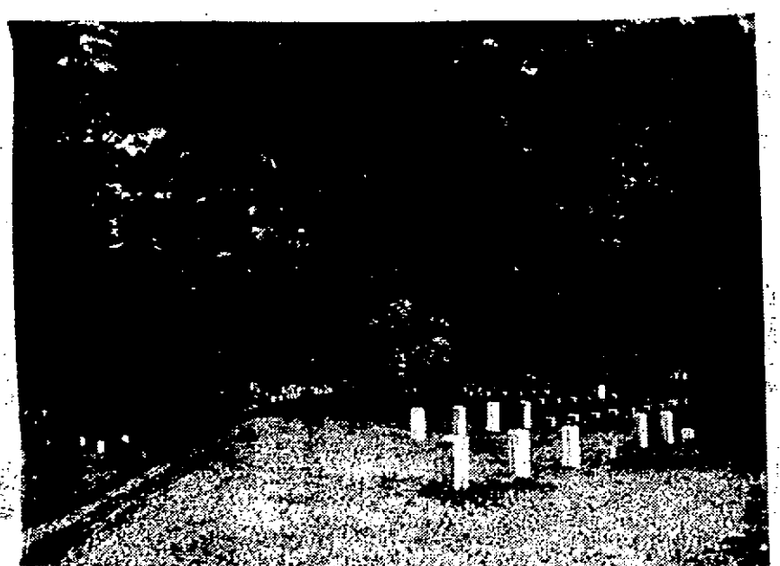

Kirkpatrick was with the men who tried to capture Gallipoli and force the Dardanelles. For nine agonizing months they held on to a narrow foothold. Pvt. Kirkpatrick used his donkey, Murphy, to take injured men down "Shrapnel Valley." After saving many lives, he lost his own, on May 19, 1915, while trying to carry another man to safety.

As Southern California observes Memorial Day, the words of B. Y. Williams in his poem, "I Heard the Drums," seem appropriate:

'I heard the drums this morning—
What scanty price we pay
To gallant ones who gave their lives
To point a better way;
Just memory and roses . . .
Briefly the world has peace!
What is the truth mankind must learn
Before all wars shall cease?"

Illinois Memorial at Vicksburg National Military Park, one of many such shrines throughout the country, pays honor to war dead of U. S.

Graves of Civil War dead at Vicksburg call to mind how observance of Memorial Day began as South decorated Blue and Gray resting places.

It'll Be a Big Year at Catalina!

By Herb Shannon

SOUNDS of the jackhammer and power saw have roused Avalon from its annual hibernation as the picturesque Santa Catalina Island community prepares for what, it is predicted, will be the resort's greatest tourist season.

New apartments and stores, community service facilities and additional transportation services as well as the usual face-lifting operations on existing buildings have occupied the island residents with construction projects for months.

From a new $5,000 72-unit apartment development in the center of town to the $145,000 pile-driving and renovation operation on the steamer piers, the Santa Catalina Island Co. also has contributed to community progress.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE benefit of visitors expected to swell the island's population from the normal 1,600 to 10,000 at the height of the season actually start on the mainland in Long Beach.

Transportation to the island by the fastest and most direct means this year will be boosted by the addition of two new planes to the Avalon Air Transport service from Municipal Airport and Long Beach harbor.

A 46-passenger Sikorsky flying boat operating from Pacific Landing and a new 24-passenger Sikorsky amphibian plane flying from the airport will more than double Avalon Air's passenger capacity from 54 to 115 airborne seats.

The air service will continue to run five nine-passenger Grumman amphibians from airports here, Santa Monica and Burbank, as it has for the past four years. This year the airline expects to transport nearly 100,000 fares on the 17-minute trip direct to Avalon Bay.

OTHER TRANSPORTATION services to augment the Catalina Island Company's steamer from Wilmington will be two new motor vessel runs from Long Beach, including the 225-passenger converted Army vessel "Magic Isle," according to Fred Hochberg, president of the Avalon Chamber of Commerce.

More than 1,000 rooms in apartment developments, hotels and bungalows will be available at prices averaging about $10 for two persons, Hochberg said.

Although this represents slightly fewer rooms than were available in 1957, quality of the accommodations is much higher this year, the chamber official said, thanks to the demolition of the Island Villa area by the Catalina Island Co.

"Removal of the Villa shacks is the biggest thing that ever happened to Avalon," Hochberg said. "They were very undesirable."

Malcolm Renton, resident manager for the Island Co., agrees that elimination of the 350 flimsy cabins on a site once known as Tent City in the center of Avalon was a needed improvement.

"New construction this year has almost equaled the loss of the Villa units," Renton pointed out. "I don't think anyone will miss the cabins."

PACED BY THE St. Catherine and Atwater Hotels, each offering about 150 rooms, rentals will be available at from $7.50 to $20 a day. The higher-priced accommodations include bungalow and cabana units which offer swimming pools and private recreation facilities as added attractions.

Newly redecorated, the St. Catherine Hotel, under the management of Rose and Joe Arno, opened the season as headquarters for the California Cruising Club's fifth annual Catalina predicted log cruise.

Several hundred boats ranging from 12-foot outboards to inboard cabin cruisers bordering on yacht size are participating in the motorboat rally. The season opener is a harbinger of the record-breaking number of small boats expected through the summer.

"We should see at least 10,000," predicts Avalon Mayor Merrill Porter.

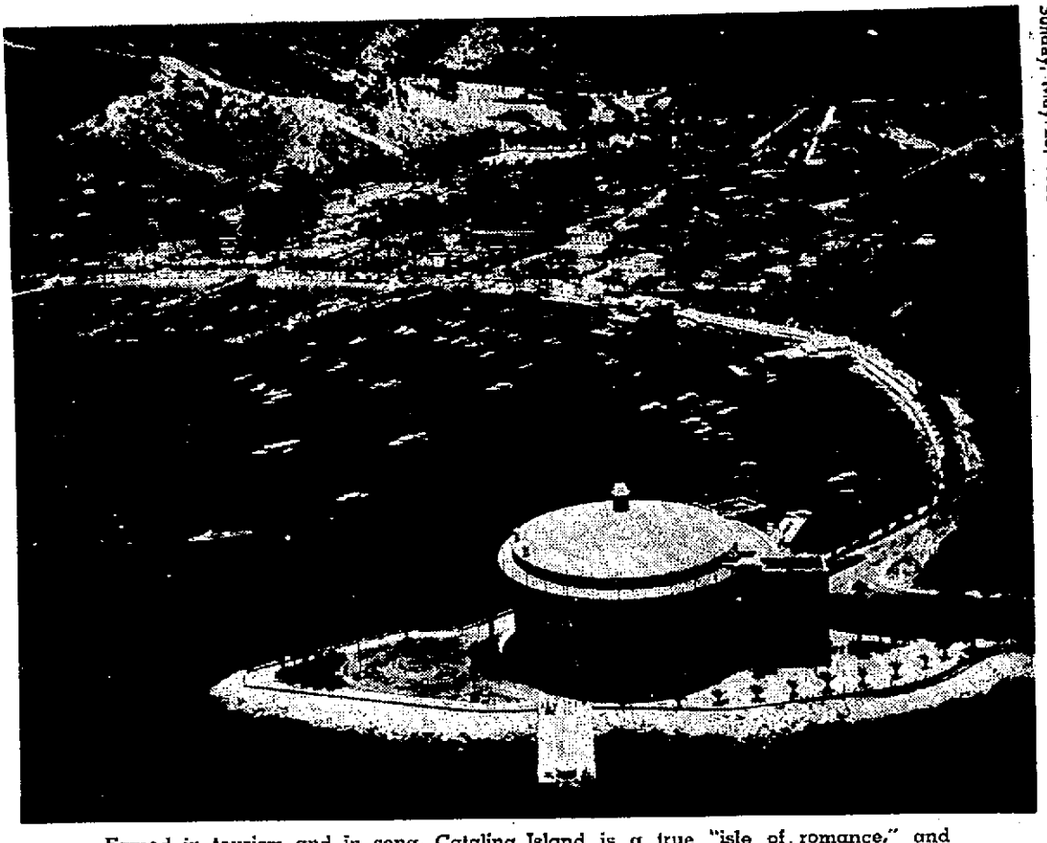

SPECIAL MOORING facilities are planned by Harbormaster Chick Upton to accommodate this boom in small boating. On occasions when organized groups are scheduled to arrive, cables with float lines will be strung from pier to pier to handle up to 600 outboards with existing facilities.

Recent and projected civic improvements which will benefit visitors as well as residents include the new County Fire Station recently completed at a cost of $25,000 and a modern $250,000 hospital for which excavations were recently finished.

The new hospital will not only increase the number of beds available for medical purposes, but will supplant the existing emergency ward in a 60-year-old residence, Mayor Porter pointed out.

Shopping facilities have been expanded and improved by the relocation of the Island Company's Famed in tourism and in song, Catalina Island is a true "isle of romance," and this is Avalon, the center of interest for the thousands who yearly visit there.

Catalina has many sports attractions and this scene on its beautiful golf course indicates one. There are also swimming, boating, fishing, riding—and many more.

grocery and by face-lifting operations on many of the other stores.

"Most people don't realize it until they actually find out for themselves that our shops compete with mainland stores despite the added transportation costs," points out Hochberg, the retailers' spokesman.

CONVENIENCE for shoppers as well as beach enthusiasts was the aim in removing all auto traffic from Crescent St., the beachfront thoroughfare, according to Mayor Porter.

"Now we are pushing back parking barriers on side streets for the same reason," Porter said.

New arrivals at the Catalina Bird Farm, the three-acre aviary open to the public without charge, include a recent shipment of penguins from the Antarctic and cassowaries and other species from Australia, superintendent Ray Estes reports.

The world-famed exhibit featuring more than 350 varieties of rare birds from all over the globe is a prime attraction on the island, along with the birds' second cousins, the flying fish.

The airborne fish which have become the trademark for Catalina have returned to put on their regular performance for visitors aboard the high-speed power boats. Equipped with searchlights, these boats track down the schools of flying fish at night to provide a unique and thrilling sight.

AS IN PAST YEARS, the glass-bottomed boats will provide tours to glimpse the undersea natural gardens, offshore, bus trips inland will take visitors to the summits of the steep Catalina mountains, and the riding stables will offer a wide choice of horse trails for equestrian pleasure.

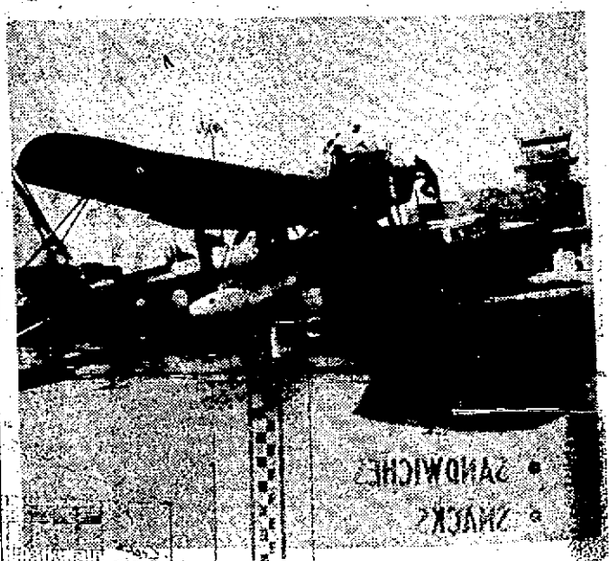

Special evening features sponsored by the City of Avalon for its guests during the season will include square dancing in the streets twice a week, community sing events three times weekly, teenage street dances once a week and name band dancing three nights a week in the Casino.

Avalon city officials, independent business representatives and officers of the Catalina Island Company are pulling together to make 1958 their biggest year.

If preparations are any indication, their goal will be realized.

St. Catherine Hotel is one isle hostelry. New places are available. Unmourned, old "Tent City" is gone.

The Children Like Their Strut

Favorite of children at Catalina Bird Farm, the penguin steals the show as he takes daily stroll.

THE Great Big Moment at the Santa Catalina Island Bird Farm comes at 2 p. m. daily—give or take a few minutes, depending upon when the most children are in the park.

Roy Estes, superintendent of the bird farm, who knows all the birds personally, opens the gate to the penguin cage.

Out strut the four penguins, beautiful black and white fellows from off the coast of South America. The penguins in the lead, Estes behind whishing them along, they parade through the bird park.

Children always are delighted.

In their cage, the penguins splash in their pool and dive for fish. The penguins usually are the children's favorite among the upwards of 500 birds in the park.

Estes taught the 25 mynahs to talk. All talk to some degree. A dozen are good talkers with a string of 20 phrases. They say:

"Goin' to the dance tonight?"

"How'm I doin'?"

"Kitty! . . . Kitty! . . . Kitty!"

The bird farm has two ostriches, three emus, of which two were hatched at the bird farm; two South American condors which have their own built-in oxygen masks, oxygen containers to enable them to fly over the Andes; rhinoceros hornbill from the jungles of Malaya; harlequin hornbill, quite a few peacocks, rhea, cassowary, Japanese dancing cranes, flamingos, and a variety of smaller birds.

Photos by Gene Smith

Penguin trio tours the farm grounds, much to the delight of two young onlookers. Birds were imported from an area off the coast of South America.

Zane Grey's picturesque home high above Avalon, Catalina Island, has been made into motel with pool. Books, other mementos of Grey are found there.

Pueblo on a Catalina Hilltop

REMEMBER the picturesque home of Zane Grey high on a hill at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island? Grey, western and adventure writer, built it in 1923 and lived there until he died in 1939. A good friend of Indians, he built his home to resemble a Hopi village.

After Grey's death, the home went through various hands.

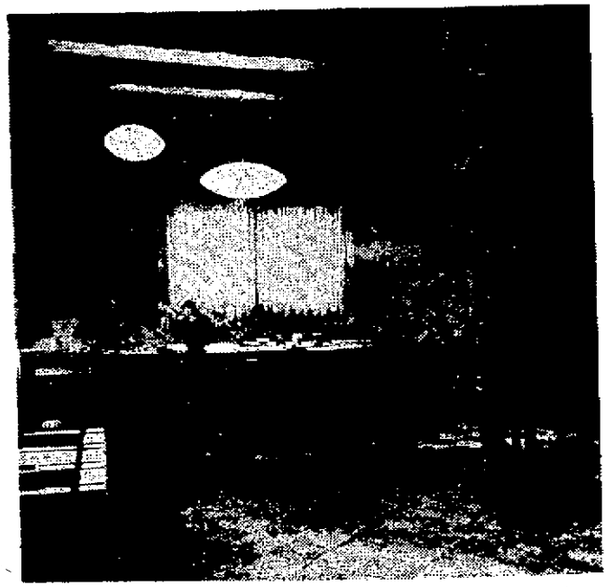

H. T. FRANKLIN bought it, has converted it into a motel and named it the Zane Grey Pueblo. A heated, arrowhead-shaped swimming pool was built in front of the pueblo.

Franklin added new rooms, redecorated the place in keeping with the Zane Grey tradition. The pueblo has 17 rooms, each named for a Zane Grey book. The honeymoon suite, for instance, which has a large window overlooking Avalon Harbor, is called "Desert Gold." The suite once was Zane Grey's study. The kitchen is the "Hash Knife Outfit" and the office is "The Thundering Herd."

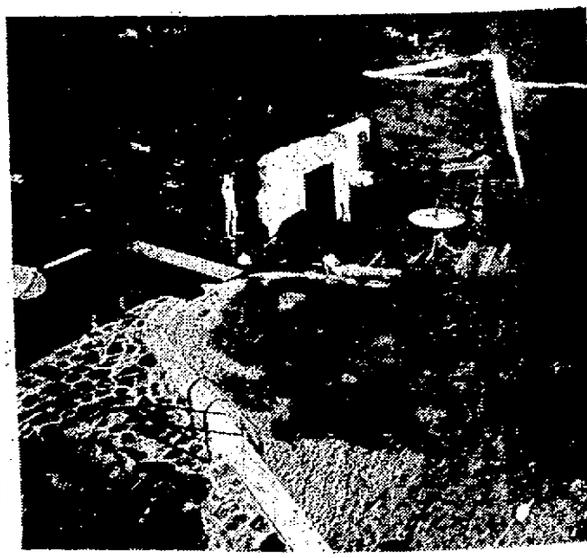

A library contains Zane Grey's books.

VISITORS ALWAYS are interested in a long, rugged table with benches at which Grey used to entertain his fishing friends.

Miss Midge Quenell, teacher in the Los Angeles Art Center school, painted murals depicting scenes in Grey's books. A large mosaic in the lobby, of mosaic tile and native stone from Pebbly Beach at Santa Catalina Island, depicts five Indian chiefs, friends of Zane Grey. It is also the work of Miss Quenell.

Long, rugged table in the pueblo once was used by the noted writer and fisherman to entertain fishing friends.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Hospitality Porch Graces This Split Level

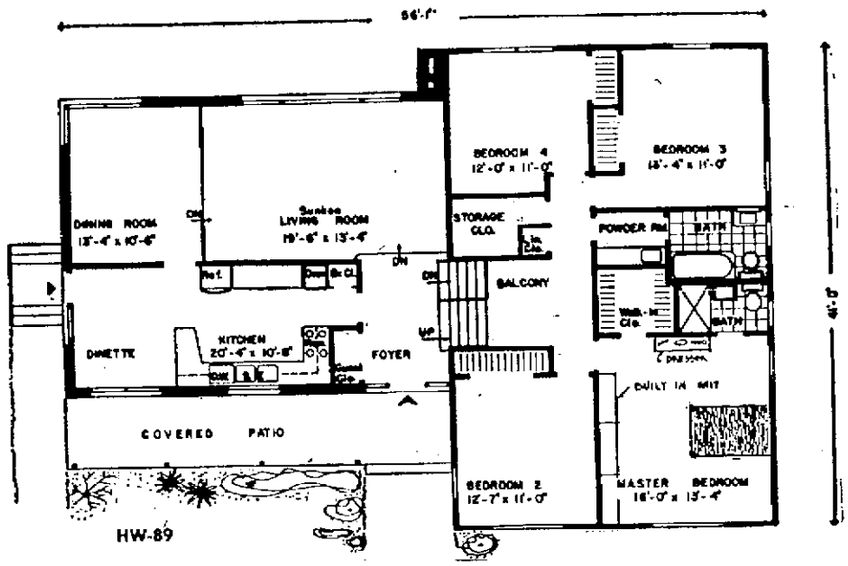

Simplicity and harmonious proportions of this fine American house are shown in this exterior perspective.

By John Wallace

MANY A MIDWESTERNER will find nostalgic satisfaction in this fine American house by an eastern architect.

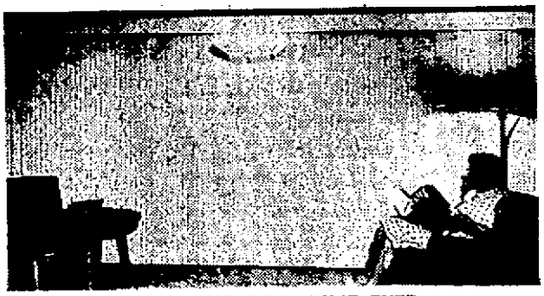

A split level, ticketed as HW-89 in The House of The Week series, it is reminiscent of the two-story farm homes with one story wings and wide front porches that still dot the plains in that part of the country that I come from. Its simplicity and harmonious proportions add to one's good feeling about it.

But don't let appearances fool you. Samuel Paul of Long Island, New York, not only has provided more room than you might expect, but has incorporated in his plan a host of ideas

First floor plan of the house does not show ground level areas, which include open cellar, recreation room, two-car garage, lavatory, laundry.

This interior view of master bedroom looks toward built-in closets and floor-ceiling mirrored wall. Bedroom wing is five steps up from foyer.

that weren't even wild dreams in the long ago days when those comfortable farm homes of which I spoke were constructed.

THE SPLIT LEVEL, actually, is something that developed in the east, only to make its way west and to nearly every part of the country, just as the ranch house has made triumphant conquest of the Atlantic seaboard. Both are distinctly American.

With its antecedents, therefore, Paul's pet design can be called typically American indeed.

You can count it as a nine and a half room house, if you will, with two and a half baths plus recreation or family room. There's lots of space for a good big family. Also, privacy for the parents from rambunctious children.

Living room and bedroom level have 1,840 square feet of floor space, recreation room has 475 square feet and two-car garage, laundry and lavatory, 504. Overall dimensions of the house are 56 feet 1 inch by 41 feet.

LET'S SET FOOT on the hospitable porch, ring the bell and step inside.

Hanging our coats in the cloak closet, we find ourselves in a well lighted and ample foyer that leads directly to nearly every part of the house.

We turn to the left and find an efficient but gracious kitchen with U-shaped installations, two sinks, dishwasher, refrigerator, Built-in oven, counter top range, an abundance of natural wood wall cabinets, floor cabinets and broom closet. There's an eating counter and a space for the woman of the house to do her bookkeeping and phoning.

JUST BEYOND is the breakfast room. A right turn from it and we step into a good sized dining room.

Facing to the right once more, we look across iron ballustrades to the large living room, 19 feet 6 inches by 13 feet 4 inches. Its rear wall, nearly all glass, gives us a fine view of the garden.

Sunken a foot below the level of the rest of this wing, it is thus set off very definitely from dining room and foyer. The sunken floor costs little because the floor simply is framed between the steel beams instead of on top of them.

NOW WE TURN right to make the circuit of the living room wing, step up into the foyer, and then mount five steps to the bedroom wing. Right ahead of us is the door of the powder room, leading to the main bathroom. The master bedroom at the front of the house has another bath, a walk-in closet and a storage wall. Besides three additional bedrooms there is a storage closet, linen closet and balcony.

From the foyer also one descends to a truly enormous recreation room, integrated with an outside terrace to the rear. The garage of course is on this same level, along with laundry and lavatory. The open basement is another five steps down.

And how does the architect feel about all this?

"I attempted," explains Sam Paul, " to portray in the exterior design the quiet, gracious living to which the interior design lends itself. The exterior reflects a simplicity and honesty reminiscent of the early American style. The layout invites maximum living comfort and enjoyment."

To obtain plans, address Building Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 6th & Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif., enclose 35 cents and request House of the Week, Study Plan, Design HW 89.

There's a Lake in Their Lives

Photos by Joe Risinger

Stone fireplace wall extends to form a planter and to provide extra seating, as demonstrated by Mrs. Martin.

Snapshots of favorite Minnesota lake scenes were used in painting mural on family room wall in the Palos Verdes residence of the James Martin family.

By Eileen Ball

NOSTALGIA for the Minnesota lake country was a major influence in the decor of the James H. Martin home, 3712 Via Palomina, Palos Verdes. While Mr. and Mrs. Martin and their teenage son, Jimmy, have been contentedly residing in California for several years, memories frequently carry them back to that quiet countryside where they spent so many happy hours boating and fishing.

Until they moved into their informal 2,000-square-foot home last October, memory alone served to inspire the Martins' imaginary pictures of lakes and woodlands. But now, an extensive mural on the wall of the family-dining area has actually brought a favorite Minnesota lake scene right into their home. Painted by one of the area's well-known portrait artists, Mrs. Zita DuPont Carder, the scene reflects a composite of favorite lake views. In the foreground is a small figure—an appealing likeness of young Jimmy — complete with fishing rod and his pet fox terrier. The mural extends from the dining room into the family room in an exquisite panorama of soft color tones. The scene, viewable from the entry hall, makes an immediate impression on guests — inspiring comment not only for its beauty but for the astonishing manner in which it appears to extend the size of the dining and family areas.

Lower than street level, the Martin's home site has submitted gracefully to some interesting landscaping.

Kitchen and family areas merge over a long mahogany counter which is served by 4 swivel stools.

A LARGE ENTRY, floored in waxed slate, welcomes guests into this home which is unusual in plan and furnishings. Directly opposite the front door, the end of a wide rock wall presents a floor-to-ceiling margin of masonry. Extending from the main body of the masonry into the entry is a low, curved planter of the same stone, holding tropical plants. Integrated into this wall are two fireplaces . . . one of which opens to the living room, the other into the family area.

The entry gains further distinction for the 12-foot vaulted ceiling which it shares with the adjacent family-living area. The driftwood beams are stained to blend subtly with vertical wall panels painted a delicate lavender mist color. (This material has been used in the entry and continues around into the living room to the right).

One level lower than the slate-surfaced entry, the dining area has been carpeted in a delicate heather-blend of beige and face-powder pink wool. The carpet terminates on an angle, where the beige vinyl floor of the family area begins.

AN ASSEMBLY of French provincial furniture in waxed fruitwood furnishes the dining room. Full-length, lined draperies of heather-toned cotton satin are patterned with clusters of pastel peach, lavender and shell pink blossoms. These pastels are repeated in the mural against which stands a handsome sideboard in cherrywood.

Furnishings for the family room strike a more informal key with an overstuffed curved terra cotta-and-black tweed sectional playing a role of major importance. Sided by fruitwood step tables, the sofa faces the diagonal, raised-hearth barbecue-fireplace. Immediately beyond, the kitchen merges with the family room over a long open serving counter of mahogany. Facing this are four swivel bar stools styled like captain's chairs.

Driftwood cabinets fitted with copper hardware characterize the kitchen. A suspended refrigerator and a dishwasher panel have been enameled in copper tone. Counter tops of pale pink and grey marble-patterned plastic lend a soft mauve tone that carries out the prevailing color scheme of the house.

THE KITCHEN FLOOR is an extension of the beige vinyl tile of the family room. Dacron, semi-sheer, sill length draperies lend a striking element of color with giant shadow blocks of pink, maize and charcoal over a background of clear turquoise. Two other outstanding features of the kitchen are a "marble" topped cooking island that stands in the center of the room and an expanse of fieldstone (actually the back wall of the fireplace) that contributes a plane of interesting texture to the breakfast area.

To the right of the entry is the living room. Here, again, is a high, driftwood-beamed ceiling, the height of which is pointed up by the vertical paneling of the inside wall. Standing against it is a sculptured sofa upholstered in the same mauve-toned fabric used for the dining room draperies. Over the sofa hangs an oil portrait of Jimmy Martin by Mrs. Carder who employed many of the room's predominant colors in its background.

ACROSS THE ENTIRE back of the living room is a wall of glass which slides open to the terrace and garden. Used here are heavy antique satin draperies of pale leather color, threaded through with gold lurex. A second oversized, four-sectional sofa curves in a modified "S" contour against the glass wall. It is covered in heavy mauve-colored pure silk pongee. Adding vivid emphasis to the color scheme is a button-back, amythyst-velvet lounge chair.

The end wall of the living room, opposite the fireplace wall, has been papered in a hand-blocked Van Luit mural in grey and taupe accented with lilac and mauve.

The master bedroom, in harmony with the rest of the house, has lilac-toned wool carpet, lavender mist walls and mauve draperies. The guest room is decorated in shades of cocoa-rose and sand. Jimmy's room takes on a more brilliant color plan of turquoise, charcoal and watermelon.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

She Crusades for the Needy

By Irma McCall

IF ALL the women of Long Beach possessed as much desire to help the needy as 84-year-old Mrs. Eva Taylor, 215 Quincy Ave., perhaps today a million more refugees and unfortunates would be properly clothed.

Ten years ago, Mrs. Taylor abandoned hooking rugs for family use. Instead she has collected a small mountain of clothing and considerable money for charity. Friends and neighbors bring her cartons overflowing with bedding and discarded garments, which she thoroughly enjoys sorting. "This warm coat for the Hungarians," she decides, "and this cotton dress for the Navajos, this child's sweater for my orphanage, these tennis shoes for the Salvation Army." She mends, cleans, and sometimes remodels the wearing apparel, especially if it is for her favorite project—the orphanage.

In 1947, Mrs. Taylor read a newspaper account of the Sarah Murphy Orphanage in Rockmart, Ga., a refuge for abandoned Negro children and operated by the daughter of a one-time slave. They seemed to need everything: bedding, clothing, books, toys, candy, money.

Ardent backer of aid for unfortunates, Mrs. Eva Taylor works on clothing for distribution to various agencies.

THE FARMHOUSE shelter of the orphanage burned, ending the life of one baby. Mrs. Taylor redoubled her efforts. At her request, Ralph Edwards of TV program, "It Could Be You," sent a 15-foot freezer to the new brick orphanage. She flew to Georgia to visit the project, where gracious entertainment by white members of the board of directors showed appreciation for the $1,000 and hundreds of garments and miscellaneous items mailed to Rockmart.

Stories of destitute Navajos set her crusading; consequently hundreds of Indians have shivered less this past winter. The tragic plight of Hungarian refugees demanded action. Bags and bags of clean warm clothing arrived at the church collection center. A recent Press-Telegram article detailed special needs of patients at the Metropolitan Hospital in Norwalk: art and handicraft materials, games, ribbons and other items. Within a week Mrs. Taylor was delivering a loaded box to the rehabilitation center of the hospital.

"I find people are happier when they're helping the unfortunate," she declares.

Released as safe by UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT!

New doctor prescribed wonder drug does away with all special diets!

BONDED OFFER!

YOU MUST LOSE UP TO 49 POUNDS OR WE PAY YOU $14.00!

Never before! Now an amazing wonder drug contained in RX-120 available without a prescription! A miracle drug prescribed and tested by thousands of doctors for over 10 years! Take off ugly fat without special diets, without habit-forming drugs, calorie counting, exercise, hunger pangs, massage! Your own doctor can tell you about this great new victory over obesity!

Of all the problems that have baffled medical science, obesity has been one of the toughest to lick! Think of it -- there are 67 million overweight men and women in America and nothing sold without a prescription — until this electrifying discovery... has done any good! Do you wonder why the whole medical profession is enthused about this amazing development that has produced such astonishing results when tried by thousands of doctors... when tested with brilliant success on thousands of patients? Do you wonder why the United States Government was happy to release this formula as SAFE to sell over any drug counter in the United States WITHOUT A PRESCRIPTION? This is tremendous news... news that can change your whole life, lengthen your life span, make you healthier, happier, more active, younger looking... slender and glamorous instead of "matronly."

Yes, RX-120 is the fabulous formula scientists have sought for since Dr. Nooden published his report on obesity back in 1900. Everything offered without a prescription since then has failed miserably—chewing gums, liquids, powders, crackers and hundreds of other so called reducing preparations. You can take your doctor's word for it, the wonder drug in RX-120 does work... it helps you take off up to 49 pounds. The most extensive clinic testing ever devoted to any drug is back of RX-120. There's never been such overwhelming medical evidence, such convincing PROOF! There are no "ifs, ands or buts" with this miracle drug. In fact, we are so positive we will pay you $14.00 if you don't take off up to 49 pounds. Never before has any pharmaceutical company put such a daring guarantee in WRITING! The truth is no one could make such a guarantee because up to now there never has been a wonder drug sold over the counter that does such an amazing job of taking off unattractive excess weight!

HERE'S HOW YOU PROVE IT YOURSELF!

We don't have to tell you all the products you've wasted your money on trying to gain back your youthful figure are either frauds or too dangerous! You know this. Think back—you tried tablets that were supposed to put bulk in your stomach, you nibbled on cookies, ate crackers, swallowed liquid drops, tried chewing gums, ate candies, vitamin mixtures, went nearly out of your mind with calorie counters, pages of special diets! You got nervous, jumpy as a cat on risky drugs that many doctors condemned because of dangerous side effects! You'll be happy to hear all this is a thing of the past! Amazing new RX-120 contains such an advanced wonder drug it makes all other so called reducers old fashioned. RX-120 is an honest product. It really works! It's backed by more medical evidence than any other product ever sold to take off fat! No other effective product has proven so SAFE... that's why the United States Government released it as safe without a prescription in every city and hamlet in 48 states It's true RX-120 will positively take off up to 49 pounds of excess weight caused by overeating or we'll pay you $14.00. There's no doubt about it. Here's one product you don't risk one cent to PROVE! It really works!

Think of it: You must lose 9 pounds in 10 days... 18 pounds in 20 days... 27 pounds in 30 days... and 49 pounds in 8 weeks... or the medicine is FREE. Now here's our unheard of offer—read it carefully. You must lose the minimum number of pounds stated here with RX-120 or we'll give you back every cent you paid for each vial of RX-120 tablets!

Let's make this perfectly clear. If you take RX-120 for 10 days and don't lose at least 9 pounds, we'll send you a check for $3.00. If you don't lose at least 18 pounds in 20 days, we'll send you a check for $5.00. If you don't get rid of at least 27 pounds in 30 days, we'll send you a check for $7.00. If you don't lose at least 49 pounds in only two months, we'll send you a check for $14.00. Did you ever read an offer like this in your life? No—and you NEVER WILL—because only a good product that does everything claimed could be backed by such a guarantee!

PROOF POSITIVE!

You must lose 49 POUNDS in 8 weeks or we'll pay you $14.00	You must lose 27 POUNDS in 30 days or we'll pay you $7.00
You must lose 18 POUNDS in 20 days or we'll pay you $5.00	You must lose 9 POUNDS in 10 days or we'll pay you $3.00

HERE'S HOW RX-120 WORKS!

Unlike other reducing products you may have tried, new RX-120 works on an entirely different principle. It does four amazing things starting the very second you swallow the first tiny tablet—

(1) It depresses your appetite.
(2) It acts on your central nervous system; decreases your desire for food.
(3) It acts in your intestinal tract — fights hunger contractions — telegraphs a "stop signal" to your brain when you're tempted to overeat or indulge in between-meal snacks!
(4) It makes the food you eat stay in your stomach for a longer period.

Just think what this means to you! With this amazingly SAFE formula — that does not have the terrible side effects of other reducing drugs — your body will oxidize fat automatically as you eat less food... excess weight will literally vanish into thin air! Yes, your weight goes down, down, down every single day. The exciting part is you don't have to torture yourself with starvation diets! You don't have to take food supplements, habit forming drugs! You don't have to follow long winded reducing plans! You don't have to bore yourself counting calories! You don't have to exercise, spend miserable hour after hour in reducing salons! A whole new world will open up as you discover you can eat and enjoy the thousands of delicious, nutritious low calorie foods! You will live an active normal life—feel better than you ever did in your life—while you TRIM down to a glamorous figure in days, weeks! For now at last you can get RX-120 containing the new doctor tested wonder drug —without a prescription!

HELPS YOU RETRAIN YOUR EATING HABITS!

Doctors tell us that in most cases you are fat because you overeat. It's as simple as that! You may not realize it but fat people have what amounts to an abnormal craving for food. YOUR appetite is aroused by the VERY smell and sight of certain foods. Be honest now. How many times have you started to reduce only to find you just can't stop or even CUT DOWN between-meal snacks? Over-eating soon becomes a deeply ingrained habit you can't break. "But why do I have this craving for food?" you ask. There are many reasons. Good food and lots of it may have been a family tradition. Some consider rich food a symbol of success.

What can you do about it? The answer has been a difficult problem to solve until the development of the wonder ingredient in RX-120. You know how hard it is to change long established habits. You know self-denial is not easy. You know how almost impossible it is to develop a will power of iron! But with new RX-120 you can change your habits —practically overnight. You can eat less without giving up the foods that taste so good. Down comes caloric intake—off comes excess fat. You don't have to rely on strong will power. You don't have to fight yourself every time you're tempted. Now you can take off that excess weight... without your ever being conscious of it!

GET YOUR RX-120 BEFORE IT IS RELEASED TO DRUG STORES!

Remember, RX-120 is not a diet, not a dull plan or regimen that tells you what to eat! It's not an ordinary dietary supplement—it's a clinically tested, doctor approved medicine that has been PROVED effective when tried on over 2,000 overweight patients!... according to published reports. We'll be glad to send your doctor medical literature. RX-120 has been released as SAFE by the United States Government for sale without a prescription... but supply is limited. It won't be shipped to drug stores until November 15, 1958. But you can order direct from Wilson-Williams Inc., 273 Columbus Ave., Tuckahoe, N. Y.—if you act now! So hurry—order your RX-120 right NOW. Just fill out the coupon today and mail it while you're thinking about it. RX-120 is sent to you on a no risk 10-day trial.

Remember, you must lose 9 pounds in 10 days or we pay you $3.00. You must lose 18 pounds in 20 days or we pay you $5.00. You must take off 27 pounds in 30 days or you get $7.00. You must PROVE you can lose up to 49 pounds in just 8 weeks or we pay you $14.00. You have nothing to lose but ugly fat!

Sew for Summer Fun

By Caroline Coleman

YOU WILL have more money to spend going places if you sew for your summer fun. If you are one of the 40 million American women who make their own clothes, you will want to plan your wardrobe. Now is the best time to get the pick of beautiful new cotton fabrics on the market.

Almost any place you go under the sun, you will be able to use a shirtwaist dress, a cool sun dress, a completely feminine party dress, a shorts outfit, and a pair of slim slacks with a matching jacket. If you make these five basic items for your fun wardrobe, then you can splurge on a really good-looking lightweight coat (essential for traveling anywhere spring and summer) and a beach ensemble. Of course, a really expert seamstress can make the coat and beach ensemble, too.

Shirtwaists are good for many occasions this year.

Today's patterns are as up to date and stylish as the newest ready-to-wear fashions. There are plenty of shirtwaists, since this classic design is good for so many occasions and in all climates. Another style that is currently in vogue is the "no waistline" dress. Some of these dresses are designed to be belted in, but you can choose a pattern for a shift or chemise. The "no waistline" dress and the shift are to be found among "easy-to-make" patterns, a point strictly in their favor.

LOOK FOR A SHORTS pattern that calls for a circle of pleats. Perfect companion for the pleated shorts, which resemble a little skirt, is a round-necked sleeveless blouse. Another good combination for lounging and relaxing is a pair of slim, tapered slacks mated with a loose, boxy jacket. Keep in mind that the jacket can be worn with skirts and the pants with different blouses.

For summer and for sewing, cotton is one of the wisest fabric choices. It is cool and easy to handle, and this year appears in a wider selection of fabrics and alluring colors than ever before.

There are cotton sateens, surahs, crepes, sheer voiles, lawns, batistes, and chiffons in addition to such old favorites as ginghams, broadcloths, and piques. Embroidery is everywhere . . . on the sheers and also on cotton knit, terry, and denim. Prints bloom in floral designs that resemble oil paintings, water colors, or fine etchings. Big bold plaids and oversized geometric patterns are plentiful. Nautical themes are interpreted in the traditional colors of red, white, and blue.

COLORS, IN GENERAL, are muted or bold.

You, of course, want to look cool as well as feel cool. White, green, and blue are your coolest colors, but be sure to choose hues that are strong enough so they do not have a washed-out look. Sharp black and white prints always give a cool, clean appearance.

Buy thread, seam tape, zippers, buttons, and any necessary trim at the same time you purchase your fabric. This will save time and trouble later,

By John Ronson

MILLIONS OF workers labor for Ralph W. Dickenson in his factory in Anaheim . . . yet they punch no time clock, receive no wages and they work 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

How does such an employers' Utopia operate? Dickenson has spent a lifetime learning to run his plant but, even so, he doesn't know how many billions of workers he has—and not entirely how they operate.

Furthermore, the product his workers put out is so mysterious that it cannot be analyzed chemically, and ranchers who use it can tell better what it does than what it is.

THE UNUSUAL FACTORY consists simply of a series of 21 tanks, with a pumping system and a complex variety of cultures that work on carefully-selected plants to make an enzyme-catalyst which aids in the digestive process of the soil. Treated with small amounts of this organic material, many kinds of soil are relieved of their indigestion so quickly that experienced farmers can immediately see changes that have occurred.

For instance, worm activity increases, and soil bacteria multiply usually by about 700 per cent. Soil becomes much more pulverized than before, and water begins to penetrate as hardpan and plow sole disappear.

Roy Langford's orange groves at Redlands are a case in point. Sixty-five acres were situated on extremely tight, heavy loam. The trees in this plot failed to produce fruit for years. Ammonia chemical fertilizer had been applied, thus reducing the yield to a single box of inferior grade oranges to a tree. Few trees would produce fruit that met Sunkist requirements. Furthermore, it took 168 hours of continuous irrigation for water to soak down 3½ feet. On hot summer days the trees often wilted, even under irrigation.

THEN A 10-ACRE test plot was staked off to see whether organic farming could overcome the handicap and damage. For three consecutive years a ton of sludge and 30 gallons of Dickenson's liquid soil food were applied to each acre. Six months after the first application of the organic material the bacteria count in the soil was up 730 per cent. Irrigation water reached the 3½-foot penetration point within 72 hours instead of a week. Orange production zoomed to 4½ boxes for each tree, and the size of the fruit increased.

Dickenson learned to farm the hard way. The 10-acre orange grove he and his son now own has been in the family ever since the Dickensons moved from Iowa to Anaheim. In the late 1920s the trees produced vigorously, but in the 1930s the chemical fertilizer program came into being. Dickenson and his neighbors began to use a pound of spring nitrate to each tree to improve the crop. The first results were deceptively promising, for the grove soon deteriorated.

THEN DICKENSON reverted to using manures and cover crops. He even planted earthworms, which soon disappeared because the ground was too toxic for them to live in. Then, doing some solid thinking, he began independent research, based on the "dust to dust" theory of the Bible. Dickensen went to the sea and to the desert for plants to feed his cultures, for these areas had not been contaminated by man.

As quickly as possible he developed cultures by combining materials and using sunlight and darkness, heat and cold, summer and winter seasons. Molds grew—some white, some black, and others green, red, purple, or gray. Many visiting experts in plant biology have confided to Dickenson, "You're growing cultures here that I've been unable to produce." Almost entirely Dickenson's cultures are clean and odorless.

Earthworms began to multiply in treated soil. Cultures came to life, and vats of liquid began to bubble and froth when Dickenson pumped solutions from one tank to another. A natural demand for the material began to grow locally, and Dickenson had to add more tanks to meet the increasing demand.

Flowers for the Wedding Cake

Three-layer wedding cake is easily made at home and requires no special decorating skill, using flowers.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

JUNE'S traditional wedding days are drawing rapidly near and many a bride is readying her wedding plans—which naturally include a cake.

For the prospective housewife who plans a small wedding, the beauty and charm of detail can make up for what is lacking in pomp and circumstance of a large ceremony.

When only a few relatives and friends are to share the important occasion, the reception and perhaps the ceremony also, may be held at home. More time and personal attention can be given to the arrangements, to the food and service, and, of course, more time can be spent with a few guests than with many.

Happily, too, the wedding cake, which is to feature the wedding breakfast or reception, can be home baked and decorated. It can be something truly delicious and an artistic achievement without benefit of a decofating tube. Here, fluffy white frosting amply piled and swirled is a beautiful cover for the cake, and tiny fresh flowers are even lovelier than any decorator could achieve.

The beautiful, three-layer wedding cake shown with this article has a cherry-almond filling between the layers and serves 20 to 25 persons. It tastes as good as it looks. Here is the recipe:

Wedding Cake

3¾ cups sifted cake flour
4½ tsps. double-acting baking powder
1½ tsps. salt
2¼ cups sugar
¾ cup shortening (part butter)
1½ cups milk
1½ tsps. vanilla
3 eggs, unbeaten
Cherry-Almond filling
Seven-Minute frosting

Measure sifted flour, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together. Stir shortening just to soften. Add dry ingredients, 1 cup milk and the vanilla; mix until all flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes at a low speed of mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add egg and remaining milk and beat 1 minute longer.

Pour batter into three round 9-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool.

Prepare Cherry-Almond filling and spread between layers. Frost top and sides of cake generously with Seven-Minute frosting. Decorate top and base of cake with small fresh flowers.

Cherry-Almond Filling. Combine 1 unbeaten egg white, ¾ cup sugar, dash of salt, ¼ cup water and 1½ teaspoons light corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat 1 minute, or until thoroughly mixed. Then beat constantly over boiling water with sturdy egg beater (or at high speed of electric beater) 4 minutes, or until filling will stand in stiff peaks.

Remove from boiling water. For a very smooth and satiny filling, pour at once into a large bowl. Add ¾ teaspoon vanilla and beat 1 minute, or until thick enough to spread. Fold in ¾ cup chopped toasted blanched almonds, ¼ cup macaroon crumbs, 20 drained chopped maraschino cherries and, if desired, ¼ teaspoon lemon rind.

Seven-Minute Frosting. Combine 2 unbeaten egg whites, 1½ cups sugar, dash of salt, ⅓ cup water and 2 teaspoons light corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat about 1 minute to mix well. Then place over boiling water and beat with sturdy egg beater (or at high speed of electric beater) 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in stiff peaks. Remove from boiling water, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread.

Barbecued Corned Beef on Buns

1 cup cubed cooked corned beef brisket
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons fat
½ cup catsup
¼ cup water
2 teaspoons vinegar
4 split sandwich buns

Pan-fry onion in fat in a heavy skillet. Add corned beef, catsup, water and vinegar. Simmer over low heat about 10 minutes. Serve on buns. Yield, 4 servings.

SERVE WITH: Broiled Grapefruit, Cole Slaw, Relish Tray, Strawberry Pie.

BARBECUED LAMB CHOPS

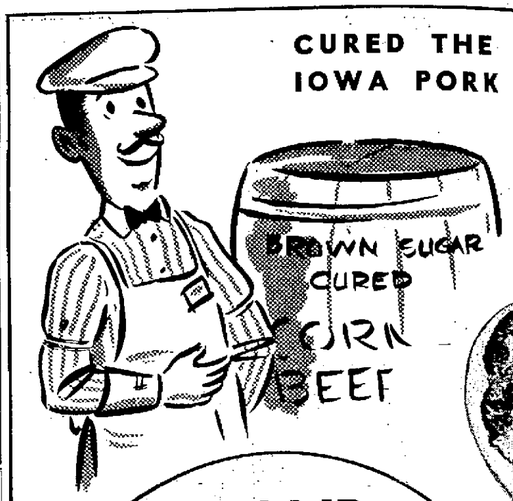

4 Lamb Shoulder Chops (cut ½" thick)
½ Tablespoon Fat
1 Onion, Diced
¼ Cup Vinegar
1 Cup Tomato Juice
2 Tablespoons Brown Sugar
2 Tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce
1 Teaspoon Dry Mustard
½ Cup Water
½ Teaspoon Chili Powder
1 Tablespoon Paprika
½ Teaspoon Cayenne Pepper
½ Cup Catsup

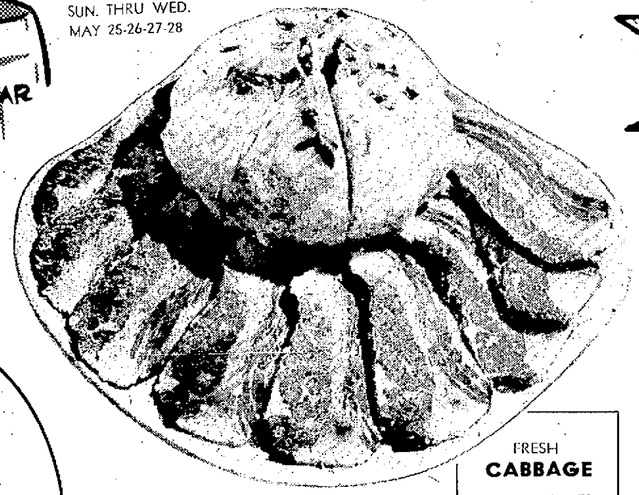

Heat the fat in a heavy skillet. Brown the chops in the hot fat. Remove the chops from the skillet. Add all remaining ingredients to the fat in the skillet and stir and cook until blended, about 2 minutes. Return the lamb chops to the skillet and spoon the barbecue sauce over the chops. Cover and simmer slowly, or bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 1½ hours. Remove the cover and cook 15 minutes more, spooning the sauce over the chops. Serve hot over hot fluffy rice. 4 servings. Cooking time about 1½ hours.

Cabrillo Saw It First

ON OCT. 6, 1542 the Spanish explorer Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, sailing up the coast of what is now California, neared an island that rose precipitously from the sea.

Because the wind was becalmed he could not reach the island that night. But the next day, according to a diary kept by one of those in the party, he "went with the boat on shore to see if there were people there; and as the boat came near, there issued a great quantity of Indians from among the bushes and grass yelling and dancing and making signs that they should come ashore; and they saw that the women were running away, and from the boats they made signs that they should have no fear; and immediately they assumed confidence and laid on the ground their bows and arrows; and they launched a good canoe in the water which held eight or 10 Indians and they came to the ship. They gave them beads and little presents, with which they were delighted, and they presently went away. The Spaniards afterwards went ashore and were secure, they and the Indian women and all."

More than 400 years have passed since that memorable event. Much has happened to Catalina since, but it is all reviewed by Duncan Gleason, an author-artist who loves the island and the sea around it, in "The Islands and Ports of California" (Devin-Adair, $8.50), an exciting new addition to the Californiana shelf.

Gleason opens his book with a concise story of Santa Catalina Island, which Cabrillo originally named San Salvador after one of his ships, and then discusses the other islands off the coast of the Golden State—San Clemente, Santa Barbara, San Nicolas, the Channel Islands, the Anacapas, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa, San Miguel, the Farallones, and Noonday Rock. Part Two of his book is devoted to the ports of California, from San Diego to Humboldt Bay, among them Newport, Balboa, Anaheim Landing, Alamitos Bay, Long Beach, San Pedro, and Redondo Beach.

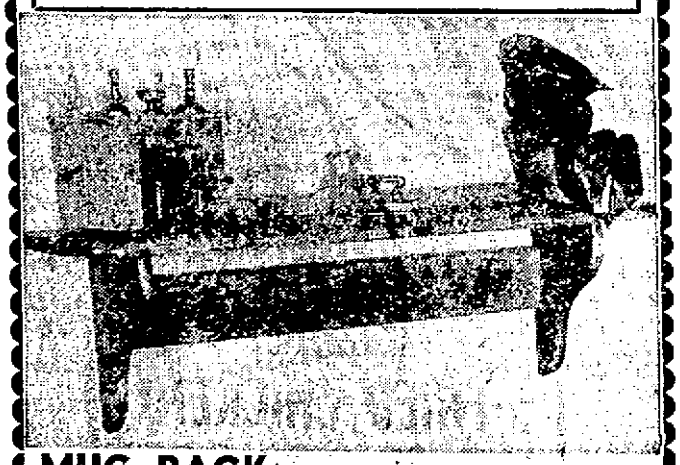

Being an artist as well as author, Gleason intersperses his text with about 70 reproductions of his own paintings and drawings, many of which have appeared in national magazines. Those who get a thrill from California's coastline and the pleasures it affords will treasure this book.

THE CRIME FRONT: A man's fame rides ahead of him, as private eye Michael Shayne learns, when a newspaper account of his exploits and a memo indicating an appointment with the detective are the only traces of identification found on a murder victim in Brett Halliday's "Murder of the Wanton Bride" (Dodd, Mead, $2.95). This, and the fact that red-headed Mike denies knowing the man, naturally gets him into a peck of trouble with police and he works furiously—always but one step ahead of detectives—to solve the case and save his own neck. . . . A threatened paternity suit and a fatal strangling which leads to other unsolved murders are the ingredients Dorothy Salisbury Davis, a Southland author, blends with exciting effect in "A Gentleman Called" (Scribners, $2.95). Returning to do the sleuthing are Mrs. Morris, housekeeper for a lawyer, and Jasper Tully, a special investigator, who worked together so effectively in Mrs. Davis' earlier "Death of an Old Sinner. . . . A girl gets the air from her boy friend, runs away from it all and is involved in a bizarre accident in Erle Stanley Gardner's "The Case of the Footloose Doll" (Morrow, $2.95).... Then there is death, blackmail, and a half dozen ice picks—and Perry Mason who, with sound logic and quick action, comes to the rescue.

"THE TRAVELS OF MARCO POLO" with 25 illustrations in full color (Orion Press-Crown, $4.95): Marco Polo is perhaps the most legendary figure ever written about. He traveled far, he saw much, and he listened to —and remembered the strange tales he heard. If you haven't read his adventures, this is your chance; if you have, this is an opportunity to acquire a handsome edition of the travels of this 13th century Venetian.

"THE PRIVATE LETTERS OF LUKE" by Roger Lloyd (Channel Press, $2.75): Luke, the physician, gains new stature and understanding as Canon Lloyd, writing true to the Scriptures, reveals him anew through the medium of imaginary correspondence between him and his friends. Here, too, are Paul, James, Theophilus, Silvanus and others who were close to Christ.

PAPERBACK ORIGINALS (first time in book form) just published: "The Return of the Texan," a western by L. L. Foreman (Ballantine, 35c); "The One That Got Away," true story of the escape and pursuit of a Luftwaffe pilot in wartime England, by Kendal Burt and James Leason (Ballantine, 50c); "Soldiers Three," a novel of war by Humphrey Slater (Signet, 35c); "The Dark Ages," history of medieval literature by W. P. Ker (Mentor, 50c); "Satellites, Rockets and Outer Space" an illustrated, up-to-dale survey by Willy Ley (Signet, 35c); "Starburst," a collection of science fiction by Alfred Bester (Signet, 35c); "Deady Image," a science fiction novel by Edmund Cooper (Ballantine, 35c); "A Short History of India and Pakistan" by T. Walter Wallbank (Mentor, 50c). Also, new Laurel editions of "Hamlet," "Taming of the Shrew," "Romeo and Juliet," and "Richard III," each by Shakespeare and edited by Francis Fergusson, with a foreword (Dell, 35c each).

La Reina Rule

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give the origin of the name DEAN.—L.S., MRS. D.D., Long Beach.

L.S., D.D.: The old term for a small, fertile English valley was "Dene." The surname DEAN is from the early name "De la Dene" (from the valley). Thomas de la Dene lived in Hertfordshire in 1273. The ancient Dean coat-of-arms has a red scalloped-edge stripe under three red crescents on a silver shield. Descendants of the English Dean lineage settled in Andover, Mass., in the 1600s.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the analysis of CRAWFORD.—R.E.C., Long Beach.

R.E.C.: The Scotch CRAWFORD family trace their origin to Sir Reginald de Crawford, sheriff of Ayrshire in 1296. "Craw-ford" was a place description, a river crossing or "ford" where flocks of crows lived. Craw was the old word for crow. The Crawford coat-of-arms has an ermine stripe across the center of a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Will you give the meaning and coat-of-arms of BACHMANN. — MRS. G.H., Harbor City.

MRS. G.H.: The German BACHMANN family achieved their name from a locality. The original name Bach-mann meant "man who lives near a brook." No coat-of-arms is available for this family.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please tell the nationality and meaning of DUGAN.—MRS. Z.K., Long Beach.

MRS. Z.K.: The surname DUGAN is taken from the Irish name Dubhghain meaning "little dark-complected man." The early Gaelic name was modernized to O'Doogan and then to Dugan. Three separate lineages form the modern Dugan family. One is from Cork, another from county Galway and a third from county Clare. The Dugan coat-of-arms is a shield divided into four parts. The upper left and lower right sections are blue with a gold griffin head on each; the upper right and lower left sections are without an emblem, covered with ermine.

DEAR MISS RULE: I would like information on CRITCHLOW.—M.B., Long Beach.

M.B.: The CRITCHLOW family of England were so designated because they lived at the Cruch-Low or cross-shaped hill. Richard Critchlow was a Cheshire landowner in 1587. The original cross-hill was located in Lancashire. The Critchlow family crest is a green harp, placed above the coat-of-arms, a shield divided into four sections, the upper right and lower left being silver with a black heraldic bird on them; the other sections are red with no emblem.

DEAR MISS RULE: We would like information on HARRIS and HARRISON. — T.H., MRS. K.S., Long Beach; L.H., Anaheim; E.H., San Francisco.

ENGLISH KINGS beginning with Henry I in 1100 gave popularity to the given name Harry, formed from Henry (meaning "ruler of private property"). HARRIS meant

They Retired

long their academic career. The students are enabled to learn from eminent instructors mellow in experience, wisdom and authority.

"We seldom get complaints about the faculty," says Dean David E. Snodgrass. "The students take their authority for granted and seem to think they know what they're doing." Snodgrass, incidentally, is Hastings' youngster—63.

THE FACULTY attitude is reflected by Dr. Everett Fraser, 78, former dean of law at the University of Minnesota where he taught one extra year without pay before joining the San Francisco 65ers.

"That's where I get my fun in life," he explains. "Teaching isn't labor—it's fun.

"I always advise my students to choose law as a profession only if they enjoy it, and not for social prestige. That's the only way they can get any fun out of it."

At Hastings, which celebrated its 80th birthday in March and is the oldest law school in the Far West, the professor teaching a class usually has written both the text and case books being used by the students.

The professors carry a work load comparable to, or greater, than that of the average U.S. law professor.

THE AVERAGE annual salary is $12,000, which mounts up when added to retirement benefits.

Dean Snodgrass said the oldsters teach classes of about 120 students in the five large classrooms or the courtroom of the modern five-story downtown Hastings Bldg.

The "65 Club" was born largely by accident in 1940 when Snodgrass suddenly found himself dean after the death of William M. Simmons.

It was too late to hire another professor through regular channels, so he turned to 70-year-old Orrin K. McMurray. He had retired the previous June as dean of Boalt Hall, another of the University of California's law schools.

The same year McMurray accepted, Arthur M. Cathcart, retired Stanford professor, came to Hastings at 67.

After World War II, Hastings' enrollment leaped from 37 to 915 in four years. Dean Snodgrass turned again to retired professors.

FACULTY RESPONSE was summed up by Dr. George W. Goble, 69, who said, "I love to teach and I'm certainly grateful for this opportunity to continue."

George G. Bogert, 73-year-old former Cornell University law dean, said Hastings offers him a chance to pursue his main interest—teaching and writing. He also said he enjoys his freedom from administrative duties.

Bogert, busy updating four law texts he wrote earlier, said he never could be content to sit back "and live on what I learned 30 years ago."

The faculty youngster, Dr. Rollin M. Perkins, 68, taught previously for 30 years at the University of Iowa, three at Vanderbilt and eight at UCLA.

Lawrence Void claims to be the only teetoler among the "65 Club," and the most active member. About twice a week he walks the five-mile distance from the downtown campus to his Golden Gate Heights home.

He did tackle one bar—the tough California State Bar examination—and he passed it. He was the only non-California faculty member to attempt it.

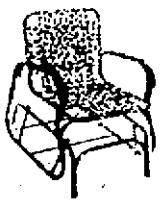

The oldest professor is 82-year-old Merton L. Ferson, former law dean at the University of Cincinnati. He, Fraser, Bogert and Edwin D. Dickinson, 70, formerly of Boalt Hall and the Universities of Pennsylvania and Michigan, are ex-presidents of the Assn. of American Law Schools.

Other "65 Club" members are Judson Adams Crane, 73, retired University of Pittsburgh dean; Albert Brooks Cox, 71, from Tulane University; William E. Britton, 71, Illinois; Harold Gregg Pickering, 68, one of two retired attorneys; and John U. Calkins, 69, the other lawyer, who served 32 years as counsel for the University of California regents.

At Hastings, the students knuckle down to hard work for their distinguished professors, or out they go.

"Only about 40 per cent of the first year students are graduated," Dean Snodgrass explained. "They either do the work or they have to leave. Everything depends on the examination."

Take Pride in Your Dog

By Eleanor Avery Price

FIRST Impressions are important when a dog is presented at a show. Unfortunately, many novice exhibitors stumble tensely and incompetently around in such a fashion that the dogs don't get even a late flash at showing how good they really are. Some dogs would do better if they were turned into the ring on their own.

If you are going to train your dog for show, get him accustomed to a lead early in life. Pick a quiet, restricted spot where the dog's attention won't be distracted and where, if he leaps around like a fish on a fly, you won't appear cruel to the neighbors. Teach the dog to walk around and around in a close circle as well as up and down a straight line, to finish in a poised, standing position. (Sitting position in obedience.)

When you halt, the dog must be concentrating on you. If his position is bad, much can be done by slight movements of the lead. Moving him forward a pace may help him fall into a better stance. A little feint to his right will often bring the left fore up into position.

DO NOT EXPECT perfection at the start. Limit lessons to 5 minutes at first, and the dog should literally dance with pride and happiness. This means you do not nag, shout, or unnecessarily punish.

When you have gained your dog's confidence and attention, let someone watch you and your dog. Gradually add more distractions—other dogs, people, traffic, etc.

Since a dog normally does not walk in convoy with other dogs and their handlers, he must be taught to do so. If necessary to keep your dog's attention, carry a choice tidbit in your hand (except in obedience). Never let him know when a piece of the prize is coming his way, for you want him to be alert constantly.

NOW LET SOMEONE else walk your dog. Watch to see if he likes to stride out briskly, move collectedly, or whatever, keeping in mind that some show rings are small and crowded, others less cramped.

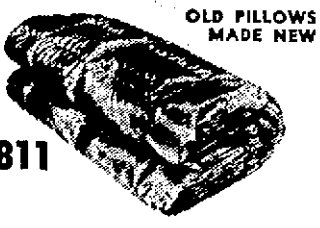

Practice feeling and examining your dog. Do this just before feeding so such business as having his teeth examined, his ears put into place, and other attentions will be associated with the joy of eating which follows. Later ask the family, then friends to handle the dog. If he knows he is going to eat immediately after, he will soon accept even the attention of strangers. (Remember, judges are strangers!)

Sporting breeds should appear as they would in the field. Tip of tail may be held, and judges permit the head to be lifted a trifle. Collies and Shelties should look down their noses so ears fall forward in approved style. Some dogs' ears can be alerted with a tidbit tossed in the hands. Streamlined breeds such as the German shepherd look better if fore legs are placed at top of any slight incline in the ring.

$5 Thousand Gold!

By Bob Ruskauff

Long Beach Yacht Club's James Craig Power Yacht Trophy, $5,000 in gold.

THE QUESTIONS were: What is the most valuable yachting trophy in America today? What is this thing called predicted log racing?

Over the Memorial Holiday will fall the most boating activity ever scheduled in the Southland (and that's a lot). That's why the above questions fit beautifully into today's theme because:

1—Long Beach Yacht Club, since 1941 has been custodian of the nation's most intrinsically valuable yachting trophy. This is the solid gold, $5,000-appraised James Craig Trophy. It has a remarkable history.

2—On Memorial Day, some 20 of the sleekest power yachts in the Southland will move out on staggered starts from a point off the Anaheim entrance bell at Long Beach, bound for Coronado, 88 miles away.

ON JUNE 7 they'll race back. The predicted log winner for both legs of one of the nation's top power yacht races of 1958 will receive inscription on the James Craig trophy.

The lucky fellow and his crew will get a look at it, to be sure the spellings are right. Then it will be popped back into a vault down in the Farmers and Merchants Bank for another bleak, black year.

For, let us be realistic. Unlike that piece of pewter called the America's Cup, this is one that some unromantic bum could melt down to some real advantage.

IN THE 12 RACES since 1941, three men have thrice won inscription.

With his Revellers II, III and now IV, Pomona automobile dealer Frank Ruppert will be in this race seeking a fourth victory and defending. Ruppert won in 1947, 1953 and last year.

Non-competing will be Larry McDowell, present Long Beach Marine Department director, whose Veralee II won in 1948, 1950 and 1951.

These men deserve signal honor because winning a truly tough predicted log contest such as this, takes some doing—despite what a "rag sailor" says about a "stink-potter."

Predicted log is a unique form of competition, due to disparity in sizes (cruisers 25 to 75 feet may compete for the Craig Trophy) afid at both top or cruising speeds.

HENCE IT'S A RACE of boat performance and piloting ability. The skipper predicts in advance his exact log, destined to get him to the finish at an exact time. He picks his own time of start, must pass (in this case), six control points on the button time-wise. He has no watch (pardon, chronometer); an "enemy" observer aboard does.

This wouldn't be so bad, except—wind, tide and ocean conditions constantly vary, so he must out-guess them. The down-hill trip to Coronado takes one kind of thinking; the uphill battle home, sometimes against high seas, takes another. And that's about it.

BOAT HOOKS: Top event today in boating will be that 50-mile ocean derby, the second this year, sponsored by United Stock Runabout Association. Nearly 200 stock outboard runabouts and cruisers will go five 10-mile laps (one leg fronting the strand), starting in fleets from Pacific Landing at 9 a.m.

BOATING Brief

By Ed Ianuzzi

To come about is to head the boat into the wind to go from one tack to another. A gybe is the reverse of heading into the wind. Here you swing the stern to get the wind on the other side of the sails without luffing or fluttering of the sail.

Your Name

"son of Harry," while HARRISON was a long form of the same name. Both surnames are recorded from earliest times in England, Scotland and Ireland. The Harrises were baronial land owners in Devonshire and Cornwall in 1422. The Scotch clan Harris is a branch of Clan MacLeod. The Harris coat-of-arms has silver crescents on a black shield. The Harrison shield is blue, with three crowned halflions on it.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the genealogy of FARRELL and FERRELL.—MRS. C.F., D.F., Long Beach.

C.F., D.F.: The Irish names FARRELL and FERRELL began as O'Fearghail meaning "sons of the most valorous one." These lineages originated in county Longford where they ruled for many centuries. Branches of the family lived in Counties Donegal, Tyrone and Wicklow. Descendants of these families settled in Pennsylvania in the 1700s. Later records show four Ferrell families living in Floyd County, Indiana, in 1850. The coat-of-arms for these families has a golden rampant lion on a green shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give information on the name LUEDKE.—E. L., Long Beach.

E. L.: LUEDKE originated as the German surname LUDKE which had the pronunciation mark called an umlaut (two dots) over the "U." Formation of this name was achieved by shortening Ludwig, the German form of Louis (meaning "glorious one"). To the resultant "Lud" was added "ke," a nickname ending. No coat-of-arms is available for this family.

DEAR MISS RULE: The analysis of JACOBS, please.—J. J., Lakewood; E. W., Long Beach.

J. J., E. W.: The JACOBS family of America may have descended from Scots or English or German backgrounds. Jacobs is from the Biblical "Jacob," son of Abraham, with the translated meaning "supplanter." The Jacobs family of England were 17th century settlers of Donvers, Mass. George Jacobs of this lineage was hanged as a wizard in the notorious witchcraft trials of 1692. Today he would be known as an advanced thinker.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give information on STEELE. — W. S., A. S., Long Beach.

W. S., A. S.: STEELE was at first a given name symbolizing a strong, sturdy man. The surname was first recorded in east England, where Robert Steele lived in Lincolnshire in the 1200's. The Steele coat-of-arms has a diagonal checkered black and ermine stripe between two red lion heads on a silver shield.

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for the origin and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

Baby-toter crib, pictured with NBC-TV actress Lois Paul, is a happy idea for mother tending an infant.

Baby-Toter: a Happy Idea

By Steve Ellingson

EXPERTS SAY that parents are becoming frustrated these days in an effort to save their children from frustration.

"A child needs security," they say, "but if mother is to remain sane, then she must have some security, too."

With these facts in mind, we set out to design something that would be beneficial to both mother and the baby.

The little criblike contrivance you see pictured with this article makes it possible for mother to keep the baby beside her no matter where she goes or what she does. It's very light and has handles which make it easy to carry.

DOCTORS approve of this cradlelike chair because it elevates and supports even the tiniest baby. It's comfortable. When mother goes driving she can put the crib right beside

BEAUTIFUL HOMES

Southland takes its readers into a different, attractive Long Beach area home each week.

Seemingly braced against passage of time, this marker stands in Norwalk, marking route of San Diego stages.

CALIFORNIA YESTERDAYS

Signpost to Yesteryear

By Helen Smith

FOR MORE than 100 years a leaning, cryptically marked, time-worn slab has been located beside what is now Imperial Hwy. in Norwalk.

Yet, until just a few months ago, no one took the trouble to find out its significance.

Investigation by Cien Anos Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, has proven that the slab, just a few hundred feet from the busy Imperial Hwy.-Firestone Blvd. intersection, indicates the route was an old stagecoach road which led to San Diego.

THE STONE was placed there many years ago as a 17-mile marker announcing to weary travelers that they were only 17 miles from the Los Angeles depot. Close by was an inn where stagecoach passengers could freshen up by washing off accumulated dust and buying something to eat.

The original inn burned to the ground and the adobe structure that replaced it has long since returned to the soil from which it was made.

Besides the circled "17," the stone carries the numbers "340-342" which historians believe gives the approximate distance to San Francisco. At the base are the letters "S. D. R.," for San Diego Road. Offering such brief information, the old marker and the road it stood beside bear a definite contrast to modern-day travel with its well-defined roadways, multitude of signposts and accurate road maps.

When the railroads came into the Downey, Norwalk and La Mirada area around 1861, stagecoaches could no longer compete.

HISTORY RECORDS that the last horse-drawn conveyance was retired with ceremony when the driver, a Mr. Seeley, presented his whip to the inn keeper's wife, stating "he would have no further use for it."

Carrying on its efforts to preserve old landmarks in the area, Cien Anos Parlor built a cinder block enclosure around the old stone.

Dedication rites were held Oct. 7, 1957, with many city dignitaries and youth groups present to pause and hark back to the days of the Old West.

Today, high-powered cars by the thousands roar by the unpretentious slab which will probably still be standing when modern automobiles give way to transportation of the future.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

TOKYO

"I plan to go to Italy this summer with my wife and daughter. Appreciate any information on advantage of buying lire in the U. S. Clothing? Electrical current problems? Best guide book?"

THERE IS NO advantage in buying lire in the U. S. The lire run officially 625 to the U. S. $1. The banks will give you about 620. Money changers might give you about 622. Hotels will take a cut to about 614—a piece of legalized robbery practiced by most hotels all over the world.

The current runs 220 as compared with our 110. You need adapters for irons, shavers, radios. Also adapter plugs. Ours don't fit the Italian outlets.

Best guide book is the Michelin "Guide for Italy." I have only seen it in Paris. But I imagine a big book store in Rome would have it.

It is written in Italian. But the Michelin system of symbols makes it easy to understand. The Michelin "Guide for France" is so excellent I think this one would be, too.

Light clothing. Hot weather.

* * * *

"You mentioned using a lightweight typewriter for traveling. . . . Did you buy it in Europe?"

I USE the Olivetti Lettera 22—about 8½ pounds. I bought my first one in Italy. This one, however, I bought in the U. S. I get it equipped with the international keyboard that gives you accent marks. You lose the ½ and ¼ marks and the commercial pricing keys. Most correspondents I run into are using the typewriter. I hear Germany is now making an excellent lightweight typewriter, too. I don't know the name.

* * * *

"What is the name of the town where the bulls run in the street? In Spain? When?"

LIKE IN "The Sun Also Rises?" That's Pamplona. The time is the second week of July and it is HOT!

* * * *

". . . some good stores and restaurants in Tokyo, please?"

I HAVE found a few through Japanese friends. But you wouldn't have a chance of finding them. There are no street numbers, and streets named (by the Occupation) don't mean a thing to a Tokyo taxi driver. When he is on 10th street, he doesn't know it. And a Japanese can't even say the word. I give you my word this is true.

I am getting a list of such places together now and will send it to you when it is printed. After long sessions with Japanese, we decided to do it this way:

We will list the type of food and the phone number.

You give the tax driver 10 yen and tell him "Denwa"—telephone.

He telephones and the restaurant or shop gives him directions.

For the present, the best you can do is window shop. Try the stores along the Ginza and the food shops on the alleys one block in back of the Ginza. They are all good. If you find a good one, take the paper chopstick holder. That has the telphone number and name in Japanese.

Now a taxi driver with this in hand still can't find the place. But he CAN telephone. They give him the nearest railroad station. Then they tell him something like: "Go two blocks right to a department store. Turn into the alley at the Bangbasha nightclub. Walk 50 meters to a red phone booth. We are across the street."

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Fallen Stardust

By Margaret Roxby

HAZARDS of space travelers as concerns collisions with meteorites, even the word of modern aircraft pilots and passengers telling of near-misses with flying objects aloft recalls the devastating effects of such falling "stardust" on impact with the earth.

Some 200 miles from the California border, between Winslow and Flagstaff, is a gigantic reminder of the result of one such mighty impact, the meteor crater of Arizona.

There, six miles off U. S. Highway 66, rising from the flat wasteland of the Arizona desert, is a formation known as the world's largest meteor-caused crater. In its center is an enormous pit, three full miles around the top by footpath, 570 feet deep and 4150 feet wide carved (according to scientific calculations) some 50,000 years ago by a star fragment which hurtled into the earth from unknown regions beyond the stratosphere.

The fiery mass of concentrated metal, weighing about two million tons, crashed into the earth and buried itself 1300 feet beneath the surface. It is estimated that 400 million tons of rock and earth were ejected at the time of impact to form the three-mile rim of the tremendous hole. Such a mighty blow, in one catastrophic swoop, could conceivably eradicate an area as large as downtown Long Beach.

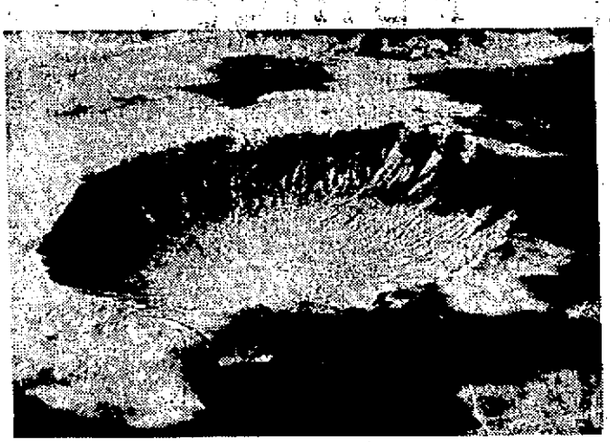

FOR MANY YEARS the crater was believed to be an extinct volcano, or the result of some cataclysmic underground "blowout." However, an intrepid Philadelphia mining engineer, Daniel Moreau Barringer, devoted more than a quarter century to proving its meteoric origin—a feat accomplished only after many disheartening setbacks, both mechanical and financial. A skeptical scientific world was finally convinced after the discovery and location of a solid mass of meteoric metal, believed to be 120 feet in radius and weighing two million tons. This buried mass is "chiefly a nickel-iron alloy averaging 92 per cent iron and 7 per cent nickel" with the remainder made up of carbon, silicon, sulphur, phosphorous, cobalt, platinum, iridium, gold and silver.

Although the metallic treasure has persistently resisted efforts to unearth it, it is hoped that an effective means of mining it may yet be found, so that the world may benefit from it.

At the present time, the crater is a point of interest to students and travelers, and thousands of sightseers visit the site each year. There they may (for a small fee) visit the air-conditioned museum perched on the very edge of the crater.

OUTSIDE THE museum are marked trails. The more venturesome visitor may hazard a trip around the rim, or go down to the floor of the crater to examine the remains of the original shafthouse. Shorter and less ambitious hikes are possible, too.

Meanwhile, whether the Crater is a wonder for tourists, an education for students, or a subject for scientific speculation, its nearness to the Southland is tinged with the peculiar excitement of jeopardy. Will there ever be such another? If so, at what place on earth will Destiny point her next gigantic, long-range missile? Will it be a lone, unfrequented desert — a desolate, wind-swept mountaintop — or a teeming metropolis?

Hurtling into Arizona wasteland from outer space, a meteor created this crater, viewed here from the air.

'Bad' Weather Makes Good Photos

By the Shutterbug

DAYS of the "fair weather photographer" who takes pictures only when the sun is shining are gone forever!

Washed away by a flood of fast, wide-latitude films, dark, cloudy days no longer hold terror for the amateur photographer. In fact, so called "bad" weather provides him with some of his most exciting picture possibilities.

With such a black-and-white film as Verichrome Pan, a simple box camera can "see" almost as well on a fairly cloudy day as on a day drenched with sunlight. Even with color film the box camera can be used with striking results as long as there is sufficient sun, either bright or hazy to create shadows on the ground.

THAT IMPORTANT quality called latitude make it possible for modern film to produce an acceptable picture even when it receives less light than it was really designed for. And the subdued light orchestrates the picture with mood music impossible to produce on brighter days.

One of the major photographic dividends in snapshooting on an overcast day is the relative ease with which dramatic close-ups can be obtained.

With an adjustable camera, of course, there's no problem even when color film is used. And in this exciting field, the pictures will be bathed in soft, pleasant pastel tones unattainable in brighter light. It's a good idea, however, to put a "skylight" filter over the lens when using color film on overcast days to eliminate the slight bluish tinge that may detract from the picture.

Other pictures that will weave a magic spell through your photo album include a tear-stained rose bowed sorrowfully in the wind, a cluster of faceless umbrellas huddled on a street corner, a fisherman's craggy face framed against an angry seascape, and broken, quivering lights trapped on a wet pavement.

Morning mist on a lake; fog creates atmosphere which makes for prize-winner. Photo taken at 1/100th at f/8.

LONG BEACH Camera Guild members will hear an illustrated lecture by Florence Harrison of Click Chicks Camera Club at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., according to Helen Harrison, program chairman. Title of the talk will be "Development of Photography from the Snapshot Stage to Pictorials," illustrated in black and white and colored slides, with running commentary on the hows and whys of this development. Photography enthusiasts are invited. There will be no admission.

Recent winners in Guild contests: Color—Don Hayward, 1st honor award; Clara Watkins, 2nd; Floyd Williamson, 3rd; Gerald Church, 1st honorable mention; Carl Kissell, 2nd; Floyd Williamson, 3rd; Carl Van Steenbergen, award for portrait; Clara Watkins, award for scenic; Margy Pilkington, creative award. Judge was "Pop" Wright. Black and white prints: Harry McDonald, 1st; Hazel Vosper, 2nd; Marion Paglow, 3rd; Bob Tarlton, Marion Paglow, Estill Bartlett, honorable mention. HOW TO Make Lightweight, Sturdy Sawhorse

1. FOR LESS THAN $10, you can build these lightweight, rugged sawhorses. They'll help you do hundreds of jobs—sawing, assembling, furniture refinishing—faster and easier. Standard height of sawhorses ranges from 18 to 23 inches. If you are tall in the saddle, you may want to add a couple of inches or so to this measurement.

2. NOTCH AND TAPER 2x4 cross-pieces to accept 1x4 legs. This cut is placed about 2½ inches from ends; depth should be about half of thickness of 1x4—or about ⅜ to ½ inches at what will be top edge (arrow) of 2x4s. Cut the tapers from top to the bottom edge, and, with a chisel, clean out wood and smooth with a rasp.

3. GLUE AND NAIL legs to cross-pieces, making sure the inner edge of legs fit flush with top surfaces of cross-pieces. Edges of 1x4s that project will be cut level with top later. For added strength, stock you buy for this job should be split- and knot-free. If your jobs call for extra heavy sawhorses, use 2x6s for cross-pieces and 1x6s for the legs for the added strength.

4. STRENGTHEN leg assembly with ½-inch plywood cut to match splay of legs. One plywood brace may be adequate; two braces add rigidity. Good way to mark plywood for cutoff points is to trim it to near size first, then hold it in right position, using edges of legs to guide pencil. Braces butt against bottom edge of cross-pieces.

GARDENS

All-Year Color and Fragrance

Shasta daisies, with long blooming season, fit nicely into plans for extending flower harvest year around.

By Bob Gilmore

IN THE LONG BEACH area, gardeners follow their hobby in every month of the year. In fact, plants will flower in this area almost continuously. By careful selection you can have color and fragrance in your garden from January through December.

You might start with a low-growing plant, the lobelia. This is certainly one of our best garden subjects for edging purposes. Lobelias grow rapidly from seed, a characteristic that is true of most annuals. It should be explained that an annual completes its entire life cycle in one growing season. Perennials, on the other hand, are more permanent but also take a longer time to flower.

Perhaps the best lobelia for local growing conditions is a variety named Crystal Palace. The flowers are dark blue accompanied by dark foliage. The plants hug the ground, rarely ever growing taller than four inches. Another interesting lobelia is Cambridge blue, which has light blue flowers and green leaves. The plants like lots of moisture.

MARGUERITES AND Shasta daisies flower intermittently throughout the year; frequently a few flowers will adorn the plants even in our coldest months. These plants belong to the chrysanthemum family and are extremely easy to grow. Usually they are propagated from plants, although seed is available of several strains of Shasta daisy. Marguerites and Shasta daisies want a spot out in the sun; they ask for little attention and are relatively pest-free.

One of the most dependable of all our flowering shrubs is the common geranium, botanically identified as pelargonium hortorum. These plants seem to grow like a weed. The worst thing you can do to them is coddle or pamper them. More geraniums succumb to overwatering than any other single obstacle. Geraniums serve a wide variety of uses, performing equally well in pots, for massing, as a ground cover, for bedding purposes and as specimen plants.

THE COREOPSIS is one of the few perennials that will flower the first year from seed. In the outdoor garden they must have a spot in the sun. The Double Sunburst is certainly the most spectacular member of this family. The flowers are large, golden yellow in tone and almost entirely double. The Mayfield Giant is a single, and about three inches across.

The semperflorens in begonia semperflorens indicates that the plant is always in flower. This certainly seems to be true here in Southern California. This is a fibrous-rooted begonia and the flowers are much smaller than those of the tuberous-rooted type. Begonia semperflorens may be grown from seed or by obtaining established transplants from the nursery. Partial shade or full sun will prove ideal. Dark scarlet and pink flowers are available.

THE OLD STANDBY for free-flowering habits is the calendula. Its name, in fact, is derived from a Latin word indicating that the plant flowers during every month of the calendar year. Actually, the calendula is perhaps best known for its ability to bloom during our mild winters but it also performs well during the rest of the year. Orange King and Lemon Queen calendulas are recommended for cutting purposes as well as for the outdoor garden.

Ivory Fashion (left) and Starfire score top rose honors by being named AARS for 1959. Ivory Fashion is a white floribunda: and Starfire is a cherry-red grandiflora.

Two New Roses Win Regal Honors

By Walter Finch

TWO new members of rose royalty wear the regal mantle well. They are Ivory Fashion, a white floribunda, and Starfire, a cherry-red grandiflora, chosen as All-American Rose Selections for 1959.

The award, the highest honor in the flower world, is bestowed upon the finest new rose varieties developed in the United States and Europe.

Ivory Fashion and Starfire are the 49th and 50th varieties named to the Royal Rose Family since AARS was founded 20 years ago.

A DESCENDANT of Fashion, AARS winner in 1949 and considered the most popular floribunda of all time, Ivory Fashion is almost four inches wide when it is open. Its buds suggest the perfection of form usually reserved for the hybrid tea class. The ivory color is set off by a suggestion of yellow in the bud stage. The flowers are highly scented.

Starfire, latest winner in the new grandiflora class created by AARS several years ago, produces bright cherry red blooms both singly and in clusters and is declared to be exceptionally hardy. It is a splendid bedding rose and is adaptable for hedges and foundation plantings.

Key to Hot-Spot Planter Needs

By Joe Littlefield

Bodger Photo

To finish off planters in unusually warm locations, intersperse some gazanias.

OUTDOOR planters that form a part of the unit of the house wall often present problems due to the exposure to which plants are subjected. South and west exposures are most difficult because some plants that stand lots of sun won't take reflected heat from stucco walls.

One of several groups of shrubs that stand such tough conditions and continue to grow in popularity are Raphiolepis, the Indian hawthorn. The plants withstand heat and are hardy down to about 15 degrees of cold. They are ideal shrubs for outdoor sunny planters, as well as specimen shrubs, or for the shrubbery screen planting.

Some new pink varieties have been developed, several are spreading, others more upright. Black berries form after the small, bell-shaped, pink flowers finish blooming.

THERE IS A NEW white variety of Raphiolepis, "Clara," that landscape architects, contractors, and gardeners are interested in, because it grows quite bushy to about four feet. There also may be several other white varieties not generally known to the horticultural trade.

We have perhaps one of the oldest raphiolepis ovata white variety in our garden. It is about 30 years old, and still thriving. It doesn't have to take a back seat for several nearby camellias, because it is neat and attractive.

Abelia schumanni, A. goucheri, and a new dwarf white abolia, take well to sunny, warm outdoor planter conditions. The abelias stand cold down to about zero.

Abelias bloom after raphiolepis have finished flowering. Combination of both these shrubs for that outdoor planter if large enough, or for the shrubbery screen planting, provides a long season of bloom and eliminates extra culture care because both types of plants get by on moderate care.

TO FINISH OFF the shrubbery and have the foreground soil area covered, plant some hybrid gazanias for additional year-around color. The single, daisy-like flowers in a wide range of color help brighten the planting area. They, too, dislike to be pampered or kept too moist.

Heavy rains the past several months have washed down (leached) any nutrients that were in the root zone areas of lawns, and plants. This means, feed the plants and lawns to replace lack of nutrients and trace minerals which help them to grow sturdy and withstand later hot weather.

Grass lawns 1½ years old or younger are susceptible to lawn moth worm damage. Keep close check on the lawn. If you notice spots in the grass lawn starting to die out and see small moths flying over the lawn at night, you can be sure the lawn is infested with lawn moth worms. Spray with an insecticide your nurseryman or garden supply dealer recommends.

If you don't do anything about crab grass weeds in your grass or dichondra lawn last year, you can be certain that lawn is heavily infested with crab grass seedlings right now! A crab grass weed allowed to mature fully produces over 44,000 seeds. In a lawn where crab grass has to battle the lawn grasses or dichondra for existence or where the lawn is mowed regularly, the individual crab grass weed doesn't mature fully. Nonetheless, when mature, it produces several hundred weed seeds to reinfest the lawn next year.

Baby-Toter

her in the car. When she plants flowers, the baby can be with mother outdoors. At ironing time, the crib may be placed on a chair or table in front of the ironing board.

When the family sits down to dinner, the baby can be there, too, on a chair beside the table. When mother does the dishes, the baby can be placed beside the sink where mother can keep an eye on her. But best of all, when feeding time comes this is an ideal crib because baby's head is elevated just right for eating. So you see, this gives both the parent and infant security because they can be together.

BUILDING THE little toter is both easy and inexpensive when a full-sized pattern is used. Trace the pattern on plywood, then saw out the parts and put them together. Simple hand tools only are required. This is a project that mother can build all by herself if she chooses. It's far easier than making a dress from a pattern.

To obtain the full-sized baby-toter pattern No. 177, send 75 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, 15155 Saticoy St., Van Nuys, Calif.

Perfume for Your Garden

Mock Orange bears fragrant flowers which will perfume the spring garden. It is hardy in Long Beach climate.

By Gladys Diesing

A GRACEFULLY arching fountain of creamy white blossoms perfuming the spring garden with a delicious fragrance is Philadelphus. Philadelphus or mock orange as it is often called, is a deciduous shrub, completely hardy in the climate of the Long Beach area. It will grow in full sun or partial shade and will serve either as a specimen shrub or a part of a shrubbery border.

Perhaps the best and the one cultivated for the longest time is P. conarius. This plant grows to a height of 8 to 10 feet, has 3-inch ovate-lanceolate leaves and carries its creamy-white fragrant flowers in dense racemes in May and June. A number of hybrids were developed by the French nurseryman, Lemoine. By crossing P. conarius with the small American species P. microphyllus he obtained P. Lemoinei, which is a small graceful shrub with fine leaves, slender stems and small fragrant flowers. There are many varieties in this group.

ANOTHER hybrid is P. virginalis especially noted for its flowers which are double, snowy-white and fragrant, and in addition are 2 to 3 inches in diameter.

The Philadelphus is a very undemanding plant, adjusting as it does to almost any soil and avoiding most garden pests. Pruning should be done each year after flowering, removing wood which has flowered, taking out some old wood clear to the ground to make way for new young shoots.

Arbor vitae, cedar, cypress, pine and other evergreens are susceptible to what we call blight . . . a breakdown which is in many instances, established by a severe previous infestation of red spider. The reason red spider infestation has increased so alarmingly in recent years is because of the excessive use of some of the newer spray materials that have destroyed the beneficial insects.

So you see, spraying to kill red spider in many instances, is also preventing blight. It is an excellent practice to give any evergreen in your garden a clean-up spray with a product which kills mites and spiders without destroying the beneficial insects.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . Although new rainfall records have been established, it is amazing how quickly the soil dries out. In addition, the recent wave of hot weather has done a lot to reduce the moisture content of the soil. Adding sizable quantities of peat moss or leaf mold at this time will increase the porosity of the soil, as well as its ability to retain moisture.

Most evergreens are now growing rapidly, and there will soon be a need to trim them back. You should trim the plants by selecting the bud from which growth will emerge in the desired direction. Thus, with a rose for example, by cutting to the outside bud you will increase the lateral spread of the plant. This is desirable. Cutting to an inside bud produces crowded growth in the center of the plant, and this is totally undesirable.

The shortage of dichondra seed makes it necessary for the wise gardener to purchase his supplies immediately. The best time for sowing dichondra seed is during the warmer months of the year.

FRANK ALAN RICHMOND

He May Have to Grow One

FRANK ALAN RICHMOND doesn't have a continental moustache, but—being a thoughtful young fellow—he may grow one simply to please the patrons at the Manhattan, 1909 E. 4th St.

For years the moustache of Frank's father, Jimmie (Francois) Richmond, has been one of the French trademarks at the Manhattan, which features superb Parisian cuisine. During the next six to seven weeks that moustache will be absent from the restaurant while Richmond Sr. and his wife, Frances, tour Europe. They will visit the continent's famed restaurants and bring back recipes to be used at the Manhattan.

The elder Richmonds will start their trip today, leaving young Frank in charge of the restaurant. "If the guests miss Dad too much," says Frank, grinning, "I'll grow a moustache so they'll think the scenery around here hasn't changed."

RECENTLY OUT of the Air Force, Frank has assisted his father off and on at the restaurant for many years. He, in turn, will be assisted during Francois' absence by hostess Jestine Smith. Already Frank has designed a new gourmet item which promises to be as popular as the many dishes Francois originated. Called Baked Shrimps Manhattan, it includes a special sauce composed of crab, lobster and fresh mushrooms sauteed in butter with shallots and white wine. The shrimp are placed in an oyster shell, the sauce goes on top along with hollandaise and whipped cream. It is baked for 15 minutes before being served. It's $3 on the super-generous French dinner, complete from hors d'oeuvres, soup du jour, salad, vegetables to beverage and dessert.

Among the many other featured dinners at the Manhattan (in addition to the fabulous flaming duckling) are Chicken Manhattan, $2.60; broiled Australian lobster tail, $3.25; handsome prime rib au jus, $3.75, and sauteed fresh mushrooms prepared in wine, $2.75.

I'll always remember...

When I fled the stage in tears

by JERRY LEWIS

Young hopeful: This was the author at 15, all ready to set the world on fire.

FAMILY VISIT: On location at Yuma, Ariz., for The Sad Sack, comedian Lewis takes time out to pose with his three sons, (l. to r.) Gary, Scottie and Ronnie.

When I was 15 I left high school to go into show business. I was quite the mimic with the drape jacket and the pegged pants and a jar of pomade rubbed into my hair. Fifteen and I thought I had the world on a string.

I had played a few dates at Catskill Mountain resorts doing a record-pantomime act. I had been received well enough to have an agent book me into the Palace Theater in Buffalo, N.Y. I knew I would be a smash. In my imagination I could see the other performers looking at me in awe as the thunderous applause swept the theater.

The Palace was a burlesque house and I was one of several variety acts that filled the intervals between the main attractions — the strippers. As I stood in the wings waiting for my turn to go on, I couldn't help but resent the stripper writhing her way through her number. "Wait 'til they get a load of me," I told myself.

Then I found myself on stage, doing what I thought was the funniest act in the world. But something was wrong. Where there should have been applause there was nothing but a deafening silence. Half-way through my act the audience started to heckle me with the inevitable call, "Bring on the girls!"

Finally, when I couldn't even hear myself, I fled the stage in tears. I wanted out. I rushed to my dressing room, started throwing clothes into a cardboard suitcase. Then suddenly the door opened. In stepped a little man in baggy pants — the burlesque comic.

"Where do you think you're going?" he asked. "One little flop and you quit. Well, kid, if you're a quitter, it's better you get out now 'cause show business has no place for your kind. But let me warn you, if you quit now, you'll never perform again. Just remember that whatever you do, a guy who quits in the middle of the race can never see his name in the winner's column."

A spanking well deserved and a lesson well learned. Today, whatever the temptation to quit when a particularly unpleasant situation arises, I always remember the little baggy-pants comedian who added a pound of starch to my backbone.

On Parade

Did you work the quiz Can you add? (April 20). Seems lots of people did, judging by the number of letters pointing out that the answer to question 8 was six coins, not five. As Reed T. Draper, Bay City, Mich., writes, "When I went to school five quarters and one nickle were six coins." Same with us, Mr. Draper. But we always spelled it nickel.

Back from the Northwest is our Ed Kiester with the story of one family's vacation visit to a giant sawmill (pp. 32-33). This is the final piece in the current Know Your America series: We hope they'll help you to have a grand vacation. And if you still haven't gotten your copy of the 1958 PARADE Turnpike Guidebook, be sure to use the coupon on p. 33.

From time to time PARADE has run articles urging more emphasis on teaching foreign languages in our schools. So we were glad to hear from Tim Egan of St. Catherine's High, Racine, Wis., who says:

"In a recent issue you quoted a Bryn Mawr student who said Russian should be taught in high school. I am a high-school sophomore and am taking a course in Russian."

Pozdravliain — or, as they say in English, Congratulations. We know of a few high schools, including three in Portland, Ore., which offer courses in Russian. But are there still others? If you know of any, drop On Parade a line.

Remember the USS Arizona, sunk at Pearl Harbor in 1941 with 1,102 men? The Pacific War Memorial Commission of Hawaii begins a fund-raising campaign this Memorial Day to make the Arizona a national shrine. A worthy cause. May it prosper.

IN NEW YORK on a flying visit to the "April in Paris" ball, Lucky is snapped at work by a PARADE photographer.

SHE'S FRANCE'S NO. 1 MODEL...

Meet 'Lucky' Janichewsky

PARIS.

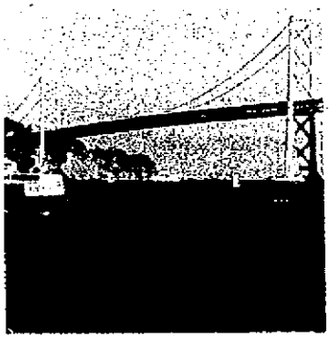

America has its "Candy" Joneses and "Choo-Choo" Johnsons, but the fashion industry here has the girl to match them. "Lucky" Janichewsky is her name, and she's the top mannequin at the House of Dior.

As French as Montmartre, Lucky got her surname from a youthful marriage to a Pole. Now, at 31, she supports herself and daughter Michele by hard work. Most days she's up at 7 at her house in suburban Chartres. She gets Michele off to school, does the housework, then comes in for a full day in the Dior atelier. Five nights a week she goes on to teach at her own school for mannequins and their daughters.

Tall, slender, fine-boned, Lucky takes her schedule in stride. She even finds time to be the moving spirit behind the Mutuelle des Mannequins, a kind of beneficial society for models who are old, ill, pregnant or otherwise unable to work. The Mutuelle's annual fund-raising ball is one of Lucky's rare social diversions. This year it comes next Thursday. Lucky, who has been black-haired this year and was a redhead last, plans to go in a blond wig.

7. In case of ties, which are probable, tying contestants will be required to complete a statement dealing with Lava. No wrappers or facsimiles will be required with a tie-breaking entry. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of further ties. The most apt of the tie-breaking statements written in the contestant's own words and expressing the contestant's own thoughts will be selected and rated for prizes.

G. KEITH FUNSTON...

The boy who grew

Head of the New York Stock Exchange, he wants

COLLECTOR Funston displays china soldiers — symbol of a boyhood hobby — in his handsome Greenwich, Conn., home.

by MARYLIN BENDER

Once upon a time there was a boy who lived with his mother, father and three sisters in a Midwestern city. He was a conscientious student who minded his p's, his q's and his parents, and never put off today's duty until tomorrow. A Boy Scout and a churchgoer, polite to his elders, popular with the young, he saved his money, worked his way through college, was tall, handsome, modest and kind.

And he grew up to be President — of the New York Stock Exchange.

In years to come, American male children may well be advised to follow this fable instead of the traditional success dream which culminates in the White House. After all, the jobs pay the same: $100,000 a year plus fringe benefits. But the president of the Stock Exchange is not obliged to deal with Soviet premiers or hydrogen warfare. His life expectancy is higher and the world isn't tuned in to the state of his digestion. Generally, his job is what he chooses to make it.

G. (for George) Keith Funston, the hero of the above true story, has made the Stock Exchange presidency a crusade. In the seven years he has held the job, he has spent the equivalent of two full years traveling to spread the word, "Own your share of American business [by buying stocks]." A New York Financial Writers lampoon once amended this to, "Give every American the right to own a share in the next depression."

Now a recession has arrived, but Funston isn't retrenching. His campaign to draw small investors into the securities market (and to make the market safe for the small investor) proceeds full steam ahead.

America will be a real "people's democracy" when 15 million of us have stocks in publicly owned companies, Funston asserted in a boom-year speech. During his administration, share ownership has increased by one-third to a record 8.6 million. Recession hasn't discouraged him from trying to nearly double that figure. For "people's capitalism" (another Funston image) meshes neatly with one feature of the 1958 economic dip — the fact that personal savings now are at an all-time high. Some banks have more savings deposits than they can handle. Some, after whipping up thrift fever with advertising gimmicks and jolly managers, are thinking of slowing down.

A dentist's son, he gives high finance the common touch

"Our task is to compete successfully for the saver's dollar," says Funston, who at 47 radiates the untarnished zeal of a college valedictorian (which he once was). Over the long pull, industry needs capital in order to expand, Funston reasons. Meanwhile, inflation whittles away at "risk-free" savings. If millions of Americans in the lower- and middle-income range invest their surplus savings in industry (by buying voting shares of corporate securities), the U.S. economy will grow while the investors benefit through dividends, profits and appreciation.

Funston's theories are chapter and verse out of an elementary economics course. But how many Americans could pass a midterm quiz? With a $1,100,000-a-year advertising budget, and a shower of pamphlets, movies and talks beamed at the financially unsophisticated, Funston strives to close this gap in popular education, and "strengthen the ties between Main Street and Wall Street."

The two long have regarded each other with suspicion. Wall Street, which begins at a river (the East) and ends in a cemetery (Trinity Churchyard), has had an allure akin to that of a chichi gambling casino where the little fellow always gets taken. But nowadays the little fellows seem more confident. The last big decline in market prices saw few of them exiting in panic. Funston and his aides consider this proof that Main Street and Wall are indeed growing closer.

MIP—Success or Flop?

There also is Funston's "baby," the Monthly Investment Plan, through which stocks can be acquired by investing as little as $40 every three months. MIP is doing better in the recession, some brokers say. Just four years old, it has 65,700 subscribers and has brought $80 million into the market. Funston calls it a success.

Yet many brokers deem these statistics small potatoes and feel that MIP "hasn't gotten off the ground." Some won't even handle it. "Funston is an idealist," states one exchange member who admits to a preference for rich customers. "The Stock Exchange a public institution?" adds a customer's man for a conservative firm. "It's still a clique — one big, exclusive club run by the roughest, toughest, dollar-chasing monkeys in the country."

But the small investor who plays it cautious in the market, investing — not trading — in "blue chips," appreciates his newly won acceptance. A stock-ownership census, taken after Funston's advent, showed that two-thirds of U.S. share-owners earned under $7,500 a year. In this bracket, substantial lumps of cash are hard to roll up at one time. Funston, the son of a Sioux Falls, S.D., dentist-turned-banker, recognized this basic truth that Wall Street ignored. Result: his "dramatic tool," MIP.

He Paid His Own Way

To the role of interpreter between Main and Wall, Funston brought a priceless asset — the experience of being broke. His father's bank failed in 1924. Keith put himself through Trinity College in Hartford, Conn. (A.B. 1932 and Phi Beta Kappa), and the Harvard Graduate School of Business. He financed his way with scholarships, profits from an oil stock (bought in 1927, sold in '28) and a series of chores that included grocer's helper, dog washer, newspaper subscription vendor. None of these kept him from Sunday School teaching and fraternity dances.

He was suggested for successor to retiring Stock Exchange president Emil Schram by another "poor boy made good," Sidney Weinberg. Pint-sized alumnus of a Brooklyn public school, Weinberg is an investment banker, board director and kingly figure in finance. Funston's election was announced May 24, 1951.

It received mixed notices. "A breath of fresh air," cried those concerned with cleansing the public memory of 1929 and Richard Whitney, the Exchange president who was jailed in 1938 for misappropriating securities. But others were dubious. Several friends bluntly informed Funston that he knew nothing about the stock business — he was then president of Trinity College — and was too old to learn. Funston grins when he recalls the bearish prophecy of Barron's, the financial-trade Bible. "Mr. Funston has his job cut out for him," Barron's editorialized.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON at home lets Funston enjoy a rare interlude of calm with Timothy, the golden retriever.

Certainly he was a radical departure from precedent, an "evangelist" compared to "political types" like New Dealer Schram and William McChesney Martin, Jr. (now chairman of the Federal Reserve Board). "Modest, sincerely friendly, forthright" — cynics and admirers apply identical adjectives to Funston. "And so-o-o good-looking." A gracefully stooped 6'3", Funston possesses wavy, graying hair, china-blue eyes, a pearly-toothed smile and the kind of cleft chin and dimples that made a generation of Robert Taylor fans shiver in their saddle shoes.

The offer to preside over Wall Street came to him "out of the blue," Funston says. What, then, is the formula for his rise to the top?

As a youngster, he was "loyal, dependable, truthful, a brilliant student and a natural leader," according to testimony from Sioux Falls. Says a Harvard classmate who knew him when he was hesitating between business and academic life: "He was a guy who had success on his mind."

Once a Salesman . . .

On his first jobs, with American Radiator Co. and Sylvania, Funston established himself as a sales executive with ideas, loyalty and "a wonderful personality." Weinberg spotted him in 1941, recruited him to Washington as a dollar-a-year War Production Board aide. Later Funston served in the Navy. In 1944, Trinity College trustees tapped him for president. He was 33 and, he admits, "knew nothing about the job."

Funston made his mark by raising $5 million for the college in six years. His "evangelical" secret was simply to ask wealthy businessmen — sincerely and enthusiastically—for donations. In this period, Weinberg proposed him for board director of B. F. Goodrich and General Foods, positions he resigned when he went to the Stock Exchange.

When he was a college president, Funston and his family lived modestly. They still do — now in a Tudor house with acres and lake in Greenwich, Conn., a suburb noted for its multimillionaires, millionaires and others hoping to be mistaken for same. Typically, on Sunday nights the Funstons — including wife Betty; Peggy, 15; Gail, 12; Keith, Jr., 8 — observe the ritual of popping corn.

On his protégé's seventh presidential anniversary, Weinberg declares: "Public trust in the New York Stock Exchange as an honest market place is Keith Funston's monument." Yet attitudes linger. Last week, a taxi driver discharging a passenger at 11 Wall (the Exchange) was seen to wink and urge, "Pick up some good tips!"

Keith Funston still has his job cut out for him.

FUNSTON WARNS: "Don't invest unless you have a regular income and emergency cash or Government bonds . . ."

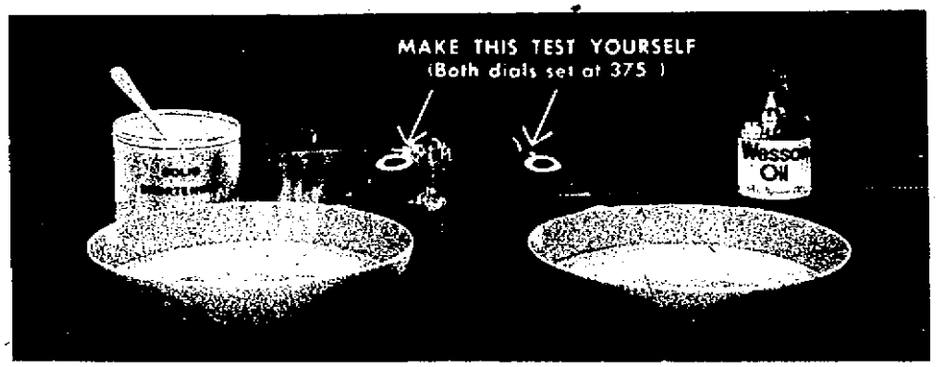

"Get the facts. Avoid tips and rumors. If you worry when your stock declines 50¢ a share, but then when it rises . . ."

". . . you start pricing Rolls-Royces, I would suggest that you leave your money in the bank. You'll be happier."

Paula Jean Myers faces a challenge...

Is she really champ?

by JOHN DEVANEY Parade sports editor

ENCINO, CALIF.

It had happened many times before, but this time it hurt the most. With just two more dives to go in the high-diving championships at the 1956 Olympics, pert Paula Jean Myers had a 6-point lead over world champion Pat McCormick. "But then," says Paula Jean, "I did only fair, Pat did well — and I lost."

Losing to Pat McCormick was nothing new for Paula Jean (shown diving on today's cover). During the previous five years she had faced Pat in some dozen U.S. and Olympic diving championships, plus a slew of West Coast meets, and beaten her only three times. "But losing at the Olympics was the worst," says Paula Jean. "I was so close to winning, to showing all the world that I could do it."

When Pat was announced the Olympic high-diving champion, P.J. — as everyone calls her — dashed over and shook her hand. "I smiled for the cameramen. What else could I do? It isn't very sportsmanlike to bust out crying at the Olympics. But afterwards I went off by myself and cried till it hurt."

Not long after that, Pat retired. The year 1957 saw P.J. grab off every diving title in sight. She won 16 straight championships, including the national AAU indoor and outdoor crowns. But this spring, at the indoor championships, she finished second instead of first in the two diving events. Again she looked like the girl who's destined to be a bridesmaid, not the bride.

This summer, though, P.J. will be out to prove she deserves the title — U.S. diving queen — that Pat relinquished to her. Says her coach, Lyle Draves of the Encino Swim Club here: "Now that school's out, she'll be able to practice regularly. This semester she took 21 units, about five more than most students, at the University of Southern California, where she's studying to be a dental hygienist. That cut down on her practice time, which hurt at the indoor championships. But come August 1 and the outdoor championships, she'll be ready."

The red-hot rivalry between Pat and P.J. began in 1951 when Pat, then 20, and P.J., 15, were members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club diving team. "We were close pals," says P.J. "Pat, in fact, was the one who nicknamed me P.J. For a summer I lived at her house with her and her husband. Being older, she was way ahead of me in diving — a national champion — but I kept trying to catch up, in a friendly way."

P.J. caught up by winning the 10-foot springboard dive at the indoor championships in 1953, stunning the judges with a double-twisting one-and-a-half somersault, the first time any girl had ever dared it in competition. "It was different between Pat and me after that," says P.J. "We were still friends but, after I beat her, there was a feeling of tension. It was each girl for herself."

Then came new tension. Coach Draves, who had been the diving coach at the L.A. Athletic Club, left — and Glenn McCormick, Pat's husband, was named to replace him. "I didn't feel," says P.J., "that having the husband of one of the divers as coach would work out too well for the other divers. Also I felt Lyle was the world's best coach — so I left too."

Note of Triumph

Other members of the club, including Pat, begged her to stay. "They told me I'd ruin the team. Some were so mad they wouldn't even talk to me. A month later, in August, 1953, they were all out to beat me at the outdoor championships, to show me I'd made a mistake. But" — and here P.J. can't help sounding triumphant — "I showed them it was no mistake by beating Pat for the 10-meter high-platform title."

But there was no beating Pat after that and P.J. learned well the ashes-in-the-mouth taste of defeat. "Usually I smiled and tried to act as if it didn't really matter. But after some meets, I went off by myself and cried."

Never, she vows, was there malice between herself and Pat. "Being on different teams, of course, we weren't as close as before. Also there was the natural feeling of tension between competitors. But when we'd hear how we were supposed to hate each other, it used to send us into fits of laughing."

Defeat after defeat has failed to puncture brown-haired P.J.'s good-natured buoyancy. Wild about athletics, she spends much of her spare time skiing or romping on horseback (she owns two horses) near her mother's Glendora, Calif., home. Lately, she has found a more sedate activity: cooking. This has its dangers, since P.J., at 122 lbs. and only 5'4", has to watch her weight.

While attending USC, she lives in her own Los Angeles apartment, dates "every chance I get" — mostly with athletes. This summer, though, she'll spend every day practicing for the three events at the outdoor championships — the 3-foot springboard dive, the 10-foot springboard dive, the high-platform dive — aiming to repeat last year's clean sweep.

Does she breathe easier, knowing Pat won't be there? "No, because the competition keeps getting tougher. A few years ago there was just one girl, Pat, to beat. Now there are six or seven, and they're doing dives we didn't try to do even in practice five years ago."

Now 23, P.J. hopes to keep diving through the 1960 Olympics, then turn pro. She also hopes Pat attends the outdoor championships in August. Says P.J., with a look that says she took more beatings than she liked from Pat McCormick: "I always want to win — but especially when she's there." ■

SAMUEL CARDINAL STRITCH: At 70 he underwent an operation now routine at his years, amputation of an arm.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER: At 65 he underwent surgery for ileitis, recovered quickly and returned to his duties.

SAFER SURGERY AFTER 60

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

Last month, former President Herbert Hoover underwent surgery for removal of his gall bladder. The next day he sat up in bed. Soon his doctors gave him permission to arise at 2 a.m., as he normally does, to spend two hours at work, solitaire and reading before going back to sleep.

Mr. Hoover is 83 years old.

Four years ago, former President Harry S. Truman was operated on for removal of his appendix and gall bladder. At the time it was an emergency. Fully recovered, he has been active ever since.

Mr. Truman is 74.

Two years ago, President Eisenhower underwent surgery for relief of an intestinal obstruction. He resumed some of his duties four days later.

Ike is 67.

These three Presidential examples point up one of the most heartening facts of health today: No matter how old you are, you can benefit from the new wonders of life-saving surgery. Consider these developments:

1) Patients at ages 60, 70, 80, 90 and beyond are undergoing surgery routinely today (mostly for hip, stomach, colon, breast and prostate ailments). A generation ago, this was virtually unheard of.

2) Some of the same patients who were refused surgery as bad risks in their 60s now are being operated on safely in their 70s.

3) Today the mortality rate in operations of the aged is as low as 5 per cent. A generation ago it was three to four times that. An elderly patient now has about a 95 per cent chance of pulling through.

These striking facts are vital to every age. If you are older, they mean you can face surgery with confidence. If you are younger, they should ease your fears for a parent or relative — not to mention for yourself, later on. In any case they offer one more proof of the cumulative value of constant effort by uncounted workers in many areas — doctors, research scientists, technicians and many others — over a period of years. And that work still is going on.

To get the hopeful story of surgery's new accomplishments, PARADE surveyed medical centers across the U.S. Everywhere the picture was the same: better, safer surgery for more and more elderly persons. Here is how medical scientists themselves sum up the three main areas of achievement:

Anesthesiology. New, precision methods mean that today the surgeon can operate for up to 12 hours or even longer while safe anesthesia keeps the patient asleep. A generation ago, such lengthy operations were almost unknown. As one surgeon points out, "Years ago, we had six or seven minutes to do an amputation. If we took any longer, the patient died."

The Beauty of Half-sleep

One remarkable development in this field involves "light" anesthesia, which can be especially useful with older persons. Years ago, when patients were put into deep sleep, their hearts and lungs were affected. Often the heart failed and the patient died.

Today we have light, perfectly controlled levels of anesthesia. It can be so delicately administered that the patient is in a half-sleep during the surgery itself. There is a complete absence of pain — yet the patient's eyes may be open at least part of the time and he may be able to answer questions by nodding "yes" or "no." Or anesthetics can be administered so exactly that he is entirely "out" for the operation, yet awake before leaving the operating room.

New instruments let the anesthesiologist keep constant tabs on the patient's pulse rate and the amount of oxygen reaching his brain. The anesthesiologist can "breathe" for the patient, via a tube inserted into the windpipe during surgery. A variety of muscle relaxants, unavailable a generation ago, eases the operation. The choice of sedatives is so broad today that the anesthesiologist can tailor their use to the individual patient's special needs.

Research offers hope of at least two further developments for operating-room use. One is an electronic device to measure blood loss in surgery, saving time and trouble for the operating team. The second is a machine to give constant readings of the patient's blood pressure while he is undergoing the operation.

Actually, in the past generation anesthesiology has emerged as a science. This means the surgeon no longer must rush "in and out" of an operation. Today he can be far more careful, take much more time. At any age, patients benefit accordingly.

The pre-operative period. Older patients may have one or more illnesses besides the one for which surgery is to be performed. They may be more tired, run down or weak than younger patients in the same situation. Thus they may need a pre-operative "build-up" before going to the operating room.

This now is done by means of careful diet control (knowledge of nutrition has zoomed in the past decade), by giving blood when necessary and by controlling vital body fluids. The last can be especially important. Years ago, relatively little was known about body fluids and their special tasks. Today, pre-operatively, doctors make sure the patient does not become dehydrated. They guard against potassium imbalance, which can lead to heart or kidney "shutdown" and death during and after surgery. They carefully control the acid-alkali balance in the body, also to prevent complications later.

Sometimes hormones are administered to bolster the patient's glandular system, particularly if it has been injured by disease in the past. Currently research is underway on a method of using hormones to predict — pre-operatively — how the patient will tolerate certain types of surgery.

In addition, pre-operatively, new drugs can be used

MAMIE EISENHOWER: At 60, she underwent surgery for "a benign condition," dined with Ike three days afterward.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES: At 68, the State Secretary was operated on for intestinal trouble, quickly was back at work.

HERBERT HOOVER: At 83 he had his gall bladder removed. Shortly afterward, the former President was working.

Today, you can face an operation confidently even if you're 90.

Life-saving advances make the outcome safer than ever before

to sterilize the intestinal tract. After stomach operations, this means fewer complications — possibly-fatal ones.

The post-operative period. Today, post-operative elderly patients often are taken to "recovery rooms" immediately after surgery. The recovery room is a little hospital in itself, equipped to deal effectively with post-operative emergencies. Prompt recovery-room care has saved many lives. A decade ago such facilities were almost unknown.

Before the age of the antibiotics — which date from the mid-1940s — post-operative infections, a threat to life, precluded surgery of many conditions of the elderly. New drugs virtually have wiped out pneumonias and other chest disorders.

Years ago, elderly patients were kept in bed following surgery for days or even weeks. That no longer is the rule. An older person is helped from his bed as soon as possible. One result is fewer dangerous blood clots from long immobilization.

The Picture Is Good

Still other developments play a part in surgery's new miracles. There are tests to determine blood volume of the elderly patient in surgery, new findings concerning blood-protein factors in the elderly, the comparatively new science of rehabilitation of the aged. Put them all together and you get a fact like this:

Today, in U.S. hospitals, successful surgery on patients past 60 is up 25 to 100 per cent over only 10 or 15 years ago.

Another facet to the same picture is a little story told by a New York surgeon, Dr. Arthur Aufses. It seems that in 1948 he performed what was then a rare chest operation on an 83-year-old woman. The other day he was out walking when an elderly lady stopped him to inquire, "Doctor, don't you remember me?" It was the same patient — 93, and still going strong.

OPERATING-ROOM LINEUP shows tools of today's anesthesiologist. On table (l. to r.): machine to regulate irregular heartbeat; drugs to anesthetize a patient, revive him, regulate his blood pressure, replace his body fluids; egg-shaped anesthesia mask; speedometer-like device (with tube) to measure breathing; machine connections; tubes to help "breathe" for patient; temperature-recording device (large dial). At rear (l. to r.): machine to record brain waves, heart action; machine to deliver anesthesia; machine (with screens) to picture heart action; respirator; machine (white finish) to start heart action if it stops; oxygen tank.

HAVE YOUR HEADLIGHTS AIMED NOW!

How to Tell Whether You Have Modern Headlights!

• Look at the lens of your headlamps. If there are three aiming points moulded into the lens, you have modern headlamps that can be aimed quickly, accurately and give much more light. They're on all new cars. Replacements are available in both conventional and dual types.

Do you drive at night in a hit-or-miss fashion?
Chances are you do, if your headlights have not been aimed in the last six months. Improperly aimed headlights can rob you of as much as 80% of your available light, causing you to overdrive your lights even at legal speed limits.

You can't tell whether your lights need aiming just by looking at them. There's only one way to be absolutely sure of a full margin of safety. Have your headlights checked and aimed periodically. Stop at your General Motors dealer's or wherever you see the AIM TO LIVE sign. And if your headlights are three years old, replace them with the new, modern headlamps (with three aiming points on the lens). They will give you 15% more light in a far better pattern, and they can be aimed quickly and accurately.

THE TRUTH ABOUT

Actresses and their men

by LLOYD SHEARER

HOLLYWOOD.

A few weeks ago four events occurred here, public reaction to which shattered the usual blasé composure of the movie colony. These occurrences were:

1) Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter stabbed to death her mother's boodlum gigolo, John Stompanato, 32.

2) Judy Garland charged that her husband, Sid Luft, had beaten and attempted to strangle her on many occasions. Later she announced a reconciliation.

3) Loretta Young's husband, advertising executive Tom Lewis, sued his wife and her business associate, alleging "dishonesty, mismanagement and unfairness," then revealed that in 1956 he and Miss Young had

Some actresses are self-centered, domineering—and divided their community property. It was disclosed he was raising their two sons in New York and would not return here.

4) Esther Williams, 35, divorced husband Ben Gage on the ground that he stayed out until 5 a.m., adding credence to the rumor that the divorce was motivated by her hope of marrying actor Jeff Chandler.

The reaction of the public to these happenings was one of disillusionment with screen stars as a group. And disenchanted fans have been asking questions. Typical of the many letters sent to studios, columnists and newspapers is one to this correspondent from a housewife in Portland, Ore.

"Are these actresses idiots? What sort of women are they anyway? Is there any publication that will tell us the truth?"

This article is an attempt to answer those questions. To understand how Lana Turner could have associated with a gangster like Stompanato, one must first know the truth about Miss Turner. Apparently incapable of living a manless existence for any great length of time, Lana invariably has chosen men who lack her kindness, charm and money-making capacity. As Ava Gardner once pithily put it, "When it comes to men, Lana and I are the world's lousiest pickers."

It isn't commonly known that Lana is half-Spanish (which is why so many of her literary endearments to Stompanato were penned in that language). She started going with boys in San Francisco after she was expelled from Presentation Convent for not abiding by the rules. Lana's father was a small-time gambler who was murdered in an unsolved San Francisco case when she was 10. Her mother was busy running a beauty shop. As a result, her rearing was not strictly supervised.

marry men who use them

As a teenager, Lana was in love with love and crazy about boys who had money or looks or the biggest cars. She rarely had money herself — her mother found the going tough — and for a while Lana worked as a waitress at The Eagle's Nest, a lunch-bar hangout near the high school. Close friends were not surprised when Lana went to Hollywood and was "discovered." The publicized story of Lana's "accidental discovery" in an ice-cream parlor is only partly true. Her mother always had planned a show-business career for her.

These glimpses of Lana's background may partially explain her later affiliation with Stompanato. They point up her need for masculine companionship and admiration.

Pick-up by Phone

Stompanato lived by his good looks, extracting money from frustrated and susceptible women. He came upon the scene last year after Lana's fifth marriage, to actor Lex Barker, had ended in divorce.

If you move in the right Hollywood circles, it's easy to obtain the phone number of a movie queen. Stompanato had quite a few. Phoning Lana one evening, he said, "I've heard so much about you. How about having a drink with me?" Lana's first reaction was proper and negative. But eventually, by phoning three or four times a week, Stompanato wore her down. They met, and Lana was charmed by his looks. He thereupon moved into Lana's life and refused to move out.

What did Lana see in Stompanato? Clinton Anderson, chief of Beverly Hills Police, says, "You know how some women are. They like to have a man around. Lana was working hard, leading a respectable life. Then Stompanato came along. We knew what was going on. But what could we do? We couldn't intervene until the roof fell in."

Is Lana Turner typical of leading Hollywood actresses? Are many others just as badly adjusted in their relationships with men?

A leading Hollywood psychiatrist told PARADE, "Many actresses choose mates whom they do not love but whom they want to love them. What they say in effect is, 'I am so beautiful you must love me.' The only type of man who will buy that is crooked, immature, subnormal or psychopathic."

Where do most Hollywood husbands come from? Many are actors eager and ambitious for success, or charming, unskilled men who want an actress to manage, or operators who intend to use an actress-wife as a bargaining tool in the climb to Hollywood success.

A veteran private detective here claims that many actresses are so intent upon using their husbands purely as chattel or as professional escorts that they never realize that their husbands also intend to use them.

"Take Ginger Rogers," he offers. "She goes to Paris a few years ago and brings back this big strapping French youngster, Jacques Bergerac. He's 15 or 20 years younger than she is, and I think he used to work as a hotel clerk. Ginger takes him down to Palm Springs, gets her agent to fix him up with a contract at MGM. Soon they're married. How long can such a marriage last? The minute he gets any kind of break he's going to rebel. That's exactly what happened."

AVA GARDNER, here looking svelte, admits she's jealous, possessive and a "lousy" picker of men.

A columnist who used to be an actress herself told PARADE, "It's easy to call Lana Turner or Ginger Rogers silly and fatuous. But look at all the other actresses who have taken young husbands. Greer Garson married Richard Ney. Ann Sothern married Bob Sterling. Bette Davis married William Sherry. Barbara Stanwyck married Bob Taylor. All ended in divorce. As a matter of fact, there's hardly an actress in Hollywood who hasn't been divorced at least once."

Formula for Happiness

The most happily married actresses in Hollywood are those who have just about retired, or those who—like Ann Blyth, Cyd Charisse, Hope Lange, Jane Wyatt, Rosemary Clooney — look on their careers as secondary to marriage.

Where an actress holds her career in higher regard than she does her husband — "I can always get another husband, but where can I get another career?" is a favorite crack of such girls — then the marriage has about as much chance for happiness as Lana Turner had with Johnny Stompanato.

Unfortunately, Hollywood has too many actresses who, despite protests to the contrary, are more in love with money and the starry heights than marriage and the steady husband.

Juniors in cotton —and in style

by VIRGINIA POPE

Parade fashion editor

As the new fashion settles down, a number of silhouettes are emerging as particular favorites: the trapeze, the melon, the trumpet. They're all available to the American girl who wears a junior size (5 to 15), in a nice variety of summer cottons and at popular prices. The trapeze, which has been adapted in many ways, is shown here (lower left) in a coat version. The chemise is becoming the darling of the juniors for all hours of the day. And there's the Empire variation with a high-waist accent, a late starter that's coming up fast. Its converse, the very low-waisted middy dress, generally is completed by a full skirt that has a gay easy swing. The more sophisticated trumpet silhouette is characterized by a tubular top and a low-set flounce. And for evening, the full-skirted dress — whether the old-fashioned bouffant or the very new puffed melon — still is the favorite.

Three ways to use peanut butter

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

Every so often it's good to be reminded of "everyday" food products on your pantry shelf that can play a "special" role — dressing up a recipe, adding flavor distinction to plain food. Peanut butter is one such product. Perhaps you've never thought of it except as a spread for bread. But when you try today's recipes, you'll change your mind. There's rich peanut flavor in the soup and the dessert, and teamed with bacon in grilled sandwiches. And don't forget — peanuts are a source of high protein, energy and important B-vitamins.

Here's a wonderfully different version of custard bread pudding. To vary it, use brown sugar or add a half cup of raisins.

DIXIE PUDDING: Scald 2 cups milk; add 1 cup soft bread crumbs; let stand 15 minutes. Meanwhile, add ¼ cup light cream slowly to ½ cup peanut butter; beat smooth. Add another ¼ cup cream; beat smooth; add to bread-crumb mixture. Combine 1 beaten egg, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vanilla; mix well; add. Spoon into greased custard cups; set in pan of warm water. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 1 hour or until knife inserted near edge comes out clean. Chill. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Serves six.

Truly a meal-in-a-bowl, this smooth, rich, creamy soup will surprise family — and guests — with its delightful, mellow flavor.

VIRGINIA BISQUE: Blend 6 tablespoons peanut butter and 4 tablespoons flour in top of double boiler. Stir in 1 can condensed tomato soup and 1 quart milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Cover; cook 10 minutes longer. Serve in bowls, garnishing each with a spoonful of dairy sour cream. Makes six good-sized servings.

Try this perfect partner for a warm-weather soup-and-sandwich lunch or supper. For dessert, fresh fruit would be ideal.

GRILLED SANDWICHES: Spread 6 slices bread generously with peanut butter. Crumble crisp bacon over peanut butter; top with 6 slices of bread. Brush sandwiches on both sides with melted butter or margarine. Grill until golden brown on electric table grill or hot griddle. Makes six sandwiches. Note: Crunchy-style peanut butter may be used if preferred. FROM PARADE'S TEST KITCHEN

PARIS.

THE ARTIST whose work is sampled on these pages may be creating masterpieces for tomorrow — or pulling one of the great hoaxes of today. With modern art, it's hard to be sure. Georges Mathieu's paintings look like blobs thrown at the canvas because that's just what they are. They may be striking, evocative, haunting, but they're still produced by hurling paintbrushes at canvas javelin-style. Mathieu himself, a dedicated eccentric, lives in a stately villa on the edge of town with a page whose duties include keeping the busts of famous personages turned to the wall. (Mathieu opposes too much civilization.) Nicknamed "The Duke of Brabant," the painter drives a yellow Rolls-Royce, sports a mustache which turns down at the ends much as Salvador Dali's turns up. His work baffles some viewers, but at least one respected critic (a Japanese professor) calls him "the greatest French painter after Picasso." Commercially, the latter view seems to prevail. Mathieu gets about $800 a square yard for "medium" efforts, more for better ones. At 37, he need have little concern for posterity. He has it made right now.

Spear-thrower's run illustrates Mathieu's method. The Eiffel Tower is visible behind his right hand.

'How much lumber do you

Giant band saw bites out important first cut of a log as Virgil Rogers family, visiting a Washington timber plant, watches operation from guests' catwalk.

LOGS ARRIVE from woods via flatcar as family looks on. Overhead crane lifts them gently, sets them down in Columbia River to float to mill. Gentle drop avoids splintering.

LOGS FLOAT to sawmill after being sorted by agile "boom men." Long pike poles help workers to maneuver 48-foot logs into bins according to their thickness and species.

LOGS END UP as timbers like the 24"-by-24" monsters towering over family above. Guide Glee Ann Gardner (r.) hands pamphlets to Marian, Roberta, Gayland and Virgil Rogers.

make a day?'

This family learned that visiting U.S. industry can give you both facts and fun

FRIENDLY FORESTER explains scientific reseeding program to Roberta, 12, and Gayland Rogers, 10.

"PUBLIC PARK" operated by timber firm is family camp site. Fish-filled river flows in background.

LONGVIEW, WASH.

It takes a Douglas fir tree 150 to 200 years to reach its full 4-foot girth and 200-foot height. It takes about a week to cut it down with a chain saw, truck, rail and float it 50 miles to a sawmill, slice it into lumber, cure it in a kiln and pack it into boxcars for shipping and use in home-building. How these giant trees are reduced to manageable and useful dimensions provided a fascinating, educational — and economical — vacation stopover here recently for the Virgil Rogers family.

At Longview, 50 miles northwest of Portland, Ore., Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. operates one of the world's largest wood-processing plants, including sawmills, pulp mills, plywood plant, prefabricating plant, chemical and bark-products plants. The operation stretches for two miles along the Columbia River. A guided tour of the plant takes about three hours.

"This kind of thing is great for kids," said Virgil Rogers after guide Glee Ann Gardner had conducted the family through the mill. "They ask the most sensible questions and pick up the best information. Only they don't think of it as a lesson."

Resources Spell Progress

A visit to Weyerhaeuser — or to any of the thousands of U.S. industries that welcome visitors — is a lesson, a lesson about America. Natural resources, like the mountainside cathedrals of Douglas firs here, and industry, which capitalized on them, explain the rise of 13 backwoods colonies to world economic power. Industrial smokestacks are the backbone of the nation; industry provides millions of jobs, billions in income, hundreds of billions in goods.

As you and your family travel this summer, you'll find thousands of industries eager to show off. (Best bet is to write ahead to the Chamber of Commerce of the city or cities you plan to visit, asking for a list of plant tours.) You can see industry of all types, and you'll find it a cheap way to learn about America, since most tours are free.

Perhaps you'll want to include an industry near your home. Perhaps, if your vacation takes you to the Northwest, you'll want to visit one of the 10 Weyerhaeuser plants which welcome visitors. (Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Tacoma Bldg., Tacoma 1, Wash., can furnish a full list. West Coast Lumbermen's Assn., 1410 S.W. Morrison, Portland 5, Ore., lists other plants with guided tours.)

Here are some of the things that interested the Rogers family — Virgil, his wife Marian and their children, quiet Roberta, 12, and lively Gayland, 10 — during their tour here.

- A giant crane that lifted piles of six 48-foot logs and dropped them gently into a pond to be floated to the sawmill.
- An ingenious "barker" that blasted logs with a high-pressure (1,400-lb.) water stream, removing bark without damaging the wood.
- A massive band saw, 59 feet long, that could chew through logs 7 feet thick.
- A plywood machine which "peeled" logs, converting them into continuous sheets as thin as one-tenth of an inch.
- An impressive battery of machines that could slice, square, sort and stack semi-finished lumber.
- A hard-working crew of 4,200 employes who made the machines go.

The family talked to the mill's key man, George Gilles, 69. As chief sawyer, Gilles quarterbacks the giant mill's whole operation from a tiny booth full of buttons and levers. His "head rig," a huge band saw, makes the first cut into the log. Gilles must judge — quickly — from that cut how the log should be cut further to get the most valuable lumber from it. To date, he has cut more than 2 billion feet of lumber.

On a catwalk above the head rig, the family began their tour. The children were full of questions. "How do you stand the noise?" (Many employes wear ear plugs.) "How much lumber do you make a day?" (1,250,000 board feet, enough for 150 three-bedroom houses.) "What's the biggest tree you ever had?" (10½ feet across.) "What happens to the scraps?" (They're converted into pulp.) "What happens to the bark?" (Valuable chemicals, which can be used to prevent food spoilage, are extracted from it. Chips can be used for molding, glue and insulation.)

Almost every splinter of the tree is used, the Rogers discovered. About 20 per cent — top, limbs and small bits — remains in the woods. Three-fourths of the rest goes into lumber. The other 25 per cent goes into pulp manufacture and ends up as paper.

The logging camps, of course, were off limits to visitors, but the family did visit the St. Helens Tree Farm, which feeds the operation at Longview. Here foresters explained modern, scientific timbering: big blocks are cleared completely, but other blocks of trees are left standing to reseed the area naturally.

And in this vicinity, the family capitalized on another Weyerhaeuser service. Traveling with tent and camp gear, they pitched camp in Harry E. Morgan Park, on State Route 1-R, one of 22 such parks maintained by the company and open to the public. (You can obtain a full list of these parks by writing Weyerhaeuser. You can find out about parks operated by other firms from the West Coast Lumbermen's Assn.)

Fish and a Picnic

The 10-by-12 umbrella tent went up near the north fork of the Toutle River. Gayland, a young outdoorsman, and his dad were able to fish for steelhead and trout nearby. Firewood was furnished. (The nation's largest timber producer hires a private logger to do this.) There were fireplaces and picnic tables.

These park areas are one answer to the forest-fire problem. By concentrating campers and picnickers at patrolled spots, they cut down the possibilities of fires in remote areas. Begun only a few years ago, the plan has been spreading widely.

The four Rogers stayed in the park only two nights, for there was more vacation to come. But when they left, they felt they had learned a bonus lesson about modern American industry. In this country, industry goes out of its way to welcome people. This may be your summer to accept the invitation — to take advantage of an opportunity to know America better.

And before you go, these are things you should remember to do: 1) Advise local police of your absence and have them check your home. 2) Leave a copy of your route and license number with a neighbor for emergencies. 3) Lock windows and doors, turn off appliances and pull main electric switch. 4) Stop milk delivery. 5) Continue your daily newspaper and have it forwarded or held for your return. ■

IN 1932 Arthur Barry (glasses) is shown being taken back to Auburn prison, out of which he shot his way three years before.

99 years is

Ex-gem thief, five years in solitary, says

Not long ago, in a report on prison reform, the Prison Association of New York asserted that merely keeping felons locked up is not the function of a prison.

But a man who once spent five straight years in solitary confinement challenges that assertion. He is Arthur Barry, imprisoned during the 1920s for looting wealthy homes of more than $5 million in gems. Says Barry: "As far as the wardens and guards are concerned, it is the function of a prison. Their job is done when every man is locked up in his cell and accounted for."

Barry's five years in solitary is a hitherto unrecorded chapter in his crime career. It did not end when he was sentenced to 25 years in the maximum-security prison at Auburn, N.Y. In 1929, he and three other convicts shot their way out in a break that triggered one of the worst prison riots in history. Recaptured, he was sentenced to seven years for escape, five to be spent in solitary.

Today a respected citizen with a job and a deep interest in problems of juvenile delinquency and prison rehabilitation, Barry here tells this story for the first time.—THE EDITORS

SOLITARY confinement is a deliberate effort to break a prisoner's spirit so that he will conform to rules and regulations.

It is total isolation. I was in my cell seven days a week. I ate my meals there. I was not permitted in the exercise yard but was taken to a cage on the prison roof for an hour a day. I was allowed one bath a week. I could not work or attend church. I could write one letter a week and was given books, but no newspapers.

TODAY, rehabilitated, Barry has a good job as manager of a New England restaurant chain. Key to rehabilitation, he thinks, is an indeterminate sentence — plus parole.

And so I spent 23 hours a day in that 6'-by-8' cell. Always I had to fight the impulse to scream or bang my head against the wall: I soon learned that this kind of a "break-up act" would bring the guards down the line shooting tear gas into the cells to quiet things down.

It is true that some of the inmates' outbursts were phony, staged just to get out of isolation and into the hospital. But most were real. I saw about 20 men taken out of isolation — some in strait jackets — in a state of screaming insanity.

When the Mind Breaks

But there was another form of escape. A man would lapse into what is known as "prison stupor," which is living death. Failing to keep his mind active, the prisoner retreats into the past and gradually loses contact with reality. In prison lingo, he is "ready for the straw hat" — the mental institution.

Yet for some, even that wasn't the end of the line. I know men who fully recovered under treatment in the mental hospital, regained their freedom and are now living normal lives. I also know men who finished their sentences in solitary, then came out into a "dog-eat-dog" world bitterly hating all officers of the law and everything they stand for.

During my five years, there was one period when I was out of my cell and into something worse than solitary. It happened that, in the cell next to mine, there was a fellow who was mad at himself and the world at large. As soon as the lights were turned off at night he would start kicking the wall and keep on kicking until daylight. His way of getting even, I guess. After several nights of this, I was afraid I really was going to crack up.

One day I met this fellow in the corridor on the way to my weekly bath. He made some sarcastic remark. Jittery from those sleepless nights, I blew my top and belted him in the mouth.

That meant the "cooler" for me. This was a black, rectangular hole in the wall. There, dressed only in underwear and socks, I slept on the damp, bitterly cold floor. The blanket I was given covered me only from my neck to my ankles. My "meals" consisted of two thin slices of bread and two glasses of water a day. I spent 10 days in the cooler. There was one small satisfaction: They told me I broke that fellow of his kicking habit. It was a tough price to pay for peace and quiet.

The next time I left my cell for an extended period I was carried out — to the prison hospital. For weeks I had suffered an agonizing pain in my right side. I begged the guard to call the prison doctor, but he thought I was faking and ignored me. It was during the winter, with the temperature 18 below outside and close to zero in the unheated cell.

Finally, when I no longer could get out of bed, the guard decided I really was sick and sent for the doctor. He discovered I had an infected gall bladder and rushed me to the operating table.

Back in solitary after I recovered, I was weak and shaky, perilously close to breaking up. To keep my mind active, I mentally built and furnished the house I hoped to live in when I got out.

There is a curious twist to this. You retain your sanity at a price, so to speak. The constant turmoil of thoughts makes it more and more difficult to sleep. After long solitary confinement, it will take a man years to learn how to sleep again.

Along with all my planning, I kept trying to devise some practical scheme to get out. Finally I decided to go right to the top. I wrote the New York State Commissioner of Correction: "Either put me to work, transfer me or shoot me. I don't give a damn which you do."

It wasn't that I felt I was going to break. For that matter, I don't think another year or another five years in solitary could have broken me. But I wanted to get out of there.

When the Commissioner came to Auburn on one of his regular visits, he sent for me and said: "Barry, if we give you a chance, will you pull another 1929 act?"

He meant the prison break. I answered: "Mr. Commissioner, I have no intention of doing anything like that, and if you'll give me a chance I'll prove it."

I Kept My Word

Subsequently I was transferred to another maximum-security prison at Attica, N.Y., where I was put with the regular prison population. There I served the remaining 12 years of my sentence. To this day, I have kept my word to the Commissioner, to those who believed in me — and to myself.

I have thought a lot about rehabilitation, and these are my conclusions:

- The way to rehabilitate a prisoner is to give him something to look forward to. When, for example, a man is given 99 to 100 years, or two natural life sentences, he loses all hope.
- The law that compels a judge to impose that kind of a sentence should be taken off the books.
- All sentences should be indeterminate, starting with one year and going up to what the judge thinks is reasonable. That will give the prisoner hope — some reason to rehabilitate himself — and his own efforts then will regulate his time in prison.
- Let the prisoner finish his sentence under strict parole, outside, where his freedom will last just so long as he behaves himself. That, by the way, would save taxpayers the $700 we spend each year to keep each man in prison.

You may ask if solitary confinement did me any good. I say solitary never did anything constructive for anybody. But it can do something else: make a hopeless rebel of a man — or drive him mad.

Faces of the world

Part of the big U.S. exhibit, Circarama is, in effect, a full-circle screen showing color movies of life in America. Spectators stand in the center of the building — a circular pavilion — and above their heads the movie, with full sound effects, is shown on a screen extending around the entire circumference. The film, prepared by Walt Disney, is an 18-minute documentary that whisks you through a dramatic tour of the U.S. — from New York harbor and Times Square to rural life in Vermont, from San Francisco's cable cars and Golden Gate Bridge to Williamsburg and majestic panoramas of the Rockies.

To European visitors, as these photos indicate, Circarama is a startling, often overwhelming experience. Unfortunately, of the 40,000,000 people expected to visit the Fair, only about 3,000,000 (because of Circarama's limited capacity) will have a chance to see this great film.

LATIN AMERICA STILL IS PRODUCING...

The world's richest

by JAMES BRYANS

Not too long ago, ex-dictator Juan Domingo Perón of Argentina occupied a hotel suite in Caracas, Venezuela. Outside the door, a silver plaque read: Vuelve Perón (Perón will return). But this January the sloganeer had to pack his bags and follow his former host to new exile. Marcos Pérez Jiménez, dictator of Venezuela, also had been thrown out.

Was this the begining of the end for the old-time Latin American dictator? Was the legendary "man on horseback" making his last ride?

Within a scant five years no less than five south-of-the-border strong men have left on the run, taking with them as consolation an estimated billion dollars. Their three remaining dictatorial colleagues have reason to shiver in their boots. So, at least, say such informed observers as Dr. Germán Arciniegas of Columbia University. Says he: "The Latin countries, once isolated from democratic influences from abroad, fell into the hands of money-grabbing gangsters. Today, real democratic forces are at work. These men cannot last."

Meanwhile, five ex-dictators are "on the lam" with unlimited funds. Who are they? Where are they? What are they up to? Here are their dossiers . . .

• Jacobo Arbenz Guzmán, handsome, leftist strong man of Guatemala, took power in 1950. When anti-Communist forces overthrew him in July, 1954, he lost a fast-amassed personal fortune estimated at $5 million. But Arbenz, recently reported in Uruguay, still has deposits abroad — estimated at "plenty."

• Juan Domingo Perón, 62, is said to own not merely a silver plaque but some $700 million, largely stashed away in U.S. and European banks. When he fled Argentina in September, 1955, he left 400 suits, 14 autos, four palatial homes, several hideouts and $20 million in cash — apparently without even wincing. When he showed up in Venezuela in 1956, he carried an estimated $175 million in cash.

• Paul E. Magliore, 50, big-chested former President of Haiti, ruled behind the scenes for four years prior to his election in 1950. His paternal approach won him such epithets as "Iron Pants" and "Good Papa" — until his ouster in December, 1956, after reportedly skimming $12 million off the top of public-works projects. Today, apparently inactive, he lives in New York City.

runaways

• Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, 57, gaunt ex-dictator of Colombia, seized power in June, 1953. In May, 1957, when a rigged election backfired, Rojas was deposed and fled to Spain with his family — and a reported $25 million.

• Marcos Pérez Jiménez, 43, plump former boss of Venezuela, left this January after five years of rule. "P.J.," whose pastimes were said to include the pursuit of teen-age playmates on one of his 30 motor scooters, decamped to the Dominican Republic with a reputed $247 million. Recently the ex-dictator and his family were reported buying a $400,000 home in Miami Beach, Fla.

Big Deals in Cuba

These five examples might well sober the three who still sit shakily astride their white horses. Yet to outward appearances they're still living in the free-wheeling, free-stealing past.

Informed sources set the private fortune of Cuba's Fulgencio Batista at $100 million — allegedly derived from gambling and real-estate deals. Paraguay's Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, boss of an impoverished land, presumably is getting what he can. So is the Dominican Republic's Rafael Trujillo, who has rather larger opportunities. Though his nephew Hector is the country's "elected" president, Trujillo runs the tightest dictatorship in the hemisphere. Says an observer: "Nobody can tell what belongs to the Dominican Republic and what to Trujillo."

Traditionally, Latin America's top dogs have made off with everything that wasn't nailed down. But traditions — including this one — can change.

INCUMBENT Cuban chief Fulgencio Batista: When he leaves, observers say he'll be able to take perhaps $100 million.

HAS-BEEN Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, former strong man of Colombia, seems contented in retirement with his wife, money.

New lineup: Latin America's heads of state

Above you've read of five dictators who are gone. With three exceptions, most of the current leaders were elected, and govern, in the democratic tradition. Here they are, by countries.

1	ARGENTINA	Arturo Frondizi
2	BOLIVIA	Hernán Siles Zuazo
3	BRAZIL	Juscelino Kubitschek
4	CHILE	Carlos Ibáñez
5	COLOMBIA	(military junta)
6	COSTA RICA	Mario Echandi
7	CUBA	Fulgencio Batista
8	DOMINICAN REP.	Hector B. Trujillo Molina
9	ECUADOR	Camilio Ponce Enriquez
10	EL SALVADOR	José María Lemus
11	GUATEMALA	Miguel Idígoras Fuentes
12	HAITI	François Duvalier
13	HONDURAS	Ramón Villeda Morales
14	MEXICO	Adolfo Ruíz Cortines
15	NICARAGUA	Luis Somoza
16	PANAMA	Ernesto de la Guardia, Jr.

Do BLESSED MEDALS Really Protect Us?

You see a Catholic with a religious medal hanging from a chain around his neck.

And if you don't understand what it means... and why he wears it... you may imagine, as some do, that he is merely ignorant or superstitious.

Catholics, of course, don't believe any more than you do that a mere piece of metal has supernatural value, even with a sacred image engraved upon it. Nor do they believe that the blessings derived from medals and other devotional objects come from the objects themselves.

It is the official prayer, the blessing of Christ's Church, that gives special value to a medal. The prayer is the appeal of the world-wide church for God's blessing upon those who... with piety and reverence... associate themselves with a particular devotion. The medal is merely a sign or symbol of something that does possess spiritual power—the blessing and prayer of the church.

Blessed medals, of which there are many, are called "sacramentals." Holy water, candles, scapulars and other devotional objects are also sacramentals, or devotional objects blessed and authorized by the church as aids to piety and worship. Their use by Catholics is a matter of choice, not obligation. And they are not to be confused with the Sacraments, instituted by Christ Himself, which do constitute an obligation upon all Catholics.

Catholics believe... and the Bible confirms... that Jesus did establish His Church. He gave it the authority to teach, to baptize, to forgive or remit sins, to minister to His "flock." When His disciples said: "Lord, teach us to pray", he taught them; and he assured them their prayers would be heard in heaven.

For nearly 2,000 years, Catholics the world over have been wondrously blessed by the prayers of the whole Church... and their own... through a wide variety of practices and devotions. Therefore, when you see a Catholic with a blessed medal hanging from a chain around his neck, you can be sure he is not praying to the medal itself... nor to the image upon it ...but that he and millions like him are uniting their prayer to God Himself for a special purpose.

The sacramentals of the Catholic Church are a powerful aid to piety and devotion. And whether you're a Catholic or not, it will be interesting and helpful to you to read our free pamphlet explaining the Rosary, holy water, the Sign of the Cross, Scapulars, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, etc. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. PR-38. It will be sent free in a plain wrapper; nobody will call on you.

A career job for youth after school

Not going to college? This experience may help you

Today, many girls are finishing high school, not planning on college, but refusing to settle for "just a job." They are training for and getting career jobs — work they can get some satisfaction out of now, and can go back to in later years if they wish.

Pretty, slender, brown-haired Marigayle Failor, 20, is one of these.

Eighteen months after being graduated from Lemoyne High School, Harrisburg, Pa., she had her diploma from the Harrisburg Institute of Medical Arts. She now is medical assistant to two doctors, general practitioner Stanley Wetmore and pediatrician Virginia Williams. She started at $50 a week, good for Harrisburg, and she stretches her salary by living at home and walking to work.

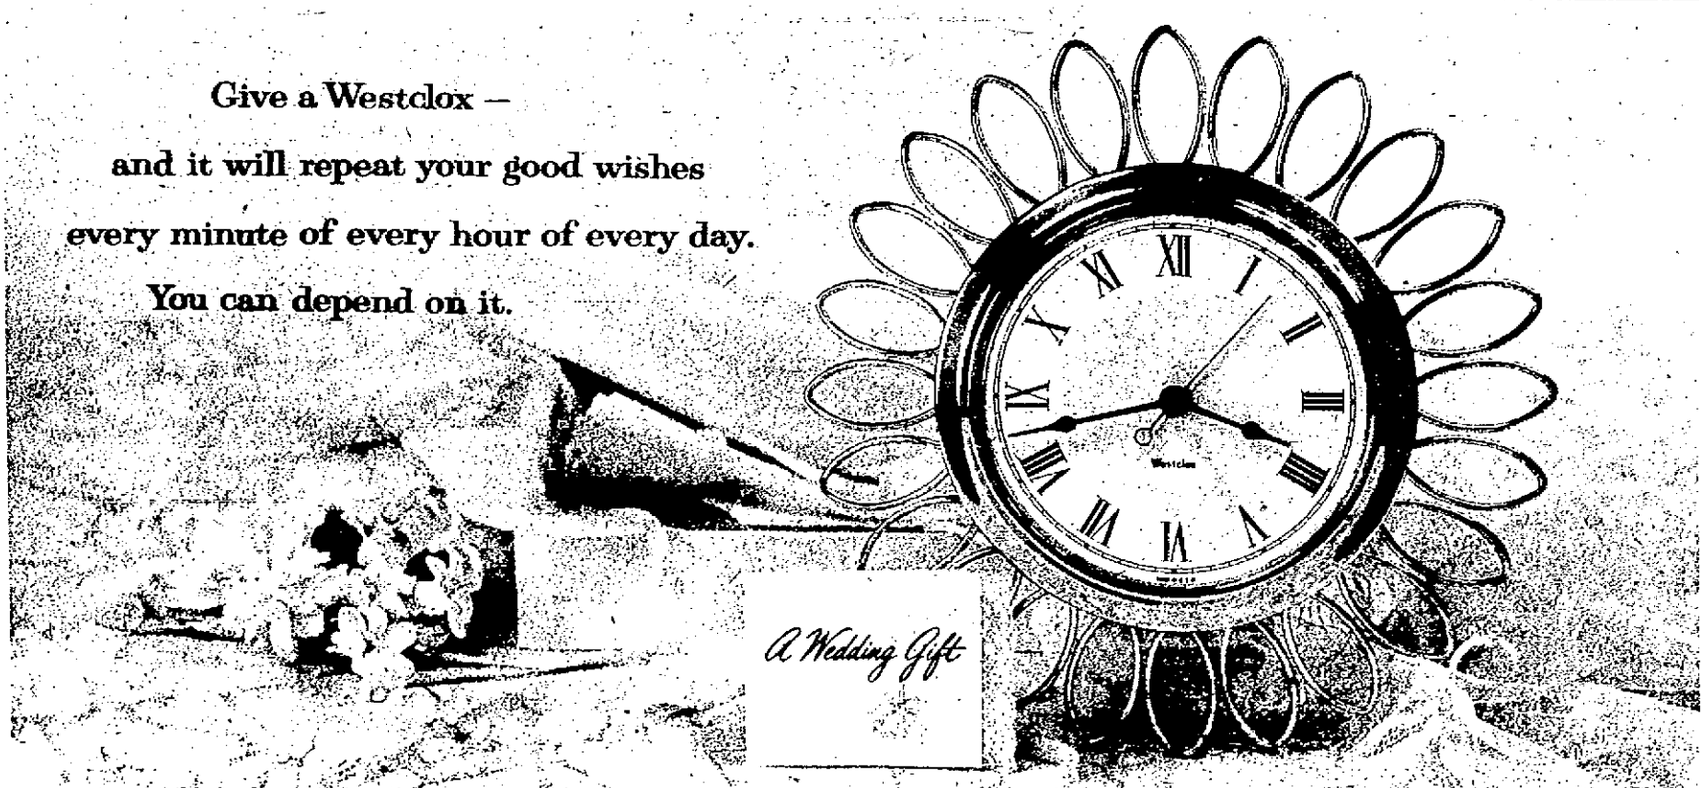

At the office she is the entire staff. She prepares patients for examinations, sterilizes instruments for her bosses' use, does routine lab tests. She also is the receptionist, writes the letters and keeps the books.

"Handling frantic telephone calls baffled me at first," she confesses. By now Marigayle, who has a sweet gentle voice, has learned how to advise and comfort a patient or a patient's worried parents.

"I like talking to people," she told me. "I like being around them. I guess I just like people." This, her school counselor says, is one of the first requirements for anyone in the health field.

Medical assistants are in high demand. Every member of Marigayle's class at the Institute had a job before graduation. They work in hospitals, insurance companies and health clinics, as well as for physicians in private practice. The larger the city, the higher the salary is apt to be. One of Marigayle's friends, three years out of school, is making $100 a week in Philadelphia.

Though it is possible to begin as an apprentice and learn on the job, Marigayle decided that the $500 and 18 months needed for a course was worth the solid start it would give her. (It now is $600 and 24 months.) Emphasis at her school is on lab skills, medical terminology and nursing techniques. Basic secretarial training also is required.

She's Not a Nurse

"School is terrific," Marigayle told me. "I loved every minute of it. And I landed this job six months before I graduated."

All her life Marigayle had been interested in medicine. But nursing didn't appeal to her. She didn't want to spend eight years getting an M.D. And "medical secretary" sounded more "secretary" than "medical."

Then, during her junior year in high school, she went to a Career Night. That's when people from various professions and trades describe their jobs and tell about the requirements — and the rewards.

Marigayle was astonished to learn that there were more than 150 different opportunities in the health field for men and women. When "medical assistant" was described, she was almost certain it was what she wanted. "I was amazed. It seemed to have everything I had been looking for."

The variety in the job, the opportunity to help people, even the hours appealed to her.

She's on duty about 35 hours a week, but not the usual business hours — 10 to 4:30 Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays; Thursday, Saturday, Sunday afternoons off; on duty three nights a week, from 7 to 9.

Marigayle is engaged to a nice fellow who's studying to be a teacher. She intends to work after they're married — at least for a while. "I can't imagine giving up my career quite yet."

Now, here are four tips from Marigayle for high-school students seeking careers.

Look — Then Settle Down

1) Be curious. Be broadminded. Look into all sorts of opportunities — even ones you're pretty sure you don't want. Chances are you don't know how many different ones there are. Here's where your school counselor can be a big help.

2) When you think you've found something you like, investigate it. Talk to somebody who does this kind of work. Learn the bad things about it as well as the good ones. You owe it to yourself as well as your employer not to leap into something blind.

3) Even if you think you know what you want, keep an open mind — at least while you still are in high school. Things may change. Maybe you'll go to college after all. Something may come up that you like better.

4) Once you start work, or start training for your work, settle down. Stop thinking of all the other things you might have done. Stick to your choice — at least until you have given it a fair trial. Maybe at times you won't like it. But that's to be expected of any job. It's a waste of your talents, your money and your time to skip from school to school or from job to job.

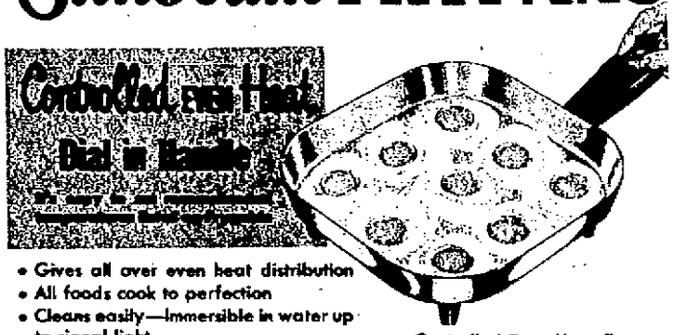

To find out about medical-assistant training near your home, call your local or county medical society.

For information about other careers in health, consult the Health Careers guidebook in your school library. If your library doesn't have it, you can get it free by writing to The National Health Council, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N.Y. ■

WAL Pilots OK Proposal; Strike Over

Planes to Return to Service Within Next Two Weeks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The three-month Western Air Lines strike virtually ended Saturday with the acceptance by the pilots of a proposal to submit unsettled issues to arbitration.

The company began work immediately to get its planes back in the air but said it would be at least 10 days before it could restore its flight service to 47 cities in the western United States, Canada and Mexico.

Under the proposal, which was accepted Friday by the airline, negotiations will continue for five more days. Any issues still unresolved will then go to arbitration, with both sides bound to accept the arbitrators' award.

• • • •

STILL TO BE WORKED out before the strike is officially called off are details of the back-to-work agreement and the machinery for arbitration. Both the company and the Air Line Pilots Assn. said they expected no difficulties on either matter.

The company said it would start at once recalling its 2,700 other employes, including stewardesses, flight engineers and ticket agents, and would put flying personnel through a refresher course.

Matters still to be thrashed out, either during the next five days or by the arbitrator, include wages, pensions, vacations, and the duration of the new contract.

Big 3 Car Builders Raise Pay

DETROIT (AP) — The automotive Big Three Saturday announced pay increases for 173,000 salaried employes and non-union hourly paid workers.

Ford, Chrysler and General Motors have contracts with the United Auto Workers which provide cost-of-living allowances and an improvement-factor pay increase to UAW members. The companies traditionally make the same benefits to employes not represented by a union.

• • • •

FORD GRANTED 45,000 salaried workers a $10.40 quarterly cost-of-living increase and a 2½-per-cent improvement-factor pay boost, effective June 1.

General Motors said the pay increases would apply to 10,000 non-union hourly paid workers and 94,000 salaried workers. The raises are effective May 29 and June 1, respectively.

Chrsyler Corp. announced at the same time its 24,000 salried employes not represented by unions will receive increases effective June 2.

Four Injured in Collision of Car, Truck

HARBOR CITY—Four persons were hurt, two critically, when an automobile and a pickup truck collided Saturday at the intersection of Figueroa St. and Lomita Blvd.

Winford Brooks, 19, of 1033 W. 253rd St., driver of the automobile, and a passenger, Clifford Bynum, 42, of the same address, were in critical condition in Harbor General Hospital. Another passenger, Benjamin Thomas, 39, of 25502 Marigold Ave., was treated in the same hospital.

Police said the auto collided with a pickup truck driven by Lee King, 29, of 22138 Neptune Ave., Torrance. The car was hurled into a utility pole. King was treated at Wilmington Receiving Hospital.

Firemen Cool Blackened Remains of Oil Plant

A LONG STREAM OF WATER plays over the fire-blackened remains of Hancock Oil Co. refinery at Signal Hill Saturday as the last flames flicker and die. Firemen battled the inferno for three days and two nights. At right is the crumpled wall of the tank where the multi-million-dollar blaze started about 2 p.m. Thursday. At left, foreground, is the catalytic cracking tower, a key installation in the ultra-modern refinery. Also at left, in the distance, is the municipal gas plant, spared by favorable winds and the heroic labors of fire fighters.—(Staff Photo by Bob Shumway)

Hancock Refinery Fire Killed in 52-Hour Fight by 600 Men

The last flames of the devastating Hancock Oil Co. fire flickered out at approximately 6 p.m. Saturday, 52 hours after it began.

Saturday's breezes whisked away lingering ribbons of smoke, exposing the grotesque shapes of twisted metal.

The final toll was two dead, eight injured and property loss in the millions. Here are other items of the reckoning at fire's end:

An estimated 600 firemen fought the eight-million-dollar blaze. Four hundred of them, including off-shift personnel summoned back to work, were from Long Beach.

• • • •

SIGNAL HILL had its entire complement of 14 firemen on the scene. The county provided 75 fire fighters. The Air Force sent 100 men. The Navy and Vernon Fire Department provided the rest of the personnel. The Navy also contributed 500 cans of foam.

Streams of oil and water poured onto Temple Ave. and Spring St. This oily river entered the storm drains and emptied into Los Cerritos drainage channel.

A quantity of it flowed into Marine Stadium, but much of it was salvaged by vacuum trucks at points along the channel. The vacuum trucks were used also to salvage diked pools of fuel on Temple Ave.

Brennan S. Thomas, head of the Long Beach Water Department, said there was no estimate yet of the amount of water used in the fire-fighting operation.

He said, however, that a pumper rig uses about 1,250 gallons of water per minute. Long Beach had eight pumpers working on an around-the-clock basis.

Thomas reported that Long Beach householders at no time were threatened by a water shortage. Signal Hill householders were, as the levels in their wells went down.

Long Beach, in addition to providing direct water connections for the fire fighting, also replenished Signal Hill's reservoir at Wardlow Rd. and Gundry Ave.

The reservoir holds five million gallons. Thomas said Long Beach started providing water for it when it was a little less than half full.

No bill will be presented to Signal Hill for its use of Long Beach water, according to Thomas.

"We were protecting our own interests," he said.

He referred specifically to the

Excursion Boat, 1,100 Aboard, Rams River Gate, Injuring 22

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Twenty-two of the 1,100 persons aboard the excursion steamer Avalon were injured Saturday when the ship rammed into the gates of the Emsworth lock on the Ohio river.

The injured were not seriously hurt. Most were released from hospitals after treatment.

Many of the passengers were Girl Scouts, but practically all of the girls escaped injury.

There was no panic aboard the Avalon, here from Cincinnati for excursion trips. It suffered only slight damage to its bow and was readied immediately for a moonlight cruise down the Ohio.

• • • •

MOST OF THE 1,100 passengers were from Ohio. They had come here on a combined railroad-river excursion.

The ship was going through the locks on its trip downstream when the accident occurred. Scores of passengers were sent sprawling.

Pilot Arthur Schletker, who was standing watch, said the damage was confined to the bow, and a crumpled piece of deck. Captain Ernest E. Wagner quickly ordered the boat through the locks, swung it around and then headed back through the locks and upstream to Pittsburgh. Police ambulances were waiting to rush the injured to hospitals.

• • • •

THE EXACT CAUSE of the mishap was not determined.

Lockmaster Elmer Graber said it was possible someone missed a signal. He explained that a signal had been given for the ship to reverse its propellers but that it continued forward until it smashed into the lock gate.

The uninjured quickly aided those hurt. One was an unidentified nurse.

Mrs. Doris Peters of Lakewood, Ohio, said she was sitting on a deck chair when the accident occurred, adding:

"A man fell on top of me and I could not get up until he was lifted up. Others on chairs were bowled over too."

UP and INS Join Forces; Called 'UP International'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press Associations and International News Service joined forces Saturday around the world in the creation of a single news agency named "United Press International."

This is the first dispatch of the new service which will embrace the largest number of newspaper and radio clients ever served simultaneously by an independently operated news and picture agency.

Agreements covering the consolidation of services were signed by both sides on May 16, and the announcement was delayed until the physical change over could be worked out.

Rising costs were cited as a major factor behind the merger.

Frank H. Bartholomew, of United Press, will be president of the new global agency, and Kingsbury Smith, of International News Service, will be vice president and associate general manager.

The board will be enlarged by the addition of William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst newspapers; J. D.

First DC8 Jetliner Takes to Air Friday

The sleek and powerful "Number One," first of the DC8 series of Douglas Aircraft Company's jet-powered air liners, is scheduled to take the air for the first time Friday, Memorial Day, from Long Beach Municipal Airport.

Wilson Silsby, director of public relations at the Long Beach Douglas plant, said taxi tests on the swept-wing jetliner have been "most satisfactory."

Silsby said the take-off time will be determined by the weather. The skies must be clear.

Manufactured at a cost of more than 200 million dollars, "Number One" is the first of a series of jetliners for which more than $675,000,000 worth of orders have been placed by 17 air lines.

• • • •

ABOARD THE craft on its initial flight from Long Beach to Edwards Air Force Base for flight tests will be the veteran fliers, A. G. Heimerdinger, pilot; William M. Magruder, co-pilot; and Paul H. Patten, systems operator.

Routine work on the 150-foot-long jetliner is being completed at the Long Beach Douglas plant this week, Silsby said.

4 Fly in Car as Twister Picks It Up

HUDSON, Wis. (AP)—With a frightening roar and a blast of sand, a tornado Saturday scooped up a car carrying two women, a man and a little girl.

They saw it coming, but were helpless to escape the twister which sliced along the Minnesota-Wisconsin border.

Six persons were injured, including the four occupants of the car. Many farm buildings were destroyed, including a barn built at a cost of $58,000 some 30 years ago.

Hyman Sigal, 42, St. Paul businessman, who was at the wheel of the car which was picked up, said, "If the doors would have opened, we'd have been goners."

Sling Strangles L.A. Woman, 61

A 61-year-old West Los Angeles woman strangled Saturday after she fainted and became entangled in a broken arm sling she was wearing, police said.

The body of Mrs. Isabella Stanton was found in a sitting position hanging from a stove burner.

Police said the woman had apparently fainted while cooking.

All-Out Fight Promised by Government

Algiers Officers Lead Insurrection on Famed Island

PARIS, (Sunday) (AP) De Gaullist insurgents and paratroopers—following a pattern set in rebellious Algeria—seized control of Ajaccio and two other towns in French Corsica Saturday. Their action set off talk of civil war in France itself.

Premier Pflimlin called an emergency meeting of the French parliament for Monday to deal with the new threat. In an extraordinary radio broadcast to the nation after midnight he promised all-out action against the leaders of what he called the Corsican mob.

Pflimlin accused the group that set up Algeria-type public safety committees in Corsica of sedition.

• • • •

HE SAID SIMILAR seditious elements on the mainland threaten France with civil war and called for all Frenchmen to rally around the legal government for the defense of the republic.

An emergency cabinet meeting Saturday night branded the Corsica uprising as armed insurrection.

Pflimlin said the government will take all legal action possible against leaders of the Corsican public safety committees.

His voice rising in anger, the premier said in his radio talk: "We must face facts. In Corsica mobs have seized the prefecture and sub-prefectures (provincial and district government buildings) and have attempted to replace legal authorities."

• • • •

THE PREMIER drew a distinction between the public safety committee movement in Algeria and Corsica. He said there is some "popular emotional justification" for them in

Car Hits Train, 8 Injured

DAIRY VALLEY—Eight persons were injured when their station wagon ran into the side of a freight train at a crossing on Valley View Rd. just south of the Santa Ana Freeway Saturday night.

Treated for serious injuries at Carobil Emergency Hospital were a man sheriff's deputies said was the car driver, Herbert L. Jones, 39, of 6934 San Bruno Ave., Buena Park; his wife, Betty, 33; and their children, Douglas, 16, and Colleen, 12.

• • • •

LESS SERIOUSLY injured were their other children, Phillip, 10; Joseph, 5; Cynthia, 4 and Estelle, 2.

After striking the Southern Pacific Lines train, the vehicle plunged into a gully from a small train trestle over the crossing.

The parents and two older children were trapped in the vehicle for about 10 minutes. The front end was badly damaged and they had to be extricated with great care.

L.A.C. Says:

Two Age Viewpoints

There is serious conflict in the economic viewpoints of the young and older workers in our society. This is evident during the present recession when under seniority rules the younger worker is laid off first and rehired last. This is a policy laid out in most union contracts. It is a policy followed by management in many enterprises which have no union contracts.

Not many people disagree with such a policy except for the one principle that it is unsound to lay off the more efficient worker regardless of age. But the overall view is that, all other conditions being equal, the last employed should be the first to be laid off. But this becomes a great hardship on the younger worker because on the same system he or she is the last to be rehired.

The problems are intensified by the fact that the younger worker has greater responsibilities than the average older worker. The young man usually has several children and is buying his home and the many things needed by the growing family. The older worker's family is probably grown and its schooling completed. His home is usually paid for and he has had time to accumulate savings.

Another conflicting viewpoint is that of inflation. The younger worker does not greatly fear inflation. He knows that many union contracts call for wage increases as cost of living increases. The general policy of employers is to meet this increased cost. This applies to all government employment as well as private employers without union contracts. Over the past 15 inflation years, wages have increased faster than cost of living—so the workers have little fear—in fact, they seem to welcome inflation.

The older worker approaching retirement has quite a different viewpoint. Virtually everyone who retires does so on less income than he makes while working. This is usually a set amount which does not increase as his cost of living increases. Inflation is a deadly danger to the retired person and his family.

It is doubtful many people worry much about their retirement incomes until they pass 45 or 50 years of age. It is then they are on the down side of the economic structure. It is from then on stability of living costs and the income that have become of increasing importance to them.

These are conflicting economic factors deserving a greater understanding by all age groups. Each wage increase calls for higher prices because wages are the major cost of everything we produce. Taxes increased by adding to the federal debt, large public works and unsound public spending are all inflationary because they increase the cost of living.

It is the young and older workers who have conflicting viewpoints concerning the ever increasing cost of our industrial production. There needs to be a greater appreciation of the ultimate results of this trend. During recessions the younger worker suffers most. During inflations the retired worker can be terribly hurt. Recessions come and go, but inflation seems to go on forever—and there is reason to believe that we are in for far more inflation than we are for recessions.—L.A.C.

Algeria which is lacking for the movement in Corsica.

He made the statement despite reports from Ajaccio that the uprising there was led by civilians and military officers from the Algiers military-civilian junta.

The dissidents in Algiers have called for similar moves in metropolitan France and other French areas.

There were unconfirmed reports that the Corsica movement leaders landed in a military plane from Algiers at 5 a.m. Saturday.

* * * *

PFLIMLIN said the movement in Algeria had some respectability because it grew from an intense popular emotional desire to remain French. He declared the movement had resulted in a new spirit of fraternization between the Europeans and Algerians which opened a path to a brighter future for all North Africa.

De Gaullist supporters in Algeria Saturday established a strongman triumvirate sworn to restore Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power in all of France.

A De Gaulle political leader, the parachute general who started the generals' revolt in Algeria and an Algerian physician-assemblyman made up the three-man supreme junta. They vowed to fight "unto death" for De Gaulle's return.

* * * *

PFLIMLIN said "despite the conduct of some Algerian leaders," the French government will continue to support the French army and population in Algeria with food, equipment and supplies so the army could carry on its mission against the Algerian nationalist rebels.

"But," he added, "in Corsica there is no such upsurge of popular emotion to explain or justify acts committed by a handful of seditious persons. It is clear today there is a plot against our public liberties, and thatt a certain number of misled Frenchmen endanger these liberties."

He said charges will be pressed against all members of the Corsican committees and against those who took part in the assaults on public buildings on the French Mediterranean island near Italy, where Napoleon Bonaparte was born.

Pflimlin declared it was his duty to warn Frenchmen that a similar danger existed in France itself.

"Seditious elements are trying to lead us over the cliffs into civil war," he said.

In addition to the action at Ajaccio, capital of Corsica, there were reports of government buildings being seized at Corte, near a paratrooper air base, and at Calvi.

Kim Gives Car Back to General

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kim Novak says she has given that $8,500 sports car back to Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr.

The blond movie star went to a fancy filmtown party Friday night in a taxi.

"I brought my mother, my sister and her husband," she told a reporter. "I only have my little Corvette now and I couldn't get them all in it, so I called a cab."

Kim previously said she would return the expensive car when the news first broke that the handsome son of the Dominican Republic's strong man had a wife and six children back home. It has since been announced he is in the process of getting a Mexican divorce.

Trujiulo, now back at the Army's command and general staff school at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., professed his love for Kim to a television audience before he left.

Oil Fire Out in 52 Hours of Battle by Corps of 600

city's large gas-storage tank near the refinery and the Long Beach Municipal Airport.

INCLUDED IN the company' eight-million-dollar damage report was the thermal catalytic cracking unit, whose tower appeared so prominent in news pictures and telecasts.

Together with an ultraformer, the refining unit was installed in 1955 at an estimated 11-million-dollar cost.

Joe W. Perry, marketing manager for Hancock, estimated the damage to the unit at one-third. This primarily is a matter of "replacing parts," Perry added.

The refinery's principal problem will be in replacing the lost tanks. At last count, 13 of 21 principal storage tanks had been destroyed. The big tanks hold from 5,000 to 80,000 barrel of fuel products.

* * * *

COMPANY OFFICIALS estimated up to 400,000 barrels of fuel products, ranging from crude oil to premium gasoline, had gone up in smoke, in gallons, that total is 16,800,000.

Perry said the fire would not affect the work schedule of Hancock employes. All will report for duty as usual, despite the refinery's producing operations being shut down.

There were other damage estimates, including an estimated 15,000 claims by Long Beach householders whose homes and cars were sprayed with oil.

Long Beach Deputy Fire Chief William McGree said that half his firefighters had damage to their clothing.

* * * *

THREE PUMPERS will require mechanical overhaul. There has been "damage beyond repair" to a large portion of 40,000 feet of hose. This damage principally was inflicted when heavy trucks ran over the hose. The hose costs about $1.90 a foot.

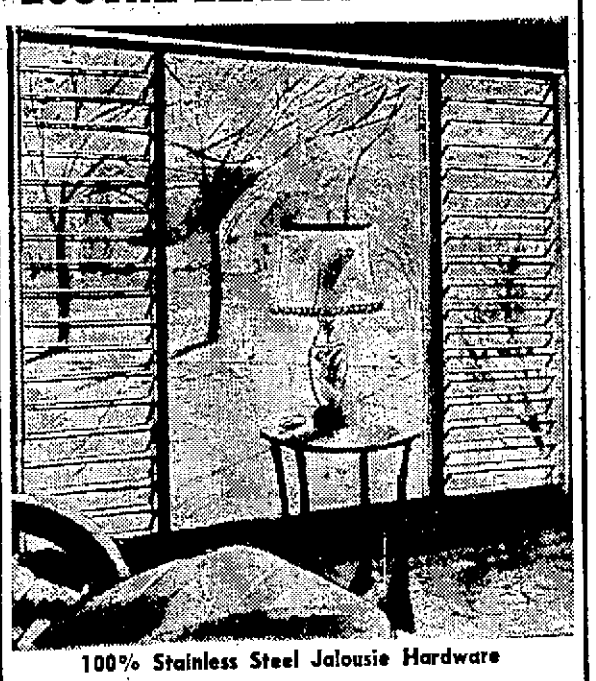

All the hose will have to be washed and scraped.

Firemen Looked Death in Eye and Defied It in Hancock Blaze

Raw Courage Kept Toxic Rain Off L.B. Homes

By BERT RESNIK

Call it "Operation Hold the Line."

Dig it from the ashes of a cold fire.

It's an account of a life-and-death battle by Long Beach firemen at one spot of the Hancock Oil Co. refinery on Signal Hill.

There may be other heroic stories that never get told. Let this one typify the firemen's courage.

Stubborn courage. Unfaltering courage. Courage with fear.

Fear when you are surrounded by white-hot gasoline flames. Fear when you know that death is 10 seconds away.

Courage when you keep manning the fire hose instead of dropping it and retreating.

* * * *

THE SPOT is on the inside of the refinery about a long city block from the west entrance on Junipero Ave.

It's a major trouble spot.

Right here is the tank containing tetraethyl. If it goes, a major part of Long Beach would have to be evacuated to escape the toxic fumes, authorities originally state.

Right here is an accented downhill slope. Down it pours a river of flame, crested on the top of tons of water.

If these flames get by the firemen's line at this point, they sweep on toward the main plant of the refinery, wiping out all tanks in their path.

If these flames get by, Long Beach Municipal Airport is exposed.

On the next day, an official handout from the company will minimize community danger from the toxic tetraethyl fumes.

But even in minimizing, the handout concedes there would be a great threat to the firemen nearby.

And the flames are plenty near. They're death-danger now—no future threat.

* * * *

THE FLAMES have reached through the shed housing the tank. They are two feet from the tank.

For 24 hours the Long Beach firemen have manned the hoses. They're assisted by a big turret nozzle mounted on a Vernon Fire Department rig. The nozzle, an "Intelligent," spreads its water in a half-circle.

A new crew relieves the men on the hoses every 15 minutes. It's that hot.

Their job is to snuff the fire out at that point. They cannot push it back. They must not let the flames come forward.

But sometimes the flames do.

They surround the crews or one man at a time. Surround is the word. The flames are in front of him, at the side, in back of him.

A man could break through and back away. To do so, he must drop the hose.

A CLOSE ONE

Capt. Hugh Henshaw (left), and Capt. John Montgomery, two of the Long Beach firemen who battled the Hancock refinery blaze, stand by the giant valves controlling flow of deadly tetra ethyl fluid. Firemen pushed their way through flames to shut off these valves. The scorched walls of the shed at left, housing the tetraethyl tank, show how close the flames came.—(Staff)

No fireman does that.

Each depends that his buddies on the other lines will snuff the flames around him in time. That time: 10 seconds at the most. And each watches thoughtfully as the flames near the tank are snuffed out, reignite, are again snuffed out, reignite.

It is about 5 p.m. Friday. At a huge tank to the left of the spot, Fire Capt. Ken Hoffman, a line tied around him, is lowered into a pool of oil, gasoline and water.

* * * *

There are no flames here now. There could be any second.

HOFFMAN SHUTS down a valve on a main manifold line. He hopes this will slow down the flow of fuel to the trouble spot. He does his job quickly. He's quickly hauled back to safety.

At another giant tank to the right, Fireman Burt Shaw duplicates the action. At another tank forward, Fire Capt. Hugh Henshaw triplicates the action.

But at the spot, there still is trouble.

High-octane gasoline continues to spurt from the ruptured valves of two 8-inch lines. The gasoline bursts into instant flames.

Fire Captains Bill Patterson and John Montgomery take another look at the flames licking near the tetraethyl tank. They must act now or it will be too late. The time is about 6:15 p.m.

Sixteen men manning eight hoses line up under Capt. Montgomery's direction. They're in a straight, horizontal line. In the center of this line is Capt. Patterson.

Together, their hoses pushing back the flames, the 17 men advance.

Their destination is 15 feet away, the pipes and the valves that control them. They wear no asbestos suits. In asbestos suits, they would be barbecued, according to Fire Chief Frank S. Sandeman.

* * * *

BEHIND THEM, two hoses keep a steady protective stream going.

Inch by inch the 17 advance. They're at the valves. Capt. Patterson reaches down, screws off four valves.

He tries the others. They won't budge. The threads have melted. Back out he races and picks up a sledge-hammer. Back in he goes and hammers the valves shut.

The gasoline stops spurting. It still dribbles from flanges in the pipe, but the major threat is out. It took five minutes — five minutes that were an eternity.

French-Arab Battles Rage in S. Tunisia

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Sharp fighting broke out Saturday between French and Tunisian troops in southern Tunisia.

Tunisian officials said both sides had put mortars and machine guns in action in two bitter clashes.

There was no report on casualties.

The Tunisian sources said one engagement was at Remada and another about four miles away from the French army post.

President Habib Bourguiba promptly called a special session of his cabinet to deal with the situation.

* * * *

THE TUNISIAN sources said French troops stationed at Remada attempted to break through barricades placed around French positions several months ago after an increase in tension between France and Tunisia.

The informants said French units opened fire and Tunisian troops shot back.

Reports reaching Tunis said the exchange was continuing.

Tunisia has demanded that France immediately withdraw all French troops still in this former protectorate.

Angry at Official, Callas to Quit La Scala Opera

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Temperamental soprano Maria Meneghini Callas says she is quitting La Scala Opera in Milan after this season because of a disagreement with the opera house superintendent.

"I will not sing at La Scala next year even if I am offered a contract," the New York-born prima donna told a group of friends.

After a year's vacation, she added, she might return if La Scala Superintendent Antonio Ghiringhelli has been removed.

"I have firmly decided not to accept further collaboration with the present superintendent at La Scala . . . it is not any longer compatible with my dignity as a woman and as an artist," she said.

* * * *

A MEMBER of Miss Callas' household in Milan said the opera singer made her declaration to a gathering of friends Friday and repeated it to ANSA, the Italian news agency, which distributed it Saturday morning. Miss Callas and her husband, industrialist Battista Meneghini, then left town for a rest at an undisclosed place.

Miss Callas has been performing at La Scala in Bellini's "Il Pirata." Her current contract ends after two or three more performances of the opera.

MARIA CALLAS
'Not Compatible'

Miss Callas, now 34, has been first lady at the famous opera house for several years. Just last week Metropolitan opera soprano Renata Tebaldi, Miss Callass' old rival at La Scala, said she would not return to the Milan stage she left in 1955 unless Miss Callas sang here during the same season, because she didn't want her return to be controversial.

* * * *

After being booed for walking out during the opening night of the Rome opera season Jan. 3, Miss Callas scored successes in the United States and made a triumphant return to the La Scala stage April 9. But more than 200 plainclothes policemen were on hand to watch for any demonstrations and Miss Callas did not like that.

Next day she said a cold war existed between her and La Scala officials, partly because of the police and partly because La Scala wanted her to apologize publicly for leaving the Edinburgh music festival last year after only three of the four scheduled performances.

In her statement to ANSA, Miss Callas said:

"I leave La Scala with deep pain—certain, however, that I have participated with dignity in the artistic events of that theater. . . .

"I take with me the hope to be able to appear again on that stage in the future, under more suitable circumstances."

Ghiringhelli was not available for comment.

100 Volunteers at Oil Fire Hailed for Aid to Crews

One-hundred volunteers were saluted Saturday for their aid to firemen and other emergency crews at the Hancock Oil Co. refinery fire in Signal Hill.

Major Howard Sloan of Salvation Army headquarters here reported the volunteers served 8,000 sandwiches, 15,000 cups of coffee, 3,600 bottles of pop and 3,500 half-pints of milk.

Salvation Army workers were at the fire within an hour after it started, Maj. Sloan said. Officers from seven Salvation Army centers in the area were on duty at the canteens.

Canteen trucks used two-way radios to co-ordinate service on the fire lines.

Nation Honors Warriors of World War II and Korea

THIS ONE WAS KNOWN

A photograph of a fallen warrior, a mother's hands clasping a posthumously awarded Purple Heart—these are symbols of the tribute we will pay this Memorial Day to the men who fought and died in America's wars.—(AP Photo)

By WILLIAM OWEN
Associated Press Writer

Somewhere on the now-peaceful North Atlantic, two ships bristling with the weapons of future wars are hastening to a reverent rendezvous with the past off the Virginia Capes.

The somber gray warships bear the bodies of three American fighting men who lost not only their lives but their identities on far-flung battlefields.

Two of them will join the Unknown Soldier of World War I in honored rest at Memorial Day services in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac from Washington.

They will be the Unknowns of World War II and the Korean War, chosen at random by surviving heroes to honor symbolically all the unidentified dead of each conflict.

Picking the latest Unknowns has been more complicated than was the selection of the Unknown Soldier of World War I. This time there was an extra war and an extra battle theater.

THE UNKNOWN of 1917-18 was chosen on a bright October morning in 1921 at Chalon-Sur-Marne, France. Sgt. Edward S. Younger placed a spray of roses on one of four caskets, stepped back, saluted and it was done.

Two World War II Unknowns already have been selected—one from among 13 candidates disinterred from European-North African battlefield cemeteries; the other from among six candidates from the Pacific Theater. The destroyer Blandy is bearing the first body from Europe.

The second is en route to the Virginia Capes rendezvous aboard the missile cruiser Boston, accompanied by the Unknown of the Korean War chosen 10 days ago at the National cemetery near Honolulu.

Final choice of a single World War II Unknown will be made Monday aboard the missile cruiser Canberra by Navy Hospitalman 3/c William R. Charrett of Ludington, Mo., a Medal of Honor winner. The candidate not selected will be buried with full honors at sea.

THE TWO CHOSEN warriors will be transferred to the Blandy Tuesday for the trip up the Potomac under escort by the Coast Guard Ship Ingham.

There will be little arrival fanfare compared to the day in 1921 when the measured boom of cannon greeted the World War I Unknown's homecoming aboard the cruiser Olympia, Adm. Dewey's Spanish-American War flagship.

The Blandy will swing from the Potomac and quietly tie up at Pier One of the Naval Gun Factory.

The two caskets, each draped with an American Flag, will remain on the after deck of the Blandy under honor guard through the night in quiet preparation for the homage of the nation.

KNOWN BUT TO GOD

A lone sentry paces his solemn watch at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery. "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God," reads the inscription on the tomb sanctified 37 years ago.

The official welcoming ceremonies will start at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday. Four ruffles and flourishes, a hymn by the Navy Band and the caskets, each preceded by a clergyman, will be brought down the Blandy's gangway.

The bodies will be borne to hearses through an honor military corridor, including the Secretaries of Defense, Army, Navy, Air Force and the Treasury. Then a 20-mile-an-hour motorcade heads for the Capitol while gun factory cannon boom a 21-gun salute.

ON MEMORIAL DAY MORNING, while lines of people continue to pass the biers, veterans, patriotic and civic organizations will hold services and place their official wreaths, one every four minutes.

Then, at 1 p. m., May 30, the two Unknowns begin their last journey to the side of World War I's Unknown Soldier on the wooded hillside in Arlington National Cemetery.

The heavy boom of cannon, fired once a minute, will punctuate the tread of marching feet and the roll of drums as the procession, three-quarters of a mile long, wends through Washington, across the Potomac to Arlington.

Navy to Build Polaris Plant at Sunnyvale

By BILL BROOM
of I. P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Navy Saturday informed Senator Knowland and Rep. Charles S. Gubser that it will construct a plant at Sunnyvale to manufacture submarine-launched Polaris ballistics missiles.

Official announcement will be made Tuesday when bids for the multimillion-dollar facility will be opened. An immediate start on construction was ordered a year ahead of schedule as a result of high strategic decision to put Polaris into mass production, Knowland said.

The Senator said the go-ahead on the new facility is "a major milestone in preparing the Polaris for operational service in the fleet."

* * * *

THE NEW BUILDING will be an addition to the Navy-owned Polaris plant aleadly being built for development work on the Polaris. Site preparation already is in progress and the construction job was let out for bidding confidentially on May 10.

Addition of the new building will provide a "manufacturing capability to be available when the Polaris research and development phase is completed," the Navy said.

Exact date of the start of production is classified information.

When the Polaris development facility and the new production building are completed, all aspects of the Polaris weapons system will be integrated and centered in one location at Sunnyvale, the Navy said.

"The building and its future occupancy are designed to furnish the closest integration of Polaris management, technical skill, testing operations, and manufacturing so that the core of the Polaris effort will be unhampered by the requirements of any other projects," the Navy said.

* * * *

TO ALLOW FOR the expansion, Lockheed has deeded over to the Navy 36 acres of its Sunnyvale property. In addition, 13 acres were deeded to the Navy last December when the first stage of the building was begun, Knowland said.

Polaris work is also under way at other Lockheed facilities at Palo Alto, a test site in the Santa Cruz Mountains, and at the Air Force Missile Test Center, Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Seven Juveniles Arrested in Row

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four boys and three girls were arrested early Saturday after a mob of 20 bottle-throwing juveniles roughed up two policemen at Playland-at-the-Beach.

Nine police cars sped to the scene when patrolmen radioed they were being attacked. The melee began shortly after the police found beer and wine bottles in a juvenile's auto.

SURFACE CRUISE RISKY

Naval Aviator Loses Boat in Blast, Saved

A Navy officer lost his boat outside the Long Beach Harbor entrance Saturday afternoon.

Coast Guard officials said Cmdr. E. Z. Dixon of Los Angeles was pulled from the ocean, apparently uninjured, after his 21-foot cabin cruiser was burned to the waterline following a gas-tank explosion.

The Commander is a Naval aviator, the Coast Guard said.

His boat caught fire near another cruising boat about one-half mile from the harbor entrance, the Coast Guard said.

While Dixon was attempting to steer the flaming craft nearer to the other boat, an explosion occurred and he jumped into the water.

He was pulled from the sea by the crew of the other boat.

Heart Attack Ends Life of Defense Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of Defense Williams H. Francis Jr., 43, collapsed and died Saturday after playing tennis.

Francis was appointed assistant secretary of defense for manpower a year ago.

The weathy Texan was a personal friend of President Eisenhower. He served as an Army captain in intelligence on General Eisenhower's staff in World War II.

Francis complained of being short of breath while playing tennis shortly before 6 p. m. Friends said he collapsed and was taken to Georgetown Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The former Houston attorney had extensive oil and ranching interests.

Francis is survived by his widow, Caroline, three brothers and his mother, Mrs. W. H. Francis Sr.

Large Jade Haul Made by Fishermen

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A group of commercial fishermen Saturdaly brought up 5,000 pounds of good-quality jade from 36 feet of water off San Simeon.

One chunk of the semi-precious stone weighed 3,000 pounds.

C. Douglas Woodhouse, retired geologist of the University of California at Santa Barbara, said the jade is of good quality, meaning that its market value may run as high as $5 a pound.

The jade was discovered by the crew of the fishing schooner Bali, whose skipper is G. R. (Swede) Armann. It took two days to get the find to shore.

Armann said this is the biggest single discovery of jade off the California coast. He and his crew are all skin divers.

State Traffic Kills 986 in 4 Months

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The California Highway Patrol Saturday reported 986 persons were killed in traffic accidents in California the first four months of this year.

The number of fatal highway accidents showed a decrease of nearly 8 per cent from the same period in 1957.

Attorney, Civic Leader George Spicer Dies After Distinguished L.B. Career

George M. Spicer, for many years one of Long Beach's best-known attorneys and civic leaders, died Thursday at the age of 77.

He had lived quietly in retirement for several years.

Spicer was the first Democratic presidential elector ever chosen from Long Beach (in 1932). He also was famed for his municipal reform work early in the century, and for his work in promoting development of Long Beach Harbor.

He was born in Manti, Utah, Sept. 16, 1880, and studied law at Utah University. He was admitted to the bar at the age of 21, and came to Long Beach in 1904.

* * * *

SPICER BEGAN to build a reputation as a civic leader the following year when he led a movement resulting in a reorganization of the Police Dept.

A year later, he wielded the reform broom that swept the incumbent administration from City Hall.

After that victory, Spicer was offered the job of city attorney. He turned it down.

A few years later, Spicer organized the city of Belmont Heights. Under his guiding hand, the community agreed to become part of Long Beach—but only after Long Beach had pledged construction of a pier at Belmont Shore.

* * * *

HE WAS CREDITED with influencing major oil companies to build terminals in the harbor area. And, at one time, he had extensive real estate holdings in the city.

For many years he was active in Democratic Party politics, and in 1932 was one of William Gibbs McAdoo's most ardent supporters in Southern California. It was McAdoo, a onetime Treasury secretary and later a senator from California, who swung the Democratic nomination to Franklin Delano Roosevelt in 1932.

In business, Spicer was acclaimed as one of the most brilliant attorneys ever to practice in Long Beach. He specialized in corporation law.

HE WAS A LIFE member of Elks Lodge 888. He also was a past president of the Long Beach Bar Assn. and former director of the Chamber of Commerce.

At the time of his death, he resided at 233 American Ave.

Surviving is a niece, Mrs. Adrienne E. Martyr.

Service will be at 10:30 a. m. Monday in Patterson & Snively Mortuary.

Passers-by Refuse to Call Police for Bandit Trapper

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A grocer who trapped a gunman in his store after a fight Saturday said he appealed in vain to three men passing by to call the police.

Max Perkal, 32, told police one of the men replied, "Call the cops yourself," and that the other two were just as unconcerned.

Moments later, the thief forced his way out of a door Perkal no longer could hold shut and fled with about $10.

When the gunman demanded money Perkal struck out, hitting him in the face. The robber clubbed Perkal on the head with his gun, but Perkal fought back, tumbling his assailant into a stock of boxes. Perkal then ran out, held fast to the door handle and sought help.

Repeat of a previous sellout!

Scout Show Thrills Throngs

SEA EXPLORER SHIP, the Neptune, drew more than 2,500 boarders Saturday while on display at Veterans Memorial Stadium during the Long Beach area Scout-O-Rama. The Neptune, sponsored by the Downtown Exchange Club, was winner of the Waddington Trophy for performance in the annual squadron review, held in April.

HIS GOOD TURN for the day is performed by Cub Scout Bob Bailey, 8, of 3459 Senasac Ave., during Saturday's Scout-O-Rama as he feeds ice cream to 13-month-old Brad Williams of 6775 Parapet St. while Brad's mother viewed the exhibits.

Elevator Kills Man After Kin's Casket Selected

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A retired minister's son was killed Saturday in an elevator accident at a funeral home after helping select a casket for his father.

A funeral-home spokesman said Alvin Franklin Barfield, 52, apparently tripped as he stepped into a crowded freight elevator on the second floor.

The elevator started down and Barfield's head was caught between the elevator and the floor.

Barfield had picked out a casket for his father, the Rev. J. R. Barfield, 74.

BOAT OUT OF GAS

2 Drift 32 Hours off Catalina, Rescued

Two truck drivers drifted for nearly 32 hours in a 16-foot cabin cruiser, after running out of gasoline on a trip from here to Catalina, were rescued early Saturday 12 miles south of the island.

Robert Wright, 34, of 10414 Leeds Ave., Norwalk, owner of the Marcia Ann, and his passenger, John Reinhart of Los Angeles, were tired and hungry after going without food and with little sleep.

The two men left Pierpoint Landing shortly before 8 p.m. Thursday after a spur-of-the-moment decision to accompany a second boatload of friends on a cruise to the island.

• • • •

REINHART, who had been on the other boat, a 16-foot outboard, owned by Don Bradley of Los Angeles, changed places with Nevin Walkinshaw, also of Los Angeles, who had been boating with Wright since early morning.

The Wright boat lost sight of the other craft, which was carrying an extra supply of gasoline. About 11:30 p.m. Thursday, it ran out of fuel while in sight of the lights on the island.

Wright's wife, Bette, notified the Coast Guard when he failed to telephone her after reaching the island.

The Coast Guard launched an intensive search early Friday. A Coast Guard amphibian plane spotted the craft about 7:15 a.m. Saturday. A cutter towed the craft into Pierpoint Landing.

• • • •

WRIGHT SAID the boat was equipped with life jackets but no other emergency gear. The men ripped a seat from the boat and tried to use it as a makeshift oar.

Friday night was the worst ordeal, said Wright, because the sea became rough and they spent much of the night bailing out the boat with two small oil cans.

"We never lost hope that we'd be rescued," said Wright, "but we really were depressed last night."

Woman Held in Stabbing

A 41-year-old woman aircraft worker was held for questioning by Torrance police Saturday night in connection with the stabbing of Fred Wright, 30, of 6308 Eastern Ave., Bell Gardens.

Police said Wright was stabbed in the chest in the home of Mary V. Schumacher, 1687 Gramercy Ave., who was held.

Wright was reported in critical condition in Harbor General Hospital.

Siamese Kitten Triplets Parted

WINDSOR, Ont. (UP) —Kittens born as Siamese triplets attached at their stomachs now are scampering around individually. Dr. C. R. Laforet separated them under anesthesia and says they would have died if he hadn't. Their mother, Tibs, apparently was not shaken by the unusual sight. She has six claws on each paw instead of the usual five.

Latin Reds Say Sub 'U.S. or British'

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UP) — A Communist newspaper claimed Saturday the submarine attacked Wednesday by the Argentine navy was either American or British.

Argentine navy sources have indicated the submarine most likely was Russian. They described it as a high speed craft. President Arturo Frondizi said it was either sunk or damaged.

La Hora, chief organ of the Argentine Communist party, said it couldn't have been Russian.

"The only country after Great Britain which has an interest in dominating Argentina as well as the rest of Latin America is the United States," it said.

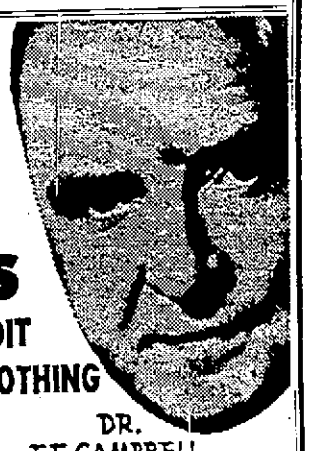

The paper gave no details to substantiate its claim that the submarine was American or British.

U. S., British and Soviet embassies here all have insisted the submarine was not theirs. The U. S. and British embassies said they received word from their governments that none of their submarines was operating in this area. The Soviet ambassador here said he felt sure his country had no subs in the South Atlantic. No comment has come so far from Moscow.

The only Latin-American countries with submarines are Peru, Brazil, Argentina and Chile. Chile's subs are not in operating condition and the only active one of Argentina's three is in dry dock.

Barber-Shop to Reality, History of the DC8

By JIM McCAULEY

That huge new DC8 jet airliner might be sitting in the back office of a Southland barber-shop these days if Douglas Aircraft Co. hadn't done some long-range planning.

That was the lesson given a management development conference of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Saturday by Kenneth G. Farrar, vice president and general manager of Douglas's Long Beach division.

Why a barber-shop for a jet airliner?

It was in the back office of a barber-shop where airliner pioneer Donald W. Douglas sat up his first California office 38 years ago, Farrar said. Douglas had just arrived in Southern California with a wife, two children, a dog and a bucket-seat jalopy.

* * * *

THE OVERHEAD was so high for Douglas's small aircraft business that he hired out as a laborer, hoed potatoes and washed automobiles in the early days.

Six employes shared the rented desk space in the back of the barber-shop. Douglas moved out of the barber-shop a year later when the Navy ordered three torpedo bombers.

Farrar blasted "defeatism" in tracing the history of Douglas aircraft from a backroom barber-shop to a $270,000,0000 company with 74,000 employes.

"Individual initiative today pays off as well as, if not better than, in the past," Farrar said. There is plenty of room for other small companies to grow big," he added.

For instance, Douglas now does business with 11,000 firms, 82 per cent of them in the small business field, so it can get the necessary parts for its giant planes. He declared:

Recent surveys disclose small firms are able to fabricate some of the parts for aircraft faster, better and cheaper than the prime contractor. Such firms will receive business from the aircraft industry regardless of the overall level of the aircraft program."

Other speakers were John E. Biby Jr., president, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce; Joseph W. Winkler, president, Orange Coast Chapter, Society for the Advancement of Management; Dr. Jesse B. Allen, professor of marketing, Long Beach State College.

Donald McLarnan, regional director, Small Business Administration; A. B. Leonard, chief of procurement and technical assistant; B. P. Gibbons, manager of material, Convair, San Diego Division; Dr. S. Austen Reep, professor of finance, LBSC; A. Hays Busch, vice president, Stromberger, LaVene and McKenzie, Advertising.

* * * *

THOMAS P. PHELAN, executive vice president and secretary, Los Angeles Division, Pacific Coast Stock Exchange; Frederick S. Huber, vice president and branch administrator, California Bank; N. A. Lamberti, vice president of manufacturing, Ryder-Elliott, Inc.

Charles W. Lauve, general manager of commercial and industrial loans, Prudential Insurance Co. of America; Charles A. McKeand, Charles A. McKeand Co.; Benjamin Borchardt, senior partner, Benjamin Borchardt and Associates; Dr. John R. Van de Water, professor of industrial relations and business law, University of California, and R. H. Rogers, industrial relations manager, BJ Electronics.

Presiding was Malcolm Epley, executive editor, Independent, Press-Telegram.

SCORES PESSIMISM

Kenneth G. Farrar, vice president and general manager, Long Beach Division, Douglas Aircraft Co., says management should be optimistic about growth potential. Pakistan Oilmen Return to Jobs

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — Three-thousand oil workers returned to work Saturday to end their two-day-old strike against four Karachi oil companies.

The workers voted to end their strike Friday night after Minister of State for the Interior Jalal Uddin Kman assured them they would get justice. The workers struck Thursday to back demands for higher wages.

AN OLD GRIPE against a traffic signal put two IPT staffers right on top of one of the biggest news stories in years Thursday p.m.

Sunday Editor Sterling Bemis has long been annoyed by a signal on Cherry Ave. in the Signal Hill area. He was convinced there wasn't enough cross-traffic there to justify a 24-hour signal.

Intending to prove his point, he recruited Photographer Roger Coar and they headed out that way to check traffic density at the signal.

When they reached the point, ambulances and fire trucks were screaming through the intersection, with the Hancock oil refinery a few blocks away a holocaust of flame and smoke.

Bemis and Coar were there for early picture shots and quick news reports, helping effectively in producing their newspaper's fine coverage of the big fire.

Conditions at the signal, they decided, were a little abnormal. They'll check it some other time.

SIMILAR lucky breaks put other staffers in strategic spots for coverage of the great blaze.

Photographer Chuck Sundquist and Reporter Herb Shannon had been up in a plane making air shots of the Long Beach area. They had just landed at the airport when the fire exploded. They took to the air and got some good shots of the blaze.

Photographer Joe Risinger was just passing the fire area on a society picture assignment. He went to the front with his camera.

Reporter Bob Swanson was right there, too. He was going by on his way home. It was a long time before he got to his domicile.

Such things make after-deadline shop talk in a newspaper office for a long time.

A WOMAN planning an unaccompanied motor trip to Canada asked B-C readers for safety tips the other day, and the response has been good. She's advised to keep her car doors locked, to travel by day, to avoid provocative dress, to be sure her car is carefully checked along the way to prevent roadside stops.

Less conventional is a report from a woman who was faced with the same problem. She was going to Florida alone, and decided that a good protective companion would be a dog. She got a Labrador Retriever from the pound and left for Florida, intending to turn the dog over to a pound back there.

By the time she got to Florida, of course, she had found the dog such a good friend and intelligent companion she wouldn't think of giving him up.

TOO MANY Long Beach area people are unaware of the size and significance of Long Beach State College. They just don't realize that one of the West's biggest institutions had developed right in their neighborhood in the last nine years.

LBSC began in 1949 in an apartment house on Anaheim St., with 169 students. Today it has more than 9100. It is growing still, it is expanding its service and scope, and it makes possible higher education for thousands of young people in our area who would otherwise find it difficult if not impossible to go to college.

The college occupies one of the nation's most modern campuses, located on E. 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) just east of the VA Hospital. Today is a good time to visit that campus. Open house, which was suggested in this dept. some weeks ago, will be held at LBSC from 1 to 5 p.m.

Go out today if you can.

A NOW-HALLOWED workday tradition inspires this column's favorite rhymster today. Opines Coy Sanders:

When many milling millions take
Their A. M.-P.-M. coffee break,
One wonders sometimes if they have a
Predilection for the java;
Or, far more likely, a proclivity
For escaping paid activity!

New Signal System May Be Installed

The city may spend $90,000 next fiscal year for a new master traffic control signal system in the downtown district.

An allotment in that amount is the largest item on a list of traffic control projects recommended by City Traffic Engineer Robert D. Dier and pending before the City Council.

The type of control system to be installed is the subject of a survey now in progress by De Leuw, Cather & Co., city traffic consultants.

Extensive changes in regulation may be necessary when traffic volume is boosted by the 9th St. and Ocean Bl. Bridges and the southerly terminus of Long Beach Freeway, Dier said.

* * * *

HE ALSO RECOMMENDED seven traffic control projects totaling $56,152 and five street-lighting modernizations estimated to cost $63,098.

New traffic signal systems would be at Palo Verde Ave. and Conant St., Magnolia Ave. and 20th St., Woodruff Ave. and Conant St., Magnolia Ave. and 6th St., Long Beach Blvd. and Long Beach Freeway ramp, Seaside Blvd. and Gate 1 of the Naval Station, along with various other intersections where traffic conditions may materially change.

* * * *

RECOMMENDED FOR light modernizations are these street sections: Seaside Blvd. from Magnolia to Alamitos Ave., 3rd St. from Golden to Pine Ave., 6th St. from Golden to Pacific Ave., 6th St. from Atlantic to Alamitos Ave. and 6th St. from Pacific to Atlantic Ave.

In some instances property owners would be asked to share the cost of the light installations with the city.

Unknowns Give 'Y' $50,000

Two anonymous gifts totalling $50,000 were announced Saturday by Earl Fast, general chairman of the YMCA's "million dollar plus" campaign to finance capital improvements here.

"Each of the gifts was for $25,000," Fast declared. "Each donor made the gift on the condition that it be anonymous."

"Speaking on behalf of the YMCA," Fast said, "I wish to thank these donors and praise them for their generosity and public spiritedness."

Campaigners in the downtown, North Long Beach and Lakewood areas are on the march. Organization of the Los Altos district campaign is in its final stages and the drive in that area is expected to open in the near future.

Capital improvement needed by the YMCA, due to tremendous population growth, include new buildings for both the Lakewood and Los Altos areas, redecoration and expansion of the North Long Beach Y branch and modernization as well as enlargement of the Downtown Y.

RIGHT ON THE BUTTON

Push-Button Safety Rules Told

Push-button intersections can be dangerous, especially for children, unless the buttons are operated correctly.

Tom Shreve, assistant city traffic engineer Saturday gave a few pointers on how to use the push-buttons.

On arrival at the intersection the pedestrian should:

1. Push the button, whether the signal light is green or not.

2. Wait until the signal turns red, then green.

THIS WILL ALLOW plenty of time to cross on the green.

If the pedestrian does not use the push-button, the light may turn from green to red when he is still in the intersection.

When the button is not pushed, the lights are activated by cars. If car traffic is light, the green signal may be on for only a brief period—not long enough to assure safe crossing for pedestrians.

A black, curly-headed dog owned by a kindergarten pupil named Joey is being sought. Unless the dog is found, a 6-year-old boy who was bitten by the dog Saturday may have to face a series of anti-rabies treatments.

Larry Cimino of 437 Maine Ave. said Joey's dog bit him while he was playing near W. 9th St. and Maine Ave. The Cimino family doesn't know where Joey lives.

Inventor Springs Ping Pong Ball That Flies Like a Toy Satellite

By WARREN WALTERS

Fred Saunders, inventor of tunnel vision for television, has found a new springboard to fame.

This time it's ping pong basketball. A key part of his new invention is a spring which propels the ping pong ball through a basket.

A prewar device invented by Saunders shuffles and deals a bridge deck in six seconds. An indispensable part of the mechanism is a spring.

Another more recent invention is a box-like device which shoots a series of weighted disks along a shuffleboard designed for rumpus room use. Needless to say, without a spring the weights would lack go power.

Among other inventions, the former Long Beach inventor lists the "Handy Dial," a small plastic device which enables the telephone user to turn a wheel which is geared to match a telephone number with a name.

* * * *

THE HANDY DIAL, which Saunders said is about to be sprung on the market, is springless.

Saunders sprang into the news a couple of years back with his "Natural Specs," which created for wearers the feeling of being moved from in front of the TV screen into the tube itself.

This mental, rather than optical illusion, was created by features of the glasses which removed all outside reference points—giving a tunnel impression — to concentrate the eyes on nothing but the TV screen.

The device gave a three-dimensional aspect to TV — it used no springs.

* * * *

SAUNDERS SAID his latest invention should find a tremendous market. It's the type of equipment, he said; that will make every other kid on the block want one.

It can also be adapted as a toy rocket launcher, he explained.

The invention is in the shape of an inverted T — the user places his feet on the T's cross. The ping pong ball rests on the top of the vertical staff portion of the T.

After adjusting an inclined piece of metal which controls the angle of flight, the player pulls back the spring. He lets go, and, wham, the ping pong ball is in flight toward the basket.

Saunders said arrangements are now being made to market his new invention.

In short, this is one spring that suits him to a T.

I, P-T Boy, 11, Winner of Award for Heroism

Pat Heneise, an Independent Press-Telegram newspaperboy, Saturday received a California Newspaperboy Foundation award for heroism.

The 11-year-old was credited with saving four members of his family when fire broke out at night in their home at 1808 Stearnlee Ave.

He was presented a trophy on behalf of the CNP by Maynard J. Lockmiller, home delivery manager of The Press-Telegram circulation department. Pat carries an afternoon route in Los Altos.

The youth was awakened the night of May 1 by the sound of his 21-month-old brother Mike, coughing.

He got up to investigate and became choked himself by smoke billowing from the living room. Pat ran to the baby, carried him outside the house to safety, then rushed back into the blazing house to awaken his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Heneise, and his sister, Carol, 12. The fire caused $5,500 damage.

"We'd never have made it if Pat hadn't awakened us," his father said. "He was the calmest one of the bunch."

Pat, himself, disclaims any heroism.

"Well, gee—what else could I do?" he said.

Union Depot Service for SP Favored

By GEORGE WEEKS

Two staff engineers of the State Public Utilities Commission, agreeing with a recommendation of the City Bureau of Franchises, have proposed that Southern Pacific Co. establish direct bus service between Long Beach and the Union Station in Los Angeles.

A lengthy report filed in a current case before PUC asserted that Santa Fe and Union Pacific have "reasonably attractive" feeder service and therefore "are in a more advantageous competitive position for interstate passenger business than is Southern Pacific."

The document concluded: "The Southern Pacific Co. should experiment in providing direct bus service to the Los Angeles Union passenger terminal from outlying cities in the Los Angeles area.

* * * *

"IN VIEW OF the fact that the Long Beach area has an estimated population of 380,000 (including Lakewood and Signal Hill) and tariff rates are quoted to and from Long Beach, it is recommended that such experiment begin with connecting service for the 'Coast Daylight' to and from Long Beach."

The report was submitted by James K. Gibson, principal transportation engineer, and William R. Peters, senior transportation engineer.

It is still under consideration by PUC in connection with a commission inquiry into the sufficiency of Southern Pacific Company's passenger service.

The company is seeking to discontinue some of its intrastate trains and to consolidate others.

Henry E. Jordan, chief engineer for the city bureau, argued strongly for the bus link at hearings on the case.

* * * *

HE POINTED OUT that Long Beach-bound passengers arriving at the Union Station must make their way as best they can from the station to the Metropolitan Transit Authority terminal in order to reach their destination.

Jordan estimated that some 20,000 passengers are inconvenienced every year because of the missing transit link.

His argument was supported by spokesmen for the Convention and Visitors Bureau, who contend that Long Beach's convention business is suffering because of the lack of continuous transportation.

Southern Pacific representatives resisted the proposal, declaring that the company's passenger business is already unprofitable.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

FBI Jails Man in SP Bomb Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—FBI agents arrested a Bible-quoting machinist early Saturday and said he admitted threatening to dynamite a passenger train unless paid $500,000.

Ira Paul Loux, 35, of Compton, was arrested as he crawled through weeds on hands and knees and picked up a bag thrown from the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited, agents said. He was charged with extortion.

His wife, Viola, said tearfully when told of his arrest: "It can't be him. He's not that kind. He always told me to live by the Ten Commandments."

D. K. Brown, FBI special agent, gave this account:

The extortion letter directed that a box of money be put in a mail bag and thrown from the Sunset Limited by a crew member when he saw a "strange flashing light." The light was seen and the bag containing a dummy package, thrown Friday night at La Puente, 19 miles east of here. An hour and a half later Loux, crawling through weeds, picked it up. FBI agents, waiting, arrested him.

New Atomic Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower, in a new move to break the disarmament impasse, proposed Saturday that American and Russian scientists meet next month in Geneva to study ways to police a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

In a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the President suggested that British, French and perhaps other scientists would be included on the western side. He left the door open for Russia to include scientists from Communist Czechoslovakia, Poland or even China.

The letter emphasized that the scientific talks at Geneva would not commit either side actually to agree to stop testing atomic weapons.

Knight Signs Record Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Knight Saturday signed a record state budget of $1,999,572,983 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He trimmed $244,089 from the amount approved by the Legislature last month. The state expects to finance the huge spending program without new taxes by using its 75 million dollar Rainy Day Fund, hoarded since World War II.

Baccalaureate at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The first racially integrated baccalaureate at Central High School will be held today with news coverage curtailed. Supt. Virgil Blossom announced the restrictions Saturday amid protests from various news media.

Among the 600 seniors eligible to attend the services is Ernest Green, one of the eight Negro pupils attending Central High.

Green and the other seniors will be graduated at commencement ceremonies Tuesday night. Both events will be held in the high school stadium if weather permits. Green would be the first Negro pupil to attend either the baccalaureate or commencement.

Newsmen will be restricted to a special section high in the stadium and will not be allowed on the field for interviews.

Egg Throwers Suspended

ITHICA, N.Y. (AP)—Cornell University Saturday suspended four students accused of inciting riots in which President Deane W. Malott was spattered with eggs and his house stoned.

One student was J. Kirk Sale, son of Cornell professor William Sale.

The suspensions are to be reviewed Tuesday by the men's judiciary board, a student disciplinary group that will submit recommendations to the faculty's student conduct committee. The students could be expelled.

CUBANS PLEAD PATRIOTISM

Probation Given 34 Smugglers

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-four men who pleaded patriotism as their justification got off with suspended sentences Saturday for conspiring to take a boatload of arms to Cuban rebels.

U. S. Dist. Judge James V. Allred imposed varying terms of probation after lecturing the group about the danger of involving this country in another nation's internal affairs.

He also freed the chaplain for the band of Cuban-Americans, the Rev. Ignacio Mosqueda Avila, setting aside a jury conviction.

Judge Allred said he was recommending that the men not be deported because of the conviction, as would have been possible for some who are not citizens.

U. S. authorities boarded and seized a converted fishing boat off shore in the Gulf of Mexico near here March 24, arresting 40 men on board. A Coast Guard cutter rammed the vessel twice before it halted.

Many of the prisoners later told newsmen they had spent $20,000 of their savings for arms and ammunition, and planned to fight alongside rebel leader Fidel Castro in Cuba. Most of them are from New York City.

They were charged with violating the U. S. Neutrality Act.

A federal court jury convicted 35 of the men, including the chaplain, last Thursday after a four-day trial. One of the original 40, Rolando Minguez de la Paz of Brooklyn, was not tried because he is in a hospital for treatment of a back ailment. Charges against the others were dismissed.

Judge Allred imposed three-year prison sentences, suspended on condition of good behaviour, on 33 of the men. Anthony del Conde, Mexico City storekeeper who had pleaded guilty to being contact man for the party, drew a two-year suspended sentence.

Five years' probation was ordered for Arnaldo G. Barron, Cuban-born New York construction worker who identified himself as leader of the band; for Mario Ybarra Lecour, second in command, and for Del Conde.

The others were placed under three years' probation.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Some 750 automobile assembly workers will be affected when two local assembly plants shut down next week.

The Ford Motor Co. Mercury plant in Pico-Rivera will close for two weeks starting Monday. The Chrysler plant in Maywood will close down Monday, but resume work June 2.

Moslem Authority to Visit Red China

CAIRO (AP)—The rector of 1,000-year-old Al Azhar University, regarded by many as the highest Moslem authority, has accepted an invitation to visit Red China. A Peiping embassy man took the invitation to Sheikh Abdel Rahman Tag and said it would enable him to visit millions of Chinese Moslems. A Moscow invitation is pending.

Car-Theft Ring That Junked Hundreds of Vehicles Cracked

Stolen Autos Butchered With Amazing Speed

The mystery of hundreds of stolen cars that vanished from the harbor area was solved Saturday when a series of arrests was made at a Torrance auto-salvage yard, police said.

One single car-theft ring has been stealing six cars a day for the past year from Long Beach, San Pedro and other harbor-area communities, Los Angeles police said.

Most other stolen cars turn up eventually and are recovered by authorities. But baffled law-enforcement officials were unable to find what happened to the batch of stolen cars taken by this ring until good detective work paid off last week.

* * * *

THE REASON: these cars were taken to auto wreckers and cut up into parts a few hours after the thefts occurred. Any part of the car that might have identified the vehicle as stolen was melted down as scrap metal.

Los Angeles police detectives, Sgt. C. H. Simon, Sgt. Chet Baldridge, Sgt. Bob Kinsey and Lt. Ralph Weyant shadowed two men for days to break open the case.

They saw two men early Saturday steal a 1948 car and a 1952 car from streets in San Pedro and followed them to a deserted field in the Dominguez hills, where they parked the cars about 2 a.m.

Five hours later, the men returned and drove the stolen cars to the Albert Bullock auto salvage yard, 804 E. Carson St., Torrance. Officers then moved in and made the arrests.

Booked in San Pedro jail on grand theft auto were Charles E. Mitchell, 28, of 21404 Vera St., Torrance, and Oscar D. Bailey, 27, of 21936 Main St., near Torrance. Both admit taking the cars Saturday, police said. Also booked for receiving stolen property was Albert Bullock, 47, yard operator.

Sgt. Simon said the arrests cracked the car-theft ring, and predicted there will be other arrests. Officers found 30 discarded California license plates and 60 pink ownership certificates in a truck owned by Bullock. All are believed to be from stolen cars, police said.

The ring wasn't particular what year or model of car it stole, police said. The going price on a stolen car at an auto-salvage lot is only $15 regardless of its age or condition.

Some cars as new as 1956 models in excellent shape have been sold for $15 as "junk," police said.

* * * *

EARLIER THIS spring, the Los Angeles County Sheriff's office advised The Independent, Press-Telegram that the stealing of cars for junking purposes had become one of crime's No. 1 industries in the past year.

But it asked newsmen to withhold the story until enough evidence could be gathered to make an arrest. Deputies were assigned to keep under watch all auto-salvage lots in the county.

The law prohibits an auto-salvage dealer from buying a car as junk unless the seller has a registration slip to show he is the owner.

MYSTERY OF MISSING CARS was believed solved Saturday with arrest of men police said were responsible for stealing cars and then wrecking them for scrap metal and unidentifiable parts. San Pedro Detective Sgt. J. A. Mascitto checks license plates and registration forms, all that remains of a number of cars which have otherwise disappeared.—(Staff Photos)

Lynwood Officials Raid Machine Gun Factory

LYNWOOD — Police here Saturday night raided a garage at 3144 Oakwood Ave., and seized a machine gun factory. Five Spanish-speaking persons, who first pretended they could not speak any English, were detained for federal authorities.

Shortly after the raid a man identifying himself as an ambassador to the United States from a foreign nation phoned to inquire about the raid. Police declined to say what nation he said he represented.

Police Chief Ralph Darton said dozens of newly-built machine guns were stacked neatly in the corner of the two-car garage. Lathes and other gun-making tools jammed the tiny garage.

* * * *

"I CAN'T SAY where the guns were being sent because it may be a matter of the foreign policy of the nation," Darton said. But an anonymous tipster who phoned the Independent, Press-Telegram said the guns were destined for Cuba, where an uprising has been under way.

Authorities raided the garage after residents at a Lynwood motel complained some men with guns were disturbing the peace. Motor Officer Bill Freeman curbed a car carrying the suspects as it was driving on Long Beach Blvd.

ON A ROUTINE check of the car, police found eight machine guns in the rear trunk.

At press-time late Saturday, Darton said federal authorities had just found a large stockpile of ammunition at a second site in a Southland community near Lynwood. Darton declined to reveal the second location.

Threat Closes Yank School in Lebanon

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The American community school in strife-torn Beirut closed for the summer Saturday — 15 days early—because of a threatening note received by its principal.

Principal Clarence Schultz sent letters to the parents of the school's 440 children—mostly Americans—stating that the school was closing early as a precautionary measure.

A letter signed by an anonymous opposition group warned Schultz that the school should "sympathize with the opposition" in this country's current civil strife.

• • • •

THE CLOSING of the school came as Lebanon ended its second week of a general strike with a stubborn opposition still unable to dislodge equally stubborn President Camille Chamoun.

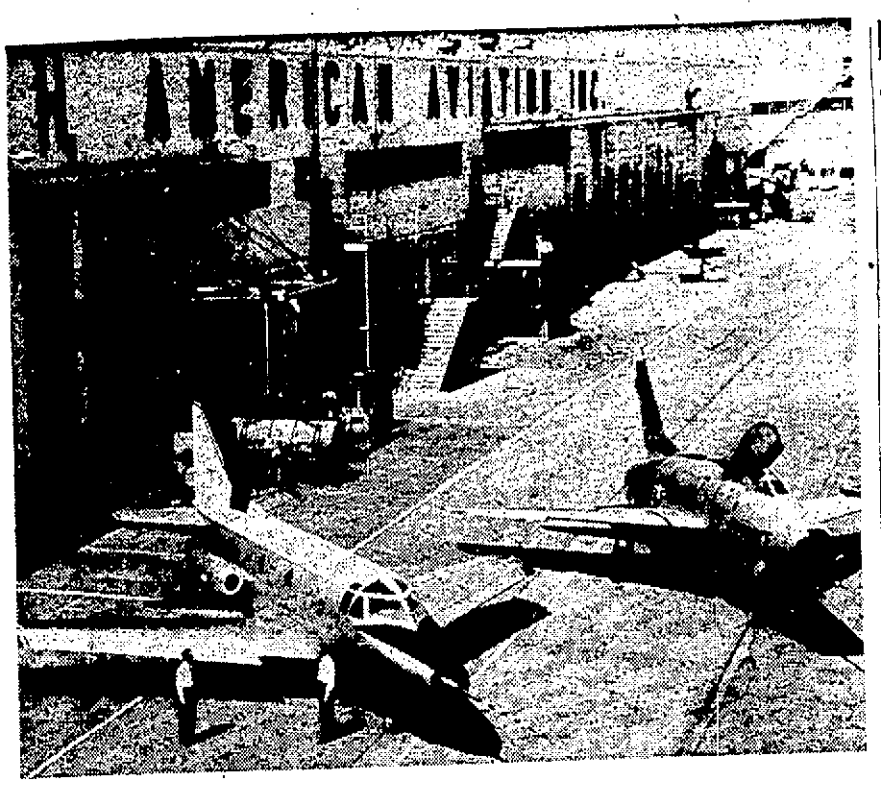

So far, neither side is strong enough to enforce a decision on the other. The government security forces are preventing street riots, but are unable to halt the bombings and hit and run terrorism which is keeping the strike effective.

Government forces have opened up the main roads in the country, but left huge mountain regions in the hands of opposition guerilla fighters.

For several days, there has been a comparative lull in the fighting. But in the historic tourist site of Baalbek, gangs loyal to oppositionist Sabri Hamadeh attacked a courthouse and sporadic fighting continued during the week. Outbreaks continued in the Akar region of north Lebanon and the suburbs of Tripoli.

Battles Polygamy

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Tadzhikistan's deputy supreme court chairman, M. Radzhabejov, is campaigning against bigamy, polygamy and taking of child brides. He preaches "creation of an atmosphere of intolerance" against what he calls numerous cases of such feudal practices in central Asia.

NEW JET TRAINER ROLLS OFF LINE

Rocket Fuel in Flare-up at Redstone

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Burning rocket propellant lit up the sky over Redstone Arsenal and damaged a small section of the Thiokol Chemical Corp. Redstone Division Saturday.

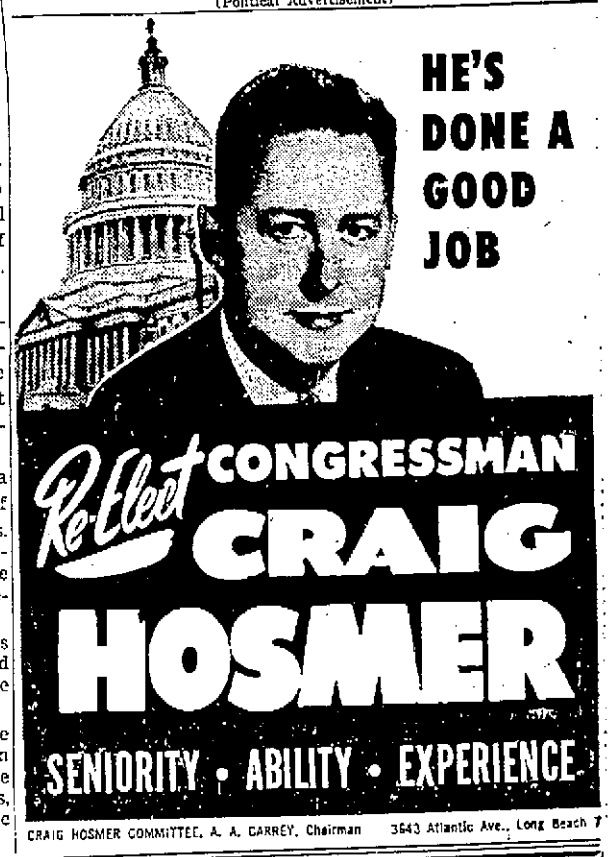

Sixteen workmen in the building fled to safety and an automatic deluge system had the blaze under control in about five minutes, a company spokesman said.

The fire occurred during a phase of the manufacture of solid propellant for rockets. Workers were operating the required mechanisms by remote control from behind a three-foot-thick wall.

The only person injured was a worker who skinned his hand while running away from the flames.

The spokesman said that one of the more than 10 bays in the damaged building will be out of operation for 10 days, but work will continue in the rest of the building.

Governor Knight Speaks This Morning at Harbor Day Ceremony in San Pedro

By BOB HOUSER

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight is scheduled to speak at 9:30 a.m. today at San Pedro in connection with Harbor Day activities.

Knight and the five other candidates for U. S. Senate are scheduled to appear on the same platform at the California League of Women Voters Candidates' Night Tuesday in the Ambassador Hotel.

Mrs. Robert Zurbach, of San Marino, state president, said each would have five minutes to talk and then all would answer questions from the floor.

Other candidates are Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco; William Jolley of Glendale and Alexander D. Williamson of Palm Springs, all Republicans, and Democrats Congressman Clair Engle of Red Bluff, and Fritjof P. Thygeson of Albany, a Socialist who cross-filed on the Democratic ballot.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN Thomas M. Erwin, candidate for First District supervisor, charged that opponent Assemblyman Frank Bonelli "has had to barter a pledge of $100 million in county tax money in exchange for political support of major downtown Los Angeles interests."

Erwin said Bonelli "has to make good on the $100-million opera house development planned in downtown Los Angeles."

Bonelli has campaigned on the promise he will place representation of the First District first in his supervisorial duties.

* * * *

RUSSELL L. HARDY, opposing incumbent John R. Quinn for county assessor, said Quinn "is denying the basic rules of simple arithmetic" when he "says he is not responsible for the tax situation which has caused such a wave of public indignation." Hardy added: "Two factors make up your tax bill—the rate set by the Board of Supervisors and the assessment value of your property established by the assessor's office. If either one is raised the tax bill goes up."

ROBERT W. FRAZER, Democratic candidate for 18th District Congressman, announced Saturday he has been endorsed by the California Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The group also endorsed Joseph M. Kennick and Thomas D. Griffin for 44th and 70th Assembly District seats, respectively.

Frazer disclosed that his campaign is being managed by his mother, Mrs. Hazel B. Frazer, a librarian at the Long Beach Main Library and oldest employe in point of service (47 years) with the city.

Other appointments announced by Frazer are Manny Phillips, UCLA honor student, for student relations, and Francis X. Kenney, past commander of the American Legion, for veterans relations.

* * * *

CO-CHAIRMEN Clarence S. Hunt and Charles C. Stratton of the Attorneys for Craig Hosmer Committee, issued this statement:

"Craig Hosmer (18th District Congressman, Long Beach) has served with outstanding strength and ability since he was first elected to Congress in 1952. Such dedication to duty, combined with three terms of valuable seniority, have made it imperative that the citizens of this district join in an all-out effort to insure an overwhelming vote of confidence for Craig Hosmer in the June primary."

* * * *

THIRD CANDIDATE for the 18th District seat, Dr. Harry S. May, Democrat, underlined the role of Long Beach as a world trading center, in a talk at a meet-your-candidates party at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zucker, 3144 Stevely Ave., Saturday night.

May noted that the tragic Signal Hill fire provided flash reminders of the dangers of an atom war as well as the potential of this community as part and parcel of a world community at peace.

He posed exporting our abundance and importing the needs of our economy as balances in a world whose traffic, prosperity and productivity are interwoven.

Stressing Long Beach's role in the nation's economy and as "our economic outpost for far-eastern markets," May said the voter should bear in mind we exported over $624 million in goods last year through our harbor, giving just one classification, our longshoremen, an income of over $15 million.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN Herbert R. Klocksiem (R-44th District) Saturday assailed an initiative proposal that would cut the state sales tax and raise personal income taxes.

The proposal will be on the ballot in the November general election.

Klocksiem, who is seeking his fifth term in the Assembly, noted that the proposal would lop off $200,000,000 in sales tax revenue—a full third of the present take.

"But the companion feature—the income-tax raise—would fall far short of making up this deficit.

"I don't see how this possibly can be done without hurting the state, its schools and its taxpayers. I urge a 'no' vote on this measure."

Russ Paper Envisions Covey of Sputniks

MOSCOW (AP)—The Moscow Evening News envisions a covey of Sputniks traveling almost two miles per second thousands of miles out in space, relaying TV all over the earth. It's possible, the paper says, if the great powers can get together on it.

VOTE PROSPECTOR

Robert W. (Bob) Frazer, democratic candidate for Congress in Long Beach's 18th District, dramatizes the fact he is "prospecting" for votes in the June primary by loading up an ersatz party symbol with sourdough tools and "Frazer" stickers.

IF YOU SUFFERED DAMAGE from the Hancock Oil Fire

—contact your insurance agent immediately

YOUR Independent Insurance AGENT "SERVES YOU FIRST"

Members of the Long Beach Insurance Association—your local, independent agents—have set up an emergency disaster unit to care for those who have had damage to automobiles, real property, and contents or personal property. In practically every case, your insurance will cover your losses.

FIRST, contact your local insurance agent immediately.

DON'T attempt any repairs or repainting until so advised and authorized by your own insurance agent.

DO wash your car, cut and rake your grass, clean your sidewalks and driveways.

BECAUSE OF THE GREAT MANY CLAIMS, special facilities are being established in Long Beach. Orderly block-by-block inspections will be made by trained insurance adjusters. Obviously it will take time for them to visit all claimants—but the delay will be as short as possible.

CALL YOUR INSURANCE AGENT at once so that your claim can be put into process.

BEWARE "DOOR-BELL" PUSHERS

Painting and other repairs under insurance claims will be handled by established and reputable local firms. Don't be victimized by irresponsible outfits. Use only State-licensed contractors. If in doubt, call the Better Business Bureau, HEmlock 6-7249, or the Builders Exchange, HEmlock 2-8985. But, we repeat, do not authorize any work until you have notified your insurance agent. He will see that proper steps are taken.

Report Pope May Receive Queen

ROME (AP) — The Catholic News Service Centro Cattolico Stampa reports a possibility that Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will be received by Pope Pius II on a state visit to Italy. The royal couple was received by the Pope in 1951 before she mounted the throne and took oath as Defender of the Faith of the Churches of England and Scotland.

Nobody's Here but U.S. Chickens

LONDON (AP)—British farmers are complaining about American chickenleggers. One breed of chicken that has turned up in Britain, American White Rocks, just is not imported. The National Farmers' Union thinks White Rock eggs may have arrived in lunch boxes and later hatched out. The new breeds are fine, the Farmers' Union says, but official hatching is preferred.

Let's Elect Bonelli in the Primary

ALL OF THE CONTESTS on the June 3 primary ballot are important, of course. But none is more important than the race for First District County Supervisor. The district would profit by settling that contest in the primary—and it is, by the way, the one contest with a good chance of being settled in the primary.

The First Supervisorial District, which includes a portion of Long Beach and Lakewood, takes in an area containing 1,400,000 people. These 1,400,000 citizens have been without representation on the Board of Supervisors since the death of the late Herbert Legg.

GOV. KNIGHT, who has the power to appoint a successor, obviously has been awaiting the outcome of the primary. The man who gets the majority of all the votes cast—if any man does—will probably receive appointment so he can assume the office immediately.

The recent attempt by the Supervisor of another district to wipe out the projected Long Beach branch court house illustrates why this district urgently needs to have its official spokesman on the Board.

Vigorous representation for the First District is always necessary. It is a district with interests that do not always coincide with those of districts covering Los Angeles city areas. The First District therefore requires a strong Supervisor dedicated to upholding "outlying" interests when they come under unfair attack by L. A. downtowners.

THE CANDIDATE WHO, in our opinion, fits the needs of the First District is Assemblyman Frank Bonelli of Huntington Park.

He is a vigorous, intelligent person. He has a long record of effective public service. He is not a "downtown L. A." man. He has been on the side of this community on the tidelands and subsidence issues in the State Assembly. He has pledged to fight for this district.

We urge voters of the First District to support his candidacy, elect him in the primary, and restore their voice immediately on the Board of Supervisors.

Bomb Will Create New Alaska Harbor

(EDITOR'S NOTE—With Drew Pearson on a reporting assignment in Europe, today's column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON—As a prelude to the day when nuclear power will be used to move mountains and divert rivers, the Atomic Energy Commission will blast out a deep-water harbor on the icebound northern coast of Alaska next year with a tremendous, underwater hydrogen explosion.

AEC officials have secretly contacted Alaskan authorities about the spectacular project, although the plans haven't yet been cleared with the Canadians who may object to a hydrogen explosion on their windward side. The AEC also anticipates an outcry from Alaskan, Canadian and Japanese fishing interests whose catches could possibly become contaminated from radioactivity.

The new seaport will be blasted into being near Point Barrow on Alaska's northernmost tip. The ice normally closes the northern coast to shipping 10 out of 12 months. However, a channel for ocean-going vessels would probably be cleared to the new harbor.

PLANS FOR THE "POINT BARROW Project," as it is known inside the AEC, call for planting a hydrogen charge under the surface at the harbor site. An explosion of about 10 megatons (equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of TNT) is contemplated.

This will be the first of several dramatic projects using H-bombs for peaceful purposes, all part of what the AEC calls "operation ploughshare." Another project which has been given serious consideration but not final approval is the blasting of a canal across the Alaskan peninsula. The AEC figures it would take 300 H-bombs, each having the explosive force of six megatons, to gouge a new water route across the frozen face of Alaska.

If the AEC can rearrange the geography safely in the remote regions of Alaska, it may attempt similar projects in the United States itself. Such ambitious ideas as rerouting rivers to make the desert bloom have been discussed.

THE BORDER PATROL PICKED up two Mexican wetbacks the other day on a Colusa, Calif., ranch owned by Charles Welch. Instead of shipping them back to Mexico and charging Welch with harboring illegal aliens, the immigration service strangely returned them to his ranch with temporary permits to stay in the United States. Welch is continuing to use them as cheap labor at a time when American citizens are begging for jobs.

It is a curious coincidence that Paul Posz, new immigration chief for the Southwest, owns a neighboring ranch at Colusa. The two ranchers have ridden the range together in their Cadillacs and moved in the same cocktail circles for years. When Welch was asked whether Posz had pulled the strings permitting the wetbacks to stay, he told this column: "I guess I had better plead the Fifth Amendment."

Chavez Ravine Row Is State, County as Well as L.A. Issue

MAYOR GEORGE CHRISTOPHER of San Francisco politely declined here last week to make a federal case of Chavez Ravine.

As a Republican candidate stumping in Southern California for his party's nomination in the U. S. Senate race and also as owner of a maddeningly peaceful baseball arrangement in his home town, Christopher seemed fair game to newsmen for the Chavez query.

HOUSER

"It's not an issue in my campaign," he demurred, "but I've offered to let anybody see a copy of our agreement."

It's true the gulch issue attains national stature only on sports wires. But the Dodgers baseball question is not exclusively a home-park item. It has already touched county and state bases as it rounds third and heads for home in the June 3 primary.

The county-state considerations are gratuitous headaches offered in the cause which already has a gully full.

Los Angeles city voters are the ones who'll decide on the Dodger-City contract. But there's been considerable choosing-up-sides in suburban sandlots too.

WE DISENFRANCHISED bums may see it like this: Either it's a wonderful thing to be in the big time, or it's an intrusion which has robbed us of our personal privilege of seeing any televised game of the week.

Since there is a county stake in the deal, it's a wonder all of us were not granted a ballot in the matter.

The county part dates back to Sept. 17, 1957. On that day our County Board of Supervisors committed the county, in a unanimously-passed resolution, to provide $2,740,000 to build access roads to the Chavez Ravine ball park acreage.

The state part involves a 25-acre parcel of the proposed 315-acre ravine site which the state bought from the city for a possible freeway route.

Now, the city owns some 185 acres of the site. They must buy up the rest of the package including the 25 state-owned acres.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL GRANT points up the odd fact, however, that the city cannot legally condemn land to give it to the ball club or to any other private owner.

It's conceivable too that the state might hold out on its 25 acres. If the state sold to the city then decided later it needed the freeway route, it would be forced to buy back through condemnation, probably at a much higher price.

WHILE THE COUNTY APPEARS in the role of road builder for the Dodgers to the tune of $2,740,000, the city is committed to spend $2 million preparing the ravine for the ball park use plus whatever it must pay to acquire the rest of the land package.

Over and above our covetousness of a vote in matters that concern us, there is an attractive alternate course: Since, if we were invited to this gulch party, we'd have to share its headaches, we can just lean back in the bleachers and watch.

"They also serve who only stand and wait" . . . and pay $2,740,000.

DAVID LAWRENCE

The Tax Bill Tug-of-War

WASHINGTON—The big tug-of-war on the new tax bill is shaping up. Unless a new tax law is passed before June 30, many rates automatically go down or are repealed.

Thus, if Congress didn't act, many excise taxes would be reduced. Also, corporate-tax rates would go down from 52 per cent to 47 per cent of net income.

LAWRENCE

This means that each group in Congress will have a certain leverage in the contest. A tax bill that favors low-income groups altogether would run into the stiff opposition of a non-radical coalition of both Republicans and Democrats which would insist that something be done to give incentives to business.

Naturally the administration has been deferring the announcement of its own tax plan. This is because, if the debate on new rates were started now, it would perhaps cause a blow-up in buying. When it is considered that autos and many consumer items could be affected by lower excise taxes, the hazard of a lengthy debate in Congress becomes obvious. There will be pressure, too, for lower rates on both passenger and freight transportation as well as lower rates on telephone calls and other items.

The Treasury, of course, is worried about the effect of all these changes on the federal deficit. For the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, the deficit will be about 3 billion dollars. For next year, it looks now like somewhere between 8 and 10 billion dollars in the red. Much of this is due to the severe decline in corporate profits.

How then to stimulate corporate earnings? It will not come by merely giving $2 a week a year to every taxpayer. It has to come from factors that will lead to job creation.

The Treasury is likely, for tactical reasons, to resist at the outset any changes in the corporate rates. But a substantial sentiment is building in favor of at least a 2½ point reduction, which would mean the halfway mark between 52 and 47 per cent. Businessmen would like to feel that the government is not a majority but a minority partner in profits.

* * * *

IF BUSINESSES which are climbing back out of the recession can see a chance to build up their surpluses, they can plan to invest in plant and equipment — something that is vitally needed if unemployment in the hard-goods industries is to be materially reduced. And that's where the recession has hit hardest.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks recently said:

"Let us keep in mind that in more than 4,000,000 private business enterprises, businessmen right now are engaged in decision-making as to production, sales, prices, re-hiring, research, plant expansion and other activities.

"Confidence — the dynamic foundation of spending—is on the rise. Government must encourage that revival."

The statement by the Secretary of Commerce is indicative of the whole attitude which the administration intends to take toward tax legislation—to remove unnecessary burdens wherever possible in the excise-tax field and to make changes that will provide a stimulus to business as a whole.

Bank Gives Scholarships Totaling $55,000 Yearly

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In all of the thousands of words that have been written lately about education, one of the outstanding achievements in this field has been, probably, somewhat neglected.

This is the program of the Bank of America in making achievement awards to outstanding and deserving students throughout the state.

MacARTHUR

Bank officials were in Sacramento recently, where an achievement award meeting was held, and four young people were given $1,000 apiece for being outstanding in their high schools.

This goes on all over California, and the total tab from the bank mounts up to approximately $55,000 a year, counting first, second and third prizes, not to mention the money it takes to administer this extensive program.

The Bank of America has engaged in the achievement award program since 1948, and has expended approximately a half a million dollars in gifts to these outstanding students.

The recipients of the awards are not chosen on the basis wholly of their scholastic ability. They are recommended for the awards first by their high school instructors, following which a board selects the top winners. Taken into consideration in making the awards are the abilities of the students as citizens.

In other words, it is the so-called "well-rounded" student, and not the book-worm, who is in line for the bank bonus. Scholastic ability, of course, has much to do with the final decision, but the activities of the student as a citizen, such as participation in school events, work on the school newspaper, etc., count as well.

And the bank awards are made in different fields, such as liberal arts, vocational arts and science, to make certain that no one field is selected as a primary vocation or profession to favor.

Trends in this modern day and age generally are for large concerns and philanthropic foundations to assist monetarily in the education of America's youth. It has even been said that eventually, the higher education of young people will be financed by private capital, without the exhaustive drains on the family pocket-book that are now disturbing the economics of many an American home.

Against Using Park Land for School

TO THE EDITOR:

I have subscribed to your paper for the past six or seven years and during that time have enjoyed the frank opinions expressed in L.A.C.'s columns, particularly his careful analysis of issues.

However, a recent Sunday column relative to the school district's proposal to acquire 20 acres of El Dorado Park land for a junior high school site presents a distorted picture.

* * * *

THE STATEMENT that the land in question belongs to "the taxpayers of Long Beach and those are the same taxpayers who pay for all the city's school costs," does not tell the whole story. The park land is owned by the city of Long Beach, but the city is only one part of the Long Beach Unified School District, a separate governmental body including a substantial area outside the city of Long Beach. Any special concession made by the city to the school district would benefit the members of the school district not living within the city.

If memory serves me correctly, L.A.C. opposed the city's purchase of a camp in the San Bernardino mountains, to be used by the school district, on the grounds that this would put the city in the position of subsidizing the school district.

* * * *

SELLING the park land to the school district for anything less than the fair market value would certainly subsidize the school district at the expense of the city. To replace the same area lost for park purposes, the city would have to pay the going price in the area for acreage. I believe this is one of the main reasons why the park land should be preserved intact.

Ike Demoted by Mistake

TO THE EDITOR:

Suggest Mr. David Lawrence change brands. Please see his column in the Sunday, May 18 issue of the I. P.-T., section "B" page 6. I thought Eisenhower was still President.

(Editor's Note: The error was not Mr. Lawrence's. A line was dropped, causing the name "Eisenhower" to appear by mistake after the term "Vice President.")

Replies to 'Best Letter'

TO THE EDITOR:

I have read the "best letter of the week" written to you by Mr. Gunderson, and I must state that any superlative quality it may have escapes me. When stripped of its prize-winning rhetoric the letter appears to make these points:

1. Tenure should not be granted to all teachers without regard to their performances.

2. The principles of competition in business should apply to the teaching profession.

3. Generally speaking, capable professional people keep their jobs.

* * * *

THE FIRST point is a straw horse, since the teachers and professors are not asking that incompetent teachers be retained but that competent ones not be fired.

The analogy between business success and advancement in teaching is a poor one, because of the crucial differences between the two fields in operation, aim, and criterion of success.

For point three, it is obvious that ALL capable professional people should be retained in their jobs.

Supports Use of Park for School

TO THE EDITOR:

Your editorial position on El Dorado Park land for a junior high school is very commendable and timely. The property in question belongs to the citizens of Long Beach. The Recreation Dept. serves its purpose, but our schools come first.

The people of Long Beach are paying for El Dorado Park, not the Recreation Commission. A school is necessary in that district. The situation of the park is such that it will not benefit Long Beach citizens to any degree. We have the land. Let's use it, save a little tax money where we can. Federal, state, county and city taxes are all increasing. There will be plenty of land left to develop in the park. Let us wake up. Education is the most important question today. Change the plans if necessary.

Morton Article on Opera Applauded

TO THE EDITOR:

May I congratulate you and Rachel Morton—she for writing the article on opera in English and you for publishing it. Opera would enjoy the great popularity it has in Europe if the people were able to understand the story as well as enjoy the music. It is only the snobbery of the few that prevents opera being the available joy it should be.

If we are to encourage the youth of this country to appreciate opera, we must help them to understand what they are listening to, not just to accept the fact that opera is something for the "intellectual" few.

Would Shakespeare be as well known as it is in non-English speaking countries if the people had to listen to the plays in English?

Carry on the good work—both of you.

LETTER OF THE WEEK

'These Mad Dashes'

TO THE EDITOR:

The highways in Southern California are becoming safer year by year. But how long must we tolerate police vehicles and ambulances careening down our highways, through intersections and through congested areas?

Last week I heard of two ambulances colliding in Los Angeles and a third on the way to remove the victims.

I PASSED A CHURCH on Palo Verde in Lakewood and witnessed a car of churchgoers injured by a speeding car. I learn that eight people narrowly escaped death at the hands of a speeding police officer.

I feel the time has come to put a stop to these irrational mad dashes that threaten the lives of innocent bystanders out of all proportion to the value of the project at hand.

Why kill eight people to catch three two-bit burglars!

Radioactivity Survey Shows Milk Safe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A year's study by the Public Health Service of radioactivity in milk has shown, officials said Saturday, that all milk examined from five metropolitan areas was perfectly safe.

The radioactivity in all milk examined was well below the permissible limits agreed upon by the national committee on radiation protection and measurement.

The study covered monthly samples from the milksheds serving Sacramento, Salt Lake City, St. Louis, Cincinati, and New York City.

In the five-area pilot study, milk samples were analyzed for specific radioisotopes, including strontium 90. The latter in sufficient quantities could cause bone cancer.

Resurrected Town Defies Tornadoes

UDALL, Kan. (AP) — Resurrected Udall today will honor 83 residents killed three years ago by a tornado that devastated this southeastern Kansas town in 10 terrible seconds.

Udall has become the state's newest and most vigilant town. It is a pattern for other towns trying to become as tornado-proof as possible.

Udall learned lessons from the storm that struck the night of May 25, 1955, and took 83 lives, injured 176 and destroyed most of the homes and business buildings.

The agricultural community quickly pushed away the wreckage and began rebuilding. The storm-conscious builders took many precautions against future twisters—and against surprise.

A sure-fire storm warning system has been set up. City Marshal Hal Payne keeps in radio contact with nearby communities and receives weather warnings from the U. S. Weather Bureau at Wichita.

ON THE south side of Udall stands a lookout tower. It is manned by volunteers. Its wailing siren can be heard all over town.

In its vigilance Udall has built more storm shelters than it needs. It's ready to share them with residents of the surrounding area. Officials say the shelters offer 100 per cent protection from tornadoes — and could be used if ever necessary for escape from radioactive fallout.

Beneath the new high school is a shelter which alone will accommodate 200 persons. A shelter under the grade school has room for 250. Half the homes have shelters. Most are stocked with emergency supplies of food and water.

Of the 168 houses in the town, 158 are new. Other evidences of the comeback from the tornado are 16 new business buildings.

The present population is about 600. Three years ago, before the devastation, it was 587.

TOT AMBLES ON HWY. 101 AT 3:30 A.M.

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Robert Vogel, who is not quite 3, took a two-mile stroll Saturday.

When last seen by Mr. and Mrs. Marcel J. Vogel, Robert and three other Vogel children were sleeping peacefully at their home last night.

Dave Roman spotted little Robert at 3:30 a.m. His headlights picked up a tiny figure in a T-shirt ambling down the middle of U.S. 101 Alternate.

Roman took him to the police who returned him to his home—tired but unharmed.

NEW DISCOVERY FOR HARD OF HEARING

To all readers of the Independent-Press-Telegram, the Diagnostic Office will give the first treatment for only $3.00

According to the Basic Diagnostic Office it is now possible for many people who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, "We have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else." Once they try this new and proved method they are overjoyed. Just like magic, in many cases they are able to hear without their hearing aid after the first treatment.

The treatment is simple, it consists of three steps, and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition a special treatment is given; if the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given; if it is a bone condition, the Tympanic Oscillations treatment is given.

According to Basic Diagnostic, 70% of all hard of hearing people will be helped by this method. We believe it is as great a discovery as insulin was for diabetes.

We are so sure that we can help you that we will give you the first treatment, including an ear examination for only $3.00 providing you bring in this ad within 10 days from today.

Imports, Higher U.S. Costs Adversely Affect Tuna Industry, Government Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department says increasing competition from imports plus higher costs of United States operations are adversely affecting the domestic tuna fishery.

"The consumption of tuna in the United States has increased almost continuously," Secretary Seaton said in a letter to President Eisenhower and the Congress.

"The domestic fisheries for yellowfin, skipjack and bigeye tuna, however, have shown a decline in production, employment, prices and sales.

"On the other hand, imports, especially of frozen yellowfin and skipjack tuna, have increased substantially."

The report was prepared under provisions of a 1956 law at the request of the American Tunaboat Assn., San Diego, and the Fishermen's Cooperative Assn., San Pedro. It said members of those organizations produce about 65 per cent of the domestic production of the three tuna species named.

It was emphasized the report presents findings, and not recommendations.

Among the findings:

United States landings of yellowfin and skipjack in 1957 were 237,113,000 pounds, down 27 per cent from the 1950 peak of 324,711,000 pounds.

The number of baitboats over 50 gross tons taking part in the fishery declined from 210 in 1951 to 146 in 1957 and the carrying capacity dropped from 44,300 tons to 33,875.

The average dockside price for yellowfin declined 25 per cent from $345 per ton in 1954 to a low of $258 in 1957; the skipjack price declined 28 per cent in the same period, from $304 to $220.

Employes on bait boats decreased from 2,730 in 1951 to 1,989 in 1956; on purse seiners from 1,661 in 1949 to 827 in 1956.

Imports of all types of tuna accounted for 6 per cent of the available supply in this country in 1948; for 39 per cent in 1956 and 45 per cent in 1957.

The imports of all tuna averaged less than 20 million pounds annually in the 1940s, jumped to 117,100,000 pounds in 1950 and to an estimated 259,600,000 pounds in 1957.

About 85 per cent of imports of frozen raw tuna have come from Japan.

Nearsightedness Halted by Contact Lenses?

According to reports recently presented at the National Contact Lens Congress, progressive myopia (nearsightedness) may be halted with contact lenses. Fourteen hundred patients with steadily worsening cases of myopia were fitted with contact lenses, and at the end of a two-year period none of these patients showed further increase in nearsightedness. Some even showed signs of improvement. A London physician stated that English specialists for eight years have been aware of the containing effect of contact lenses on progressive nearsightedness. These findings may be another factor in stimulating the already remarkable increase in adoption of contact lenses. Get ALL the facts from Dr. Soss, the optometrist who has served the people of Long Beach for 31 years. Come in, or write for fascinating booklet. Easy terms. DR. J. M. REALTOR OF THE WEEK

GRACE R. CHANDLER

In 1931 Grace R. Chandler with three other teachers from Columbus, Ohio, first saw the beautiful city of Long Beach, it was love at first sight! She decided then and there to make this place her home when retirement time came.

And so, in 1947 she and her husband, James, came to California first locating in Downey. After a three-year experience in building and selling, they came to Long Beach, building a home in Belmont Heights.

They became members of the Realty Board in 1952. In 1954 they were awarded the Realtor of the Year trophy for services rendered . . . the first husband and wife team to be so honored. After a temporary setback two years ago due to an injury, Mrs. Chandler has continued her activities and this year is a member of the following committees: Program, Reception and Attendance Women Activities, Achievement Book, Multiple Listing and Court of Ethics. She also has a Business Opportunities brokers license.

After moving to their present location at 4115 E. Broadway, they have dealt primarily in the Belmont area properties using the slogan "In the Heart of Belmont Heights." Mr. Chandler has recently taken advantage of the adult education class in oil painting and has presented two paintings to the board.

MY BUY OF THE WEEK

OPEN TODAY—2-5 P. M.

Near Bixby Park on scenic Ocean Blvd. at 1725-1731 is located a four unit red brick front building constructed like the Rock of Gibraltar. Each de luxe 2-bedroom unit contains over 2000 sq. ft. of delightful living space, with closet and chest facilities beyond description. All finished in Philippine mahogany.

A most exceptional feature is a full, cemented dry basement under the entire building with unlimited storage space, which possibly could be converted into additional rental units. On the rear of the lot are two one-bedrm. units over 5 garages.

Adjacent at 1717-1723 is a stucco four one-bedrm. flat, each unit with a permanently unobstructed ocean view. A tremendous plus value is the land on which additional units might be built.

These two properties may be purchased together at a substantial reduction, giving the "Crystal Gazer" buyer a fabulous 110 feet on Ocean Blvd.

Another plus value is the ease of purchasing. The owner will accept 25% down, plus trust deeds or will trade for home, duplex in any good area.

The potential value cannot be estimated. Let us talk it over with you at 4115 E. Broadway—GE 3-8018.

LOOK TO THE FUTURE! ARE YOU A CRYSTAL GAZER? CLAIRVOYANT?

Tele-Vues by TERRY VERNON

One of the most sought after youngsters in the country for TV appearances is Van Cliburn, the unknown pianist who came to fame by winning the International Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow, Russia.

Young Van has loyalty. It was Skitch Henderson who arranged for the first TV appearance of the pianist on "Tonight" back in 1955 and for a second appearance the same year. This sparked a concert engagement and helped Van get started. So it is only natural that he'll show up to play for the "Steve Allen Show" (4) at 8 p.m., in COLOR, with Henderson augmenting his orchestra by some 20 pieces for the Tchaikovsky Concerto No. 1. (Ed Murrow has the Texas pianist booked for Friday's "Person to Person.)

Steve is heading for Europe this summer so Peter Ustinov will be on hand to portray a tourist agent in three different lands to give Steve an idea of what to expect in his travels. Louis Armstrong will play selections from his new album and Barbara McNair will sing a new Allen-written song.

Yankees Finally Lose One, Tigers Finally Win, 3-2

DETROIT (UPI)—Frank Lary fired a seven-hitter Saturday to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees and bring to a halt the longest winning and losing streaks in the majors this season.

New York had won 10 games in a row and the Tigers had dropped nine straight before Lary, ever a Yankee nemesis, brought both of the streaks to an abrupt halt.

It marked the eleventh time in his career that Lary had been able to turn back the Yankees. New York has beaten him on only four occasions.

* * * *

THE YANKEES grabbed a quick 1-0 lead in the first inning on a double by Yogi Berra, an infield single by Tony Kubek and an infield out.

But the Tigers evened matters in the second on a bunt single by Al Kaline, a walk, a sacrifice and an infield out. Harvey Kuenn gave Detroit a 2-1 lead an inning later with his third homer of the year.

THE TABLES BEING TURNED

Seaneen, Irish-bred colt which has been chasing Round Table for the past year, finally gets revenge here as he leads The Table by more than four lengths while crossing the finish line Saturday in rich Californian at Hollywood Park. Trailing down along the rail are Terrang, the early pace-setter, The Searcher and Pit Boss.—(Staff Photo by John Neagle)

Longden Wins by 4¼ Lengths With Seaneen

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

'Twas a great day for the Irish Saturday at Hollywood Park as Seaneen, a Kildare colt who had chased the great Round Table five straight times in five months, reversed the tables the sixth time and registered a stunning four and one-quarter length victory in the $108,200 Californian.

The staggering upset of the millionaire colt from Kentucky was engineered by Mr. Dependable of the jockey fraternity, veteran Johnny Longden, who had spent the entire week slimming down to accept a 107-pound weight assignment on Seaneen.

Longden managed to tip the Fairbanks at 109 pounds at weighin time Saturday — and that was the difference as Seaneed held a big 21-pound advantage over the 1-10 favorite, Round Table.

* * * *

SEANEEN is Irish all the way. Bred in Ireland by the Irish National Stud Co., the four-year-old colt is owned by an Irishman, Neil S. McCarthy, and trained by an Irishman, W. B. Finnegan.

The surprising Seaneen paid $17.10, $2.70 and $2.10, while Round Table's supporters picked up $2.10 and $2.10. Terrang, three lengths behind The Table, paid $2.10 for the show.

The Searcher was fourth, four and one-half lengths behind Terrang, while Pit Boss brought up the rear of the five-horse field, three lengths behind The Searcher.

* * * *

SEANEEN picked up the winner's check of $82,200, bringing his lifetime earnings to $202,675, a far cry from Round Table's bundle of $1,025,764 (he added $20,000 place money Saturday.)

But the Irish colt's victory—reminscent of the famed Noor-Citation duels a few years back—was his most shining hour Saturday.

"Old Moneybags" Longden was content to let the flying Terrang set all the early pace. Jockey Bill Boland, flown in from New York for the classic, shot Terrang from the gate like a jet and opened up a three-length margin at the quarter pole. Seaneen was next, a length and one-half ahead of Round Table, with The Searcher two lengths further back and Pit Boss trailing, as he did most of the race.

Terrang's gap was cut to a length and one-half after a half mile, with the three top horses running in the same order.

At just the point where the crowd of 48,900 expected to see Round Table make his big move—at the backstretch turn—Seaneen took charge! Longden came around Terrang, stayed with Boland's horse a fleeting second, then quickly drew out to a surprising three-length lead at the head of the stretch.

* * * *

ROUND TABLE caught Terrang on the stretch turn and jockey Willie Shoemaker went to his whip in a frantic effort to catch the Flying Irishman. But it was not the millionaire colt's afternoon and Longden did little more than gallop Seaneen across the finish line first.

Seaneen, a tremendously improved horse, gave a hint that something big was in store for him just one month ago at

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Even though Nitehawk boss Joe Rodgers is disturbed at the amount of news space allotted to the Dodgers—and we'll have to go along with Joe that those Dodgers have grabbed more space than any other attraction in the history of Southland sports—it goes without saying that Walter O'Malley's clan has pulled out every stop en route to its headline-grabbing.

The Chavez Ravine referendum election alone should have been enough to command space from now until June 3, but the Dodgers (albeit not willingly) have added the Warren Giles and Buzzie Bavasi-Duke Snider incidents to their agenda of topics-for-conversation.

I have little doubt that Giles' statement was issued to stampede L. A. city voters into voting for the referendum. If O'Malley wants to locate his Dodgers in a lot adjacent to Seal Beach's famed Airport Club, he can (and will) do it without any interference from Giles.

Actually, Giles' statement meant a big, fat NOTHING! When he said that the voters, in effect, would decide June 3 if they wanted major league baseball in Southern California, he was being as absurd as the Schweppes man drinking soda pop. The site is the subject under discussion—not whether baseball is wanted!

And when Giles stated he knew of no other site where the Dodgers could play in this area, he was only showing his ignorance.

I don't think it's beyond comprehension that O'Malley and Giles cooked up the idea for Warren's speech. After the generally bad fan reaction, however, I'm certain Walter wishes Warren had kept his big, fat mouth shut!

ONE COLUMNIST claimed this week that Bavasi was trying to build up fan hatred of Snider in order to justify trading the Duke. If there was a file marked "Stupid Statements," this comment would land there with no difficulty.

Bavasi's irritation at Snider is understandable, especially in view of the Duke's tactics of trying to hurl baseballs from the Coliseum—AND OTHERS, which fortunately have not made their way into print.

Duke is the Dodgers' big man, any way you cut it. Without Snider's bat, the Dodgers are hurting. Duke is doing the Dodgers positively no good this season—and as the general manager, Bavasi is the fellow who has to shoulder the blame.

The best thing for both Snider and the Dodgers might be to put Duke on the 30-day disabled list, like Cleveland did to Bob Lemon. Duke keeps crying that his injured knee needs rest—and perhaps the 30-day enforced vacation is the only answer.

As far as Buzzie trying to generate fan hatred against the Duke—well, let's just dump that comment in the "S.S." file and forget it. Bavasi, a hard loser, still is one of baseball's finest gentlemen—even with sulking prima donnas!

I HAVEN'T SEEN one story yet about L. A. City Attorney Roger Arnebergh's statement a few days ago that the referendum election is "totally unnecessary." Arnebergh confirmed his statement Saturday—and it's mighty interesting.

"The June 3 voting on the Dodgers' Chavez Ravine contract is absolutely unnecessary," declared Arnebergh, "because five law suits—three of which still are pending—will test every facet of the document.

"I am surprised the referendum is coming to a vote—really, I am!

"IF THE CONTRACT IS ILLEGAL, THE COURTS WILL THROW IT OUT, WITHOUT THE NECESSITY OF A REFERENDUM. EVEN IF THE VOTERS FAVOR THE CONTRACT, THE COURTS COULD KILL IT. SO, WHY HOLD THE ELECTION?"

Now, there's the best question of the year!

Some readers have interesting viewpoints on the forthcoming election, like so:

"I am a Dodger fan against the Chavez Ravine deal," writes Donald G. Harp, 1202 Cary Ave., Wilmington. "I am voting against it because terms of the contract are overly generous to the Dodgers. Even though I am voting against the deal, and despite their miserable record, I plan to attend several Dodger games."

(Where, Mr. Harp, in the East Lakewood Little League park?)

"Since writing to you deploring the lack of any sports-writing skill in Southern California, I have followed your columns and must admit that some have been rather good. (Ed. Note: Thanks, loads!) ....

"Your column re Chavez Ravine opposition was an example, however, of blowing your top about something which your prejudice has blown you off on a tangent . . . for six reasons:

"1. You know O'Malley has found a gold mine here and any threat of his to leave the area is hogwash.

"2. Show me an instance of where someone in official capacity has called O'Malley dishonest. (Note: Oh, come now, pal!)

"3. Sportswriters have been acutely dishonest implying that the anti-Chavez Ravine movement has anything to do with the participants disliking baseball.

"4. Your comparison of this situation with two business firms living up to an agreement is a weak foul ball. Politicians must be responsible to their constituents.

"5. Your contention that L. A. is a national laughing stock is baseless. It is presumptious to assume that the rest of the country cares what goes on in L. A. (Note: You've been sleeping these past few months, friend!)

"6. What business is it of yours, if you're not an L. A. taxpayer?" (signed) W. D. Graff, 183 E. 68th St., L. B. 5.

(I didn't know your E. 68th St. address was in L. A. either, W. D.)

BOWDEN RUNS 4:03.7

Troy Captures 17th PCC Title

BERKELEY (AP)—California's middle distance star Don Bowden cracked the Pacific Coast Conference record for the mile Saturday, winning in 4:03.7 as Southern California captured its 17th PCC track and field title in 18 tries.

Bowden grabbed the lead before the first turn and no one challenged the lanky, smooth striding senior. He thus became the only man to hold two conference records. He set his first in the 880 last year with 1:47.8 but skipped that event Saturday. His sophomore teammate Jerry Siebert won it in 1:51.

SC won with 60½ points. Second place went to California with 43½; third to UCLA with 40 and fourth to Stanford with 26½.

* * * *

A CROWD of 12,000 in California's Edward Stadium watched Bowden establish the third record hung up in this meet. SC's Rink Babka, becoming the only athlete ever to win a PCC championship three straight years, set the discus mark at 186 feet 8 inches Friday and Rafer Johnson, UCLA's fine all around trackman, threw the javelin 243-10½. Those records came in the preliminaries and were not surpassed Saturday.

California's sprinting Willie White copped the only double triumph, taking the 100-yard dash in 9.6 and the 220 in 21.4. Stanford's Dean Smith ran second in the century. Otis Davis of Oregon was runnerup in the 220.

* * * *

LITTLE MAX Truex of SC had no trouble winning his second in a row as he finished the two mile in 9:05.4. Maury Graves of Stanford was next in 9:19.3.

Newk Fails Again, 5-4; Erskine vs. Phils Today

By GEORGE LEDERER
(I, P-T Staff Writer)

CINCINNATI—Big Don Newcombe, who once brushed off the Redlegs as though they were nothing more than lint on his suit, couldn't locate the magic wand Saturday.

The former ace of the Dodger pitching staff failed to finish for the fifth time in as many starts and gave up all the runs as Cincinnati took its second straight from the Dodgers, 5-4.

* * * *

A THREE-RUN fifth inning sent Newcombe to the showers and enabled the Redlegs to pull three games in front of the last place Dodgers.

Jerry Lynch, who formerly played with Hollywood in the PCL, sparked a 10-hit Redleg attack with three singles and a double and drove in two runs.

Johnny Klippstein started on the mound for the Redlegs and was credited with his second win, but needed the stout relief pitching of Brooks Lawrence when the Dodgers scored three runs before anyone was out in the sixth.

Catcher John Roseboro started the Dodger rally with his third home run of the year, a 370-foot poke into the right field bleachers. After Elmer Valo beat out a high chopper to third, Carl Furillo smacked his fifth home run that brought the Dodgers within one run at 5-4 and finished Klippstein.

Lawrence came in and walked Charlie Neal, but made Gil Hodges bounce into a double play for the first out. Gino Cimoli singled, but was left stranded when Don Zimmer fanned. Lawrence allowed only two more singles for the remaining three innings.

Even though the Redlegs swept the rain-shortened series, manager Birdie Tebbets wasn't satisfied. He ordered his athletes to take extra hitting practice immediately after the game.

* * * *

THE DODGERS, who have won only four of 10 games on their current road trip, winged their way to Philadelphia where they will face comeback kid Robin Roberts 4-4 this afternoon in the first of a two-game series.

Carl Erskine will be on the hill for the Dodgers, seeking his third win against two losses. Both Erskine and Roberts shut out the St. Louis Cardinals in their last starts. Erskine pitched a 4-0 eight-hitter, while Roberts won, 1-0, and doubled home the only run.

The Dodgers gave indication they would make short work of Klippstein when they posted a 1-0 lead in the first inning and drove Redleg outfielders to the fences with several deep fly balls. In fact, not a Dodger hit the ball on the ground until third baseman Don Hoak threw out Zimmer in the fifth.

HOME AGAIN ON JUNE 3

Don Drysdale is scheduled to start against the Phils Monday. The Dodgers move to Pittsburgh for a two-game series Tuesday and Wednesday, then complete their 19-game road trip with a four-day stand in Chicago, including a Memorial Day doubleheader. They play at the Coliseum again on June 3 against Cincinnati.

Not Even Newk-lear War Works

Once Over Lightly

By DAVE LEWIS
Sports Editor

Many of the younger sports fans have never seen a "pop bottle shower."

Today at sports events, soft drinks and beer are poured into waxed paper containers. The fans never get their hands on the bottles.

This is the result of too many dangerous bottle showers at the various sports events as the fans would vent their displeasure over some incident by bombarding officials or rival players with the deadly and crippling glassware.

The hazard of being hit by a bottle has still not disappeared. Fans still take liquid spirits to various events . . . and just a couple of years ago a person was seriously injured by a thrown liquor bottle at a Los Angeles boxing match.

Back in the late 1920's, pop bottle showers were not too uncommon in baseball.

I remember seeing several such outbursts at Wrigley Field. Bottles, cushions and refuse of every description was hurled onto the field . . . and it was a miracle that somebody wasn't killed.

THE STRANGEST RULING ever made in baseball concerned a pop bottle.

The incident involving this particular bottle occurred at Sportsman's Park in St. Louis on September 16, 1922. It eventually wound up as Exhibit A on the desk of the late Ban Johnson, then president of the American League.

The game that day was one of the most hectic ever played in St. Louis. The Browns, sparked by the mighty bat of George Sisler, were on an extended winning streak and making a strong run for what would have been a threat to the Yanks.

But the Yankees, managed by Miller Huggins, roared into town and wiped out the Browns' championship hopes and in so doing, they became involved in the famous pop bottle incident.

St. Louis supporters overflowed the playing field for the Saturday game. Temporary seats in front of the grandstand virtually covered the foul area and in the outfield, fans stood jammed behind ropes along the foul lines.

It was a tight game all the way with the Yankees leading 2-1 going into the last of the ninth when the incident took place.

JUST AFTER BOB MEUSEL caught a fly in right field for the first out in the bottom of the ninth, Whitey Witt, the Yankee centerfielder, was seen to drop, face downward, as though he had been shot.

There was a sudden silence in the park as Meusel and the other Yankee players rushed to Witt's aid. Witt was unconscious and bleeding from a deep gash in his forehead.

Rumors spread like wildfire through the crowd . . . Witt had been shot, he had stumbled and fallen cracking his skull, he had suffered a heart attack, etc.

But the Yankees knew what had happened as soon as they reached Witt for close beside him lay a pop bottle.

The matter became a subject for official inquiry right on the spot. Even though Bob Shawkey set down the Browns in order moments later to wrap up the New York victory, the Yankees were enraged and demanded immediate action.

The St. Louis club immediately offered a reward for the apprehension of the individual who had thrown the bottle. Several other groups contributed to the reward pool which finally totalled $2,050.

A considerable number of people reported the bottle-thrower to be a boy around 10 years old who disappeared into the crowd after conking Witt.

But no such boy ever was apprehended nor his identity ever discovered.

THE NEXT MORNING, Witt explained that he was running over to back up Meusel when "some . . . . popped me. That's all."

Johnson moved into the picture then and all available evidence was turned over to his league office, including the bottle.

The Yankees left St. Louis after taking two of the three games, and when they pulled into Detroit they heard some amazing news.

One Brownie fan who had attended the game claimed in a letter to Johnson to have seen everything.

He was James P. Hon of Evansville, Indiana, and his eye-witness account, according to those who date back to the time of the incident, to sound even more fanstastic today than it did then.

According to Hon, Witt had been running over toward right field when he stepped on a pop bottle lying on the grass. He stepped on its neck in such fashion that the bottle bounced up and hit Witt on the forehead.

Johnson ruled this the official explanation of the incident and that's how it stands today.

Meanwhile, selling soft drinks and beer in bottles was discontinued in the St. Louis park . . . and this new policy was to spread all over the country within the next few years.

Thus, much good came from a near-tragic incident.

Poly Third in CIF as Relay Team Triumphs

By RUSS TIFFANY

Led by sprinter Mel Clipper, Muir High of Pasadena nosed out Compton and Long Beach Poly for the 1958 CIF track title at Arroyo Saturday.

Clipper, who won the 100 and set a CIF record in winning the 220, staged a "Silky Sullivan" charge down the stretch in the anchor lap of the 880-yard relay to come from far off the pace and finish third.

The points for third gave Muir a total of 17 to Compton's 16. Poly, which won the relay, finished with 14 points for third place.

* * * * *

THE RELAY, final event of varsity competition, decided the finish for the first three schools. Compton's failure to finish better than fourth cost the favored Tarbabes.

Clipper, who won the sprints as expected, turned in 9.7 for the 100 and cracked an 18-year-old record with a 20.6 clocking in the 220. The old record was set by Morris of Huntington Beach at 20.7 in 1940.

The most exciting race of the day was in the mile where Compton's Woody Covington came from behind in the last half lap to win in 4:22.1. Covington's sprint overtook Leroy Neal of Fullerton and Jack Hudson, who led the field for three and a half laps.

Photo finishes were taken in the varsity 880 relay. The photos will be studied Tuesday and there is a possibility that Compton may have finished sixth. If the judges rule against Compton then Poly will gain a tie with the Tarbabes for second place.

* * * *

POLY STANDS to win a first place tie in the Cee meet as photos were taken in the 100. The judges will decide if Kelton Reece finished higher than third place, and if he did, Poly will tie with California.

The winning 880 relay team of Dee Andrews, Dick Davis, Jerry Galbreath and Bill Barbee from Poly turned in a sizzling time of 1:27.9, which is also the best time for high school sprints in the country.

* * * *

Poly's Jim Smith, with exception of Arizona's Dallas Long, the best high school shot putter in the nation, won his specialty with a best effort of 60 feet, 10½ inches. Millikan's Jack Slocombe, probably No. 3 in the nation, again was second to Smith.

TAKE SERIES, 2-1

Braves' Rally Edges Giants

MILWAUKEE (AP) — After trailing most of the way, the Milwaukee Braves broke loose for four runs in the eighth to beat the Giants 6-3 Saturday and move within a game and a half of pacesetting San Francisco in the National League race. The Braves won the series, 2-1.

Going into the eighth one run down, the Braves teed off on Al Worthington and Marv Grissom to sew up the decision.

With two on Andy Pafko and Wes Covington hit back-to-back singles to produce the tying and lead runs. After Pafko was out on an attempted squeeze play, Red Schoendienst drove in a third run and the big Milwaukee rally was capped by a fourth marker when Grissom wild pitched with the bases loaded.

* * * *

THE VICTORY was credited to Milwaukee reliever Don McMahon, now 2-0, who replaced Gene Conley in the eighth. The defeat was charged to Worthington, who is now 3-2.

The Giants scored a single run in the second on Orlando Cepeda's triple and Willie Kirkland's double. They added a pair in the third on singles by McCormick, Whitey Lockman and Cepeda and Jim Davenport's sacrifice.

Meanwhile, the Braves scored in the first on a walk and singles by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock and in the second on Del Crandall's fifth home run.

Pirates Topple Cardinals, 6-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Right-hand pitcher Bob Friend became the first National League pitcher to win seven games this season as he went the route in hurling the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Friend, who now has a 7-2 record, gave up 10 hits. He was backed up by fine defensive work including three double-plays. Two of the hits he gave were singles by veteran Stan Musial who flied out on his other two appearances.

Jackson gave up 12 hits as he went down to his second loss against two victories. Until the eighth, Jackson was tight in the clutches.

Two were out in the 8th when the Pirates exploded. Bob Clemente stole second base and scored what proved to be the winning run on Bill Mazeroski's single. Friend beat out a hit after Danny Kravtiz had been walked intentionally. Then came a two-run double by Bill Virdon, an intentional walk and a two-run double by Dick Groat who had knocked in the Pirates' first run in the third inning.

Chisox Triumph on Dropo's HR

CHICAGO (AP)—First baseman Walt Dropo, starting in a game for only the fifth time this season, smashed his first homer of the campaign in the eight inning Saturday to propel the Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 decision over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Sox swept the three-game series to complete their longest winning streak.

The winner was Bill Fischer, who relieved starter Bob Keegan after five innings and held the Orioles to two hits, one of them Bob Nieman's homer in the seventh that tied the game.

The score remained locked 2-2 until the sixth when Fischer doubled in Jim Landis.

But the Orioles again knotted it on Nieman's blast into the left field stands for his fourth homer of the campaign.

Aragon Nabs TKO Victory

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Art Aragon, mixing comedy with punches, was awarded a technical knockout victory Saturday night when Alfonso Flores, of Torreon, Mex., failed to answer the bell starting the seventh round in a scheduled 10-rounder at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Flores, 153, was cut and bleeding badly when his handlers decided he was in no condition to continue. Aragon, 155½, had the fight well in hand in spite of being wild with his punches throughout.

The California Golden Boy, a 10 to 1 favorite decked Flores in the sixth round with a right upper cut. The referee counted to 2 when the bell sounded ending the round.

An estimated 3,500 fans attended the fight.

Phils Club Drott, Shade Cubs, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A single by Willie Jones with Granny Hamner on third in the eighth enabled the Philadelphia Phillies to edge out the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, at Connie Mack Stadium Saturday.

The victory came after two losses to the Cubs and was pitcher Dick Farrell's first conquest of the season. Farrell took over in the seventh, relieving starter Curt Simmons, with the score 4-4. It also snapped Don Elston's five-game winning streak as a relief hurler for the Cubs. Elston replaced Dick Drott in the seventh.

Farrell held the Cubs to one scratch hit, by Alvin Dark, in the ninth.

The Phils earned their margin when Hamner led off with a single, went to third on Stan Lopata's single. Lopata, trying for second, was tagged out on a rundown. Jones then came through with the third single of the inning, scoring Hamner.

The surprise inter-league deal climaxed a disappointing spring for Hazle, who helped spearhead the Braves' drive for the NL flag by hitting .403 at the tail end of last season. His 1958 batting average had shrunk to a paltry .179.

Mayor Ray Kealer will hit the first ball off the first tee at 8:18 this morning to signal the start of the 34th annual Long Beach City Golf Championship at Recreation Park.

While the mayor's ability to spank a drive remains to be seen, there's little doubt about the talent of most of the 176 amateurs who will compete in the 18-hole medal round. The field is the largest and one of the finest ever.

Sixty-three match play berths in Friday's first of two rounds will be at stake today. The 64th is automatically filled by defending champion Verne Burnett of the host club, who as a little-known 17-year-old a year ago, was probably the longest longshot ever to win the title. Burnett will play today, but just for the practice.

* * * *

A SIX-UNDER par 66 by Bill Nunnally, now a professional, captured the medal in 1957. The cutoff mark was 74 and a playoff at 75.

When match play does begin, Burnett will be battling a jinx that has seen only one man ever successfully defend his crown. That was Mr. City Championship, Del Walker, who won three straight times from 1943-1945.

Former champions in the field in addition to Burnett are Willard McCay, 1947; Wally Taft, 1949, and Larry Griggs, 1955. It is interesting to note that eight of the last 14 champions either are now professionals or did a stint as pro.

Although the entry list is top-heavy with Long Beach area stars, two "invaders" must rate as pre-tournament favorites. They are Joe Gallardo, the reigning Southern California Public Links champion who was Burnett's upset victim, 3 and 2, in the 1957 finals, and veteran Bob Reed of Candlewood Country Club, a defeated finalist in 1950 and 1956.

Wynn's Top Ten

1. Joe Gallardo, Griffith Park.
2. Pinky Stevenson, Recreation Park.
3. Bill Foote Santa Ana CC.
4. Craig Olson, Lakewood.
5. Gerald Zar, Palos Verdes CC.
6. Bob Reed, Candlewood CC.
7. Verne Burnett, Recreation Park.
8. John Richardson, Palos Verdes CC.
9. Dennis Murphy, Meadowlark.
10. John McMonegal, Recreation Park.

Prominent with Gallardo, 21, and Burnett in the "youth will be served" category are at least a dozen outstanding players from the Long Beach area. They include Pinky Stevenson, Gerald Zar, Dennis Murphy, Dick Carmody, Ron Ankrom, Keith Lopp, Bobby Lewis, Johnny Lucas and Dick Smith.

Stevenson, former National Junior champion from Recreation Park, and Zar, powerful two-time straight Long Beach junior champion, are two in particular who have all the shots and poise to register their first major victory in senior competition.

Stepping up in age only, there are such title threats as Long Beach Masters champion Craig Olson and former pro Tommy Hickman of Lakewood; Dick Clover and John McMonegal of Recreation Park; Chuck Cassaday and John Walter of Virginia CC; Jack Augsberger of Meadowlark; Palos Verdes CC champion John Richardson; Ed Korylak of Rancho; UCLA ace Bill Foote and Don Baker of Santa Ana CC; Fred Valenzano of Willowick, and Lolo Saldana of Catalina Island CC.

First and second round match play will be held Friday; third and fourth Sunday; 18-hole semi-finals Saturday, June 7, and 36-hole finals, June 8.

* * * *

UPWARDS of 250 players competed in handicap flight qualifying, which ended Saturday. First round play is Saturday.

Bill Nicolaus of the City Golf Commission is tournament chairman. The committee is compromised of B. K. Jones, course manager; George Lake, head pro; Gene Combs, chief starter; Jack Sandefer, club president, and Bob Mills, South Course president.

L.B. to Stage Prep Sr. Bowl Game

Graduates of 8 Area Schools to Cavort June 27 at Stadium

Long Beach's first annual Century Club Senior Bowl Football Game will be staged on June 27 at Veterans Stadium, Century Club co-ordinators Loren Proctor and Les Eichorn announced Saturday.

The game will be sponsored by the Century Club and the participants will include graduated seniors of eight area high schools.

The schools will be lined up thusly:

Blues — Poly, Lakewood, Jordan, Downey.

Red—Wilson, Millikan, St. Anthony, Warren.

Warren High School of Downey has no seniors this year, but the game directors felt that Lakewood High School's small senior representation this year would offset that disadvantage.

* * * *

THE TEAM alignments point up four natural rivalries: Poly vs. Wilson (Long Beach's oldest public schools), Lakewood vs. Millikan (Long Beach's newest public schools), Jordan vs. St. Anthony, and Downey vs. Warren.

School teams will not be paired against each other, but the complete Blue and Red squads will be selected by the respective head coaches, Bob Parke of Jordan and Skip Rowland of Wilson. The coaches were chosen by lot, a procedure which will be followed annually so that each head coach will be eligible to lead a Blue or Red squad every fourth season.

Parke and Rowland will announce assistant coaches sometime this week.

The unheard-of June date for a football game was selected after polling many coaches. The mentors expressed a desire to have the game one week after completion of the school year because players would be in much better condition than at the end of vacation.

Both Parke and Rowland were enthused at the early date "because this way we can have a real ball game with kids still in top playing condition."

A two-week practice session will be held, both clubs using facilities at Long Beach City College.

Every senior selected for the game will be presented a special Senior Bowl dress sweater, while each player also will be able to retain his Senior Bowl game jersey. (Jerseys will be red for one team, blue for the other, with white stars on the shoulders.)

A trophy will be presented to the game's most valuable player immediately after the contest. A selection board of college coaches will choose the top player.

Proceeds of the game will go into participating schools' activities' fund.

Bob Kelley Says---

Aragon made me an offer. "We're going down to the Slate Bros. nightclub to see Don Rickles after my fight tonight," he told me Saturday. "I'd like you to be my guest—Caruso's picking up the tab. We'll see the first show."

"Second show, you mean," I interrupted.

"No, the first show," Arthur insisted. "I don't want to stay out too late."

"Look," I told him. "The first show goes at 10:30. You'll be fighting about then, remember?"

"Wrong," emphasized the Golden Boy. "My fight goes on at 9:45. "It's over by 10. I shower and get dressed, and it's only 10:15. We're there in plenty of time, right?"

I am writing this piece a few hours prior to Art's fight with Alfonso Flores Saturday night at the Hollywood Legion. Elsewhere on these pages, you will be able to learn if we made the first show.

"You're pretty confident," I told him.

"You're pretty right," Aragon said. "You don't think I bring a guy all the way up from Mexico to beat me, do you? If I want to take a licking, it only takes me five minutes to drive out and see my wife."

HOW CHILDISH can that bunch in the Northwest get?

The other night on the air, I reported that the Trojans and Bruins were dumping Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State off their football schedules, as of 1959, even though they had already agreed to games.

In fact, the local schools have already lined up replacements.

So the announcement a couple of days ago, by Oregon, that they're ceasing athletic relations with SC, beginning in 1959, fit right into place. Obviously Jess Hill told the boys the old ball game is over after this season.

Oregon evidently flew into a childish tantrum, and came out with the announcement that THEY were dumping SC. Actually the move will hurt the Trojans a little, because they'd like to maintain their basketball schedule with the Northwesterns.

Not as much as it will eventually harm Oregon, however. Have they forgotten we'll have an 18,000-seat arena ready for the 1959-1960 season? Have they forgotten that by playing here they can pick up a lot of loot?

A pretty childish and short-sighted move, I would think. It will be interesting to see if Oregon State and Washington State follow along, thereby cutting their own basketball throats in the new arena.

THAT FAMOUS creator of minus pools, Round Table, recalls a gigantic one that befell Hollywood Park last summer. Two standout colts named Rulership and Fleet Nasrullah went as an entry in a stake there. They wound up finishing one-two. It looked like one of the biggest cinches in the place bet department ever to roll along the backstretch. As it turned out, the entry was.

However, an intriguing thing happened in the Turf Club, where members are permitted to cash big checks. For the full half-hour before the race in question, the man who cashes the checks in the Turf Club could not be found.

When anxious plungers raced to his window, armed with check books and pens, they were told the man had "gone to the bathroom."

Evidently, he went for the works—a steam bath, rubdown and massage — because Mr. Cashier didn't return to his window till after the race.

Don't ever let anybody kid you. Racing is a business, and that's the way the track runs it. Can't say as I blame them.

Aussie Mile Ace, Delany at Compton

The mile field which will chase the world's number one and two ranking stars—Herb Elliott of Australia and Ron Delany of Ireland—in the 19th annual Compton Invitational meet June 6, has been completed, Meet Director Herschel Smith announced today.

The other starters will be another sub-four-minute miler—Laszlo Tabori, ex-Hungary; 1956 Olympian Jerome Walters, Southern California Striders; and Max Truex and Bob Shankland of Southern California.

* * * *

IT WAS originally intended to limit the field to only sub-four-minute performers. However, two runners who had accepted bids — Sweden's Dan Waern and Roger Moens of Belgium — have been forced to withdraw, necessitating a change in conditions.

Waern, a 3:58.5 miler, is out for two months with leg ailments, while Moens, a 3:58.9 runner, has been temporarily suspended by the Belgian AAU for unknown reasons.

The race will be the first meeting of Elliott and Delany and brings together the standout four-lap stars in the world today. Elliott is fresh from a 3:57.8 effort in the Coliseum relays, while Delany this week defeated Derek Ibbotson, claimant to a world record of 3:57.2, and Brian Hewson of Great Britain.

3 Dragsters Deadlock at 144 MPH

Three gas-dragster drivers were practically deadlocked with 144 mph sprint runs at LADS big 223rd St. course Saturday, as the two-day, all-western grand prix drag meet opened for nearly 500 contenders in 34 car-'cycle classes.

The new 750-horsepower dual engine dragster driven by Mickey Thompson of El Monte earned a one-tenth mph top speed margin over the Ted Cyr-Bill Hopper rail job from Escondio and the flashy Nicolini-Duncan "Sidewinder," driven by Jack Chrisman of Compton.

* * * *

THE FIRST dragster to top 150 mph twice during today's finale will get a 750 dollar savings bond atop other prizes.

The big meet will go all day until sundown.

Plus several hundred runs in the drag meet; some 70 youngsters will hold final competition in the Southern California special quarter midget race meet, during the afternoon.

Davis Equals World 440 Mark in Big 10 Trackfest

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Despite a world record-matching 440 effort by Ohio State's Glenn Davis and five new Big Ten marks, it was Illinois' consistency which won the conference outdoor track title Saturday.

Davis sped to a :45.8 quarter-mile triumph, even though he slackened 10 feet from the finish. His performance was even more notable because it was around two turns. The present record was set around only one turn by Jim Lea of Southern California in Modesto, Calif., May 26, 1956.

Illinois, indoor team champion, dethroned Indiana with a total 46 points although the Illini captured only two firsts on the 14-event, two-day program. The Illini, however, captured seven second places to crumble the Hoosiers' defense.

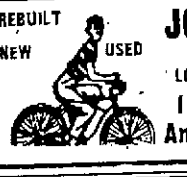

In all five Big Ten records were set and another tied.

* * * *

OTHER conference records were set by Minnesota's Bob Henry in the shotput with a toss of 56 feet 11½ inches, and Buddy Edelen with a two-mile clocking of 9:03.2. by Michigan State's Dave Lean with a time of 1:50.1 in the half mile, and by Indiana's mile relay team with a 3:11.7 performance. The record tied was by Indiana's Willie May with :14.0 in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Indiana had 41 points, Ohio State 35, Michigan State 23½, Minnesota 16, Iowa 15, and Purdue 13, Michigan 11½, Wisconsin 8, and Northwestern 7.

GRID LINE COACH

Downey's Eilerts Set for Vike Job

Roland R. Eilerts, co-coach of Downey High's 1957 C.I.F. gridiron champions, will be recommended to the Board of Education Monday as assistant football coach at Long Beach City College.

A line-coaching specialist, Eilerts was a center at Kansas University in 1948 and '49 and received his B. S. degree there in 1950. He has previously been a football coach and physical education instructor at Topeka High School, Garden City (Kansas) High School and Junior College, Imperial Valley College in El Centro, and is now finishing his first year at Downey.

IF APPROVED MONDAY, Eilerts will become the second former Downey coach to move to the LBCC staff. Viking head coach Jim Stangeland was head man at Downey in 1954-55.

Bill Poore, LBCC line coach last fall, is giving up coaching for a full-time teaching position and will return to Orange Coast College next fall.

Eilerts, 32, lives at 1312 Devonshire Rd., Anaheim. He is married and the father of two children.

to center. Except for a strikeout by Roseboro, the next 10 Dodgers were out on fly balls. But after the first inning, Klippstein didn't give up another hit until Roseboro's leadoff homer in the sixth.

The Redlegs got to Newcombe for a pair in the third on a walk to Gus Bell, Alex Grammas' single, a sacrifice and Lynch's double.

They knocked Newcombe out by sending nine batters to the plate in the fifth. Bell walked, took second on an infield out and scored on Klippstein's single. Singles by Lynch and Frank Robinson produced another run and finished Newcombe, tagging him with his fourth defeat against no wins.

* * * *

SOUTHPAW Sandy Koufax who pitched an 11-inning two-hitter against the Braves Tuesday, came in to walk George Crowe to fill the bases and followed by passing Ed Bailey to force home the final run. Ed Roebuck was able to put out the fire in his 15th relief appearance and Clem Labine, also working for the 15th time, pitched scoreless ball in the last two innings, although giving up four hits.

The Redlegs failed to score in the seventh despite three straight singles off Labine. A relay from Cimoli to Zimmer to Roseboro cut down Lynch at the plate on Crowe's sharp single to center.

Dodgers dix and data—Small world dept.: Olympic diving champion Pat McCormick of Lakewood is appearing in a downtown Cincinnati department store on behalf of a swim suit company . . . Crosley Field's right field bleachers, labeled "Moon Deck" Friday night, became the "Sun Deck" Saturday afternoon. The signs are interchangeable. Senator John Griffin, the Dodger's eighth vice president in charge of equipment, wore costume No. 24 for the season Saturday when he appeared in an engineer's hat and kerchief. He wears the same getup as long as the Dodgers win. So far he has been the next thing to a quick change artist . . .

Only three umpires worked the Dodger-Redleg series. Hal Dixon, the fourth member of the team, was hospitalized because of a bleeding ulcer.

Redleg second baseman Johnny Temple played despite having eight stitches in his leg, the result of a spike wound inflicted by the Giants' Willie Mays Wednesday . . . Cincy coach Jimmy Dykes rates Mays the greatest player in the game today . . . Dodger pitcher Ed Roebuck looked at the pitching averages in the morning paper and remarked, "Mays leads 'em all. He's won 13 games and lost none."

Don Newcombe, the first Dodger to be ejected from a game this season, could not understand why umpire Frank Secory chased him from the bench Friday night. "I never opened my mouth," Newk said.

Mrs. Gus Bell, wife of the Redlegs' center fielder, was honored as "baseball's mother of the year for 1958" in pre-game ceremonies. She received an automatic dishwasher. Two of the Bells' six children were present. The others had the measles . . . Bell, who hit .292 last year, is off to one of his slowest starts. He is hitting .207, has only one home run and has scored only five times in 116 at-bats.

Seaneen Scores Major Upset in Rich Californian

Golden Gate Fields when he set a track record of 1:40 4/5 for a mile and a sixteenth stakes race.

Longden was aboard Seaneen that time, too, and commented then that the Irish colt was ready to set California tracks afire.

"Old Moneybags" had the mount on Seaneen last Saturday in the $50,000 Los Angeles Handicap when Seaneen ran fourth. At the time, Longden maintained the colt needed the race and would do better at a distance more than seven furlongs.

"I told 'em I'd make 109 and now they know why," Longden chuckled in the jockey's quarters after his victory. "My colt was a little rank, but he settled down and rated good once we hit the first turn. I moved to the lead at the three-eighths pole easily and I knew then they'd never catch me. I told everyone in this room Seaneen would win today if he was ever going to beat Round Table.

"I guess now they'll believe me."

Shoemaker was upset visibly over Round Table's loss, but volunteered no excuses.

* * * *

"HE JUST didn't run his usual race," sighed Willie. "I tried to move up to them at the three-eighths pole, but John's horse just pulled away from me. He responded when I got into him, but he couldn't close the gap. It just wasn't his race—he wasn't picking 'em up as usual any part of the way."

Boland had only praise for his tiring horse.

"We went as far as we could with what we had to go with. Terrang's dead game and he ran his heart out, but when Longden went by us on the far turn, standing up in the irons, I knew we had no chance. This is a grand, kind little horse, but the winner was too much for him."

McCarthy and Finnegan were so thrilled they almost did an Irish Jig after the race.

* * * *

"I BOUGHT this horse as a suckling at his mother's side at Kildare in 1954," said McCarthy. "I bought Royal Charger, his daddy, and some mares at the same time and I can't even remember how much I paid for Seaneen. Finnegan and I've been in racing together 30 years and Bill certainly did a great job with Seaneen."

Seaneen's time for the mile and sixteenth race was 1:41, two seconds off Swaps' track (and world) mark.

Hollywood Park suffered a minus show pool of $8,597 on the race.

Round Table's defeat snapped a string of eight triumphs for the Kerr Stable ace and was only his second loss in his last 22 races.

The Californian is Round Table's "jinx" race. The Table was second to Social Climber last year in the same affair.

* * * *

PIT BOSS was ridden by a substitute rider, George Taniguchi, as Long Beach jockey Willie Harmatz was taken off all rides for the afternoon. Harmatz suffered a bruised right shoulder when he was thrown from his mount, Petite L., in the sixth race Friday.

Harmatz was stiff and sore Saturday morning and became ill later in the day, so his agent Harold Levenson pulled him off all mounts.

It probably was just as well. Harmatz got a better view of the race in front of his TV set than he would have had aboard Pit Boss!

ELMER VALO
An Undercurrent?

TRIBE PUTS LEMON ON ACTIVE LIST

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians Saturday placed veteran pitcher Bob Lemon on the active list and placed outfielder Carroll Hardy on the disabled list.

Lemon, 38, was returned to active duty after a final batting practice session at the stadium Saturday. The Tribe mound staff, looking increasingly brighter with consecutive complete games by Dick Tomanek, Jim Grant and Cal McLish was expected to take on an even brighter glitter with the return of Lemon.

Terrang Handlers Shaken as Boland Turns up Late

Jockey Bill Boland threw a scare into the owners and trainer of Terrang, an entrant in the $100,000-added Californian at Hollywood Park Saturday.

Neither trainer Carl Roles nor Al Connors, custodian of the jockey's quarters, heard from Boland when the day's racing program got under way at 1:45 p. m.

The jockey was scheduled to arrive in the Southland early Saturday from New York to ride Terrang. Ordinarily, jockeys who don't have mounts in the early races and who have flown in from the East report to the track later than the regular track riders, but usually by the first post time.

However, when Terrang's handlers didn't hear from Boland by the first post time they gave hurried thought to securing services of another rider for the featured race.

Boland, however, reported into the jockey's quarters before the third race, saying he had been "resting" in his quarters before the big chase.

The New York rider did get one mount, Playtown, in the sixth race, to get "the feel of the track," before the Californian. Injured Willie Harmatz was the original rider on Playtown.

Ravine Issue, Seven NL Rivals Worry Dodgers

By GEORGE LEDERER
(L P-T Staff Writer)

CINCINNATI—The Dodgers have enough trouble on the playing field, but for the last three days their problems have increased.

In the clubhouse and hotel lobbies, on the bus and on the plane, it is evident that the players are concerned with the Chavez Ravine referendum almost as much as with the National League standings.

When league president Warren Giles issued his ultimatum to Los Angeles voters Thursday, the Dodgers began to wonder.

* * * *

WHAT WILL really happen if the referendum is defeated June 3? Was Giles serious when he said the league will take "immediate steps" to relocate the franchise? Where will we go? Back to Brooklyn? Minneapolis? Houston, Toronto?

Most of the players refuse to blame their poor showing on the political upheaval in Los Angeles and the uncertainty of their future.

But all admit they are uneasy.

* * * *

HERE IS what a private poll on the gallop revealed about the wondering wanderers:

Don Drysdale—"It's a shame the way they have treated Mr. O'Malley. Los Angeles promised him everything. The city can't possibly lose by trading Chavez Ravine. Milwaukee has shown what baseball can do for a city.

"The people of Southern California actually haven't had a real taste of Major League baseball in the Coliseum. Take the two games we played at Milwaukee. The fans saw real big league ball in a big league park.

"If the referendum passes it will help our club as far as playing is concerned. It will help the city. Sure, we're always talking about it. The players have got to think about it. Right now we can't figure on anything permanent."

Randy Jackson—"Sure, we're a little uneasy. But I don't believe the referendum is affecting the club that much."

Elmer Valo—"I can't understand it. Chavez Ravine was accepted once and now a minority group opposes it. There must be some undercurrent somewhere.

"The fans seem interested in Major League ball. They're coming out in droves and that's a good sign. Psychologically it has affected the entire team, even the writers. If people are interested enough to see the game they should go out and vote."

Carl Erskine—"It's a topic for the players to kid about. There are more current things to occupy the players' minds, such as the games each day. The players didn't let last year's moving talk affect their play. But I guess L. A. is trying to pull the rug out from under us. We feel like orphans, but there's nothing we can do about it."

Norm Larker—"A yes vote would help the city more than anything. But all this talk isn't affecting our play."

Joe Pignatano—"I'd like to see it pass if for no other reason than to get us out of the Coliseum."

Gil Hodges — "It would be a shame if it doesn't pass. Southern California is ready for Major League ball and the fans have showed it by the way they've turned out for our games."

Clem Labine — "The uncertainty is unfair to all. Of course it's affecting the team."

Carl Furillo—"It isn't hurting the players on the field because no matter where we are we still have to play a game. But we still don't have a home or know where we're going. A man would be crazy to buy a home out there."

But whatever fears are harbored by the Dodgers, Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbetts dispelled with more optimism than he has shown for his team all year.

"I have no doubts that the Dodgers will get Chavez Ravine. The vote will be at least five to one. The people will be voting for baseball, not for the Ravine."

THEY MADE IT A GREAT YEAR FOR VIKINGS

Long Beach City College coaches and athletes admire the Metropolitan Conference All-Sports ("Iron Man") trophy—won by the Vikings for the third straight year for the best all-around sports record in the league. Coaches in the back row are Charlie Church (basketball, golf), Eddie Hasson (gymnastics), Chuck Acosta (tennis), Del Walker (P.E. Department chairman), Joe Hicks (Athletic Director, baseball coach), Joe Lanning (track, cross country), Jim Stangeland (football), Monte Nitzkowski (swimming, water polo). Representative athletes are (left to right) Dick Markowitz, Bob Berry, Jack McCaddon, Dean Welin, Dan Adams, Jim Duke, Roy Mitchell, Henry Andrews, Dick Duty and Ron Crawford.—(Photo by Gary Shelton)

BANNER YEAR FOR LBCC

Vike Teams Won 4 Metro Crowns

Long Beach City College athletes have concluded a banner year by winning their third straight Metropolitan Conference All-Sports trophy with a record total of 66½ points. Since 1950 the Vikings have won the "Iron Man" trophy four times and placed second three times.

Highlights of one of the outstanding years in LBCC history included state championships in basketball and swimming. Southern California titles in swimming and water polo and Metropolitan Conference championships in all these sports plus cross-country.

* * * *

THE VIKINGS also finished near the top in football (third), track (second in dual meets), tennis (tied for second in dual matches) and baseball (tied for third).

Four Helms Foundation "Conference Athlete of the Year" awards went to LBCC players. They are Chuck Bittick, a double winner in water polo and swimming, Bill Tomasic in football and Harlan (Pinky) Stevenson in golf.

Monte Nitzkowski's aquatic forces, who contributed 20 of the 66½ "Iron Man" points, started the year off in a big way by going undefeated in jaysee competition for the third straight season.

Church's basketballers, led by co-captains Dick Markowitz and Bob Berry, won the Sam Barry Tournament en route to Church's basketballers, led by co-captains Dick Markowitz and Bob Berry, won the Sam Barry Tournament en route to league and state titles and established new scoring records.

In swimming, the powerful Viking squad completely outclassed all J. C. opposition and also defeated such "big time" powers as UCLA, California, Stanford and Denver. Backstroker Chuck Bittick, butterfly artist Doug Martin and the relay teams shattered several national J. C. records.

SOME OF the oldest track records at LBCC fell this year—in 440 and 880, plus the shotput and mile relay. In tennis, singles ace Dante Merlino won the consolation championship at the state junior college tournament. Stevenson was medalist in the Metro golf tournament and placed second in last week's state tournament.

In baseball, coach Joe Hicks' freshman-dominated squad, picked to finish in the lower division, surprised observers by making a strong bid for the pennant before dropping into a third-place tie. Pitchers who saw the most action were all converted from other spots after the season began.

by JERRY WYNN

"The reason we don't play in the City Championship handicap flights is because of the difference in handicapping between our golfers and Publinx players," one prominent Virginia Country Club member told me. "It's no fun to spot a man strokes, and then have him close you out on the 13th hole."

The man was not attacking the Publinx handicapping system as much as he was the laxity of some clubs and individuals to keep handicaps properly.

This seems to be a prevalent opinion at Virginia and other rock-ribbed Southern California Golf Assn. clubs. Their handicaps are made of sterner stuff than Publinx golfers. They would be at a disadvantage playing against them.

Prevalent yes, but is it factual?

"No," says Recreation Park's Gene Combs, a veteran championship player of all types of competition. "Of course, there are individual cases of poor handicapping, but on a whole, our Publinx handicaps under the new USGA system, are much tougher than theirs."

Combs backed his statement with a personal illustration.

"I'm a four, and so are Jim Ferrie and Nell White. Why I couldn't beat them with a four-stroke spot at Virginia, and would probably lose here at Recreation Park. On a whole, I'd say that Virginia golfers with similar handicaps would murder us."

Combs then cited many Recreation Park golfers playing to lower handicaps than one would believe they should . . . high handicappers as well as low.

A reason for this discrepancy would be that many golfers can have "hot" practice rounds at a course such as Recreation, but can shoot nowhere as well under the pressure and conditions of tournament golf.

Virginia and other SCGA golfers, on the other hand, are far more accustomed to tournament play.

As Combs pointed out, there are always instances of poor handicapping that crop up to the extreme detriment of a tournament, Virginia Invitational as well as Long Beach City Championship. In fact, I will say that I have heard more complaints during the Virginia event, than in any City Championship.

As for "lax" or dishonest individuals, it certainly doesn't figure that there would be more of them on public courses where gambling is normally carried on in dollar bills than on private courses where hundred dollar bills are commonly exchanged.

For a Long Beach golfer not to play in the Long Beach City Championship because of this distrust would appear to me to be either poor reasoning or a weak excuse.

P.S.—According to Combs, there was but one Virginia golfer among the 250 who competed in handicap flight qualifying.)

HELEN BUCK is the new South Course Women's Club champion by virtue of a 4 and 3 victory over Dora Nielson. Mrs. Buck made it a grand sweep by also capturing the medal with a 67. Flight results:

First—Margo Kilment def. Mickey White, 20th hole; second—Yula Tollefson def. Odessa Alperson, 5-4; low net—Helen Hartling, 59; consolation—tie among Lillian Smith, Yolande Booth, Ethel Shell.

DEADLINE for entering the National Public Links Championship is Thursday. Entries are available at all public courses and information may be obtained by calling USGA committeeman Mark Greer at GEneva 8-4442. Other USGA competition entry deadlines are Women's Open, June 13, and Junior Boys', June 27.

HOLE-IN-ONE honors to Wes Carroll Jr. of 3918 Country Club Drive who aced the 139-yard 15th hole at Virginia CC, while playing with brother George Carroll and Peter Williams.

Vossler Maintains Lead in Kansas City Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., protected his lead in the Kansas City Open golf tournament Saturday with a 2-under-par 70 that gave him a 54-hole total of 202, two strokes better than his closest challenger.

With one round left in the $22,500 tournament on the 6,668-yard Hillcrest Country Club course, Vossler's nearest rival was Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who had a 65 Saturday for 204.

Vossler, who has been playing well since investing in a new putter and a pair of glasses six weeks ago, was out in 34 and home in 36. He had two long puts for birdies on the front nine and was steady all the way except for a short putt he missed on the 16th green.

Gary Player, the young pro from Johannesburg, South Africa, and PGA champion Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., each posted 1-under-par 71 for a score of 205 at the three-quarter mark.

AT CALIENTE

Two Races in Spotlight

The mile and 70 yards Laurel Handicap and the five and one-half furlong Light Brigade Allowance, highlight today's program at Caliente.

Sir Gareth will be trying for his 14th win in 21 starts in the Light Brigade but will face tough opposition in War Marshal, Zodiakos, Rillito Boy, Valiant Ace and Sleepy Brook.

So Valiant and Fast Clipper top the field for the Laurel Handicap.

Lincoln Road Triumphs at Garden State

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Lincoln Road made every post a winning one Saturday as the bridesmaid of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness won the $59,100 Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park. It was the colt's first victory of the year.

Isaac Blumberg's front running 3-year-old had no Tim Tam to contend with Saturday and there just wasn't enough speed among Lincoln Road's 10 rivals to catch the With Pleasure thoroughbred as he rushed to the front from the gate with his familiar burst of speed.

* * * *

ADELE L. Ricc's Talent Show chased the 2-5 favorite of the crowd of 37,877 all the way, making three or four challenges during the mile and an eighth run for 3-year-olds, but jockey Chris Rogers kept the pressure on Lincoln Road and he was equal to the test.

He earned $37,865 for his effort Saturday boosting his total earnings to $108,735, not bad for a $3,100 investment.

Lincoln Road was timed in 1:49 for the nine furlongs. 1 3/5 seconds off the track record set by Subahdar in 1955. He returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.20. Talent Show, sixth in the Preakness, paid $4.60 and $3.00, while Li'l Fella was $3.20 to show.

Big Effort Nabs Belmont Feature

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brookmeade Stable's Big Effort easily won the $35,850 Acorn Stakes for 3-year-old fillies Saturday at Belmont Park, drawing away at the finish for a six-length victory over Ned W. Brent's Polamby.

Pete Anderson rode Big Effort, who was scoring her second victory in as many starts this season, and the bay filly paid $23.80, $9.50 and $4.80 in turning back 10 rivals. Time for the mile was 1:37 2/5 on a fast track.

Backbone Wins at Suffolk Downs

BOSTON (AP) — Brookfield Farm's I've Got Rhythm, an even-money favorite, stumbled and threw his rider at the start in Saturday's Suffolk Downs feature and Backbone went on to win the six-furlong race.

Backbone was timed in 1:11 1/5 and paid $9.80, $5.40 and $4.80. Dandy Blitzen, the second horse, paid $9.60 and $7.40 and Admirals Joy returned $22.60 for show.

MAN CATCHES 3 CORBINA—ALL AT ONCE

Three corbina—they must have been triplets—added a bit of the unusual to fishing reports Friday.

J. B. Makemson, of Sims Bait and Tackle, 6065 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., reported that he weighed the three fish for B. G. Sims, of Bellflower. Each fish weighed 1¼ pounds.

The angler caught all three at once on a three-hook outfit at Tin Can Beach. One hook was baited with a clam, another with a sand crab and the third wiht a mussel. The triple strike came simultaneously.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

A 51-pound Mackinaw trout, the largest ever caught on rod and reel, adorns one of the walls of the Linger Longer Lodge dining room at Priest Lake in the Idaho Panhandle. The giant fish was caught four years ago and mounted for Bud and Ella Thompson, who run Linger Longer.

Since that fish was caught, thousands of anglers have set their sights on Priest, hoping to better the record. Hundreds of big Macks have been hooked and landed, but no fish has reached that size. That record may stand for a long time. Not that there aren't large Macks; there's an 80-pounder on record, but it was taken by commercial nets in Lake Athabasca, in northern Saskatchewan.

Priest, like Pend Oreille and Coeur d'Alene Lakes, is an enormous body of water, 20 miles long and connected with Upper Priest (3 miles long) by what Idaho residents call a "thoroughfare." The thoroughfare is a winding, shallow river 1½ miles long, with heavy forests on each side. At some places the trees almost meet overhead.

The best way I can describe the thoroughfare is to say that as you make each turn in a boat, you'll swear that at the next one an Indian will most certainly come paddling a canoe around the bend. It's that primitive.

BEFORE WE START FISHING either of the Priest Lakes, let's meet Kyle Walker, secretary of the Coeur d'Alene Chamber of Commerce, and my host for four days in the Panhandle. Kyle's as much a part of Idaho as are the tall cedars, the white pines, the tamaracks and the ponderosa.

Normally you think of a C. of C. secretary as a man devoted to his home town and nothing else. Kyle is in love with Coeur d'Alene, but the outdoors and nature come first. He knows every little country road, every stream, each lake, the names of wildflowers, trees and the mountains to the north that mark the boundary of the U. S. and Canada.

He's the kind of man who can whip a dry fly for 80 or 100 feet, lay it down gently on a placid, mirror-like surface and come up with a cutthroat trout that will fight every inch of the way to the boat.

He'd rather fish with a dry fly for 15 minutes and catch average-size fish than to troll six months for the big Macks. And that is what we did on Upper Priest. I couldn't match his technique and resorted to a small spinning outfit, taking similar fish on Daredevle lures.

THE EXTREME FRIENDLINESS of Idaho people disarms a stranger immediately upon arrival. In fact, those residents of the Panhandle country refuse to admit that you are a stranger.

Kyle and I were guests of George and Lois Hill, who operate 29 cabin units at Hill's Resort. They took us on a fast speedboat run on Priest, along the thoroughfare and into Upper Priest. Returning, we stopped to see Vern and Della Howell at Grandview Lodge and Al and Phyllis Elkins at Elkins Resort. All of those resorts are extremely popular through the fishing season, which runs from May 1 through Oct. 31.

September and October are classed as the top months for Mack fishing, and that period, similarly, is the best time for the Kamloops at Pend Oreille. There's a world of difference in fishing for Kamloops and Macks. The Kamloops, a true rainbow, rises to the surface and fights half his battle in the air, whereas the Mack sounds and dogs it out on the bottom. Strangely, you find no big Kamloops in Priest and no Macks in Pend Oreille. Yet, there are huge Dolly Vardens in both lakes and cutthroat as well.

Entirely too much emphasis has been placed on the big fish—Mackinaws and Kamloops—and Idaho people are beginning to realize that they have other types of fishing to sell to recreation-minded America. And how much California fits into that picture can be realized from the fact that out-of-state licenses bought by Californians pay half of Idaho's DF&G salaries.

THE ENTIRE PANHANDLE is filled with lakes and streams, all of which afford excellent fishing. Kyle took me to Kelso Lake, a small pond, comparatively speaking, that was cleaned of rough fish three years ago and replanted with rainbows. We had a circus catching 10-to-13-inch fish on dry flies.

We took quick tours to see Twin Lakes, 18 miles from Coeur d'Alene; Spirit Lake, 24 miles away, and Hauser and Hayden, not to mention Fernan Lake, which is almost within the city limits.

We drove around Coeur d'Alene Lake, one of the most beautiful sights in the west and then on to the St. Joe River, where Lewis J. Papes, editor of the St. Maries Gazette-Record dropped his chores in midday and took us for a boat ride along the shadowy St. Joe. As we rounded each bend in the river, the noise of the outboard stirred up flight after flight of mallards.

The St. Joe is 50 to 70 feet deep and is navigable 15 miles upstream from St. Maries and down all the way to Coeur d'Alene. It offers excellent fishing for rainbows and cutthroat and is one of the prettiest streams in this country when fall turns the foliage to reds and yellows.

ALL LAKES OF THE PANHANDLE open May 1, but the streams are not opened until June 4, and that latter date applies to central and southern Idaho, except some places where fishing is permitted the year around.

If you are interested in any of the Panhandle country, by all means communicate with Kyle Walker at the Coeur d'Alene Chamber. If you wish general information about all of Idaho, write to E. Kleiss Brown, information officer, Dept. of Fish & Game, State House, Boise, Idaho.

Of all the places I visited, three stand out vividly in my memory, so much so that I'll go back there some day. They are the shadowy St. Joe, Upper Priest and its thoroughfare and Kelso.

It would be hard to forget Stanley and Dorothy Reed who operate the concession at Kelso. Both are former Texans. It was Dorothy who had an old-fashioned chicken dinner on the table when we finished a morning of fly fishing on Kelso.

Ocean Fishing Summary

This week should be one of the best for ocean fishermen along the entire stretch of Southern California's coast. Last week's fishing was excellent until winds slowed action Thursday and Friday. Here's a brief summary:

SAN PEDRO—Both Norm's and Joe Martin's landings reported numerous catches of barracuda, kelp bass ranging up to bull size, plus a few white sea bass and yellowtail.

NEWPORT—Davey's Locker had a fast start on the week but wind and water conditions slowed everything Thursday. Barracuda schools still plentiful south toward Dana Point. Oceanside and San Clemente have similar reports.

SAN DIEGO—This weekend should be tops. New yellowtail schools moved into Coronados and Rock Pile to boost daily totals to better than 1,200 fish. Sunday, however, is often a hoo-doo because of hundreds of fishing boats moving into the fishing banks.

SANTA BARBARA and PORT HUENEME—Limits of kelp bass ranging to bull size at offshore islands. Barracuda also showing for Hueneme boats just offshore.

SURF—Best bets for corbina, Tin Can Beach, Salt Creek, Crystal Cove and Morro Beach. Opaleye hot along Palos Verdes stretch and breakwaters. Lots of spotfin croakers taken near 5th St. beach at Oxnard; also in Santa Monica Bay near Topanga Canyon intersection; few reported along south coast near Carlsbad. Perch hitting well everywhere.

MEXICO — All ports, Guaymas, Loreto, La Paz and Mazatlan having red-hot fishing, but so's the weather. Billfish taken in large numbers in La Paz area.

Fresh-Water Fishing Roundup

Best bets this week for trout in Southern California should be Big Bear Lake, Jenks Lake and the recently planted streams (lists carried in Thursday's editions). Cachuma Lake, near Santa Barbara, showing signs of trout activity, with bluegill, catfish and small bass very active.

IRVINE and SHERWOOD LAKES best for crappie and bass; HODGES LAKE improving, especially for lure fishermen; WOHLFORD producing trout from earlier plants; HAVASU and MEAD LAKES excellent for bass, but weather's hot.

INYO-MONO—Brit's the best for all areas. Crowley Lake showed spurt late last week, with many limits of browns and rainbows; Twin Lakes at Bridgeport good; Bridgeport Reservoir only fair; Grant, Silver and June Lakes at new peak for bait fishermen, especially those in boats. Convict Lake finally picking up. Best creeks are Lee Vinning, Convict, McGee, Hilton, Big Pine, Baker and Bishop. Parts of Owens River good for fly fishing.

WESTERN SLOPE—Bucks and Almanor Lakes best bets, and mostly for trollers. Sacramento River picking up for steelhead and salmon and small trout. Other streams very high and runoff is one of heaviest in recent years. Mokelumne, Stanislaus, Tuolumne, Merced, San Joaquin, Kings, Tule, Haweah and Kern Rivers all high and muddy and hard fishing.

Isabella Lake still slow for trout, but kingsize crappie hitting well, even on lures.

Nuss Wins Jr. Bowl Honors

Karen Nuss walked off with high series to Jim Stoop with individual game and series honors among the girls Saturday in the first annual Long Beach Junior Bowling tournament at Belmont Bowl.

Miss Nuss, with her handicap, rolled a high 224 and 576. High game among the boys went to Bill Rafferty with a 251 and the 748.

The Eastside Boys' Club won the top team trophy with a handicap aggregate of 3,063. Jordan No. 1 was second with 2,978 pins.

The tournament was held under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

200 Stock Motors Off Today

The first of four flights among nearly 200 stock outboards will start at 9 a. m. today off Pacific Landing in the rough 50-mile ocean stock outboard derby of the United Stock Runabout Association.

An outstanding threat among the hot 60 mph, twin-motor outfits is Jack McBeeth of Long Beach. McBeeth will have Chuck James, 15, as his riding mechanic.

Amongst the entries, cowboy film star Roy Rogers' Miss Yellowjacket II will be driven by TV actor Dick West. Rogers is away in the East. Bill Vint, West's uncle, will be co-pilot.

The course will be five trips around a 10-mile triangular course with a return leg directly off the Seal Beach-Long Beach strand.

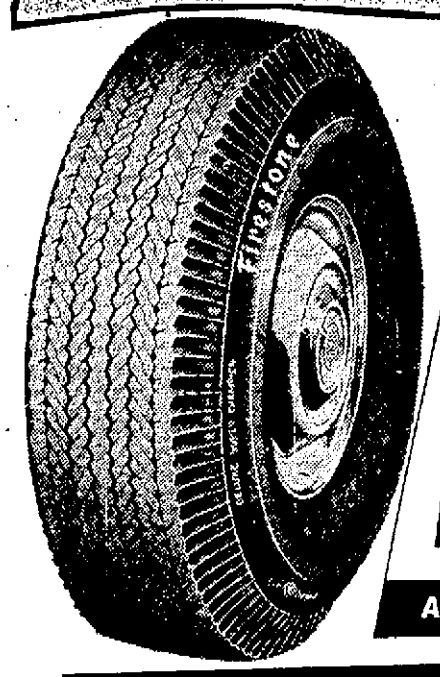

* * * *

IN STRONG westerly winds, the yawl Skylark, sailed by Don Davidson of the host club, was first to finish the 22-mile windward race from the Los Angeles Yacht Club to Howland's Landing at Catalina Island Saturday in just under three hours, near record time.

On time allowance, however, the winner in two hours, 31 minutes, 54 seconds was Commodore Gould Eddy's Ycomo followed by Skylark, 2:33.22, Holiday, Robert Allan Jr., 2:36.08, and Freedom, Fred F. Harris, 2:38.41.

Ashton Castle's Pamlin was first to finish in the arbitrary handicap fleet. More than 75 yachts were moored Saturday night at Holland for the 47th annual festivities. Boats will race back starting at 1:10 p. m. today to the Monterey Oil Island off Seal Beach.

'Brass Ring' Fast-Moving Comedy With Gay Excitement of a Circus

"The Brass Ring," which started its run at the Magnolia Theatre this weekend, opens to the accompaniment of circus music. Nothing could be more appropriate, for the play is a colorful, fast-moving comedy which often makes as little sense as a circus but offers the same gay excitement.

A curious mixture of fantasy, satire, and sentimental comedy, it combines time past with time present, the dream world with the real world, and wisdom with wisecracks in a thoroughly amusing jumble. Irving Elman's lines and situations are kept lively by the excellent cast under the direction of Milf Cooper.

Cliff Medaugh, a veteran of local stages, plays the central character, George Westman, one day of whose life is presented in the action. It is a full day. Medaugh is an adept comedian who does not have to work hard to be funny, and consequently is comfortable to have around. He is a steadying influence on the whole play.

* * * *

BILL BUSH is a relative newcomer to the stage, but is obviously talented and should go on to further triumphs. As Herbert Westman and young George Westman he plays a dual role with good variety and a fine comic flair, particularly in the scene where he gives up his girl for his job with "the company."

Betty Hill also plays a dual role, Joan Westman in the present and Corliss in the past. She combines a youthful freshness with complete poise, and often carries away the scenes in which she appears.

Terrence Doyle plays the office wolf. When he isn't wolfing, he is explaining office routine to Herbert in the funniest single scene of the play. Betty Jo Guiver portrays the attractive secretary to George Westman. Though her part is not demanding, she makes it interesting, and she herself cannot help being ornamental.

* * * *

THE CAST is supported by an excellent technical crew. The play calls for an unusually large number of light cues, minor scene shifts, quick costume changes, and musical accompaniments. The smooth coordination of all of these with the action on stage is a triumph for the often unsung workers behind the scenes.

This is all in all a lightweight play, but it is also a lighthearted one, and everyone at the opening seemed to have a good time. The play is designed for adults only. The adults liked it.

The play will continue on weekends through June.

Just Another Average Man?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Mary Treen ad-libbed some dialogue on "I Married a Monster From Outer Space" and Producer Gene Fowler kept it in the picture.

Mary plays the mother of Gloria Talbott, who secretly sees her husband transform himself into one of those creatures that only horror movies can conjure. Gloria phones her mother and says: "My husband's a monster."

"All husbands seem that way at times, dear," ad libbed Miss Treen during a rehearsal of the scene.

French Radio Bans Political Satire

PARIS (AP)—The government-controlled French radio Saturday banned two programs of political satire.

They were "Wink" and "Salt Shaker." In both shows, performers specialized in making fun of politics in song and doggerel.

OSCAR ON THE COUCH

BEVERLY HILLS—Oscar Levant came puffing and perspiring into the cool living room of his home, and after we'd greeted each other I asked him, "When are you going network?"

"Everybody asks me that"—he was already gulping some coffee a maid had brought in—"except the networks."

Levant has made neuroses, instability and mental institutions popular on his local TV show. When he says "Debbie Reynolds never needs to worry about losing her voice," Debbie can shrug it off by pointing out that Oscar was a mental patient for 15 months which he eloquently and publicly admits.

DEBBIE

"With all due respect to Ed Murrow—I'm not as good-looking but I have a 10 times better show," Oscar announced, walking up and down, sipping more coffee as he paraded. "Ed shares his good looks with his audience," he laughed.

"Do you often see Ed's program?" I asked him.

"ME!" He seemed scandalized. "You think I care what Julie London's house looks like inside? Maybe I've seen his show twice."

Nevertheless, without seeing it, he knew his was much better. Occasionally he paused to say, "Here's something pretty devastating I said."

* * * *

BUT HE UNDERSTANDS his self-centeredness. When Fred Astaire volunteere dto go on his show, Oscar said, "Fred, I'm so suffocated by nostalgia and so unhappily happy that I cannot speak—which is one of the great public services of all times."

"Are you over your mental troubles?" I asked.

"I'm still ill, I always have pain in my chest and back." He held his hand over his heart, a gesture familiar to his TV fans.

Suffering from what he called "deep apathy," he'd lain in a hospital deprived of pencils, glasses, and razor blades, "in case somebody in the group should be suicidal—which I'm not."

With a laugh, he said, "I obviously will commit suicide immediately after tonight's show, following that remark."

His pretty wife June was getting ready to go on his TV show.

"Do you want to know how she stood by me?" he asked suddenly. "Well, she didn't. She sent a lawyer to divorce me. She did it as a trick to get me to go to the sanitarium. The thought of losing her would have made me do anything."

"Did the shock treatments help you?"

"No, but they helped the doctor. He got paid for them."

* * * *

IN THE middle of a piano concert at Lewisohn Stadium in 1953, Levant lost his co-ordination.

"Gershwin lost his, too," he mentioned. "I got so terrified, I ran home. It is associated with guilt. The government is suing me for my monopoly on guilt."

After recovering at Mt. Sinai, he took up the piano with all his old mastery and will soon give a concert. He's supposed to keep fit with bicycling and swimming but he finds it hard.

"I never swim," he said. "I used to fight with bees when I was swimming. I would strike at them, try to beat them to the punch, to the sting. They would always win."

Oscar's been getting famous guests on his show—all except Grouco Marx.

"Grouco's one of my heroes," Oscar said. "We had dinner recently and fought all night amusingly.

"He said 'Do you know that song "Sometimes I Love You, Sometimes I Hate You?" Well, sometimes I have a deep affection for you.'

"I said, 'I'm sorry, Grouco, but I'll have to learn to live without your love, as so many of your friends have.'"

Oscar looked at me. "That's pretty devastating."

After a second, he gulped more coffee and said, "Being me is not easy."

'Pedersen' Murals Really by Picasso

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Murals by "Pedersen" probably will be the main attractions in the new 15-story Norwegian government building to be completed next fall. "Pedersen" is a cover-up name used by 76-year-old Pablo Picasso, who for more than a year has secretly cooperated with Norway to decorate the building.

Susan Acts for Money, Not Glory

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Susan Hayward says she makes pictures only for money now.

The comment stemmed from a reporter's suggestion that only Academy Award scripts can lure her from her new life as Mrs. Eaton Chalkley. Between films, she lives the life of a small town southern matron in Carrollton, Ga.

Her current movie, "I Want to Live," is the tour de force that actresses usually seek around Oscar time. It's the wild life story of Barbara Graham, gun moll whose record, dating from 13 to 30, included charges of reform school escape, narcotics, prostitution and finally murder. She died in San Quentin's gas chamber.

"I used to make movies for Academy Awards," Susan said. "But no more. Not since 'I'll Cry Tomorrow.'"

* * * *

SUSAN'S PORTRAYAL of the Lillian Roth fight with the bottle is generally considered the best of a career that has seen four Oscar nominations. Many thought she would win, but the award went to Anna Magnani for "The Rose Tattoo."

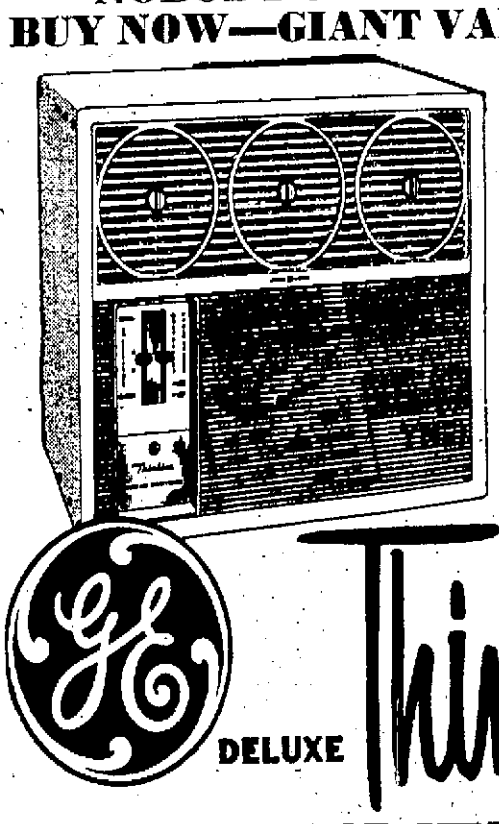

Susan is fulfilling contracts made before her marriage to Chalkley in February 1957. She probably will retire when the contracts run out. She likes being a housewife.

"You can have Hollywood," she says. "This smog and traffic is not for me. I'll take Georgia."

REGATTA TIME

Early morning brisk ocean breezes sent Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's race committee indoors during sign-up time. Robert B. Hoffman, chairman, and Lyman H. Alguire, vice chairman, are assisting committee members Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Grace Hurt (seated) as they fill out entry blanks for Sheila Bixler (left) and Barbara Bixby. The girls will be among hundreds of skippers and skipperettes participating in the annual Memorial Day Regatta Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Full Speed Ahead! Yacht Club Regatta!

Alamitos Bay Yacht Club will celebrate its 32nd birthday during the annual Memorial Day Regatta which will include ocean and bay races on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Members will take time out for a gala buffet dinner at 7 p. m. Saturday in the clubhouse, 5437 E. Ocean Blvd.

A six-foot boat-shaped cake, decorated in red, white and blue, will combine the birthday and patriotic themes of the dinner, which has been arranged by social events chairman Sherman Pruitt Jr. and Mrs. Pruitt. Mrs. Harry G. Wood will assist with decorations and Mrs. James P. Nieukirk is co-chairman of reservations.

* * * *

NOT TO be outdone by the lovely dresses of the distaff members, Long Beach's family sailing club will be spic and span with a fresh coat of paint for the official opening of the sailing season.

Alvin A. Bixler, building chairman, assisted by Mrs. Bixler and Commodore and Mrs. Theodore C. Matson, last weekend headed a work party of skippers. Armed with ladders and paint brushes, they turned to with a will while Mrs. Matson manned the coffee-maker, Mrs. Ken Pierce served her homemade spaghetti and Mrs. George L. Coates cut her luscious apple pies to spur them on.

* * * *

SKIPPER AND CREW

The Millers—Stanley Jr. and Jackie—secure the boom as they trail their new Thistle, No. 1070, "Stanley's Steamer," to home port, Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, where they will take part in the Memorial Day Regatta. High light of the three-day event will be a buffet birthday dinner Saturday evening.

Good Sports Club

The Good Sports Club of Long Beach will sponsor a public luncheon at noon and card party to follow Monday in Mottell's and Peek Garden Room.

BACHELOR ABOUT TOWN

Tall Dark and— You Guessed It!

By IOLA MASTERSON

There isn't anything that sets an American girl's heart beating faster sooner, than a handsome, successful, young American bachelor! Season that combination with a soft, Texas drawl and you have the kind of a guy who creates traffic jams along Sigh Blvd. You have, in fact, a fellow like Dave Tallichet!

We chose Dave to lead off a bachelor of the week series because he typifies many of those qualities which have made the word "bachelor" one of the most tantalizing in the English language.

Check the record: He looks like a Hollywood leading man. Has dark hair (lots of it) curly enough to be youthfully rakish yet tempered with a sophisticated gray streak. He's trim (163 pounds); tall (a little under six feet); has black-brown eyes that look lazily at the world, to belie a tremendous energy, apparently perpetual; and his smile, which always stops short of grin proportions, has a gently quizzical quality.

* * * *

OUR BACHELOR is general manager of the Lafayette Hotel, one of the busiest in Southern California. His imagination and business acumen have been responsible for an astounding expansion of its facilities since transferring here in 1955, one of the staff of managers for the Conrad Hilton Hotels chain.

"Ever considered marriage?" we asked. Complete candor marked his answer, or so it seemed, until we tried to recapture it in type. Then we realized this fellow can be, when he chooses, as adept as a veteran of the British Diplomatic Corps in the art of straightforward double talk. The gist of his answer was—or so it seems now—time has gone so fast he just hasn't really had—time.

* * * *

DAVE WAS BORN in Dallas, Tex., in 1922, making his home there until World War II interrupted university studies and he became a bomber pilot. He jockeyed a B-17 for the 8th Air Force in Europe; flew 21 missions over enemy territory including raids on Berlin, Munich, Frankfurt, Kiel and Hamburg. His plane caught a few punctures and dents, but not Dave, who managed to get through without a scratch.

It did leave him a confirmed flier, though. Now he is part owner of a novelty World War II primary training plane with acrobatic tendencies. There's nothing he likes better than to put it through loops, slow rolls, snap rolls or any other hot rod maneuver within the bounds of safe piloting procedure. He does it for fun—not practice. All we can say is, Dave better get it out of his system before the "right woman" comes along because if she's as intelligent as the kind of girl he claims appeals to him he's going to be more than married—he's going to be grounded!

* * * *

BUT WHAT KIND of a girl does he prefer? Well, blonde, brunette or redhead doesn't matter to Dave as long as she's young, pretty, a typical American girl, poised, intelligent, charming. Which makes him a member in good standing of the largest fraternal order in these United States—the Brotherhood of Men.

She'll like the things Dave does: beach parties, swimming, dinner dancing, good drama and music, lazy weekends in Palm Springs. There's one other think he'll want to know "foh shuah"—can she cook those old-fashioned southern dishes in true heart-of-Dixie fashion; delicacies like turnip greens, black-eyed peas, corn bread, ham hocks, fried chicken, rice and gravy. Okra, too. "Mighty good eatin'."

In fact, that's the one thing that could, we think, make Dave decide to switch from single harness to double. When he wants REAL southern cookin' now he has to fix it himself. He brags a little about his cookery. Says, "I can remember how my mother did it and can do it, too. My fried chicken and gravy comes up real fine."

ON WOMEN'S fashions and what he likes best, he claimed he "never thought much about them," but with the next breath, asked if he liked the chemise, he answered: "Sure do. It's right purty." Ha! So he doesn't think about women's styles." Not much!

Dave has mixed emotions about the advantages of bachelor life. He enjoys the personal freedom, independence of being single; but a single man's existence can be, like Marshal Matt Dillon always says, "a chancey life—and a little lonesome." Dave expresses it, "you find yourself spending a lot of time with casual acquaintances not too much with people who are really important to you."

* * * *

OTHER LYRICS TO add to the Ballad of Tallichet: He spent five years in college—both at the University of Texas, Austin, and SMU, Dallas, but his interest didn't stay in any one area long enough to gather credits for a specific degree. His business career began after the war when he went back to Dallas to complete college but decided, instead, to go to work for Hilton in 1948; introduced to a hotel man's career by an uncle, a Hilton man.

He began as a desk clerk in Longview, Tex., and in

One Language for World

By ILKA CHASE

Professor Mario Pei is a tall rather heavy-set, pleasant-faced man of Italian birth with a glowing mission. What he wants is, in the title of his new book, "One Language for the World." Where the professor differs from others who advocate this plan is that he doesn't give a darn what it is. Esperanto, Lingua Franca, Swahili, Turkish—it doesn't matter.

His point is that for the convenience of mankind every child born into the world should learn in infancy its own tongue plus the universal language. The amount of time, money and misunderstandings that would be saved is incalculable.

Pei is professor of philology at Columbia, (philology meaning literature and linguistic history) and gets around abty in 10 languages with knowledge of some 30 others, but for those who don't have his time and inclination, what a blessing a common tongue would be!

There are something like 2,796 languages in the world and more than 100 are used by large civilized groups, numbering from a million to the 600 million who speak Chinese.

* * * *

THE OFFICIAL languages of the United Nations now are five: Russian, English, French, Spanish and Chinese, which means that every piece of paper must be printed in quintuplicate and every speech must be translated four times. The Russians actually have had to compile a glossary of diplomatic terms which they almost completely lacked, because in the old days French was their diplomatic tongue. The Chinese Reds, rejecting the English favored by the Chinese Nationalists, are said to be engaged grimly in a similar project.

In diplomacy and commerce alone a common speech, once learned, would set people free to communicate and to do business without the tedious or insurmountable barrier of foreign tongues.

In discussing what language might be chosen, whether a constructed or a natural one, people forever are trying to pick one they feel would be easy for them to learn, but they are thinking as adults set in their ways.

Professor Pei's whole point is that the universal language is basically for our children and grandchildren and ourselves, of course, if we can learn it, but for a child any tongue is easy.

* * * *

TO A CHINESE baby Chinese is pie. What small Arab flinches at Arabic? Their facility in language is not because they are Chinese or Arabian but because they are small. The child who has one French parent and one English learns the two languages automatically and feels no strain. If all the governments of the world would agree that a world language should be taught in kindergarten they could toss a coin or pull a paper out of a hat to decide which one it would be.

In case anybody should feel his sovereignty was being stepped on, it might be wise to choose the language of a small nation such as Finland which scarcely can be accused of imperialism or, of course, a constructed language, but the point is to choose it and get on with it.

People would go along with the idea. John Gunther was saying the other day that the Russians already have 100,000 students studying Chinese and recently one of our own small-town radio stations received 4,000 requests from listeners wanting to know where they could get a course in Russian when its announcer discussed that language.

According to Professor Pei, the way the world is wagging it's hard to escape the conclusion that the four great "zonal" tongues of the future will be English, Chinese, Russian and Spanish.

* * * *

THE PROFESSOR is no fanatic. He doesn't think that a common speech is any particular deterrent to war. As he says, "There have been too many civil wars and revolutions to be able to think that." And look at the people who understand each other perfectly and murder each other.

But just the same if businessmen and tourists, scholars and diplomats, no matter where they came from, could have some common means of communication, it would relieve world headaches to a vast degree.

Pei stresses the practical side. Everyday speech first, a literature can and undoubtedly would develop later. After all, Latin was the tongue of rustics until Cicero, Virgil and Horace and those lads came along and polished it up.

A common tongue might well save the lives of those who became ill in foreign lands. And there is the story of the American general captured with his staff in World War II by a superior force of Germans in the Battle of the Bulge. The Germans issued a command. "What are they saying?" muttered the general to his aide. But the latter shook his head. He had picked up Spanish not German in high school. "I think they want us to hand over our revolvers," said the general and he reached for his belt. The Nazis, misinterpreting the gesture, opened fire. Most of the Americans were killed.

There is, of course, the charge that if there is one language that can be spoken and understood by everybody the world will become even more standardized than it is. This is undoubtedly true "but" says Professor Pei, "so much standardization is unfortunate—why not make use of and propagate that which is good about it?"

TIME TO CELEBRATE!

Alpha Delta Pi's will mark their 107th anniversary with a banquet Tuesday at Captain's Inn on the Marina. Mrs. Robert Jones, president (second from right), lights a candle in honor of the 19 young women who founded the sorority May 15, 1851, at Wesleyan Female College, Macon, Ga. Beside her, Mrs. Harry Dawson lights another taper for the friendship of present-day members while Mrs. I. G. Rasmussen (left) and Mrs. James Posey (right), co-chairmen of Founders' Day, look on.

The Wild Waves Say

By IOLA MASTERSON

EVEN IF Tom Duggan were interviewing Meg and Peter on the same program next Tuesday morning, still TV sets would be blank in the homes of over 150 usually well-informed women of town!

"Blanked out"

The reason? They've been invited to a blithe-hearted brunch at Sue Buell's home, 1052 Amelia Dr., being co-hostessed by Peg Webb and Carlene Burrell from 10:30 to 12:30.

Assisting Mmes. Buell, Webb and Burrell will be those always pleasant party partners Dorothy Dunlap, Helene Drown, Lorain Lungren, Waula Pearson, Helen Fielding, Virginia Stanton and Liz Tucker.

HERE'S ANOTHER "even if" because even if Harry and Nikita had been billed to co-star on a debate program, "live," with John himself serving as moderator, TV windows would have remained blank last Thursday during brunch hours, too! That day Sue and Marian Hardesty were co-hostesses at Sue's home and received the highest entertainment rating in town by unanimous vote of their guests. Assisting were Betty Godwin, Louise Voigt, Anita Stevenson, Stella Kellogg, Beverly Matlock, Mary Liz Kendig and Kitty Rosenbaum.

A Bavarian lilt was given the festivities, the merriment backgrounded by the merry music of a concertina, Art Wentzell providing the tunes.

WHAT A BOUNTIFUL crop St. Mary's Hospital Guildswomen raised! Oh, those gals have very green thumbs, indeed! From counting greenbacks! Joan Bescos, chairman, and Mickey Jones, ticket chairman, took the final tally on all those 5s, 10s and 20s, profits from the guild's "Day at the Races" and announced the results this week. The crop in full bloom totaled $10,515!

THE CASE OF Rogers and Rogers vs. Marlin, Marlin and Marlin was tried in the court of "Judge" Davy Jones, called to order on the deep sea out of Guaymas, Mexico, the other day while the Rogers, Vera and Frank, were vacationing at Hotel Playa de Cortes. Some fellow by the name of Izaak Walton was attorney for the plaintiffs—must have been! The Rogers, on their first try at ocean game fishing, were given the decision, with Frank boating two and Vera reeling in one. Average weight was just about 150 pounds.

THE STUFF THAT dreams are made of and the kind of an item that makes the desk-bound likes of us go grrrrrr. It happened to Sallie and Dr. Milton Van Dyke, their son, Dr. Ike Van Dyke, and Nancy and Phil Hartley. They returned home last Sunday after a week's cruise as guests of Ralph Larrabee aboard his magnificent schooner, "The Goodwill," 172 feet-worth of de luxe ocean travel. The travelers flew from Long Beach to La Paz to meet Skipper Ralph and from there they cruised at leisure; sighting whales, sea turtles and catching marlin, dolphin and all manner of sea creatures prized by anglers. Of the game fish, none were taken but just brought in for a close and prideful look and then let loose to swim some more. Nancy caught her first marlin (in 35 minutes) and they conceded her the record catch, estimating its weight at over 200 pounds!

AS A GRAND finale to the year's escapades (it could prove the end of them all!) board members of Sema Club will present "The Original Sema-nsky's Final Revue" Tuesday at the new Marina Shores home of Barbara (Mrs. Charles) Jones, 637 Beachcomber Dr. They're billing it thus: "No talent and little practice will make this great variety show a must for all members." Cast members who pose no threat as competition to other aspiring actresses anywhere will be Marilyn (Mrs. Leonard) Brock, Beverly (Mrs. James) Gardner, Maureen (Mrs. James) Cone, Bella (Mrs. John) Snider Jr. and Mary (Mrs. Douglas) Watland. To steel their nerves for the fray members will be served cocktails first. To sweeten their jangled tempers afterwards, they'll be cajoled with dessert and lots of hot, steaming coffee.

IRENE TREPANIER moved Saturday but she had the moving men scratching their heads and mumbling in their beards. They'd never seen anything like Irene's modus operandi before—and likely never will again. "Take everything but this," said she to them, pointing to the grand piano. And they did; chair, by desk, by lamp, by rug, removing every stick and scrap BUT the 88. All through the crating and boxing Irene taught pupil after pupil. When the last student plunked the last chord and said goodbye, Irene picked up her purse, turned to the moving men, said "now," and walked out of the completely vacant apartment (except for one piano even then being hustled through the door) drove to her new apartment to wait for the piano, her next pupil and a scarcely interrupted schedule!

WAY UP YONDER in "good, old Boston the home of the bean and the cod" these days is Anne G. Phillips, maybe rubbing elbows with the Lowells and the Cabots but, if not with these members of Massachusetts' royalty, certainly with another 'exclusive batch of people—members of the American Institute of Decorators all there for their annual conference. Her plans called for a house tour through New England, browsing through some of this nation's most history drenched country. Before returning here next Saturday Anne planned visits in Syracuse, New York and finally Chicago where she'll rendezvous with Eleanor Hayes Samuelson of Winnetka.

THE ROAR OF speedboats is like a mother's lullabye to lions. Not all lions of course, but certainly to the Belmont Shore variety who will lick their chops blissfully next Friday when they hear the deep-throated growls of boats warming up for the Shore Leo club's annually sponsored Memorial Day Speedboat Regatta at Marine Stadium.

"That you, mother?"

Clem Fromlath is chairman of the 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. sports event. Understand President Paul Deats isn't the only member who has literally insisted on "more duties" since they met lovely regatta queen Nancy Hunter at last week's meeting! Marshall Le Sage, for instance, sent film rolling through his camera so fast getting pictures of Nancy you could see smoke pouring from the shutter. And as for incoming prexy Don Smeallie, just ask his wife, Gladys, what an interest he's taken in hair tonics, other good grooming lotions since he learned it would be his duty to serve as official host and chauffeur for the Queen!

Following their day-long job at the stadium, lions and lionesses will have a "come as you are" party at the clubhouse, 5103 E. Ocean. There will be cocktails, buffet and plenty of talk about the day's activities. Helene Fromlath is in charge and assisting her prepare homecooked smorgasbord fare will be Marge Ruby, Bobby Vance, Esther Weed, Sybil Beshe and Helen Hahn.

THE NEXT nicest thing to hearing compliments about yourself is having good friends win national recognition and then bask in reflected glory.

Many a long time Long Beach resident can enjoy this second hand type of prideful "I know them!" when they read the current issue of Ladies' Home Journal which has a long feature story, heavily illustrated with full color pictures on Hugh and Cathy Beaumont. Hugh lived here a long time before hitting Hollywood movie studio payrolls and now plays the father in, "Leave It to Beaver," on television. The article is entitled, "Between Jobs," and is part of the magazine's How America Lives series.

PARADISE, HAWAII-STYLE!

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Burmester, pictured at the Halekulani Hotel, Honolulu, just prior to their return trip to the mainland, let their smiles attest to the fact that they found Hawaii to be truly the Isle of Paradise. Their island sojourn followed Burmester's retirement as editor of the Press-Telegram and a colorful career of more than half a century as a journalist. A prominent leader in civic affairs here for many years, he is a past president of both the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

HIS FAVORITE places in the United States are Colorado for beauty—Texas for loyalty—California for everything.

Will he be a Dodger's fan? He'll try. But it's going to take some doing to transfer his affections from the White Sox, a long-time favorite.

He tries to compress his work day into nine hours but it has a habit of bursting its seams, more often than not requiring an 11-hour size.

Dave's "leisure" time is currently spent with three partners working out details on construction of a lush new restaurant on the southeast tip of Pier A overlooking Long Beach's skyline. Ground was broken Monday morning and it will open sometime this summer.

Come to think of it—maybe he was right the first time. Perhaps he's a bachelor because he really HASN'T had time to be anything else.

Chillen' With Wings on Flight to Desert

"Flying, anyone?"

Some of our nicest Long Beach chillen got wings this weekend—or at least they planned to go the bird route in their own planes to Desert-Aire (weather permitting) for the final dinner dance of the season before summer temperatures slow Palm Springs-Palm Desert social activities to a lizard's pace.

Hoping murky skies would lift or lessen to afford proper visibility for a flight were Margaret and Bob Sully, Norma and John Craig and Dorothy and Bill Macrate who invited as plane guests Katie and Carter Boswell, Barbara and Jack London and Emmy Lou and Will Ingram (in that order per couple.)

Incidentally, Norma and John are both learning to fly as you probably know. With expert pilots the Londons (both of 'em) along with the Craigs should get in some good practice. Norma soloed last fall and has been building up hours in the air ever since to complete requirements for a private pilot's license. Dorothy Macrate took lessons last fall, too, but decided winter was no time for a fledgling so she's been "vacationing" from flight patterns until this summer when she'll probably "take off" where she left off.

New Petroleum Club Opens

Men of the oil industry, accompanied by their stunningly coiffed and gowned wives, turned out 300 strong last Saturday night to herald the opening of their swank new Petroleum Club at 36th St. and Locust Ave. with a gala dinner-dance.

The formally attired gathering enjoyed entertainment headlined by Rudy Vallee, and featuring vocalist Kay Cee Jones, and the 10-piece recording orchestra of Jimmy Talbert. Also enjoyed were the antics of the comedy vocal trio, the Happy Jesters, and the intricate dance routines of the Albins.

Centering each of the dinner tables was a giant crystal champagne glass filled with yellow carnations and overflowing with irridescent bubbles. A seven-foot working model of an oil derrick was center of interest in the plush lobby of the club, and guests will remember the occasion with laminated plastic ashtrays bearing inlaid gold oil wells showering gold dust over the Petroleum Club crest which they received as favors.

Children's Theatre Installs

By JEAN B. MOORE

There breathes not a theater group alive that wouldn't yearn to play before 16,000 persons.

No such troupe exists? Oh yes it does, and right in Long Beach!

"The Wizard of Oz," given by the Long Beach Children's Theatre counted noses—16,000 belonging to assorted children and adults—during 26 performances last fall and winter.

These, and other pertinent statistics, loaned a note of proud informality to the annual meeting and installation of Children's Theatre Thursday morning in Virginia Country Club.

BEFORE SHE handed the president's reins to Mrs. Douglas B. McFarland, Mrs. William V. Artman remarked that Children's Theatre officers have many an occasion to step from their lofty perches and take part in the plays.

Mrs. Artman herself played the Cowardly Lion in "Oz," while others on her board were everything from makeup artists to backstage crew.

Although the forthcoming production cannot be named as yet, the prospective dates for the show are Nov. 28-30. Public tryouts will take place in September.

"The quality of each production must be the highest if we are to continue to play before such a vast audience," Mrs. Artman said, in commenting on the artistic as well as financial success of "Oz."

ROUNDING OUT Mrs. McFarland's board next year will be Mmes. Lewis B. Kean, first vice president, C. Frederic McKinney, second vice president and production manager; Robert Sully, assistant production; Ray O. Gould Jr., third vice president and business manager; LeRoy Jensen, recording secretary; Carl H. Powell Jr., corresponding secretary; Robert Matteson, treasurer; William V. Artman, parliamentarian; William T. Pillsbury, social; Richard Driscoll, house; Mae Mathers, James J. Wood, transportation; Norris A. Nesmith, publicity; Eugene E. Kinsey and C. H. Beasley, tickets.

Also Mrs. Fred Kunkle, stage manager; Miss Charlotte Shuman, stage designer; Miss Kay Shuman, stage technician, Mrs. James W. Patton, assistant technician.

OTHERS ARE Mmes. Kenneth Hurley, property properties; Eric Schwarz, costume designer; Boyd Lemmon, assistant; Donald Eaton, costumes; Howey Beckman, make-up; Eric Laddey, assistant; William V. Artman, scripts and casting; William F. Macrate, director.

New members taken into Children's Theatre since the last production are Mmes. Harold B. Clemens, Charles Fabish, Edward R. Ingle, Edward H. Kay, Eric Laddy, James W. Patton, Leon Rubenstein; Walter Landis J., Thomas Brown, James Worsham and Galen Thomas.

The new president has served twice as vice president of the theatrical group, has been makeup chairman and has appeared in many productions as an actress.

'New Citizens' Feted at Soroptimist Club Party

By ANNE GILCHRIST

One of the most pleasant affairs in the memory of Soroptimists of the downtown club was the party Tuesday honoring the new American citizens of this area given in Recreation Park Recreation clubhouse. Doris Brown chairmanned the event assisted by Helen Fuller and Lola Stanley with Mrs. Helen Wilkinson and Vito Romans, teachers of citizenship classes.

This evening of fellowship and entertainment for foreign born who have chosen this country as their own and who recently took their oaths of citizenship was hostessed officially by President Georgia Clark of the club.

* * * *

ANOTHER RECENT event of satisfaction to Soroptimists, both members of the downtown and Lakewood-Atlantic clubs, was a luncheon given for them by the Associated Women's Student Body of Long Beach City College. President Mary Wright welcomed the service club women and presented Carol Keegan, general chairman of the luncheon and fashion show, provided by Penney's. AWS board members served as models. Dean Robert Swenson gave a brief talk, telling interesting facts about the local college and of its founding and delevopment. Royal Stanton, director, presented the college madrigal singers in a group of songs. Following the program members toured the campus under supervision of women students, members of the board.

Altrusa Club

Kay Langan, vocational information chairman for Altrusa Club, was in charge of the women service club's May meeting at the Lafayette Hotel. She introduced Betty Jacka, guest speaker, who described her work as vocational counselor at Long Beach City College and told how counseling aids students in selecting the vocation best suited to their abilities.

Aptitude, intelligence and interest tests in various fields are given students and from the results the counselors and students work out an overall plan for their careers.

Osteopathic Assistants

Maypoles and spring flowers graced tables at the Hawaiian Restaurant for the May meeting of Long Beach Osteopathic Medical Assistants, arranged by hostesses of the night Ruth Smiley and Milly Vencouusky.

Guest speaker Joseph M. Kennick, chief of the Long Beach Juvenile Bureau, was accompanied by Mrs. Kennick. Other special guests included Orange County Chapter members Ruth Jacobs, Margaret Nixon and Millicent Furst; from the bay area club, Louise Melton and Alice Helicker.

* * * *

KENNICK pointed out in his talk describing the work of his department and of delinquency problems in general that it frequently is the little things done for a child that count and help with the building of character and future personality stability.

During a short business meeting conducted by President Eileen Ware she announced that as a result of the chapter's bond drive they would be able to present a much needed isolette to the Long Beach Osteopathic Hospital for use in its nursery. Elgene Erickson, chairman of ways and means, will present the check for its purchase to the hospital's executive board at the June meeting.

New Chapter

Long Beach members of Osteopathic Medical Assistants were special guests at the recent installation ceremonies of officers for the newly formed Bay-Harbor Chapter composed mainly of former Long Beach chapter members. Taking office as president was Mrs. T. Dorsey Melton (assistant to Dr. Robert M. Patterson) who was instrumental in forming the new group.

Installed with her were Mrs. Peggy Purves, vice president; Dorothy Ashton, recording secretary; Dolores Parker, corresponding secretary; and Alice Helliker, treasurer. Mrs. Verrill Ellwanger, state president, served as installation officer.

GOP Juniors' Spring Ball Colorful

GOP Juniors and their friends today are basking in memories of the club's highly successful social event of the year, the traditional Spring Fantasy Ball held last evening in the new Petroleum Club.

The intriguing theme of Tahitian Paradise chosen for the headdress dinner dance proved truly inspirational, with beautiful headdresses and exotic decorations creating a riot of beautiful colors everywhere. Having the headdresses small enough to wear throughout the evening added much to the festive decor and atmosphere.

In addition to the excitement of the judging of the winning headdresses was Audrey Castle's specialty dancing, La Conga led by Shirley and John McCune and Lucille and Bert Garver and the winning of the elegant mystery headdress—a glittering coral sea fan studded with sequins and containing money and gift certificates valued at $150.

* * * *

PRE-DANCE PARTIES added to the delight and festivities of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Tibbett's home at 3732 Myrtle Ave. was a veritable flower garden with the many beautiful headdresses and gowns. The Gene Hadens were there with club president Joan looking radiant in a pale pink gown of silk organza and lace, with a glamorous headdress of orchids, pink feathered birds and sparkling rhinestones.

Chuck and Naomi Chandler also were among the guests. Naomi's headdress of gold seaweed trimmed in pearls and shells blending beautifully with her white gown with Grecian neckline and gold and black trim. Citrus colors were chosen by Mrs. Bob Driscoll for her cotton and silk print with graceful green chiffon panel floating free in the back. The basket of artificial limes, oranges and lemons worn on her head carried out her color scheme.

Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Earl Gates and Messrs. and Mmes. Logan Goodnight, George Lake, Bob Burroughs, Floyd Williams, Arnold Romeyn, William Nesbitt, Jack Marquette and Glen Doody. Mrs. Doody's white organdy bouffant gown with pink cummerbund was be-sprinkled with large pink embroidered roses. Her clever headdress was a Tahitian sailboat on a sea of pink flowers.

* * * *

ALICE AND DICK GUESS hosted a cocktail party at their home, 3957 Gaviota Ave., with Alice looking lovely in a powder blue embroidered satin sheath and flowered headdress. The Guess's guests were Ted and Juanita Godwin, Gage and Mabel Helms, Don and Virginia King, Keith and Clarion Drew, Harry and Myrtle Hachmeister, Gifford and Ethel Hanson, Bob and Dorothy Davidson, Ferris and Helen Dangberg and, from Crystal City, Mo., Frank and Lucille Evens.

Gathering at the home of Jean and Don Gray, 1216 E. 36th St., with co-hosts Bea and Norman Scott and Walla and Dean Gilmore, were the Bev Buchanans, Chris Meyerses, P. I. Wilseys, Frank Baders, Harry Fultons, Fred Weisenhutters, Jim Linebergers and Fey Loomans. Mrs. Scott's beautiful white chiffon gown with dainty appliqued lace flowers, tucked bodice and low back was complemented by her sophisticated headdress of gold and white grapes. Mrs. Gilmore wore pink peau de soie low-waisted dress enhanced by a headdress composed of a gold sea fan intertwined with pink net, coral and gold starfish. Mrs. Gray's printed chiffon gown in shades of gold with graceful full skirt was in contrast to her brightly colored headdress of flowers and butterflies.

* * * *

ENJOYING THE HOSPITALITY of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wing Jr., 1430 Iroquois Ave., were Messrs. and Mmes. Peter Trafas, Calvin Rossi, Van Strahl, and Robert Bayless. Mrs. Wing wore a becoming white ribbon sheath contrasted by a huge brilliantly colored butterfly poised lightly in her hair.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kay Walton, 3715 Myrtle Ave., was the setting for a delightful pre-dance party with the Robert Irwins, Sam Taylors and John McCunes acting as co-hosts. The hostesses were a study in black and white with Mrs. Walton and Mrs. McCune choosing all white ensembles. The former wore a rhinestone-studded crepe sheath with graceful streamers in back and glamorous headdress of feathers and orchids, while the latter chose a beautiful Chantilly lace sheath and single white flower in her hair. Mrs. Taylor's black lace with bouffant skirt and pink flowered headdress was in direct contrast to Mrs. Irwin's elegantly simple white linen sheath banded in yellow with matching yellow headdress.

* * * *

GUESTS WERE Messrs. and Mmes. Ray Bredenkamp, Bill Gillis, Chris Conway, Marvin Clark, Mel Glenapp, Chuck Dorrans, Ed Grisinger, Phil Graham, Dick McConnell, Merle Dempsey, Hal Horrocks and Stan Clithero. Also attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Earle Donaldson, Tom Fagan, Don Barden, Ray Parker, Lee King, Wendall Jordan, Max Nelson, John Roggeveen, Bert Garver, Douglas Benwell, Clinton Belcher, Larry Freighly, Paul Webb and Philip Carey.

A low-backed floral print silk sheath in electric blue and green and hibiscus headdress was chosen by Arlene Johnson when she and husband, Bob, greeted the Francis Merchants, Glenn Gilmores, Walter Downings and Stan Churches at their home, 425 Santiago Ave.

* * * *

BIDDEN TO THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Dumm, 1052 Tehachapi Dr., were Dr. and Mrs. Orville Hastings and Messrs. and Mmes. C. L. Fowler, M. H. Stansbury, Tex Westergard, Harold Larsen, Paul Nowlin, Ronald Raasch, Frank Shlemmer from New York City, Walter Everts of Claremont, and R. C. Mcaulay and Robert Dumm from Garden Grove. The hostess wore an exquisite yellow and white flowered chiffon with gold silk midriff, and a headdress fashioned from a Tahitian straw hat in the same colors.

Vera and Charles Goodrich, 7131 Mezzanine Way, invited the following friends in for pre-dance cocktails: Louise and Cliff Milspaugh, Mary Lou and Ray Hill, Lois and Mac Mckibben, Audrey and Verne Upton, Peggy and Don Harrington, Lorraine and Roy Webb, Alice and Deane Tummell, Virginia and George Williams, Betty Lou and Stuart King and Pepper and Wally Simmons. Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Goodrich were attired in pink, the former wearing a cotton with interwoven filigree design and extremely full skirt, and a flowered headdress also in pink tones. Mrs. Goodrich chose chiffon with draped bodice and graceful full skirt, her head adornment a single passion flower.

* * * *

FRIENDS ENJOYING the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thurmond, 2808 Palo Verde Ave., were Messrs. and Mmes. Bill Wallis, James Wilder, Rocky Gulen, Bob Woodruff, Ralph Cormany, James Edmonds, John Richardson, and David Mosely. Mrs. Mosely was attractive in an embroidered yellow linen with bell-shaped skirt and off-the-shoulder neckline, and a flowered headdress also in yellow. Mrs. Thurmond wore a lovely princess style gown of flowered Italian silk in tones of taupe, brown and white with a high neckline in front and low in back.

MOLLY MAYFIELD

His Fiancee Becomes Flirt

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

You'll not think this serious, but I do. I recently became engaged to a lovely-looking girl, with personality plus. BUT she has developed into an outlandish flirt.

When I take her out with my friends, married or otherwise, she starts buttering up to the most attractive males on hand — and I'm not usually in that category. Sometimes her obvious flirting amuses them — but more than half the time they flirt back.

You can see what a fool I feel. Furthermore, I don't like the idea of having a wife who flirts with other men — and how do I know she'd change after marriage, huh?

LEE.

DEAR LEE:

I agree. How do you know she's going to change? In fact, I've never understood why so many people go into marriage on the premise that the dear one is going to change his or her spots. It doesn't usually work that way.

That's why, if there's going to be a change — and I sure can't blame you for wanting one — you'd better see that it takes place now and not then. Maybe this young lady needs someone (you, of course) to literally lay down the law — and show her that you mean it.

M. M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

What can you do with parents who argue all the time? When they aren't arguing they're hollering at me (I'm 17) or my two sisters. This goes on every day as soon as I get home from school.

I got so tired of it yesterday that I told Dad to quit it, but he told me to shut up before I got my mouth smacked.

I will try anything you suggest. My Dad reads your column sometimes, so maybe we can get my parents to wise up.

MISERABLE TEENAGER

DEAR MISERABLE TEEN:

Let's all wise up together. Is there something they're "hollering" about that you can do something about? Take the next "hollering" session and analyze it. Are you provoking them needlessly? If so, then stop it. Arguing takes all the fun out of living.

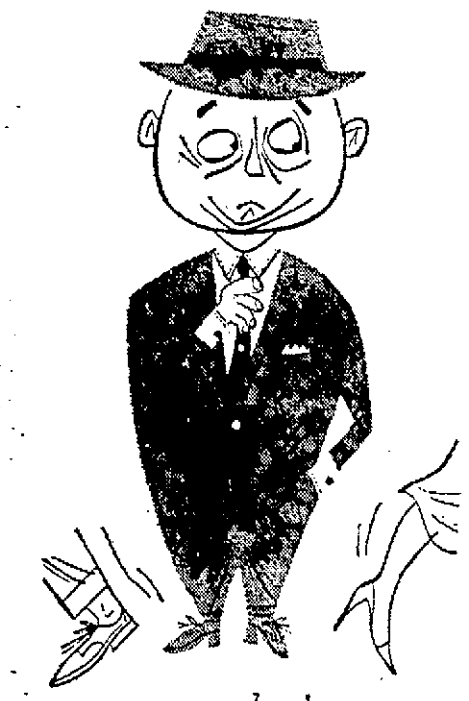

Next time they connect verbally, quietly say, "You gave me eyes and ears. At times like this I wish you hadn't."

'Club Circuit' Pays Off!

By JOYCE KENT

Husbands who grow discouraged when their wives embark on the "club circuit" and who question the merit of endless board and committee meetings as the ironing piles higher, will find it therapuetically valuable to visit the new chronic and convalescent wing at Long Beach Community Hospital, Termino Ave. and Pacific Coast Hwy., between 2 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

There in the lounge and two children's rooms they will find mute testimony to the end result of seemingly endless meetings.

Furnishings for the lounge and lobby—tastefully done in Oriental modern—have been padi for entirely through the efforts of the 150 members of the year-old hospital auxiliary.

Funds for the construction and furnishing of the wing's two two-bed rooms for children were realized through philanthropic efforts of Children's Benefit League.

* * * *

PECAN RATAAN furnishings in the sumptious lounge harmonize with restful Arcadia green walls—main color throughout the wing—and with the rosy beige nylon carpeting.

According to Mrs. Howard Hatfield, wife of Community's administrator, who supervised the wing's decor from floor to ceiling, the carpeting was the most difficult problem.

Nylon was selected for wearing and cleaning features, but had to be clipped close both to retard germ growth and to avoid excessive wear by the carts and wheelchairs which will be used in the lounge.

Cushions in the two huge circular sofas and other occasional chairs all are in vinyl plastic and table tops are in formica.

Adding to the feeling of spaciousness is a 12-foot pecan ratan planter divider which separates what will be a dining area from the "living" area, and an entire window of glass gives a panoramic view of the Lakewood-Los Altos area.

THIS ARTIST'S CONCEPT of the lounge in the new chronic and convalescent wing at Long Beach Community Hospital captures the room's air of spaciousness and calm. Furnished through funds raised by Community Hospital Auxiliary, the room is done tastefully in Oriental modern. The new 25-room facility will be open to the public from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

* * * *

SPECIAL 30" by 30" "flip-top" tables will be used by patients who wish to play cards, and can be opened to 30" by 60" for dining. Desks for letter writing also are to be found.

A corner fireplace, huge cork base lamps, and bas relief plaques of Balinesian dancers further the room's Oriental favor.

Each of the wing's 25 two-bed rooms feature three walls of Arcadia green, with the fourth wall in paper. Seventeen of the rooms have been furnished with funds donated by individuals, and will be marked with plaques bearing the names of the donors.

The $340,000 wing is built on city-owned land adjacent to the hospital and was paid for through a federal Hill-Burton grant which matches funds given by the state and the hospital. The facility will be opened to patients June 1.

G. C. Seguines Celebrate 50th Anniversary

In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Seguine were honored last Sunday afternoon in their home, 6174 Myrtle Ave., with a reception given by their sons, daughters and grandchildren.

A golden motif was stressed in home and patio decor, with many lovely bouquets and gifts from friends on display. Punch and a wedding cake trimmed in gold were served. The patio and garden proved popular for friends and relatives to gather to visit and renew old times.

Worry Clinic
Atheist Is Rebelling Against His Family

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Q-318: Horace X., age 29, is a science professor at a small church college.

"But he is becoming a problem to us," the dean informed me, "because he can't resist stressing the fact he is an atheist.

"He seems to delight in trying to upset the religious faith of his students.

"Since we are a church school, we can't keep him on the faculty. Is his atheism just a form of intellectual sadism?"

Intelligent people soon realize there is some remarkable force back of this vast universe that far transcends our smartest human scientists and scholars.

* * * *

FROM TIME immemorial, brilliant leaders of mankind have admitted there was a God behind the world.

Some ancient peoples started with the more primitive idea that there were many gods, as of harvest and field and ocean and love and war.

It is a rare thing to find any educated person nowadays who denies that there is a God.

"Yes, Dr. Crane, but don't people have to take the existence of God on pure faith?" I often have been asked.

No sirree! You can prove the existence of God just as mathematically and logically as you can prove that the square of the hypotenuse of a right angle triangle equals the sum of the squares of the other two sides.

On pp. 779-783 of my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," you can find this complete "Logical Proof of God." But it is likewise included in the booklet below.

* * * *

SPACE WILL not permit its full presentation in this brief column. But I want to explain why occasionally people, even of high I.Q., claim to be atheists and even delight in ridiculing the beliefs of their students.

Most of these atheists simply are giving vent to a misplaced emotional grudge against their fathers.

If those parents forced too much religion down the throats of their shy children and if the parents were domineering, go-getter types, the youngsters finally may have rebelled, albeit inwardly.

They may have developed hatred for their dads. But they were too fearful to argue with their dominant parents, so they nursed their ire.

Then, when they finally got away from home, they unleashed a belated attack on their hated dad, via an assault on what their fathers stood for.

In psychology we call this a "transference." The children simply shift their hatred to "father symbols," such as religion or "free enterprise."

A basic, underlying emotional maladjustment thus is at the core, so it is a waste of time to try to argue with such victims of an unhappy parent-child relationship many years before.

Send for my booklet, "The Logical Proof of God," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents.

(ALWAYS write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long three-cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

—by PLACER MINER—

Busy, busy, busy is the watchword on the Long Beach State activities front this week. But before we tell you about it, a quick look back.

Last Tuesday night, Sigma Chi Nu (nurses' group on campus) held their installation dinner at the Hawaiian. At the helm of the organization during the year coming up will be the following: Edith McCormick, president; Barbara Bostwick, vice president; Ann Stubblefield and Julia Ash, recording and corresponding secretaries; Marian Zaranton, treasurer; Rose Dessloch, historian; and Mavis Stapp, scholarship chairman.

Among the honored guests on hand to hear featured speaker Dr. Wilfred P. James discuss "Jets, Jargon and Journalism" were several members of the LBSC administration including Sigma Chi Nu advisors Dr. Kenneth Johnson, Dean Karl A. Russell Jr., and Miss Dorothy Walsh.

LAST NIGHT Zeta Tau Alphas held their Crown Formal at the Hacienda Hotel. More than 40 couples were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Tom Handley of Sherman Oaks (Mrs. Handley is ZTA province president). Highlight of the evening was the naming of Don Schultz as Zeta Man of 1958. Today the sorority is busy again, this time with the senior luncheon in the Captain's Inn.

Tuesday noon in CR 100 on campus, 'tis time for the final concert of the year by the College Chorus, Mr. Paul Stroud, director; a program ranging from Bach's "A Stronghold Sure" to "The Saints Go Marching In" will be presented.

Wednesday, Creative Writing Club will have a tea in the Soroptimist House from 3 to 5 p. m. Imagine their conversation will consist mainly of oh's and ah's over the recently published "Hornspoon" (LBSC literary magazine) in which the writers are well represented.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT it's back to the Hacienda as members of next year's student Executive Council are installed.

Thursday, from 10 to 11 a. m. in the Little Theater, students will gather for the last assembly of the year, the annual "Awards Assembly." Providing the entertainment will be the Buddy DeFranco Quartet. When the musicians are not sending out a solid beat, a large number of Forty-Niners will receive recognition for a job well done as note is taken of Who's Who in American Colleges nominees, Nugget Award winners (standouts on the activity front), and special winners in science classes and for service to the Long Beach Safety Council.

FRIDAY, MEMORIAL DAY, being a holiday, should prove mighty popular with LBSC students who either are weary from hitting the books in preparation for finals or who are a little bit behind and need extra time for study. Only outfit which is planning anything definite, however, seems to be the Ski Club who have a water skiing expedition scheduled.

Saturday at the Hawaiian again, seniors gather for their traditional brunch. Mixed in with soon-to-be alumni will be several old grads of years gone by, a few of whom will take part in ceremonies honoring two of the seniors, a boy and a girl—or should we say man and woman—for significant contributions to the LBSC scene during their stay on our campus.

ROUNDING OUT the week's activities that night is "Baroque Fantasy," the annual Beaux Arts Ball sponsored by art students at State. Prizes will be given for the best costumes in keeping with the theme, but all costumes are acceptable says chairman Sheila Wright. Tickets, at $1.25 per person, are available from Art Club members on campus or may be purchased at the door. Playing for dancing are The Refreshments—the name of the band, not what you get during intermission.

And briefly noted, since they are being covered in separate stories are today's Open House on campus, Thursday night's Bennett Cerf lecture which is open to the public free of charge in the brand new gym, and Thursday afternoon's Home Economics Club fashion show, "Orient Yourself to Fashion."

Coffee Hour for P-T.A. Board

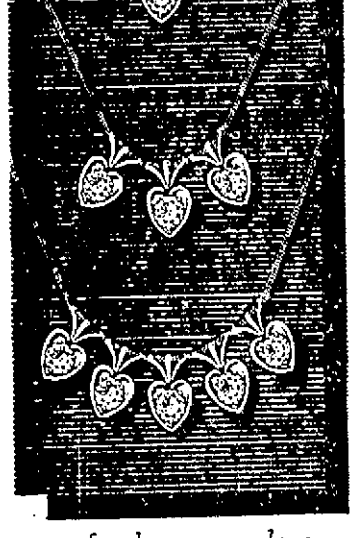

Mrs. George Gordon, president of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers, will entertain members of the executive committee at a coffee hour, 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, in her home, 702 Armando Dr. A business meeting will follow, marking the last official assembly of the group for the school year.

Ladies of the Elks

Chairman Amelia Blume and her committee are in charge of arrangements for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon and an afternoon of cards for Ladies of the Elks Wednesday at the Elks Club.

Wife Shouldn't Withhold Extra Cash From Family

By RUTH MILLETT

When he earned the only pay check in the family he put it in a joint checking account and his wife regarded it as "our money."

Now she has taken a job, too. But what she earns she regards as "my money"—to spend exactly as she pleases.

She even resents it if her husband wants to know what she is spending the money for.

"Is that fair?" he wants to know.

No, it isn't fair. But women sometimes get a little mixed up in their thinking.

This man's wife probably reasons like this: Until I took a job we were getting along on my husband's pay check. He didn't expect me to help him earn a living. So if I choose to take a job and make a little extra money, then the money should be mine to do with as I please.

But today's husband who is generous enough to open a joint checking account and to regard the money he earns as belonging to both husband and wife isn't forcing his wife into holding out any money for herself.

Anything his wife has in the way of income should be put into a common fund and regarded as our money, shared by both, as his income is shared.

If a husband's pay check is "our money," a wife's pay check should be considered the same.

Something for the Boys

Ol' Ted Comforts Frazzled Salesman

By TED KREC

As you know, men, every year about the middle of May the well-dressed gentry of this nation celebrates Straw Hat Day.

In keeping with this splendid endeavor, last week I visited a store to equip myself with one of these stylish toppers—and thereby hangs an anecdote.

I took my wife along, for she had some shopping to do, but I sent her on her merry way before I started this hat business.

When I arrived at the appropriate department, a stalwart young college-boy salesman threw himself at my service. He was a big fellow, about 6 feet 4 (not tall — WIDE), and he had a most ingratiating manner.

"I want a straw hat," I told him, "and I like THAT one. Do you have it in my size?"

* * * *

"WHAT SIZE do your wear, sir?" he asked.

"Seven and a quarter."

"I believe so, sir. Just one moment and I'll check."

"You'd better bring a bigger size," said a familiar voice with a down-east accent. "He has a pretty fat head!"

Yes, you guessed it. It was my wife. She had been unable to find anything expensive enough to buy, so she had come over to badger me,

The salesman threw her a withering glance and withdrew into an inner chamber. Ten minutes later he was back, pointing at the hat I had picked out and whispering to an older statesman in the department. The other man gestured with his hands (evidently indicating a location in the storeroom) and our portly friend withdrew again. He was gone another lengthy period of time and my wife said aloud:

"Do you suppose he's growing the straw for that hat?"

The elder statesman heard this and now HE threw a shriveling look our way. I pulled my neck down in my collar so recognition wouldn't be too easy.

Back came our oversized friend — this time there was a thin shine of perspiration on his upper lip.

"Sir, don't you see another style you'd like? I - - -"

"THAT one," I insisted.

* * * *

HE SLUMPED and withdrew. More time went by and the little woman kept making these pointed remarks and I kept pulling my neck further down into my collar until I resembled a turtle.

Finally our buddy returned, drenched in perspiration but bearing aloft two hats — one the color I had selected and the other in another hue.

"Success!" he caroled. "Here you are, sir. And we also have it in THIS color in your size."

"I like the one I selected first," I said, trying it on. "How do YOU like it?" I said to my wife.

She put a bemused smile — one of tolerance — on her face, but before she could speak, the frazzled young man lost his composure completely and said;

"Lady, if you say you don't like it, I ought to belt you one!"

'Son," I said, "I endorse your position — but if you should try belting her, watch her left. She can strike like a cobra with it!"

Whereupon I donned my new hat, paid the man and left.

* * * *

YOU SHOULD see this new hat. It's made of a soft, oatmeal straw and has a tri-colored band of charcoal tones in brown, beige and rust. The brim is two inches wide and the crown is flat and dimpled.

The selection of straw hats this year is outstanding — and they're most reasonable. Take it from me, they REALLY dress up your suit and give you a finished look.

If you've never worn one, buy one. It won't take you long to get used to it and it will pay dividends in appearance.

Actually, it isn't hard to get used to anything. For example, in a recent column I referred to Harry Fulton, that popular Independent columnist, as "the Lawrence Welk of the written word." Harry must have gotten used to this label, for the last time I saw him he was counting his money "uh-one and uh-two!"

Memorial Services

Dear Abby

Don't Believe All You Hear

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine moved into a new home and I wanted to give her a little gift.

I do nice crocheting so I made her a three-piece doily set. I washed and starched it and wrapped it in tissues and ribbons. I know doilies aren't being used much nowadays but I thought these were special. She said she loved them. A friend called me up and told me not to feel hurt if I never saw my doilies used, because this lady said she loved them only to make me feel good but she had no intention of cluttering up her new house with anything so old-fashioned as doilies. My problem is, should I ask for the doilies back (I could sell them for $10 the set, I'm sure) or should I skip it? —"CHAIN ONE, TWO"

ABBY

DEAR "CHAIN": Skip it, certainly. You have only the word of this "friend" (some friend?) who could have made up the vicious lie just to hurt you. If the lady to whom you gave the doilies said she loved them —believe her.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell that woman who signed herself "CAPABLE OF HAVING MY OWN" a few things for calling adopted children "second-hand, tossed-out merchandise." HAVING a child doesn't make a woman a mother. Pigs can reproduce. She is darned lucky she IS capable of having her own because if the adoption agency investigated HER, she'd never get an adopted child. They are very particular about who gets their babies. Pardon me, lady, but your ignorance is showing.—BOILING MAD.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I am married and have three children. I don't get out much so I like to talk to my friends on the telephone. This one friend of mine gets me sore. When I call her up she always cuts me short by saying something is burning on the stove or somebody is at the door. I am tired of these excuses. What should I do?—CUT SHORT

DEAR CUT: People who have time to kill on the phone usually call someone who hasn't. Find another telephone pal.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a lovely daughter-in-law but she looks like she belongs in a circus. She won't get on a scale, but I think it would take a freight scale to weigh her. She has had four children. By looking at her you can't tell if she is about ready to have the baby or if she has already had it. She eats all day long and I am afraid she will bust out of her skin. Can you tell me a smooth way to get her to lose some weight without hurting her feelings?—MOTHER-IN-LAW.

DEAR MOM: If you want to help your daughter-in-law, don't be too concerned if the manner in which you get her on a diet is "smooth" or "rough." . . . Plead, beg, bribe, but get her to a doctor and let him take it from there.

* * * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO PINKEY: The surest way to make a man wonder if he still loves you is to keep asking him.

Art, From Seaman to Sir Winston

By VERA WILLIAMS
Independent, Press-Telegram Art Editor

Watercolors of sailing ships, which the artist says "were as alive as the seas on which they sailed," will dominate an exhibition by Emmett Hoskins, San Pedro seaman-artist, from 2 to 9 p.m. Monday in St. Luke's Episcopal Church Parish Hall, 7th St. and Atlantic Ave.

The exhibition will be sponsored by Mariner Girl Scouts of Long Beach, and all persons interested in ships or watercolors are invited, according to Mrs. Lloyd Baum, chairman of the senior waterfront committee, Long Beach Area Council of Girl Scouts.

Many of the sailing ships depicted plied the West Coast lumber trade and at one time or another berthed in San Pedro.

Exhibited also are Hoskins' watercolors of modern cargo vessels.

Hoskins does a good deal of research on all the vessels. Many of his drawings and paintings are accompanied by descriptions and histories.

The watercolors have been exhibited in the Exodus Gallery in San Pedro, and this fall will go to the Mariners' Museum in Newport News, Va. The artist also has work in the Smithsonian Institution and in Sailors Union of the Pacific halls in Portland and in Washington.

Major & Minor Notes

By RACHEL MORTON

Today Long Beach State College is holding open house from 1 to 5 o'clock. Recently I had the privilege and pleasure of being escorted through the new music building by Dr. Lawrence Peterson, chairman of the music department. It was a revelatory and thrilling experience. I had no conception of the magnitude and magnificence of this latest addition to the pride of Long Beach—and I think this applies to most of the residents here.

Opened in February of this year, the building is the latest and perhaps the finest of its type on the west coast. It cost three-quarters of a million dollars and the innovations leave one spellbound.

For instance, there is in every classroom and studio a recording machine operated by a professional sound and recording engineer on duty at all times from a central sound control room. Recording can be done in any room, by remote control, on a moment's notice.

* * * *

THE ATTRACTIVE studios and classrooms are done in light wood and each has at least one piano. There are altogether 55 pianos and 15 grand pianos. And imported from Germany is a beautiful custom-built Wittmayer harpsichord used for concert performance and instruction.

I was very impressed with the charming little auditorium which seats 112. With its theater-like appearance, it is for the use of teachers and pupils only.

The cabinets housing the different instruments comprise a little city in themselves—and house a valuable lot of tenants. Long Beach State College owns $200,000 worth of orchestral and band instruments. The pupils borrowing these valuable instruments are given a key to the cabinet and are held responsible.

* * * *

NEVER HAVE I seen such a music library! One room alone holds hundreds of records and there are besides, in other rooms, orchestral and band music, scores, chamber music of all types, representing many thousands of dollars. There is enough music in this library to educate musically thousands of pupils. It is a most complete and tremendous collection.

There is throughout the whole building an atmosphere of elegance, cordiality and joy of accomplishment. I think that a visit through this music building would give great pleasure and a new pride in the city of Long Beach and its State College.

Long Beach also may well be proud of the talented young musicians who are making enviable reputations for themselves in music. The remarkable career of Marilyn Horne, soprano, who only a few years ago was a student here, would fill pages. As a member and soloist of the Royal Wagner Chorale, she went to England for the Coronation Festivities of Queen Elizabeth. Now she is in Germany singing in one of the opera houses there. I am told that she will sing at the Salzburg Festival this summer.

* * * *

YOUNG EUGENE PRIDONOFF, remarkable pianist, is still in school here. But he already has appeared as soloist with Richard Lert and the Pasadena Symphony orchestra and as soloist at one of the youth concerts last winter with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. Vernon Overmyer, a brilliant and sensitive artist-pianist has played in many cities of our country. I predict for him a great future. The brilliant violinist, Camilla Wicks, has concertized all over Europe with great success and has played with the New York Philharmonic as well.

WICKS HORNE

OVERMYER PRIDONOFF

And from what I heard at the festival concert of the consolidated schools the other evening, there is much latent talent in our city which will bloom gloriously in the near future. So let us be grateful and keenly aware of the excellent musical education being given in the schools of Long Beach.

Laguna Makes Elaborate Plans for Festival

More than 100,000 spectators drawn from every state in the union and from many foreign countries are expected to attend the 23rd annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 19-Aug. 17 in Laguna Beach.

Six acres of grounds will display the work of painters, sculptors, ceramists, photographers and handicraft artisans.

The famous nightly highlight of the annual Festival of Arts is the Pageant of the Masters, staged in the hill-protected natural amphitheater of Irving Bowl.

* * * *

THE WORLD'S heritage of great painting and sculpture comes to life under the stars with the men, women and children of Laguna Beach acting as models.

The 1958 Pageant of the Masters will be made up of 28 living pictures with the bas relief from the Albert Memorial, London, closing the first half intermission and the reverent and traditional "The Last Supper" closing the nightly program. The same program will be shown each of the 30 nights.

Popular Play

Theatrical historians of the Broadway scene observe that "Blue Denim" may be the most solid hit at the Playhouse on New York's 48th St. since Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" opened there exactly 13 years ago.

Cornell Stars

"The Firstborn" brings about a welcome reunion of Katharine Cornell and Roger L. Stevens as producers and Miss Cornell as star in a vivid and exciting drama by England's leading playwright, Christopher Fry.

Levant, Stravinsky on Festival Program

An exciting season, highlighted by the first concert appearance in many years of pianist-television star Oscar Levant and a return engagement of Igor Stravinsky, celebrated composer-conductor, has been planned for the 1958 Los Angeles Music Festival by founder and music director Franz Waxman.

This 12th annual festival series will be presented by the Los Angeles Orchestral Society in cooperation with the UCLA Committee on Fine Arts Productions on June 2, 7, 9 and 16 on the UCLA campus.

Two notable symphony concerts and an opera production for children are scheduled for Royce Hall, while an evening of chamber music is set for Schoenberg Hall.

* * * *

OPENING NIGHT, June 2, will find Franz Waxman conducting the Festival Symphony Orchestra in a program which will include the West Coast premiers of the Shostakovich Piano Concerto No. 2 with Oscar Levant as soloist and the first movement of Mahler's unfinished Symphony No. 10. Waxman will also direct the popular Tchaikovsky Symphony No. 6, "Pathetique," and Ravel's "La Valse."

In response to numerous requests, "Babar the Elephant," delightful opera by Berexowsky which was given its West Coast premiere at the 1953 Los Angeles Music Festival, will be repeated in two special children's performances on June 7 at 11 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

* * * *

STAGE DIRECTOR is Henry Reese, while Trudi Schoop is the choreographer. The all-star cast will be headed by Yola Cassello, Katherine Hilgenberg and Allan Gildersleeve.

On Monday evening, June 9, in Schoenberg Hall, the Paganini Quartet, contralto Eva Gustavson and baritone Allan Gildersleeve will present an evening of works for string quartet and voices.

Climax of the Festival will be the June 16 symphony concert at which Igor Stravinsky and Robert Craft will share the podium. Stravinsky will direct, for the first time in the United States, his song cycle "The Faun and the Shepherdess," with Marina Koshetz as soloist, and a staged production of his one-act opera-bouffe "Mavra."

Harold F. Mitchell

Chef of the Week

Linen Is the Line of Harold Mitchell

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Independent. Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

Chef of the Week Harold F. Mitchell, Long Beach manager of American Linen Supply Co., has a "lord 'n master" chair from which everyone scrams when they see him coming. Sounds real comfortable, doesn't he?

Another native-born "chef," he stayed in the fertile San Joaquin Valley, where he first saw the light of day, until he had completed grammar school. He came to Long Beach in 1935, was graduated from Woodrow Wilson High, attended Long Beach Junior College, and studied mechanical and electrical engineering at Northwestern University.

* * * *

MITCHELL'S engineering know-how was put to use at Douglas Aircraft, Santa Monica, prior to his transferring to the Long Beach plant when it opened here in 1941. Come 1943, however, he enlisted in the Navy, and spent the next three years aboard a destroyer as an electronics technician.

After being discharged in 1946, he returned to the states and journeyed to Salt Lake City to make a big visit with all the relatives. He wound up buying a home and settling his family there.

After several months he made an important decision —the one which established his present profession. He went into the industrial laundry business, purchasing a small industrial route. He "cleaned up" so well that a year later he and two other fellows formed a partnership, and the Industrial Linen Supply Co. was founded. The plant was located in Sugar House, Salt Lake City.

In 1951, the American Linen Supply Co. purchased the business and Mitchell has remained with this firm ever since. He came to Long Beach in 1952 to assist in the transition of the old Queen City Linen Supply to the present company.

* * * *

AN EAST LONG BEACH Kiwanian, Mitchell also belongs to the Chamber of Commerce 500 Clubs, the Long Beach Sales Executive Club, and to the Los Angeles Sales Managers Group. Active in the Church of Jesus Chirst of Latter-day Saints, he has served as ward finance clerk for the past seven years.

Though he recently moved into a new home, he still finds time for some golfing, fishing and hunting with his five children. They range in age from 16 to 4 years.

As to his cooking ability . . . he possesses very little . . . that is, unless it's either cook or starve . . . then he does a pretty good job. His recipe today for Mock Chicken Casserole would belie this fact, however. You'll agree after you've tried it.

MOCK CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Grind or chop one onion, one green pepper—½ bunch of celery.

Fry 1 pound bulk sausage. Remove meat and cook vegetables in small amount of sausage grease. Cook one cup rice in 4½ cups boiling water. Simmer 30 minutes and add one package of Lipton Chicken Noodle Soup. Cook 7 minutes longer. To rice mixture add meat, vegetables and one can cream chicken soup, and one soup can of milk. Top with ¼ cup sliced almonds. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Try Browsing at Museum

Among the important graphic art exhibitions seen in this area this month is Contemporary British Printmakers currently on display through June 1 at the Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

Included are lithographs, drypoints, silkscreens, engravings and etchings and an unusual process called sugar aquatint. Works showing the highest quality in abstract and expressionistic thinking are represented. Brilliant and unusual contrasting colors are seen in silkscreens and lithographs; black and white compositions in etchings and engravings are also displayed.

Richard Coutu's "Descending Bird" and studies in movement and form by Merlyn Evans render excitement to the exhibit.

* * * *

THE COLLECTION is shown in conjunction with Arts of Southern California—III; Art in Film, works from the museum collection, and paintings by Bettina Brendel.

The Art in Film exhibition is the third in the series showing the best in creative thinking in Southern California. The work of the art director and many examples by scenic and set designers, sculptors, costume and make-up artists and the cartoon artist are shown. Material is from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, 20th Century-Fox and UPA Pictures, Inc.

Drama Students to Enact Scenes From Seven Plays

For two nights, Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m., The Magnolia Theatre, 2400 Magnolia Ave., will be taken over by teenage students of the School of the Magnolia Theatre in a presentation called "Scenes at Eight."

Scenes from seven well-known plays will be given entirely by the students, from acting and production to handling the box office. Overall supervision is by Ridge Walker, school director, but direct responsibility for each scene lies with the students.

To be presented are the prologue from "Summer and Smoke" and three scenes from "The Glass Menagerie," both by Tennesse Williams; a scene from "Member of the Wedding," by Carson McCuller; four scenes from "Tiger at the Gates," by Jean Giraudoux; scene from "The Diary of Anne Frank" by Goodrich and Hackett; scene from "The Fourposter" by Jan de Hartog and a scene from "Mr. Pickwick," by Stanley Young.

* * * *

IN THE CASTS will be Doris Taylor, Becky Jackson, Pat Decker, Blaine Nelson, Lois Wright, Rick Larson, Richard French, Danealia Hill, Lennea Stevens, Vickie Garret, Tim Banks and Pat Moorehouse.

The school was envisioned by Pat Brown, managing director of Magnolia Theatre, two years ago with the basic thought to help children learn to express their ideas, learn how to develop the imagination and put ideas to work spontaneously.

Classes stress poise, diction and creative dramatics; older students learn characterization, stagecraft and play participation.

The public is invited to attend the production. Tickets may be purchased at the box-office.

Chamber Concert at City College

Outstanding music students at Long Beach City College will be presented by the music department in a chamber music concert at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Lakewood campus auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Performers will include sopranos Carolyn Coward and Stephanie Norwood, violinist Sharon La Nobs, pianists Richard Wilkinson and Norma Lineberger, bassoonists Harold Hanson and William Watilo, the City College String Quartet and Brass Ensemble and the Viking Band Brass Choir and Clarinet Quartet.

Music to be performed will include works by Handel, von Weber and Mozart and two compositions by Dr. Gerald Daniel of the City College staff.

The program is sponsored by the Liberal Arts Division student body. A chamber music concert honoring Dr. Gerald Strang will be presented by members of the LBCC music department and guest artists on June 3.

Card Party Benefit

Sisters of the Holy Family Guild will sponsor their annual card party benefit Wednesday at 8 p. m. in St. Anthony's Catholic Center, 6th St. and Alamitos Ave. There will be door awards, refreshments and games of the players' choice. Alice Pickett is general chairman; Betty Williams is ticket chairman.

Comedy Set for 4-Night Presentation

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," comedy classic by George Kaufman and Moss Hart, will be presented by Long Beach City College General Adult Division drama students at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in Millikan High School auditorium, with additional performances scheduled June 4-5. All are open to the public without charge.

Plot of "The Man" involves a dinner-guest who breaks his leg, then settles down to convalesce in the home of his hosts. He whiles away his time by meddling in family affairs and filling the house with penguins, Hollywood characters and mummy cases.

Lead role of Sheridan Whiteside, the part originally made famous by Monty Woolley, will be played by Paul Teschke. Other leads will be shared, in alternate weeks, by Ilene Ferris and Nicki Lopez as Whiteside's secretary, Geri Martin and Susanna Hitchcock as a Hollywood siren, and Gordon Gearhart and Jesse Ferguson as Bert Jefferson, the apex of a romantic triangle.

In other major parts Denis Miller takes the role of actor-playwright Beverly Carlton both weeks and Phil and Sal Pandolfo share the part of Banjo, a Hollywood comedian. Supporting roles are divided among 21 additional cast members for the four performances.

Director of the production is Maryalyce Rivard, General Adult Division radio-television and drama instructor.

LET'S SAY IT THIS WAY...

Gordon Gearheart, assistant director, checks last-minute script changes in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" with, from left, Nicki Lopez, Ruth Barrett and Geri Martin. LBCC General Adult Division play opens Wednesday in Millikan High School auditorium and is open to the public.

On Broadway

With the theatrical season past the half-way mark, The Playwrights' Company—this year celebrating its 20th anniversary season — is represented on Broadway with two continuing hits, a top comedy, "Time Remembered," and a leading drama, "The Rope Dancers." Spring visitors to New York will find these two attractions outstanding examples of the wide variety of entertainment offered in the legitimate theater.

Bidder Fools Self During Long Huddle

West's opening diamond was a semi-psychic lead directing bid and did not keep North and South from bidding their spade game.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and took stock of the situation. Obviously, the only way to beat the hand would be to collect two club tricks and he had to attack the suit immediately.

This left him with the problem of which club to lead. Should his partner hold ace-nine-small his choice did not matter, provided his partner would hold back the ace.

	NORTH 24 ♠ A K J 10 ♥ A 10 9 8 ♦ 7 2 ♣ Q 8 3
WEST ♠ 9 3 2 ♥ J 7 ♦ Q J 10 9 4 ♣ A 7 2		EAST (D) ♠ 8 ♥ K 6 5 3 ♦ A 8 6 3 ♣ J 10 6 5
	SOUTH ♠ Q 7 6 5 4 ♥ Q 4 2 ♦ K 5 ♣ K 9 4

North and South vulnerable

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Double
3 ♦	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦ Q

If South held the ace nothing mattered at all.

A low lead would give declarer an automatic low play if he held the nine so that was out and it was up to East to choose between the ten and the jack. He selected the ten on the theory that a false card play was more likely to work than the natural one.

It worked all right. South went into a long huddle and finally came to the conclusion that the ten spot was the higher card of a doubleton. He played the king and when West took his ace and returned the suit South was doomed to defeat.

While credit is due East for his deceptive lead, I feel that South should not have fallen for the play. If East held a doubleton club West would have held five of the suit and probably would have chosen to take a save at five diamonds against the vulnerable game contract.

$2,500,000 Apartments Project Set

Construction will start in 60 to 90 days on 206 de luxe, plaza-type apartment units in Lakewood, the developer (yesterday).

Boyar Investment Co., the developing firm, reports the project will cost in excess of $2,500,000.

The apartments will be located on the north side of Del Amo Blvd. just west of Lakewood Center. Edward H. Fickett, A.I.A. is the architect.

* * * *

LESS THAN 30 per cent of the eight-acre tract will be occupied by buildings, permitting extensive landscaping and beautification, the firm said. A dead-end street leading into the tract will give easy access to the apartments, while eliminating all through traffic.

Entrance to garages will be from roadways on three sides of the tract. There will be 259 off-street parking spaces.

The 206 apartments will be mostly two-bedroom units, with some single and some three-bedroom units planned.

* * * *

The apartments will be housed in seven two-story buildings.

The ultra-de luxe apartment units will all feature modern appointments.

Lakewood developer Louis Boyar is president of the Boyar Investment Co. His son, Marshall, and Jerry Kessler are vice presidents of the firm.

Right Under Nose

Wall St. Overlooks Big Bright Spot

By ELMER C. WALZER

NEW YORK (UP) — Wall Street, which has been looking all around for recovery spots, missed one right at the tip of its own figurative nose.

That bright spot is Wall Street itself.

There are two reasons coming from the stock market. Trading is up nearly 10 per cent compared with last year, and secondly, commissions are higher.

These two make for higher income for the brokerage houses which have trimmed down their overhead costs.

Also the market for new issues has been humming along at a good clip and that, too, helps with Wall Street's income. The new issues get "sticky" once in a while, but market men say if they're priced right they sell readily.

The Street isn't resounding with cheers even if business is good. The problem is, will it stay good. If it doesn't the financial community — always a feast or famine economy—will go back to famine days.

This is why the Wall Street houses aren't building up giant staffs because business is good. There's more efficiency, tighter working schedules, close economy.

Hence, if the year goes along at a fast clip, there'll be a good prospect for bonuses for the employes. The pickings in bonuses were mighty slim at the 1957 year-end.

Right now, market experts say the list looks tired, and many of them wonder if the market can hold up. They are particularly worried over the recent strength in the so-called cyclical stocks which Standard & Poor's says "could easily turn out to be a premature policy of general bullishness."

However, the statisticians just couldn't resist projecting the sales volume for the remainder of 1958.

They took the volume for a week ago when the daily average sales amounted to 2,820,762 shares. On that basis for the remaining 156 trading days, the total transactions for 1958 would come to 662,252,932 shares.

And that total would be the best for any year since 1930 when the volume was 810,632,546 shares. There were only two years bigger than the 1930 total—1929 when sales crossed a billion shares, and 1928.

The 662 million plus shares projected for 1958 by the pencil pushers is only 14 per cent of the 4,852 million shares listed. That would be the best only since 1954 when the turnover was 19 per cent of the then 2,827 million listed shares.

Back in 1930 when the average of shares listed totaled 1,212,238,474 shares, the turnover was 67 per cent. In 1929 when sales totaled 1,124,800,410 shares, the turnover was 119 per cent of the 942,492,073 average shares listed.

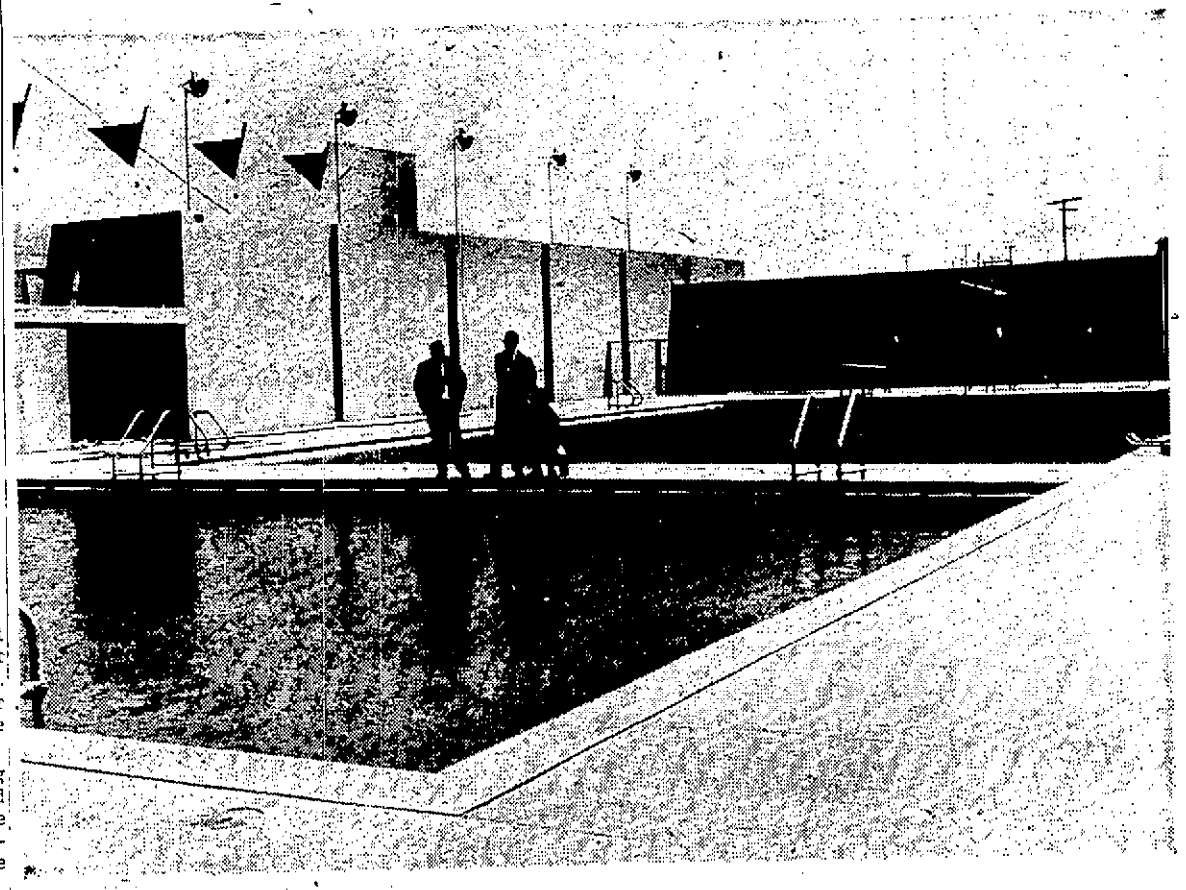

Clubs Set Joint Dinner Meeting

Plans for a joint dinner meeting of their respective organizations were announced Saturday by Iline Peters, president of Real-ette Toastmistress Club and Henry Arras, president of Beach City Toastmasters.

Vet Home Costs More Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of homes bought by veterans continued to advance during 1957, Veterans Administration statistics showed today.

Veterans paid an average of $13,800 for the homes they purchased last year under the GI home loan program, administrator Sumner G. Whittier reported. That was $895 more than the $12,905 average in 1956.

The average paid for new GI houses last year was $14,335, compared with $13,390 in 1956. And last year 72 per cent of all GI home loans closed were for new houses. More than 40 per cent of these were in the $12,000 to $15,000 price range.

Used homes cost an average of $12,100 last year, up only $130 from 1956. Nearly one-third were priced less than $10,000.

Films depicting the college's history will be shown in Classroom 200.

Vocal and instrumental selections will be presented from 2 to 5 p.m. in Room 127 of the Music Bldg.

* * * *

LABORATORY demonstrations will be given in the Science Bldg. The Social Science Dept. will display Eskimo and African artifacts in Faculty Office 101 and geography maps in Classroom 157.

A closed-circuit television demonstration will be given in Language Arts 205 by the Speech Dept.

Student demonstrations in ceramics, sculpture and painting will be conducted in the Fine Arts Bldg. Exhibits will be on display throughout the building.

Films of the 1956 Olympic Games will be shown by the Physical Education Dept. from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Gymnastics and wrestling exhibitions will be staged in the gym from 2:30 to 3:45 p.m.

Special exhibits are planned by the library and the Education, Psychology, Industrial Arts and Home Economics Depts.

* * * *

FACULTY MEMBERS will be available for consultation concerning the college's instructional program. Administrative staff members will greet guests in the cafeteria, where refreshments will be served.

The college's initial enrollment of 169 students in 1949 has grown to a figure in excess of 9,000. New buildings continue to rise.

It cost but $125,000 to operate the college its first year.

Plastic Shell Case Produced for Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 105-millimeter plastic shell case weighing less than half as much as metal cases has been developed for the Army.

Tube Turns Plastics, Inc., of Louisville, Ky., has been awarded a development contract to produce several hundred of the plastic cases for full-scale firing tests at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground.

In research, the plastic case has withstood gas pressures as high as 35,000 pounds per square inch and a flame temperature of 4,000 degrees F. at the instant of percussion. Weighing only 2½ pounds, the new cases are expected to ease the burden of transporting shells and handling them at gun sites.

REALTORS CAMPAIGN

Map 'Buy Home First' Drive

Long Beach Realtors are making plans to participate with thousands of others throughout the country in a "Buy a Home—First" campaign now being launched by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Larry Miller, president of the Long Beach Board, said the campaign is an intensive effort to tell the public of the value and importance of buying a home first.

Realtors across the nation will promote the slogan through special advertising the various media, display posters, stickers for correspondence and windows, and other means.

* * * *

"A home is the best buy on the market today," Miller said. "Real estate values generally, more than any others hold their own whether it is the day of the declining dollar or the era of hard money. The current home market is probably more favorable to the buyer than in any time in recent history."

Home ownership traditionally has been and will continue to be a sound long-range investment and an excellent hedge against sustained inflationary periods.

Making monthly payments on a home, he noted, is the easiest and surest form of savings for the average family.

* * * *

"THE LONG term nature of home ownership, generally upwards of 20 years, dictates that home purchase should not be deferred because of short term economic uncertainties," Miller said.

"Young couples in particular, whose long range earning potential is bright or stable," he added, "should not be unduly influenced by uncertainties they know or feel are temporary."

The local board president said those who overemphasize the debt obligation of home ownership tend to overlook the fact that in the course of years, the home owner reduces the principal of the mortgage and gains considerably equity. The fluidity of the existing home market usually makes this equity available as cash within a very short time, he noted.

"Next to food, providing for a family's future happiness and security through proper shelter is a man's foremost responsibility. There is no better way of doing this than making a down payment on a home which suits the individual's needs and budget."

Cost Per Plane Pound Going Up

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (UP)—The complexity of high-performance aircraft is reflected in cost per pound. Republic Aviation here reports that a World War II aircraft cost about $10 a pound, by the time of the Korean conflict it had risen to $25, and today's supersonic planes, such as the F-105 fighter-bomber, which Republic is building for the Air Force, average about $50 a pound. Thunderchief jets require 26 times as many engineering hours as did World War II planes

Varied Program for L. B. State Visitors

The operating budget for 1958-59 comes to $4,500,000.

One of the newest buildings on campus is the two-story Music Bldg., erected adjacent to the Little Theatre. Built for $330,000 and equipped at a cost of $135,000, the Music Bldg. was occupied just last February.

The structure is of contemporary design and is built of reinforced concrete and brick. It contains a choral rehearsal room that seats 100, a large band and orchestra rehearsal hall, 11 classrooms, 10 faculty offices, a music library, 30 individual rehearsal rooms and an instrument repair shop.

* * * *

NOT YET OCCUPIED—but open for inspection today—is the one-story Art Bldg., built of brick and metal at a cost of $524,000. Another $92,000 has been spent to equip the building.

The Art Bldg. will be ready for use during the summer session. It contains a gallery, eight faculty offices and seven laboratories—one each for advertising design, lithography, sculpture, theater design, industrial design, elementary school art and general art. Each division has a host of auxiliary laboratories.

Another new building, which will be ready for the summer session, is the $700,000 Men's Gym. It cost $36,000 to equip this building.

The new gym contains an intercollegiate basketball court with three crosscourts. Seating capacity: 2,200. There also is a large multi-purpose room with a dividing partition that can convert it to two rooms for boxing, wrestling or gymnastics classes. Eight faculty offices are available.

* * * *

ADJACENT TO the gym are two outdoor swimming pools. One is of regulation size—for intercollegiate water competition—with a three-meter diving board and a one-meter board. The other is a beginners' pool, four feet deep, for instructional purposes. Both are lighted for night use.

Campus visitors will find three major buildings under construction.

One is a $2,500,000, two-story biological and physical science unit—an addition to the existing $1,500,000 Science Bldg. The addition will be ready for occupancy by February 1959.

Another is a $1,500,000, three-story concrete and brick addition to the library. Scheduled for completion by the fall of 1959, it will give the college six times more library floor space than is available in the present structure.

A third building under construction is a $250,000 Home Economics Bldg. This is a cottage-type, one-story frame and stucco structure located on E. Anaheim Rd. just east of Soroptimist House. Scheduled for use in the spring semester of 1959, it will contain four teaching laboratories, four offices, a living room, dining room and patio area.

* * * *

APPROVED FOR construction in the 1958-59 budget are these buildings:

Classroom Bldg. and Faculty Office Bldg., to be built jointly at a cost of $1,500,000. Will provide about 50 classrooms and 100 offices. Construction of the three-story structures should begin by July 1 with occupancy by September 1959.

Men's Dormitory and Women's Dormitory, each to accommodate 200 persons. The three-story structures will be located north of E. Anaheim Rd and will cost $1,700,000. Should be ready by fall of 1959.

Industrial Arts Bldg., a single-story structure on Lower Campus. Will include shops and offices. Cost: $1,000,000. Construction to begin by Jan. 1, 1959, with occupancy by January 1960.

* * * *

COLLEGE OFFICIALS hope to obtain funds from the 1959-60 budget to erect an Engineering Bldg.

By 1965 at least 14,300 full-time students are expected at State. Total enrollment that year probably will exceed 18,000. By 1968 college officials expect 20,200 full-time students and a total enrollment of 25,000.

Rep. Claire Engle candidate for U. S. Senator from California will speak on "Your Stake in National Affairs" at the 7:15 a.m. Tuesday meeting of the Long Beach Board of Realtors in the Lafayette Hotel. Lew Hanscom is program chairman; Larry Miller will preside.

METER-HOGS

Judge Nicks Space Grabbers

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (U.P.)—City Court Judge Walter J. Relihan is at war with the so-called meter-feeders.

A $5 fine is the penalty for motorists who insist on slipping additional coins in parking meters here to permit the use of the same space for long periods.

Offenders are issued yellow tags which require their appearance in court. However, they are not compelled to face Judge Relihan and fines may be paid to court clerks.

According to the judge, the "parking meters are designed to keep motorists moving, and to give everyone a chance to park and shop."

New Car Inventories Dwindling

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry appears to be winning one of its major problems—the burden of top-heavy inventories.

In two months the stock of new cars in dealers' hands has been cut by more than 88,000 (T) units. Production schedules for May have been tightened and there will be a further reduction of unsold units when they are counted again on June 1.

The most recent tabulation shows the retailers had 777,445 new cars in stock or storage on May 1. The high for the year to date was 865,566 units on March 1. The industry's record high was 903,789 cars on hand on March 1, 1956.

* * * *

RETAIL SALES have fluctuated in recent weeks; unofficial surveys indicate April deliveries exceeded those of March by perhaps 25,000 units. If the figure is correct April sales amounted to about 425,000 (T) units.

But there has been no return to the traditional spring upsurge. The sales chiefs have about given up hope that there will be any seasonal increase of substantial size. And the car makers are not counting upon a production upturn in the weeks immediately ahead that would end recurring plant shutdowns.

The inventory-reduction effort is gearing output to demand more closely than ever before in industry history. Its success means there will be few, if any, giveaway schemes to speed up sales at the model year end.

* * * *

THE INDUSTRY has numerous sales incentive programs in operation. Ordinarily these campaigns would wait until the model year neared its end. In most instances the contests provide bonuses of varying amounts for sales above a preset minimum. In others, there are prepaid vacation trips for salesmen.

There also are some contests in which additional bonuses are given for sales in which the tradein car is that of a competitor. The industry calls these conquest sales—winning a customer from a competitor.

If the unofficial computations are about correct more than 91,000 imported cars have been bought in this year's January-April period. That is almost double the total of comparable 1957.

* * * *

CHEVROLET is tightening its hold on the industry's No. 1 spot in production and retail sales. It built 442,141 cars in this year's first four months. Its sales for the same period came to about 421,500 units.

Ford division, which ousted Chevrolet from top place in 1957, built 358,282 cars in this year's January-April period. Its sales for the same period amounted to about 328,000 units.

In the first four months of last year Chevrolet built 536,314 cars and sold more than 460,000. Ford division built 561,454 units and sold more than 492,000.

Mesa Verde Rich in Historical Background

People moving into Mesa Verde, planned community in Costa Mesa, will be living on land rich in historical background.

Mesa Verde, overlooking the Pacific Ocean, has a romantic past linked to Father Junipero Serra and the Juaninian Indians, named after the mission San Juan Capistrano. A small adobe hut still stands on Mesa Verde. It is reputedly the hut where Father Serra stopped over on his journies.

NEARBY INDUSTRY, schools, churches, shopping and Disneyland and other recreational areas were taken into consideration in planning Mesa Verde.

An interesting feature of the planned community is the Mesa Verde Country Club Golf Course to open early in October.

Walter Gaynor, spokesman for Mesa Verde, said 50 per cent of the first unit is 50 per cent sold and plans for the second unit are near completion.

* * * *

NO DOWN payment and $195 moves in non-vets and low GI terms are available for veterans.

Models are open daily and illustrate typical Mesa Verde features as large kitchens and bathrooms, open-air plans, built-in ovens and ranges, garbage disposals and forced air heating.

Models and playground may be reached easily by taking the Santa Ana Freeway to Harbor Blvd., then south to the sign of the Golfer.

Mesa Verde can be reached from beach areas by following the Coast Highway to the Costa Mesa turnoff.

New Low Terms at Bolsa No. 2

New non-veteran terms of $100 down plus $90 costs are offered on $11,850 homes at Bolsa Gardens No. 2.

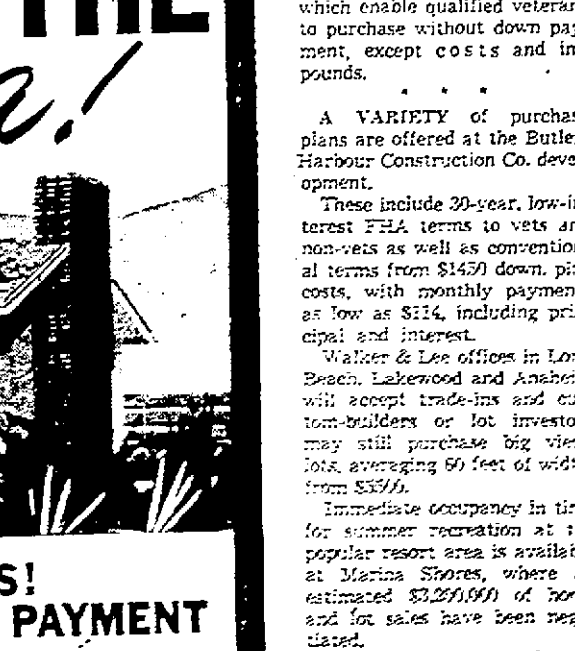

Gilbert J. Hayes, sales agent, said these three-bedroom and family room homes with 1½ and 2 baths are fully equipped with wall-to-wall carpeting, drapes and curtains and ready for occupancy. Lawns are planted.

Nine different styles of exterior elevations offer a variety of contemporary designs, including large modern windows.

The development is south of the Santa Ana Freeway. To view these homes, drive out 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Hwy. 39, turn right to Bolsa, left on Bolsa to the model homes.

Ocean Front Living

INTERIOR BEAUTY . . . Custom-Styled

Healthful appeal of ocean-front living at Marina Shores, luxurious new community located off Hwy. 101 on Bolsa Ave. in Seal Beach, is attracting members of the medical profession in large numbers, according to Walker & Lee, Inc., sales agents for the outstanding 3 and 4 bedroom, plus family-room, dwellings.

"Seventeen of these multi-featured, quality homes have been sold to physicians", a spokesman noted. "The Seal Beach area is remarkably free of smog and other health impairments."

A total of fifty families have now taken residence at the planned community with new arrivals anticipated daily. Many are taking advantage of recently introduced G. I. terms which enable qualified veterans to purchase without down payment, except costs and impounds.

A VARIETY of purchase plans are offered at the Butler-Harbour Construction Co. development.

These include 30-year, low-interest FHA terms to vets and non-vets as well as conventional terms from $1450 down, plus costs, with monthly payments as low as $114, including principal and interest.

Walker & Lee offices in Long Beach, Lakewood and Anaheim will accept trade-ins and custom-builders or lot investors may still purchase big view-lots, averaging 60 feet of width, from $5500.

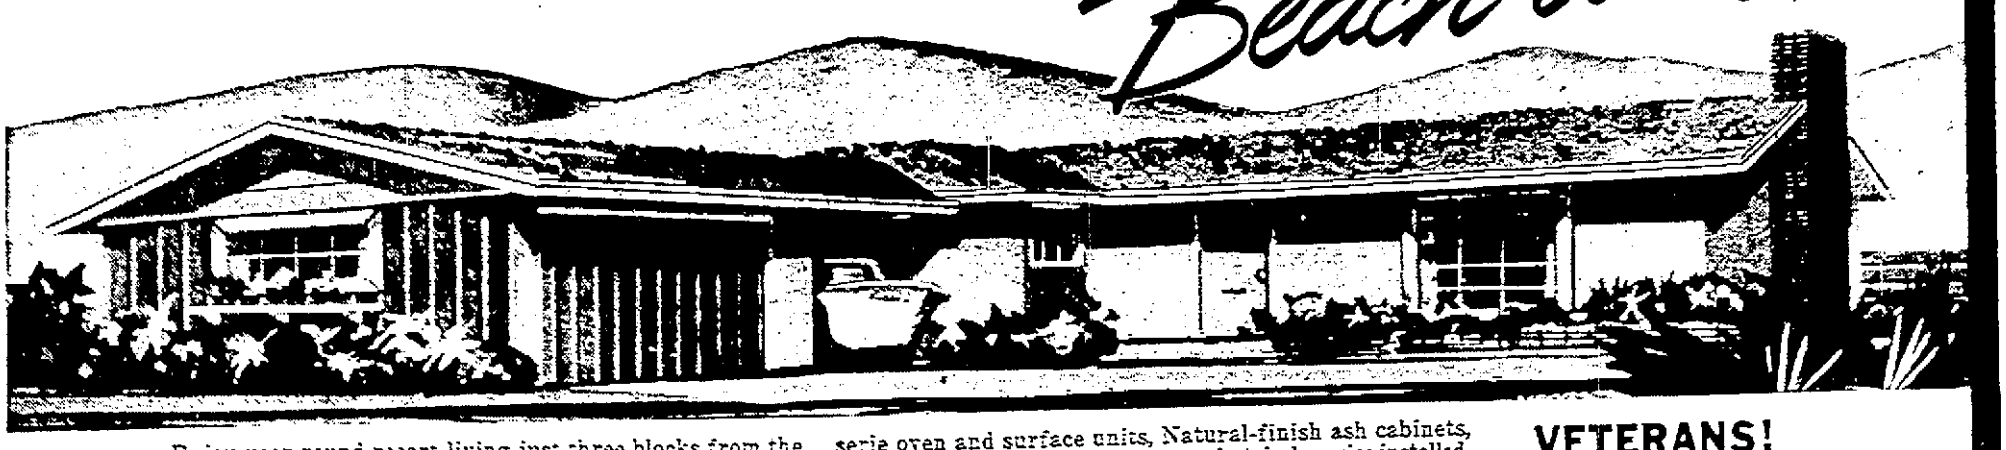

Immediate occupancy in time for summer recreation at the popular resort area is available at Marina Shores, where an estimated $3,200,000 of home and lot sales have been negotiated.

FIVE ATTRACTIVE model residences, furnished by Frank Bros., are on display every day and Sunday. A highlight of this exhibit is a model home complete with swimming pool and two separate patio-areas linked to the dwelling by sliding-glass doors.

Two luxury baths are incorporated into every plan at Marina Shores where color-harmonized kitchens are enhanced by built-in gas ranges with thermal-eye burners and pot rests; food waste disposers; custom cabinets and, in many models, built-in dishwashers and refrigerators.

Lost Tooth Price Rises

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Stevie Whittle, 5, eagerly placed the first tooth he lost under his pillow.

The next day, he found a dollar bill under the pillow with an assist from his grandparents). His father, Therl Whittle, a policeman, told Stevie, "I think you're very lucky. I never got more than a dime."

"Well, Daddy," Stevie replied, "you know the price has gone up on everything."

Japan Hits Proposed Salmon Ban

TOKYO (AP) — An official of Japan's fishing industry declared that an American proposal to ban importation of salmon caught in the North Pacific "is equal to a ban on all Japanese salmon."

Kenjiro Nishimura, deputy chief of the government's fishery agency, indicated that a sectional import ban would spread to a total one, because it would be impossible to tell where a canned salmon was caught.

U. S. Rep. Thomas M. Pelly (R-Wash) said Monday he would press for congressional approval of a bill against salmon netted in the North Pacific by Japanese.

Japan has already placed a voluntary restriction of 11 million on its salmon fishing this year, a figure which Pelly claimed was so big it could have "fatal results" in the Bristol Bay area.

"Eleven million is half of last year's catch," said Nishimura.

BUICK ESTATE WAGON IS PRACTICAL BEAUTY
The dashing Buick Estate Wagon shows a smart combination of classic lines and roomy interior. The Estate Wagon and the Buick Caballero station wagon are on display at the showrooms of Campbell Buick, Long Beach dealership.

Long Beach Dealers Display New Models

By ART STEPHAN
Press-Telegram Automotive Editor

Station wagons are as much a part of Southland living today as the barbecue and patio. You just are not enjoying life in its fullest without one.

While the sales of station wagons over the nation are showing a good increase each year, Southern California paces the world in the purchase of the roomy comfortable suburban cars.

May 25 through May 31 is "Station Wagon Week" in Long Beach and the local new car agencies will be featuring displays of the many types of station wagons.

Only a few years ago the station wagon was a luxury car for the estate-class of home. It then was a beautiful body which combined wood panel and metal. The car was used to go to the station to meet guests and escort them to the rural estate for the week end.

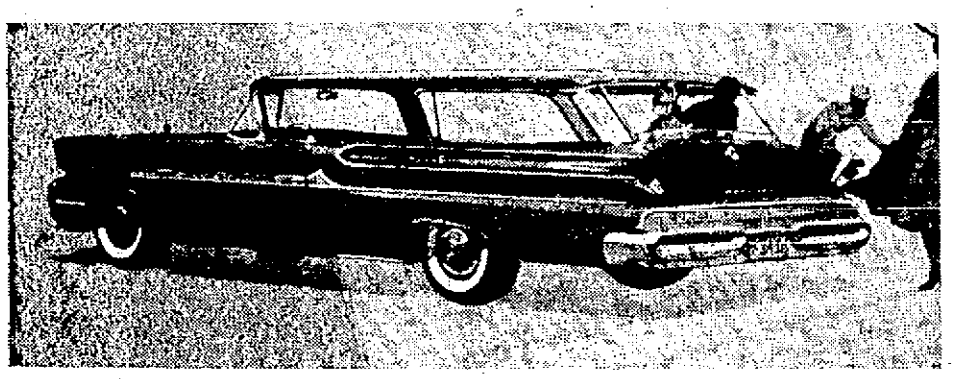

* * * *

NOW THE WAGONS come in the finest of metal designs and are within reach of nearly every family budget. Of course, the luxury models are still carrying a luxury price because they are powered with the biggest motors and contain rich upholstering and fittings.

But, the average family can have just as much fun and enjoy a vacation trip in a lower cost model as those in the luxury class.

One of the greatest advantages of the modern station wagon is the way it combines the advantages of a pickup truck with the comfort of a sedan

STUDEBAKER SCOTSMAN THRIFTY PERFORMER

Here is what Studebaker officials say is today's lowest-price, full-size station wagon—the 1958 Studebaker Scotsman. Produced as a six-passenger wagon, the Scotsman can be converted in a few minutes to a closed delivery van, or by the addition of a rear seat, to a nine-passenger station wagon. According to Bob James, Studebaker-Packard dealer at 1350 American Ave., the Scotsman will get up to 27 miles per gallon and delivers in Long Beach for $2,198.

FORD'S PREDICTION

Ford Motor Co. stylists believe seating in station wagons of the future will be much different than in current models, possibly with passengers seated in a semi-circular lounge to the rear of the driver.

Big Changes in Station Wagons Are Foreseen

As the leading producer of station wagons in the United States, Ford Motor Co. stylists are interested in what changes will be made in tomorrow's models.

Along with lounge-type seating they foresee the possibility of sliding or roll-top roofs made from aluminum or plastic and swing-up sides for easy entry and exit, bunks, tables, a living room on wheels and built-in television, cooking facilities and plumbing.

Recommend Light Touch for New Car

If you're the proud owner of a shiny new car, or even a not-so-new car, the National Automobile Club advises you that you can keep your car in tip-top shape by practicing the light touch in your driving.

It's the light touch that does it. It's the light touch that will use your power to propel your car safely and secenely along the highway.

The heavy touch is another story. The heavy touch will work to wrack and strain your car's frame, clutch, transmission, differential, wheels, and tires and make your car old long before its time.

Think about stepping down hard on that accelerator in terms of torque or the twisting power of your motor. Modern motors have a high twisting power and the car's parts are built to handle this power. But step on the accelerator too vigorously and the torque goes up slowly with the car's parts easily absorbing the strain.

Think, too, of stepping on the accelerator in terms of what it does to your brakes. More fast starts and high speeds mean more violent braking. It's violent braking that will wear down your linings and wear the rubber from your tires.

And don't be heavy handed with the steering wheel. Twist and spin that wheel violently and sharply when turning. You'll put strain on the entire steering system and wear more rubber from your front tires.

It's the light touch that does it. It's the light touch that will help to keep your new car young. How are you when you drive? Do you have the light touch?

Traffic Deaths

More than 21 per cent of 1957 United States highway deaths occurred on Saturdays, reports the National Automobile Club.

Traffic Accidents

The annual cost of traffic accidents in the United States averages around five billion dollars, according to the National Automobile Club.

$500 Prize Awarded Salesman

Jimmy Zecchini, salesman in the Winston Head, Inc., dealership in San Bernardino, is the winner of the $500 Triumph Topper prize for outstanding sedan salesmanship in the Southern California territory, it is announced by Dorothy Deen, executive vice president of Cal Sales, western importer-distributor.

Zecchini had a score of over 90 per cent in the Triumph Topper contest for salesmanship and successfully presented 23 of the 26 unique features of the Triumph sedan. He also scored above 90 per cent on 33 general points of effective salesmanship.

Winston Head will be presented with a special plaque by Miss Deen to mark his sponsorship of the top Triumph salesman in Southern California.

Cops Fined When They Litter Hwy.

Our Pacific Slope seems to have its full measure of public-minded citizens.

Recently, according to the National Automobile Club, a traffic officer stopped two of them for infringement of some minor traffic law, wrote them out a ticket, and tossed the carbon paper down on the highway.

Our public-minded citizens then made a citizen's arrest for littering, easily convinced the judge that they had a case, and the judge slapped a fine on the offending officer.

Public minded? Revenge minded? Whatever their motive, they did a little something to help keep our highways clean.

Remember Spare

When the service station man is putting air in your tires, remind him not to forget the spare locked in the trunk. Two flat tires can be distressing.

DODGE SOLVES PROBLEM
Spare tire stowage is no problem on the 1958 Dodge Sierra station wagon. The spare is tucked away in a well in the right rear fender. The Sierra is on display at local dealer Glenn E. Thomas.

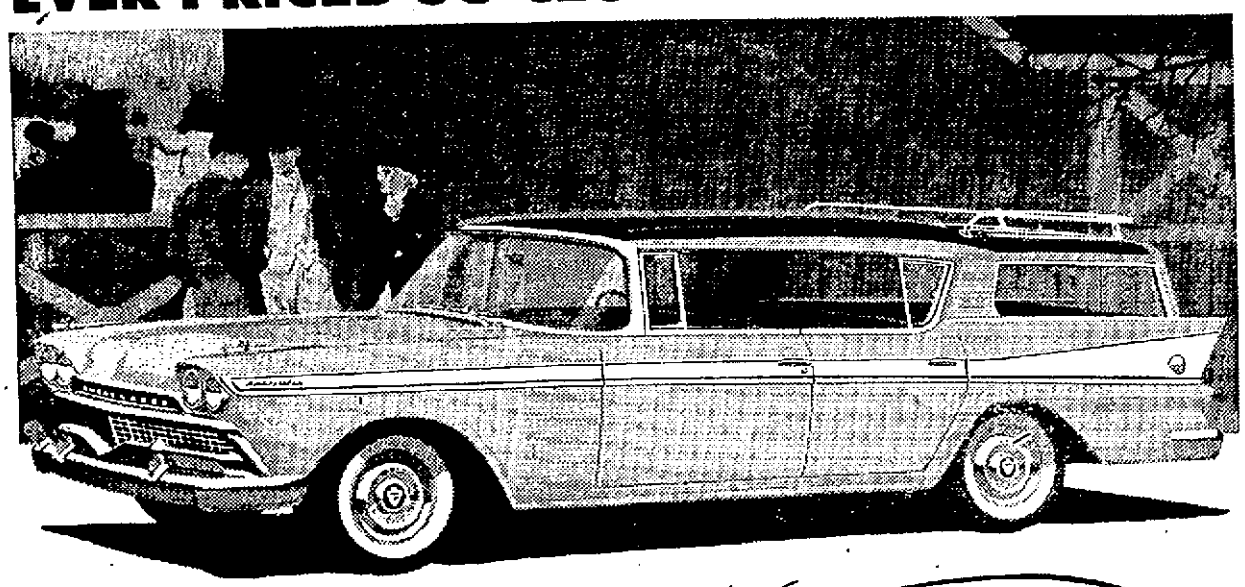

Chapin Says Rambler to Push Models

Station wagon popularity, which already has reached levels not thought possible a decade ago, is continuing to grow, according to Roy D. Chapin Jr., executive vice president of American Motors Corporation and general manager of its Automotive division.

Chapin predicted that station wagons will account for almost 20 per cent of all car sales in 1958, compared with only 1.4 per cent in 1940. At the same time, he added that American Motors gives even more emphasis to station wagns than do other auto makers.

In the 1958 model year, almost 50 per cent of Rambler sales will be station wagons, he said.

A Ride Proves It: "FINEST STATION WAGON EVER PRICED SO CLOSE TO THE LOWEST."

CHEVROLET NOMAD STATION WAGON

The famous Nomad is but one of the "Winsome" station wagons now displayed by Cormier Chevrolet, Beach City Chevrolet, Harbor Chevrolet and Parkwood Chevrolet during "Station Wagon WeeK."

Chevrolet Has New Winsome Models

"Chevrolet's 1958 models are putting more and more people in a station wagon mood," says Chet Henson of Harbor Chevrolet, a spokesman for the Long Beach Chevrolet dealer group. He believes that the current sales trend toward wagons of all makes and models reflects customers' dual desire for practicality and beauty.

This year, Chevrolet boasts five distinctive models to fill customer desires, no matter how diverse. Five live-wire wagons—2- or 4-door, 6 or 9-passenger, and real station wagons to the core, with large tires, safety-girder frame, and smooth-flexing heavy-duty coil springs at all four wheels.

All Chevy wagons offer a full 88 cubic feet of load space with the deck cleared for gear. Easy loading may be achieved with any size load.

Plymouth Travel Case Pleases All

Choosing a new car to suit travel needs is becoming as much a part of family vacation planning as cross-state and mountain trips. Evidence of this is the fact that more than one out of every four Plymouth buyers are choosing the Plymouth station wagon for travel comfort as well as the everyday uses, says Bob McClure, local Plymouth dealer of 5105 Atlantic Ave.

Plymouth's "forward-Look" styling makes its Surburban popular in all family circles. Its roominess, which is not excelled by station wagons in any price range, provides pullman comfort and the spaciousness for all purposes, even on camping trips, McClure observes.

With the fishing season approaching, fisherman all over are finding their station wagons ideal for carrying equipment right in the 100-cubic-foot cargo area. The full-level 10-foot loading deck can be made into a comfortable bed by using Plymouth's special mattress.

New Tire Is Evolved by Firestone

Firestone scientists and engineers have taken a long step into the future to develop Firestone Rubber-X, Bert Sewell, manager of the Firestone Store at 7th and Locust Ave., claims.

Sewell said:

"It is a dramatic Firestone development in the evolution of tire rubber.

"It's the longest wearing material used in tires and its road gripping ability increases driving safety.

"After many months of testing this superiority has been proven.

"A radically new kind of tire rubber, it resists abrasions and wear like no other tire material.

"But this is not the only good news about Firestone Rubber-X.

"Due to new and exclusive Firestone formulas for rubber, you can get unmatched protection against punctures, blow-outs and skidding.

"Firestone Rubber-X absorbs road shocks with amazing softness.

"Because this revolutionary tire material resists cracking and aging, tires with Firestone Rubber-X will outlast and outrun previous tires.

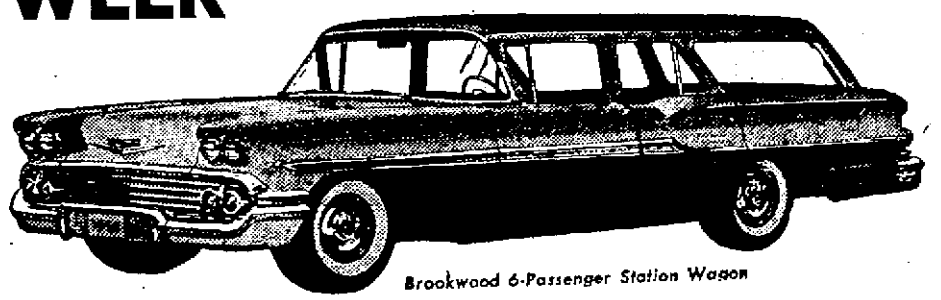

Two or More Cars

More than one in every six families owning automobiles has two or more cars, according to the National Automobile Club. In 1948 the ratio was less than one in 20.

Oldsmobile Features New Luxury Motif

The sleek design of the 1958 Oldsmobile Super 88 Fiesta station wagon makes use of the horizontal trim on the body panels and sweeping twin blades on the crowns of the rear fenders.

The bumper and rear end styling is entirely new, revealing a new concave contour for the bumper, a round chrome decorated taillight and a vertical stoplight below it.

The pushbutton latch on the taillight can be released easily with one hand, offering access to the ample cargo area which contains 64.4 cubic feet of storage space when the seat is folded flush with the floor.

LONG BEACH, CALIF. .....MAY 25, 1958

OUR COVER

Scenic beauty abounds on Santa Catalina, and everywhere provision is made for the visitor who tarries there to have fun. The island for generations has lured mainlanders across the channel from Long Beach to swim, fish, hunt, skin dive, go boating or hiking or riding, to dance and dine, or just plain loaf in the sun. This peaceful seaside view is part of a walkway linking the St. Catherine Hotel with Avalon's famous Casino (background) and Avalon itself, and is a favorite retreat of Avalon regulars for a brisk walk in early morning or a leisurely stroll when the moon is high. Novel lanterns light the way by night and cast intriguing shadows for those who pass this way. Catalina can be reached by ship or plane and offers attractions for a day, a week, or an entire vacation. Buses ashore and boats afloat provide interesting tours; even a peek below the waves at a world of fabulous beauty that surrounds this tiny gem of the Pacific.

CHEMISES MAY COME and chemises may go, but there'll always be room for the full blown figure in fashion. A Southland maker proves this for spring and summer with these fadeless roses abloom on a field of bright washable cotton. Portrait neckline dips to a V-shape in the back and the full skirt, little cap sleeves, butterfly bow of self-fabric all contribute to the young, feminine lines of this Toni Todd design. Crown soap and water fabric is crease resistant, comes in a variety of rich colors.

Hastings College of Law has a "65 Club" of 12 professors past retirement age elsewhere. Above, l-r, G. W. Gobel, 69; Lawrence Vold, 71; R. M. Perkins, 68; Dean David Snodgrass, 63; George Bogert, 73, and Everett Fraser, 78.

They 'Retired' to Go to Work

By FRED J. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

AT MOST U. S. colleges and universities, professors approaching their mid-60s are headed for imminent retirement —voluntary or otherwise.

Not so at the University of California's Hastings College of Law in San Francisco. Here 65 is the minimum age for the faculty of 12 full-time professors. The oldest member is 82.

This "65 Club," as it's known, started under the pressure of circumstance in 1940 but blossomed into an established institution that pleases faculty and students alike.

The elderly professors, forced into retirement at other schools, welcome the opportunity to pro-

Boy (Dog) Meets Girl (Cat)

"Well," says he. "What a funny looking little runt. G-r-r-r. . . . Scat!"
"Why, you big oaf!" says she. "I'll just teach you a thing or two!"

"So-o-o, that's your game!" says he. "Gonna swipe my blanket, eh?"
"Big goof," says she. "All I want is just to be friendly and play!"

Big Boy (he's a dog and what a hunk of dog!) had things all his own way at home. That is, he did until Little Girl arrived (she's a cat—and what a kitten!). They met, and Big Boy took a pretty dim view of sharing his house and home with—a cat! But feminine wiles and frisky antics can soften hearts, even of dogs—and Big Boy is a soft-hearted, good-natured old fellow beneath all his big, gruff exterior. Little Girl soon had him eating out of her hand . . . er, paw, as the saying goes. And she'll be eating out of his dinner dish, next thing he knows. Just like a woman! Ingratiate, then appropriate! (Oh, come now, ladies. We men like it that way; or, at least, you make us think we do.)

"Wotcha s'pose she's up to now?" says he.
"Ha-ha-ha, you can't catch me!" says she.

"I'll have to admit, she ain't such a bad little pal. Guess I'll have to look after her!" says he. "Wonderful, Big Sweetie! I'm going to like it here," says she.

"Well, well! Just want to play!" says he.
"Certainly. Oaf! Let's have fun!" says she.

A Day the World Remembers

By Maymie R. Krythe

AGAIN the nation observes Memorial Day by paying tribute to our war dead.

It was just after the War Between the States that the custom began in our country. Several different persons and places claim the honor of starting what was called for many years "Decoration Day"—now Memorial Day.

However, the most acclaimed incident (and the one responsible for the poem, "The Blue and the Gray") took place in Columbus, Miss., on April 26, 1866. After the Battle of Shiloh, about 1,500 Confederates and 100 Union soldiers were buried in an 18-acre tract that had earlier been used as a recreation ground for the Odd Fellows of Columbus.

WHEN WOMEN arrived to decorate the soldiers' graves, they decided to forget the past; they also laid flowers on the resting places of the Northern soldiers. Horace Greeley, in the New York Tribune, honored these women for this act, saying:

". . . the women of Columbus, Miss., have shown themselves impartial in their offerings made in memory of the dead. They strewed flowers alike on the graves of the Confederate and of the National soldiers."

And a young lawyer, Francis Miles Finch, was so impressed by the deed that he wrote "The Blue and the Gray" with these unforgettable words:

"Sadly, but not with upbraiding
The generous deed was done:
In the storm of the years that are fading,
No braver battle was won;
Under the sod and the dew,
Under the blossoms, the Blue,
Under the garlands, the Gray."

The idea of a special day to honor war heroes soon spread. In May 1868 Gen. John Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, chose May 30 as the date. So the nationwide observance began.

Memorial customs are ancient and worldwide. Many centuries ago the Druids in Northern Europe observed it, as did the early Greeks and Romans. The Italians, on All Souls' Day, decorate tombs of relatives and friends.

NOW THAT AMERICANS have fought in two great World Wars, and thousands of them lie buried in foreign soil, each Memorial Day services are held in their memory around the globe. They take place in national cemeteries in the United States, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, in military cemeteries in England, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Holland, Italy, Japan, Korea, the Philippines and various South Pacific islands.

The United States is not alone in honoring war dead. Great arches, such as in Paris, with the eternal flame below it, the Cenotaph in London, and other fitting memorials are evidence.

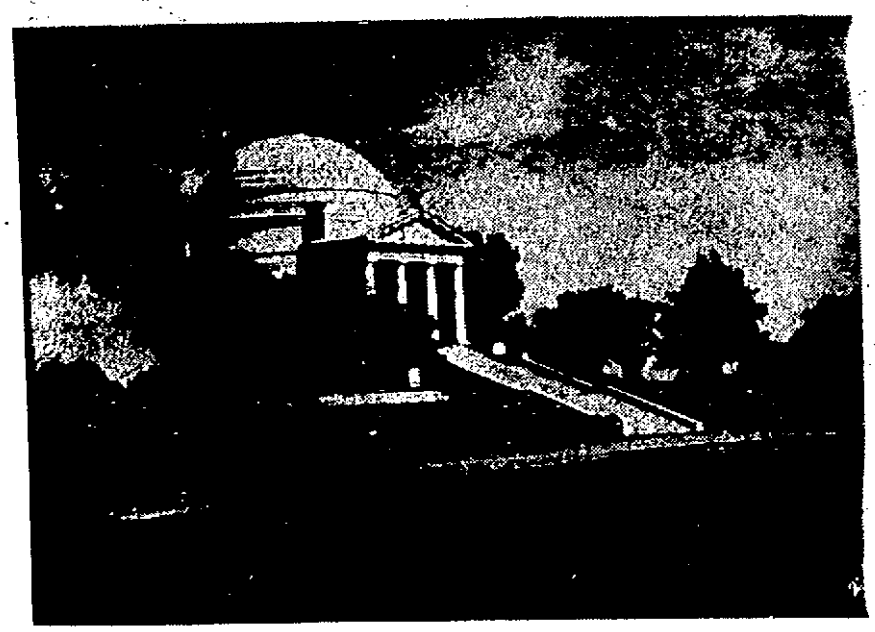

IN MELBOURNE, Australia, there is a distinctive Shrine of Remembrance, and nearby the 1939-1945 War Memorial.

Not far away is an unforgettable statue—a bronze replica showing a tall Aussie soldier, with head up, walking beside a donkey that carries a wounded comrade. The memorial was erected in 1935 by grateful Australians to honor Pvt. John Simpson Kirkpatrick, an Englishman who was in Australia in 1914 and at once enlisted when World War I involved that country.

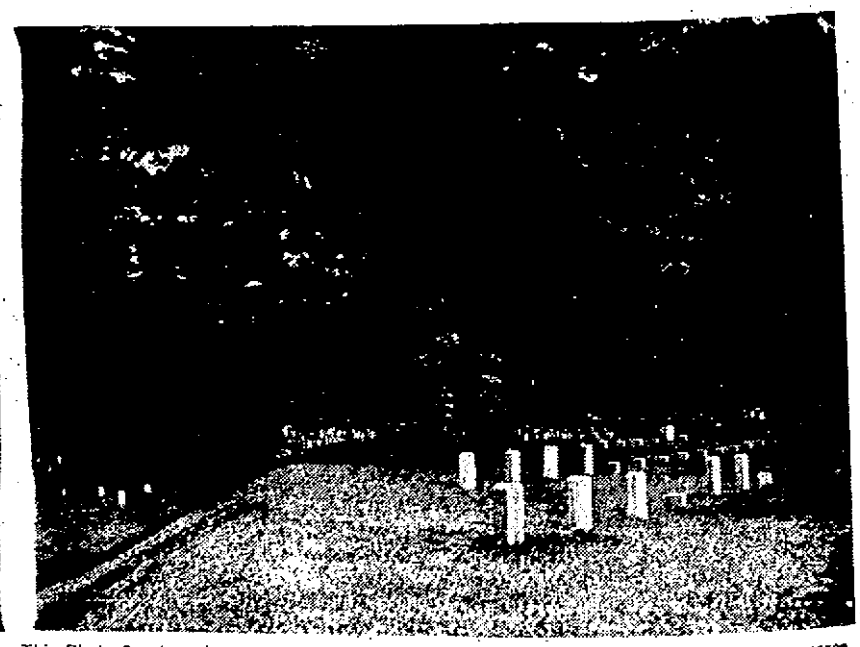

Kirkpatrick was with the men who tried to capture Gallipoli and force the Dardanelles. For nine agonizing months they held on to a narrow foothold. Pvt. Kirkpatrick used his donkey, Murphy, to take injured men down "Shrapnel Valley." After saving many lives, he lost his own, on May 19, 1915, while trying to carry another man to safety.

As Southern California observes Memorial Day, the words of B. Y. Williams in his poem, "I Heard the Drums," seem appropriate:

'I heard the drums this morning—
What scanty price we pay
To gallant ones who gave their lives
To point a better way;
Just memory and roses . . .
Briefly the world has peace!
What is the truth mankind must learn
Before all wars shall cease?"

It'll Be a Big Year at Catalina!

By Herb Shannon

SOUNDS of the jackhammer and power saw have roused Avalon from its annual hibernation as the picturesque Santa Catalina Island community prepares for what, it is predicted, will be the resort's greatest tourist season.

New apartments and stores, community service facilities and additional transportation services as well as the usual face-lifting operations on existing buildings have occupied the island residents with construction projects for months.

From a new $5,000 72-unit apartment development in the center of town to the $145,000 pile-driving and renovation operation on the steamer piers, the Santa Catalina Island Co. also has contributed to community progress.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE benefit of visitors expected to swell the island's population from the normal 1,600 to 10,000 at the height of the season actually start on the mainland in Long Beach.

Transportation to the island by the fastest and most direct means this year will be boosted by the addition of two new planes to the Avalon Air Transport service from Municipal Airport and Long Beach harbor.

A 46-passenger Sikorsky flying boat operating from Pacific Landing and a new 24-passenger Sikorsky amphibian plane flying from the airport will more than double Avalon Air's passenger capacity from 54 to 115 airborne seats.

The air service will continue to run five nine-passenger Grumman amphibians from airports here, Santa Monica and Burbank, as it has for the past four years. This year the airline expects to transport nearly 100,000 fares on the 17-minute trip direct to Avalon Bay.

OTHER TRANSPORTATION services to augment the Catalina Island Company's steamer from Wilmington will be two new motor vessel runs from Long Beach, including the 225-passenger converted Army vessel "Magic Isle," according to Fred Hochberg, president of the Avalon Chamber of Commerce.

More than 1,000 rooms in apartment developments, hotels and bungalows will be available at prices averaging about $10 for two persons, Hochberg said.

Although this represents slightly fewer rooms than were available in 1957, quality of the accommodations is much higher this year, the chamber official said, thanks to the demolition of the Island Villa area by the Catalina Island Co.

"Removal of the Villa shacks is the biggest thing that ever happened to Avalon," Hochberg said. "They were very undesirable."

Malcolm Renton, resident manager for the Island Co., agrees that elimination of the 350 flimsy cabins on a site once known as Tent City in the center of Avalon was a needed improvement.

"New construction this year has almost equaled the loss of the Villa units," Renton pointed out. "I don't think anyone will miss the cabins."

PACED BY THE St. Catherine and Atwater Hotels, each offering about 150 rooms, rentals will be available at from $7.50 to $20 a day. The higher-priced accommodations include bungalow and cabana units which offer swimming pools and private recreation facilities as added attractions.

Newly redecorated, the St. Catherine Hotel, under the management of Rose and Joe Arno, opened the season as headquarters for the California Cruising Club's fifth annual Catalina predicted log cruise.

Several hundred boats ranging from 12-foot outboards to inboard cabin cruisers bordering on yacht size are participating in the motorboat rally. The season opener is a harbinger of the record-breaking number of small boats expected through the summer.

"We should see at least 10,000," predicts Avalon Mayor Merrill Porter.

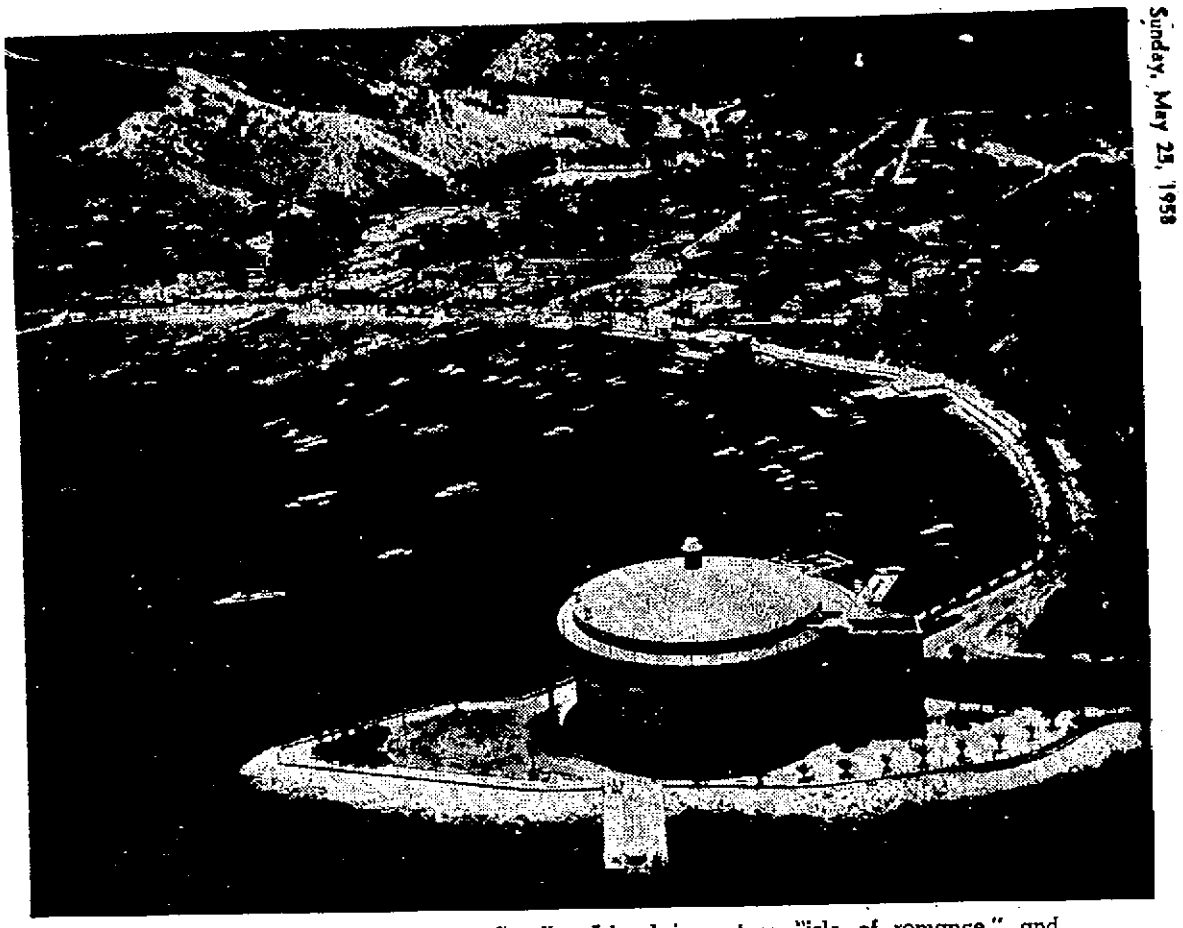

SPECIAL MOORING facilities are planned by Harbormaster Chick Upton to accommodate this boom in small boating. On occasions when organized groups are scheduled to arrive, cables with float lines will be strung from pier to pier to handle up to 600 outboards with existing facilities.

Recent and projected civic improvements which will benefit visitors as well as residents include the new County Fire Station recently completed at a cost of $25,000 and a modern $250,000 hospital for which excavations were recently finished.

The new hospital will not only increase the number of beds available for medical purposes, but will supplant the existing emergency ward in a 60-year-old residence, Mayor Porter pointed out.

Shopping facilities have been expanded and improved by the relocation of the Island Company's grocery and by face-lifting operations on many of the other stores.

"Most people don't realize it until they actually find out for themselves that our shops compete with mainland stores despite the added transportation costs," points out Hochberg, the retailers' spokesman.

CONVENIENCE for shoppers as well as beach enthusiasts was the aim in removing all auto traffic from Crescent St., the beachfront thoroughfare, according to Mayor Porter.

"Now we are pushing back parking barriers on side streets for the same reason," Porter said.

New arrivals at the Catalina Bird Farm, the three-acre aviary open to the public without charge, include a recent shipment of penguins from the Antarctic and cassowaries and other species from Australia, superintendent Roy Estes reports.

The world-famed exhibit featuring more than 350 varieties of rare birds from all over the globe is a prime attraction on the island, along with the birds' second cousins, the flying fish.

The airborne fish which have become the trademark for Catalina have returned to put on their regular performance for visitors aboard the high-speed power boats. Equipped with searchlights, these boats track down the schools of flying fish at night to provide a unique and thrilling sight.

AS IN PAST YEARS, the glass-bottomed boats will provide tours to glimpse the undersea natural gardens offshore, bus trips inland will take visitors to the summits of the steep Catalina mountains, and the riding stables will offer a wide choice of horse trails for equestrian pleasure.

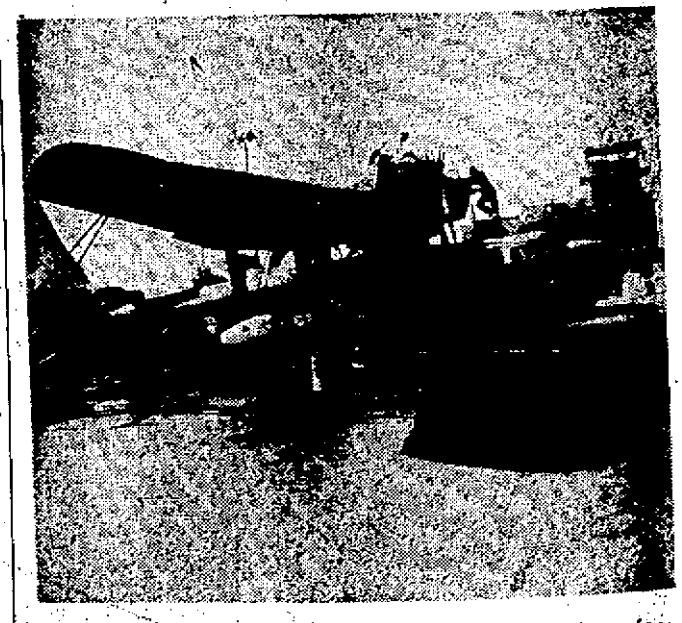

Special evening features sponsored by the City of Avalon for its guests during the season will include square dancing in the streets twice a week, community sing events three times weekly, teenage street dances once a week and name band dancing three nights a week in the Casino.

Avalon city officials, independent business representatives and officers of the Catalina Island Company are pulling together to make 1958 their biggest year.

If preparations are any indication, their goal will be realized.

The Children Like Their Strut

Favorite of children at Catalina Bird Farm, the penguin steals the show as he takes daily stroll.

THE Great Big Moment at the Santa Catalina Island Bird Farm comes at 2 p. m. daily—give or take a few minutes, depending upon when the most children are in the park.

Roy Estes, superintendent of the bird farm, who knows all the birds personally, opens the gate to the penguin cage.

Out strut the four penguins, beautiful black and white fellows from off the coast of South America. The penguins in the lead, Estes behind whishing them along, they parade through the bird park.

Children always are delighted.

In their cage, the penguins splash in their pool and dive for fish. The penguins usually are the children's favorite among the upwards of 500 birds in the park.

Estes taught the 25 mynahs to talk. All talk to some degree. A dozen are good talkers with a string of 20 phrases. They say:

"Goin' to the dance tonight?"

"How'm I doin'?"

"Kitty! . . . Kitty! . . . Kitty!"

The bird farm has two ostriches, three emus, of which two were hatched at the bird farm; two South American condors which have their own built-in oxygen masks, oxygen containers to enable them to fly over the Andes; rhinoceros hornbill from the jungles of Malaya; harlequin hornbill, quite a few peacocks, rhea, cassowary, Japanese dancing cranes, flamingos, and a variety of smaller birds.

Photos by Gene Smith

Penguin trio tours the farm grounds, much to the delight of two young onlookers. Birds were imported from an area off the coast of South America.

Zane Grey's picturesque home high above Avalon, Catalina Island, has been made into motel with pool. Books, other mementos of Grey are found there.

Pueblo on a Catalina Hilltop

REMEMBER the picturesque home of Zane Grey high on a hill at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island? Grey, western and adventure writer, built it in 1923 and lived there until he died in 1939. A good friend of Indians, he built his home to resemble a Hopi village.

After Grey's death, the home went through various hands.

H. T. FRANKLIN bought it, has converted it into a motel and named it the Zane Grey Pueblo. A heated, arrowhead-shaped swimming pool was built in front of the pueblo.

Franklin added new rooms, redecorated the place in keeping with the Zane Grey tradition. The pueblo has 17 rooms, each named for a Zane Grey book. The honeymoon suite, for instance, which has a large window overlooking Avalon Harbor, is called "Desert Gold." The suite once was Zane Grey's study. The kitchen is the "Hash Knife Outfit" and the office is "The Thundering Herd."

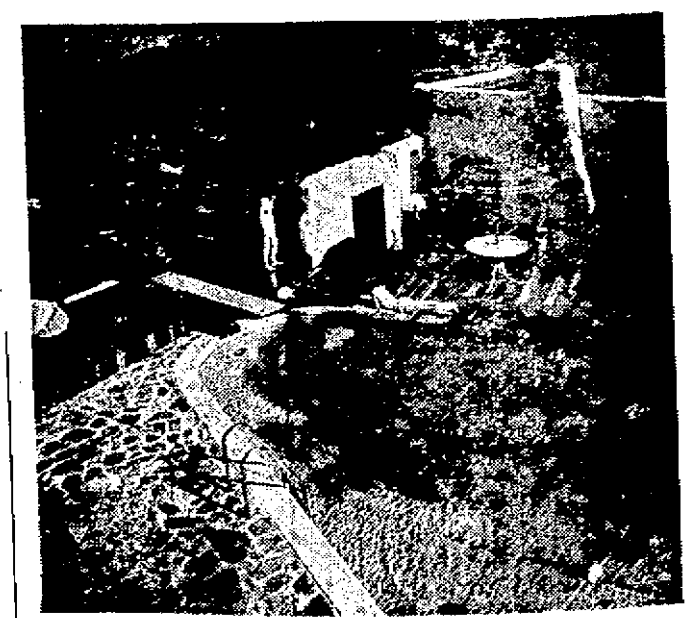

A library contains Zane Grey's books.

VISITORS ALWAYS are interested in a long, rugged table with benches at which Grey used to entertain his fishing friends.

Miss Midge Quenell, teacher in the Los Angeles Art Center school, painted murals depicting scenes in Grey's books. A large mosaic in the lobby, of mosaic tile and native stone from Pebbly Beach at Santa Catalina Island, depicts five Indian chiefs, friends of Zane Grey. It is also the work of Miss Quenell.

Long, rugged table in the pueblo once was used by the noted writer and fisherman to entertain fishing friends.

Swimming pool in shape of an arrowhead is a feature of the pueblo. Glimpse of harbor appears at left of photo.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Hospitality Porch Graces This Split Level

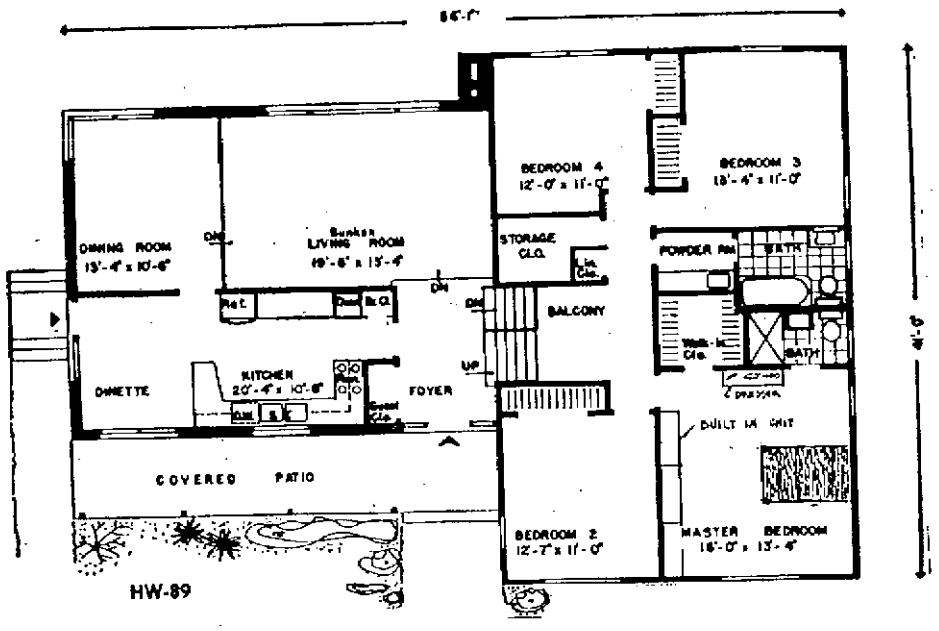

Simplicity and harmonious proportions of this fine American house are shown in this exterior perspective.

By John Wallace

MANY A MIDWESTERNER will find nostalgic satisfaction in this fine American house by an eastern architect.

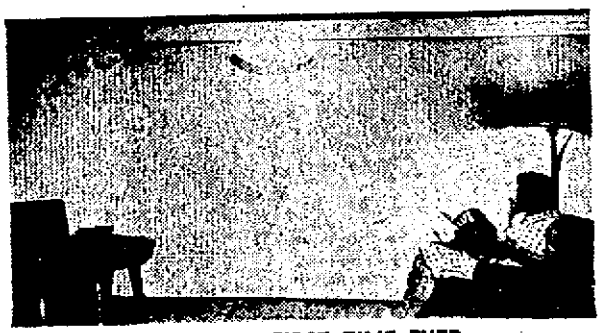

A split level, ticketed as HW-89 in The House of The Week series, it is reminiscent of the two-story farm homes with one story wings and wide front porches that still dot the plains in that part of the country that I come from. Its simplicity and harmonious proportions add to one's good feeling about it.

But don't let appearances fool you. Samuel Paul of Long Island, New York, not only has provided more room than you might expect, but has incorporated in his plan a host of ideas

First floor plan of the house does not show ground level areas, which include open cellar, recreation room, two-car garage, lavatory, laundry.

This interior view of master bedroom looks toward built-in closets and floor-ceiling mirrored wall. Bedroom wing is five steps up from foyer.

that weren't even wild dreams in the long ago days when those comfortable farm homes of which I spoke were constructed.

THE SPLIT LEVEL, actually, is something that developed in the east, only to make its way west and to nearly every part of the country, just as the ranch house has made triumphant conquest of the Atlantic seaboard. Both are distinctly American.

With its antecedents, therefore, Paul's pet design can be called typically American indeed.

You can count it as a nine and a half room house, if you will, with two and a half baths plus recreation or family room. There's lots of space for a good big family. Also, privacy for the parents from rambunctious children.

Living room and bedroom level have 1,840 square feet of floor space, recreation room has 475 square feet and two-car garage, laundry and lavatory, 504. Overall dimensions of the house are 56 feet 1 inch by 41 feet.

LET'S SET FOOT on the hospitable porch, ring the bell and step inside.

Hanging our coats in the cloak closet, we find ourselves in a well lighted and ample foyer that leads directly to nearly every part of the house.

We turn to the left and find an efficient but gracious kitchen with U-shaped installations, two sinks, dishwasher, refrigerator, Built-in oven, counter top range, an abundance of natural wood wall cabinets, floor cabinets and broom closet. There's an eating counter and a space for the woman of the house to do her bookkeeping and phoning.

JUST BEYOND is the breakfast room. A right turn from it and we step into a good sized dining room.

Facing to the right once more, we look across iron ballustrades to the large living room, 19 feet 6 inches by 13 feet 4 inches. Its rear wall, nearly all glass, gives us a fine view of the garden.

Sunken a foot below the level of the rest of this wing, it is thus set off very definitely from dining room and foyer. The sunken floor costs little because the floor simply is framed between the steel beams instead of on top of them.

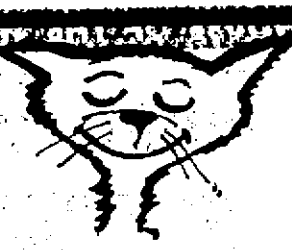

NOW WE TURN right to make the circuit of the living room wing, step up into the foyer, and then mount five steps to the bedroom wing. Right ahead of us is the door of the powder room, leading to the main bathroom. The master bedroom at the front of the house has another bath, a walk-in closet and a storage wall. Besides three additional bedrooms there is a storage closet, linen closet and balcony.

From the foyer also one descends to a truly enormous recreation room, integrated with an outside terrace to the rear. The garage of course is on this same level, along with laundry and lavatory. The open basement is another five steps down.

And how does the architect feel about all this?

"I attempted," explains Sam Paul, " to portray in the exterior design the quiet, gracious living to which the interior design lends itself. The exterior reflects a simplicity and honesty reminiscent of the early American style. The layout invites maximum living comfort and enjoyment."

SOUTHLAND HOMES

There's a Lake in Their Lives

Snapshots of favorite Minnesota lake scenes were used in painting mural on family room wall in the Palos Verdes residence of the James Martin family.

By Eileen Ball

NOSTALGIA for the Minnesota lake country was a major influence in the decor of the James H. Martin home, 3712 Via Palomina, Palos Verdes. While Mr. and Mrs. Martin and their teenage son, Jimmy, have been contentedly residing in California for several years, memories frequently carry them back to that quiet countryside where they spent so many happy hours boating and fishing.

Until they moved into their informal 2,000-square-foot home last October, memory alone served to inspire the Martins' imaginary pictures of lakes and woodlands. But now, an extensive mural on the wall of the family-dining area has actually brought a favorite Minnesota lake scene right into their home. Painted by one of the area's well-known portrait artists, Mrs. Zita DuPont Carder, the scene reflects a composite of favorite lake views. In the foreground is a small figure—an appealing likeness of young Jimmy — complete with fishing rod and his pet fox terrier. The mural extends from the dining room into the family room in an exquisite panorama of soft color tones. The scene, viewable from the entry hall, makes an immediate impression on guests — inspiring comment not only for its beauty but for the astonishing manner in which it appears to extend the size of the dining and family areas.

A LARGE ENTRY, floored in waxed slate, welcomes guests into this home which is unusual in plan and furnishings. Directly opposite the front door, the end of a wide rock wall presents a floor-to-ceiling margin of masonry. Extending from the main body of the masonry into the entry is a low, curved planter of the same stone, holding tropical plants. Integrated into this wall are two fireplaces . . . one of which opens to the living room, the other into the family area.

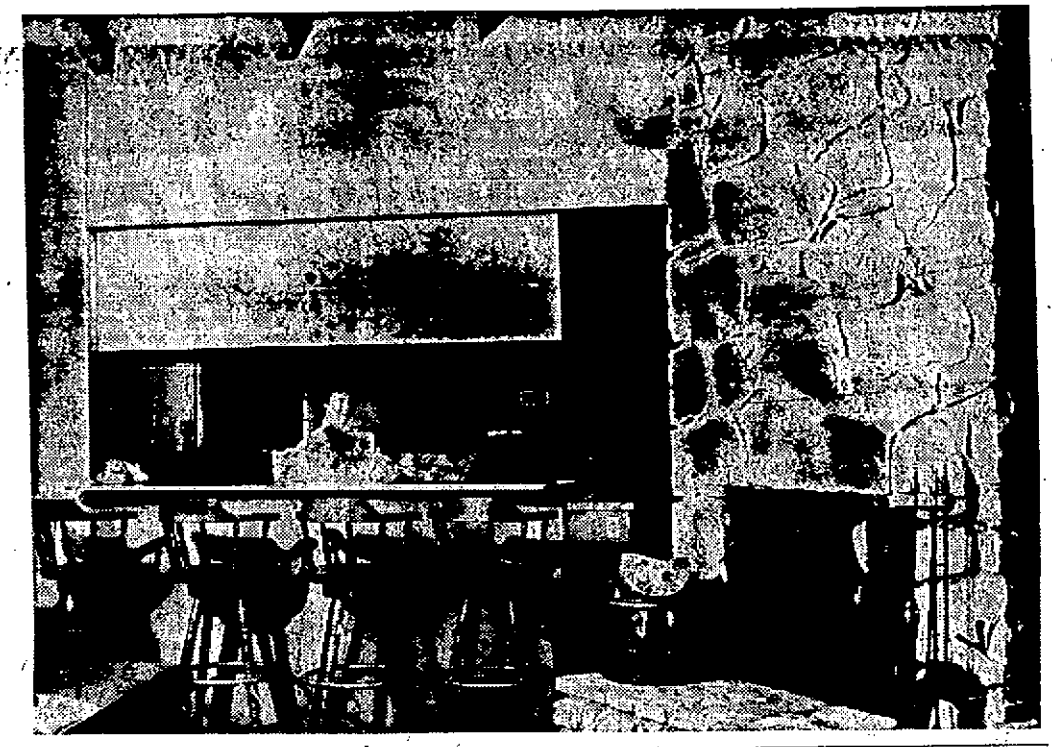

The entry gains further distinction for the 12-foot vaulted ceiling which it shares with the adjacent family-living area. The driftwood beams are stained to blend subtly with vertical wall panels painted a delicate lavender mist color. (This material has been used in the entry and continues around into the living room to the right).

One level lower than the slate-surfaced entry, the dining area has been carpeted in a delicate heather-blend of beige and face-powder pink wool. The carpet terminates on an angle, where the beige vinyl floor of the family area begins.

AN ASSEMBLY of French provincial furniture in waxed fruitwood furnishes the dining room. Full-length, lined draperies of heather-toned cotton satin are patterned with clusters of pastel peach, lavender and shell pink blossoms. These pastels are repeated in the mural against which stands a handsome sideboard in cherrywood.

Furnishings for the family room strike a more informal key with an overstuffed curved terra cotta-and-black tweed sectional playing a role of major importance. Sided by fruitwood step tables, the sofa faces the diagonal, raised-hearth barbecue-fireplace. Immediately beyond, the kitchen merges with the family room over a long open serving counter of mahogany. Facing this are four swivel bar stools styled like captain's chairs.

Driftwood cabinets fitted with copper hardware characterize the kitchen. A suspended refrigerator and a dishwasher panel have been enameled in copper tone. Counter tops of pale pink and grey marble-patterned plastic lend a soft mauve tone that carries out the prevailing color scheme of the house.

Kitchen and family areas merge over a long mahogany counter which is served by 4 swivel stools.

THE KITCHEN FLOOR is an extension of the beige vinyl tile of the family room. Dacron, semi-sheer, sill length draperies lend a striking element of color with giant shadow blocks of pink, maize and charcoal over a background of clear turquoise. 'Two other outstanding features of the kitchen' are a "marble" topped cooking island that stands in the center of the room and an expanse of fieldstone (actually the back wall of the fireplace) that contributes a plane of interesting texture to the breakfast area.

To the right of the entry is the living room. Here, again, is a high, driftwood-beamed ceiling, the height of which is pointed up by the vertical paneling of the inside wall. Standing against it is a sculpture-quilted sofa upholstered in the same mauve-toned fabric used for the dining room draperies. Over the sofa hangs an oil portrait of Jimmy Martin by Mrs. Carder who employed many of the room's predominant colors in its background.

ACROSS THE ENTIRE back of the living room is a wall of glass which slides open to the terrace and garden. Used here are heavy antique satin draperies of pale leather color, threaded through with gold lurex. A second oversized, four-sectional sofa curves in a modified "S" contour against the glass wall. It is covered in heavy mauve-colored pure silk pongee. Adding vivid emphasis to the color scheme is a button-back, amythyst-velvet lounge chair.

The end wall of the living room, opposite the fireplace wall, has been papered in a hand-blocked Van Luit mural in grey and taupe accented with lilac and mauve.

The master bedroom, in harmony with the rest of the house, has lilac-toned wool carpet, lavender mist walls and mauve draperies. The guest room is decorated in shades of cocoa-rose and sand. Jimmy's room takes on a more brilliant color plan of turquoise, charcoal and watermelon.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

She Crusades for the Needy

By Irma McCall

Ardent backer of aid for unfortunates, Mrs. Eva Taylor works on clothing for distribution to various agencies.

IF ALL the women of Long Beach possessed as much desire to help the needy as 84-year-old Mrs. Eva Taylor, 215 Quincy Ave., perhaps today a million more refugees and unfortunates would be properly clothed.

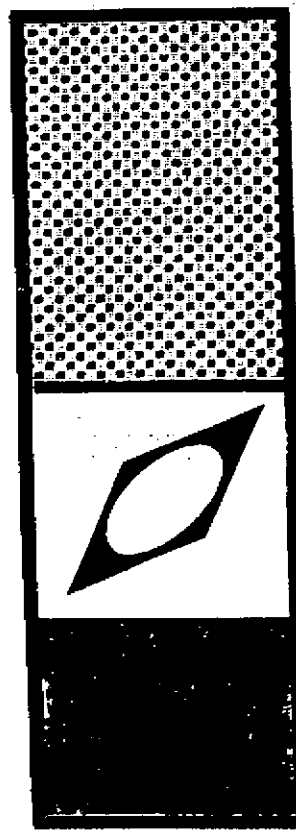

Ten years ago, Mrs. Taylor abandoned hooking rugs for family use. Instead she has collected a small mountain of clothing and considerable money for charity. Friends and neighbors bring her cartons overflowing with bedding and discarded garments, which she thoroughly enjoys sorting. "This warm coat for the Hungarians," she decides, "and this cotton dress for the Navajos, this child's sweater for my orphanage, these tennis shoes for the Salvation Army." She mends, cleans, and sometimes remodels the wearing apparel, especially if it is for her favorite project—the orphanage.

In 1947, Mrs. Taylor read a newspaper account of the Sarah Murphy Orphanage in Rockmart, Ga., a refuge for abandoned Negro children and operated by the daughter of a one-time slave. They seemed to need everything: bedding, clothing, books, toys, candy, money.

THE FARMHOUSE shelter of the orphanage burned, ending the life of one baby. Mrs. Taylor redoubled her efforts. At her request, Ralph Edwards of TV program, "It Could Be You," sent a 15-foot freezer to the new brick orphanage. She flew to Georgia to visit the project, where gracious entertainment by white members of the board of directors showed appreciation for the $1,000 and hundreds of garments and miscellaneous items mailed to Rockmart.

Stories of destitute Navajos set her crusading; consequently hundreds of Indians have shivered less this past winter. The tragic plight of Hungarian refugees demanded action. Bags and bags of clean warm clothing arrived at the church collection center. A recent Press-Telegram article detailed special needs of patients at the Metropolitan Hospital in Norwalk: art and handicraft materials, games, ribbons and other items. Within a week Mrs. Taylor was delivering a loaded box to the rehabilitation center of the hospital.

"I find people are happier when they're helping the unfortunate," she declares.

Released as safe by UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT!

New doctor prescribed wonder drug does away with all special diets!

BONDED OFFER!

YOU MUST LOSE UP TO 49 POUNDS OR WE PAY YOU $14.00!

Never before! Now an amazing wonder drug contained in RX-120 available without a prescription! A miracle drug prescribed and tested by thousands of doctors for over 10 years! Take off ugly fat without special diets, without habit-forming drugs, calorie counting, exercise, hunger pangs, massage! Your own doctor can tell you about this great new victory over obesity!

Of all the problems that have baffled medical science, obesity has been one of the toughest to lick! Think of it—there are 67 million overweight men and women in America and nothing sold without a prescription—until this electrifying discovery...has done any good! Do you wonder why the whole medical profession is enthused about this amazing development that has produced such astonishing results when tried by thousands of doctors...when tested with brilliant success on thousands of patients? Do you wonder why the United States Government was happy to release this formula as SAFE to sell over any drug counter in the United States WITHOUT A PRESCRIPTION? This is tremendous news...news that can change your whole life, lengthen your life span, make you healthier, happier, more active, younger looking...slender and glamorous instead of "matronly."

Yes, RX-120 is the fabulous formula scientists have sought for since Dr. Nooden published his report on obesity back in 1900. Everything offered without a prescription since then has failed miserably—chewing gums, liquids, powders, crackers and hundreds of other so called reducing preparations. You can take your doctor's word for it, the wonder drug in RX-120 does work... it helps you take off up to 49 pounds. The most extensive clinic testing ever devoted to any drug is back of RX-120. There's never been such overwhelming medical evidence, such convincing PROOF! There are no "ifs, ands or buts" with this miracle drug. In fact, we are so positive we will pay you $14.00 if you don't take off up to 49 pounds. Never before has any pharmaceutical company put such a daring guarantee in WRITING! The truth is no one could make such a guarantee because up to now there never has been a wonder drug sold over the counter that does such an amazing job of taking off unattractive excess weight!

HERE'S HOW YOU PROVE IT YOURSELF!

We don't have to tell you all the products you've wasted your money on trying to gain back your youthful figure are either frauds or too dangerous! You know this. Think back—you tried tablets that were supposed to put bulk in your stomach, you nibbled on cookies, ate crackers, swallowed liquid drops, tried chewing gums, ate candies, vitamin mixtures, went nearly out of your mind with calorie counters, pages of special diets! You got nervous, jumpy as a cat on risky drugs that many doctors condemned because of dangerous side effects! You'll be happy to hear all this is a thing of the past! Amazing new RX-120 contains such an advanced wonder drug it makes all other so called reducers old fashioned. RX-120 is an honest product. It really works! It's backed by more medical evidence than any other product ever sold to take off fat! No other effective product has proven so SAFE...that's why the United States Government released it as safe without a prescription in every city and hamlet in 48 states It's true RX-120 will positively take off up to 49 pounds of excess weight caused by overeating or we'll pay you $14.00. There's no doubt about it. Here's one product you don't risk one cent to PROVE! It really works!

Think of it! You must lose 9 pounds in 10 days...18 pounds in 20 days...27 pounds in 30 days...and 49 pounds in 8 weeks...or the medicine is FREE. Now here's our unheard of offer—read it carefully. You must lose the minimum number of pounds stated here with RX-120 or we'll give you back every cent you paid for each vial of RX-120 tablets!

Let's make this perfectly clear. If you take RX-120 for 10 days and don't lose at least 9 pounds, we'll send you a check for $3.00. If you don't lose at least 18 pounds in 20 days, we'll send you a check for $5.00. If you don't get rid of at least 27 pounds in 30 days, we'll send you a check for $7.00. If you don't lose at least 49 pounds in only two months, we'll send you a check for $14.00. Did you ever read an offer like this in your life? No—and you NEVER WILL—because only a good product that does everything claimed could be backed by such a guarantee!

PROOF POSITIVE!

HERE'S HOW RX-120 WORKS!

Unlike other reducing products you may have tried, new RX-120 works on an entirely different principle. It does four amazing things starting the very second you swallow the first tiny tablet—

(1) It depresses your appetite.
(2) It acts on your central nervous system; decreases your desire for food.
(3) It acts in your intestinal tract—fights hunger contractions—telegraphs a "stop signal" to your brain when you're tempted to overeat or indulge in between-meal snacks!
(4) It makes the food you eat stay in your stomach for a longer period.

Just think what this means to you! With this amazingly SAFE formula—that does not have the terrible side effects of other reducing drugs—your body will oxidize fat automatically as you eat less food...excess weight will literally vanish into thin air! Yes, your weight goes down, down, down every single day. The exciting part is you don't have to torture yourself with starvation diets! You don't have to take food supplements, habit forming drugs! You don't have to follow long winded reducing plans! You don't have to bore yourself counting calories! You don't have to exercise, spend miserable hour after hour in reducing salons! A whole new world will open up as you discover you can eat and enjoy the thousands of delicious, nutritious low calorie foods! You will live an active normal life—feel better than you ever did in your life—while you TRIM down to a glamorous figure in days, weeks! For now at last you can get RX-120 containing the new doctor tested wonder drug—without a prescription!

HELPS YOU RETRAIN YOUR EATING HABITS!

Doctors tell us that in most cases you are fat because you overeat. It's as simple as that! You may not realize it but fat people have what amounts to an abnormal craving for food. YOUR appetite is aroused by the VERY smell and sight of certain foods. Be honest now. How many times have you started to reduce only to find you just can't stop or even CUT DOWN between-meal snacks? Over-eating soon becomes a deeply ingrained habit you can't break. "But why do I have this craving for food?" you ask. There are many reasons. Good food and lots of it may have been a family tradition. Some consider rich food a symbol of success.

What can you do about it? The answer has been a difficult problem to solve until the development of the wonder ingredient in RX-120. You know how hard it is to change long established habits. You know self-denial is not easy. You know how almost impossible it is to develop a will power of iron! But with new RX-120 you can change your habits—practically overnight. You can eat less without giving up the foods that taste so good. Down comes caloric intake—off comes excess fat. You don't have to rely on strong will power. You don't have to fight yourself every time you're tempted. Now you can take off that excess weight...without your ever being conscious of it!

GET YOUR RX-120 BEFORE IT IS RELEASED TO DRUG STORES!

Remember, RX-120 is not a diet, not a dull plan or regimen that tells you what to eat! It's not an ordinary dietary supplement—it's a clinically tested, doctor approved medicine that has been PROVED effective when tried on over 2,000 overweight patients!...according to published reports. We'll be glad to send your doctor medical literature. RX-120 has been released as SAFE by the United States Government for sale without a prescription...but supply is limited. Sew for Summer Fun

By Caroline Coleman

YOU WILL have more money to spend going places if you sew for your summer fun. If you are one of the 40 million American women who make their own clothes, you will want to plan your wardrobe. Now is the best time to get the pick of beautiful new cotton fabrics on the market.

Almost any place you go under the sun, you will be able to use a shirtwaist dress, a cool sun dress, a completely feminine party dress, a shorts outfit, and a pair of slim slacks with a matching jacket. If you make these five basic items for your fun wardrobe, then you can splurge on a really good-looking lightweight coat (essential for traveling anywhere spring and summer) and a beach ensemble. Of course, a really expert seamstress can make the coat and beach ensemble, too.

Shirtwaists are good for many occasions this year.

Today's patterns are as up to date and stylish as the newest ready-to-wear fashions. There are plenty of shirtwaists, since this classic design is good for so many occasions and in all climates. Another style that is currently in vogue is the "no waistline" dress. Some of these dresses are designed to be belted in, but you can choose a pattern for a shift or chemise. The "no waistline" dress and the shift are to be found among easy-to-make patterns, a point strictly in their favor.

LOOK FOR A SHORTS pattern that calls for a circle of pleats. Perfect companion for the pleated shorts, which resemble a little skirt, is a round-necked sleeveless blouse. Another good combination for lounging and relaxing is a pair of slim, tapered slacks mated with a loose, boxy jacket. Keep in mind that the jacket can be worn with skirts and the pants with different blouses.

For summer and for sewing, cotton is one of the wisest fabric choices. It is cool and easy to handle, and this year appears in a wider selection of fabrics and alluring colors than ever before.

There are cotton sateens, sūrahs, crepes, sheer voiles, lawns, batistes, and chiffons in addition to such old favorites as ginghams, broadcloths, and piques. Embroidery is everywhere . . . on the sheers and also on cotton knit, terry, and denim. Prints bloom in floral designs that resemble oil paintings, water colors, or fine etchings. Big bold plaids and oversized geometric patterns are plentiful. Nautical themes are interpreted in the traditional colors of red, white, and blue.

COLORS, IN GENERAL, are muted or bold.

You, of course, want to look cool as well as feel cool. White, green, and blue are your coolest colors, but be sure to choose hues that are strong enough so they do not have a washed-out look. Sharp black and white prints always give a cool, clean appearance.

Buy thread, seam tape, zippers, buttons, and any necessary trim at the same time you purchase your fabric. This will save time and trouble later.

He's Boss of Billions of Workers

By John Ronson

MILLIONS OF workers labor for Ralph W. Dickenson in his factory in Anaheim . . . yet they punch no time clock, receive no wages and they work 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

How does such an employers' Utopia operate? Dickenson has spent a lifetime learning to run his plant but, even so, he doesn't know how many billions of workers he has—and not entirely how they operate.

Furthermore, the product his workers put out is so mysterious that it cannot be analyzed chemically, and ranchers who use it can tell better what it does than what it is.

THE UNUSUAL FACTORY consists simply of a series of 21 tanks, with a pumping system and a complex variety of cultures that work on carefully-selected plants to make an enzyme-catalyst which aids in the digestive process of the soil. Treated with small amounts of this organic material, many kinds of soil are relieved of their indigestion so quickly that experienced farmers can immediately see changes that have occurred.

For instance, worm activity increases, and soil bacteria multiply usually by about 700 per cent. Soil becomes much more pulverized than before, and water begins to penetrate as hardpan and plow sole disappear.

Roy Langford's orange groves at Redlands are a case in point. Sixty-five acres were situated on extremely tight, heavy loam. The trees in this plot failed to produce fruit for years. Ammonia chemical fertilizer had been applied, thus reducing the yield to a single box of inferior grade oranges to a tree. Few trees would produce fruit that met Sunkist requirements. Furthermore, it took 168 hours of continuous irrigation for water to soak down 3½ feet. On hot summer days the trees often wilted, even under irrigation.

THEN A 10-ACRE test plot was staked off to see whether organic farming could overcome the handicap and damage. For three consecutive years a ton of sludge and 30 gallons of Dickenson's liquid soil food were applied to each acre. Six months after the first application of the organic material the bacteria count in the soil was up 730 per cent. Irrigation water reached the 3½-foot penetration point within 72 hours instead of a week. Orange production zoomed to 4½ boxes for each tree, and the size of the fruit increased.

Dickenson learned to farm the hard way. The 10-acre orange grove he and his son now own has been in the family ever since the Dickensons moved from Iowa to Anaheim. In the late 1920s the trees produced vigorously, but in the 1930s the chemical fertilizer program came into being. Dickenson and his neighbors began to use a pound of spring nitrate to each tree to improve the crop. The first results were deceptively promising, for the grove soon deteriorated.

THEN DICKENSON reverted to using manures and cover crops. He even planted earthworms, which soon disappeared because the ground was too toxic for them to live in. Then, doing some solid thinking, he began independent research, based on the "dust to dust" theory of the Bible. Dickensen went to the sea and to the desert for plants to feed his cultures, for these areas had not been contaminated by man.

As quickly as possible he developed cultures by combining materials and using sunlight and darkness, heat and cold, summer and winter seasons. Molds grew—some white, some black, and others green, red, purple, or gray. Many visiting experts in plant biology have confided to Dickenson, "You're growing cultures here that I've been unable to produce." Almost entirely Dickenson's cultures are clean and odorless.

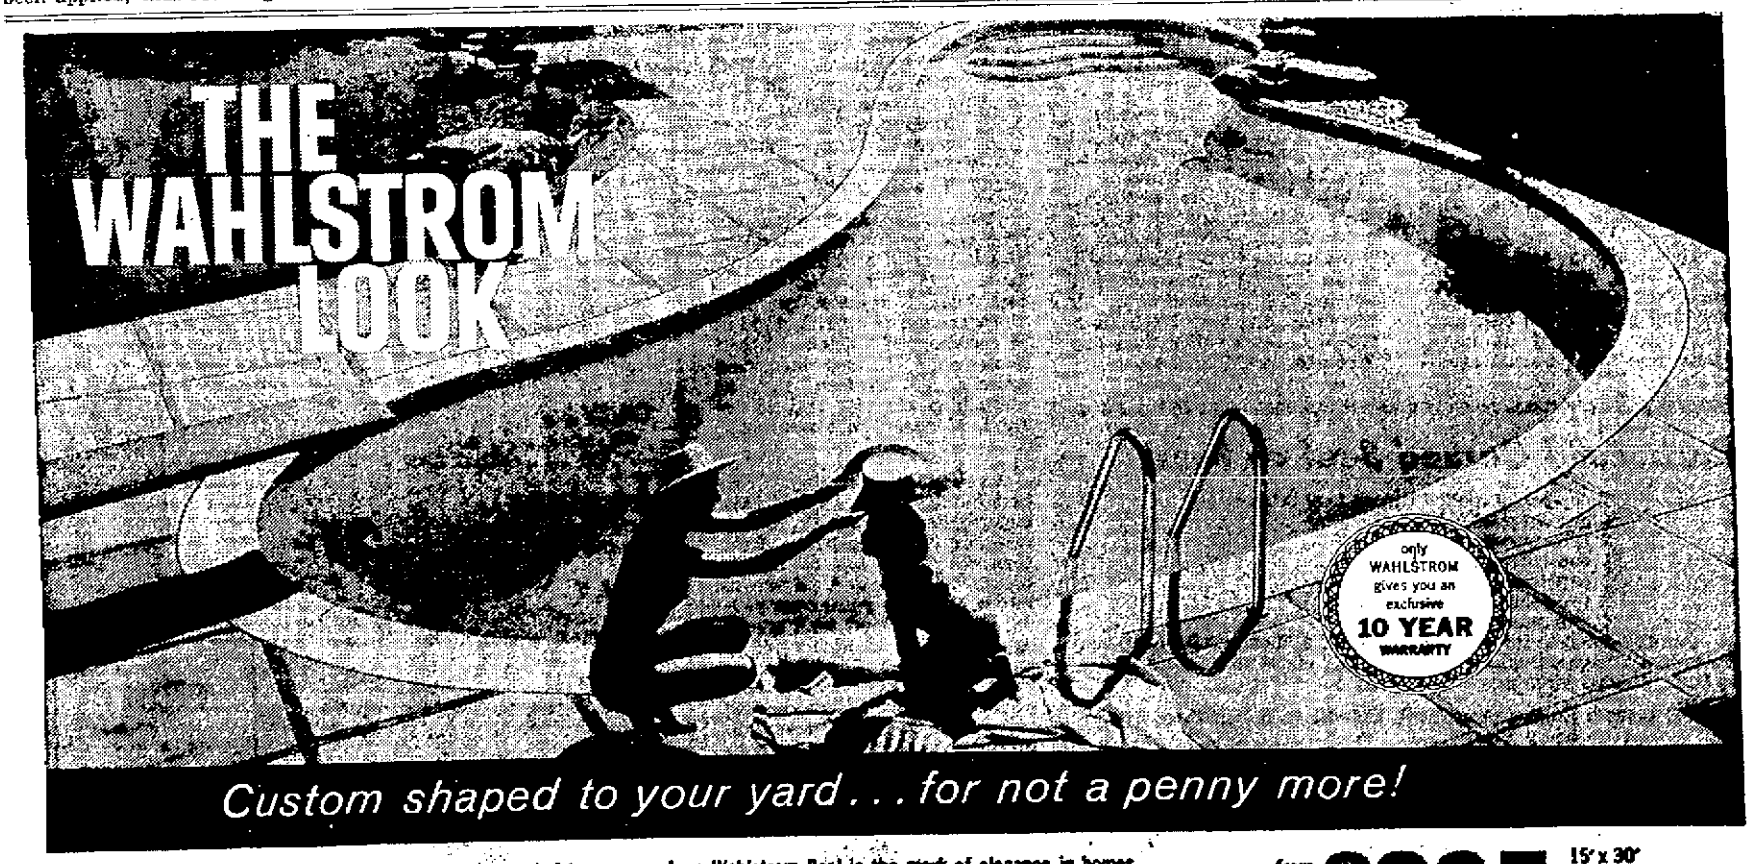

Earthworms began to multiply in treated soil. Cultures came to life, and vats of liquid began to bubble and froth when Dickenson pumped solutions from one tank to another. A natural demand for the material began to grow locally, and Dickenson had to add more tanks to meet the increasing demand.

Flowers for the Wedding Cake

Three-layer wedding cake is easily made at home and requires no special decorating skill, using flowers.

By Mildred K. Flanary

Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

JUNE'S traditional wedding days are drawing rapidly near and many a bride is readying her wedding plans—which naturally include a cake.

For the prospective housewife who plans a small wedding, the beauty and charm of detail can make up for what is lacking in pomp and circumstance of a large ceremony.

When only a few relatives and friends are to share the important occasion, the reception and perhaps the ceremony also, may be held at home. More time and personal attention can be given to the arrangements, to the food and service, and, of course, more time can be spent with a few guests than with many.

Happily, too, the wedding cake, which is to feature the wedding breakfast or reception, can be home baked and decorated. It can be something truly delicious and an artistic achievement without benefit of a decorating tube. Here, fluffy white frosting amply piled and swirled is a beautiful cover for the cake, and tiny fresh flowers are even lovelier than any decorator could achieve.

The beautiful, three-layer wedding cake shown with this article has a cherry-almond filling between the layers and serves 20 to 25 persons. It tastes as good as it looks. Here is the recipe:

Wedding Cake

- 3⅗ cups sifted cake flour
- 4½ tsps. double-acting baking powder
- 1½ tsps. salt
- 2¼ cups sugar
- ¾ cup shortening (part butter)
- 1½ cups milk
- 1½ tsps. vanilla
- 3 eggs, unbeaten
- Cherry-Almond filling
- Seven-Minute frosting

Measure sifted flour, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together. Stir shortening just to soften. Add dry ingredients, 1 cup milk and the vanilla; mix until all flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes at a low speed of mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add egg and remaining milk and beat 1 minute longer.

Pour batter into three round 9-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool.

Prepare Cherry-Almond filling and spread between layers. Frost top and sides of cake generously with Seven-Minute frosting. Decorate top and base of cake with small fresh flowers.

Cherry-Almond Filling. Combine 1 unbeaten egg white, ¾ cup sugar, dash of salt, ¼ cup water and 1½ teaspoons light corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat 1 minute, or until thoroughly mixed. Then beat constantly over boiling water with sturdy egg beater (or at high speed of electric beater) 4 minutes, or until filling will stand in stiff peaks.

Remove from boiling water. For a very smooth and satiny filling, pour at once into a large bowl. Add ¾ teaspoon vanilla and beat 1 minute, or until thick enough to spread. Fold in ¾ cup chopped toasted blanched almonds, ¼ cup macaroon crumbs, 20 drained chopped marachino cherries and, if desired, ¼ teaspoon lemon rind.

Seven-Minute Frosting. Combine 2 unbeaten egg whites, 1½ cups sugar, dash of salt, ⅓ cup water and 2 teaspoons light corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat about 1 minute to mix well. Then place over boiling water and beat with sturdy egg beater (or at high speed of electric beater) 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in stiff peaks. Remove from boiling water, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread.

Barbecued Corned Beef on Buns

- 1 cup cubed cooked corned beef brisket
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons fat
- ½ cup catsup
- ¼ cup water
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- 4 split sandwich buns

Pan-fry onion in fat in a heavy skillet. Add corned beef, catsup, water and vinegar. Simmer over low heat about 10 minutes. Serve on buns. Yield, 4 servings.

SERVE WITH: Broiled Grapefruit, Cole Slaw, Relish Tray, Strawberry Pie.

BARBECUED LAMB CHOPS

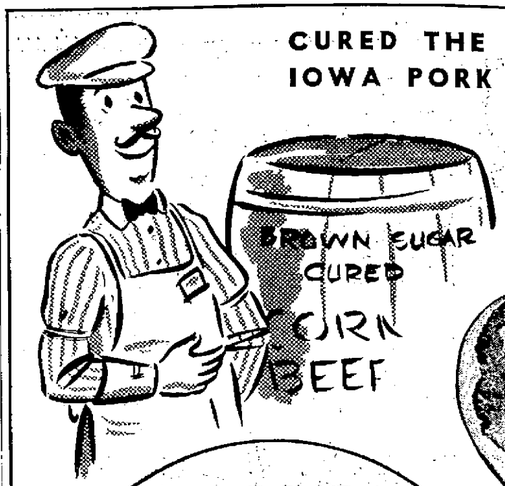

- 4 Lamb Shoulder Chops (cut ½" thick)
- ½ Tablespoon Fat
- 1 Onion, Diced
- ½ Cup Vinegar
- 1 Cup Tomato Juice
- 2 Tablespoons Brown Sugar
- 2 Tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce
- 1 Teaspoon Dry Mustard
- ½ Cup Water
- ¼ Teaspoon Chili Powder
- 1 Tablespoon Paprika
- ⅛ Teaspoon Cayenne Pepper
- ½ Cup Catsup

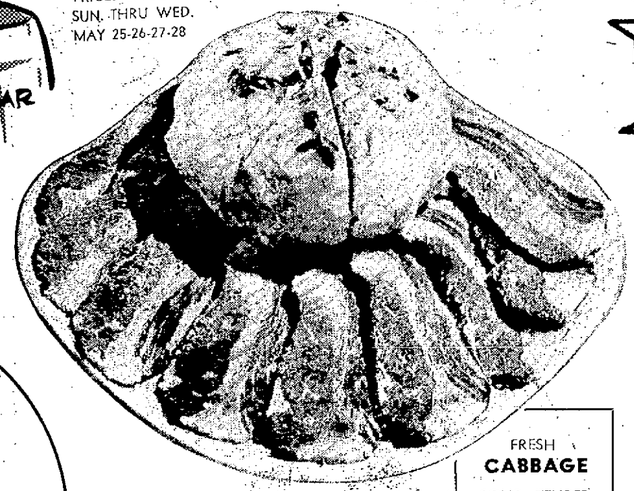

Heat the fat in a heavy skillet. Brown the chops in the hot fat. Remove the chops from the skillet. Add all remaining ingredients to the fat in the skillet and stir and cook until blended, about 2 minutes. Return the lamb chops to the skillet and spoon the barbecue sauce over the chops. Cover and simmer slowly, or bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 1½ hours. Remove the cover and cook 15 minutes more, spooning the sauce over the chops. Serve hot over hot fluffy rice. 4 servings. Cooking time about 1½ hours.

Cabrillo Saw It First

ON OCT. 6, 1542 the Spanish explorer Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, sailing up the coast of what is now California, neared an island that rose precipitously from the sea.

Because the wind was becalmed he could not reach the island that night. But the next day, according to a dairy kept by one of those in the party, he "went with the boat on shore to see if there were people there; and as the boat came near, there issued a great quantity of Indians from among the bushes and grass yelling and dancing and making signs that they should come ashore, and they saw that the women were running away, and from the boats they made signs that they should have no fear; and immediately they assumed confidence and laid on the ground their bows and arrows; and they launched a good canoe in the water which held eight or 10 Indians and they came to the ship. They gave them beads and little presents, with which they were delighted, and they presently went away. The Spaniards afterwards went ashore and were secure, they and the Indian women and all."

More than 400 years have passed since that memorable event. Much has happened to Catalina since, but it is all reviewed by Duncan Gleason, an author-artist who loves the island and the sea around it, in "The Islands and Ports of California" (Devin-Adair, $8.50), an exciting new addition to the Californiana shelf.

Gleason opens his book with a concise story of Santa Catalina Island, which Cabrillo originally named San Salvador after one of his ships, and then discusses the other islands off the coast of the Golden State—San Clemente, Santa Barbara, San Nicolas, the Channel Islands, the Anacapas, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa, San Miguel, the Farallones, and Noonday Rock. Part Two of his book is devoted to the ports of California, from San Diego to Humboldt Bay, among them Newport, Balboa, Anaheim Landing, Alamitos Bay, Long Beach, San Pedro, and Redondo Beach.

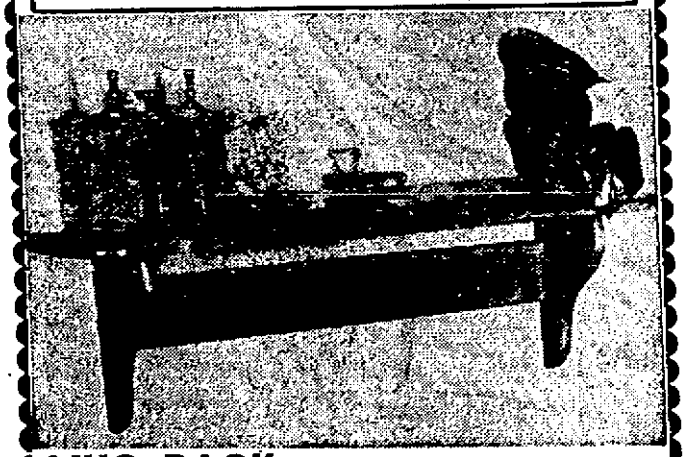

Being an artist as well as author, Gleason intersperses his text with "about 70 reproductions of his own paintings and drawings, many of which have appeared in national magazines. Those who get a thrill from California's coastline and the pleasures it affords will treasure this book.

THE CRIME FRONT: A man's fame rides ahead of him, as private eye Michael Shayne learns, when a newspaper account of his exploits and a memo indicating an appointment with the detective are the only traces of identification found on a murder victim in Brett Halliday's "Murder of the Wanton Bride" (Dodd, Mead, $2.95). This, and the fact that red-headed Mike denies knowing the man, naturally gets him into a peck of trouble with police and he works furiously—always but one step ahead of detectives—to solve the case and save his own neck. . . . A threatened paternity suit and a fatal strangling which leads to other unsolved murders are the ingredients Dorothy Salisbury Davis, a Southland author, blends with exciting effect in "A Gentleman Called" (Scribners, $2.95). Returning to do the sleuthing are Mrs. Morris, housekeeper for a lawyer, and Jasper Tully, a special investigator, who worked together so effectively in Mrs. Davis' earlier "Death of an Old Sinner. . . . A girl gets the air from her boy friend, runs away from it all and is involved in a bizarre accident in Erle Stanley Gard-

SHARING THE SECRET of entertaining well, and spreading the philosophy back of it, make "Good Housekeeping Party Book" (Harper, $4.95) indispensable for modern hostesses. Putting their heads together, the director of foods and cookery and the hostess editor of Good Housekeeping magazine set forth the rules for giving every type of party and promise that, by observing these rules, a hostess is much more likely to win friends and influence people. Suggestions and tips for a happy get-together run into the hundreds—from the cocktail party or entertaining outdoors for adults to games for the little ones.

Book Reviews

ner's "The Case of the Footloose Doll" (Morrow, $2.95).... Then there is death, blackmail, and a half dozen ice picks—and Perry Mason who, with sound logic and quick action, comes to the rescue.

"THE TRAVELS OF MARCO POLO" with 25 illustrations in full color (Orion Press-Crown, $4.95): Marco Polo is perhaps the most legendary figure ever written about. He traveled far, he saw much, and he listened to and remembered the strange tales he heard. If you haven't read his adventures, this is your chance; if you have, this is an opportunity to acquire a handsome edition of the travels of this 13th century Venetian.

"THE PRIVATE LETTERS OF LUKE" by Roger Lloyd (Channel Press, $2.75): Luke, the physician, gains new stature and understanding as Canon Lloyd, writing true to the Scriptures, reveals him anew through the medium of imaginary correspondence between him and his friends. Here, too, are Paul, James, Theophilus, Silvanus and others who were close to Christ.

PAPERBACK ORIGINALS (first time in book form) just published: "The Return of the Texan," a western by L. L. Foreman (Ballantine, 35c); "The One That Got Away," true story of the escape and pursuit of a Luftwaffe pilot in wartime England, by Kendal Burt and James Leason (Ballantine, 50c); "Soldiers Three," a novel of war by Humphrey Slater (Signet, 35c); "The Dark Ages," history of medieval literature by W. P. Ker (Mentor, 50c); "Satellites, Rockets and Outer Space" an illustrated, up-to-date survey by Willy Ley (Signet, 35c); "Starburst," a collection of science fiction by Alfred Bester (Signet, 35c); "Deady Image," a science fiction novel by Edmund Cooper (Ballantine, 35c); "A Short History of India and Pakistan" by T. Walter Wallbank (Mentor, 50c). Also, new Laurel editions of "Hamlet," "Taming of the Shrew," "Romeo and Juliet," and "Richard III," each by Shakespeare and edited by Francis Fergusson, with a foreword (Dell, 35c each).

La Reina Rule

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give the origin of the name DEAN.—L.S., MRS. D.D., Long Beach.

L.S., D.D.: The old term for a small, fertile English valley was "Dene." The surname DEAN is from the early name "De la Dene" (from the valley). Thomas de la Dene lived in Hertfordshire in 1273. The ancient Dean coat-of-arms has a red scalloped-edge stripe under three red crescents on a silver shield. Descendants of the English Dean lineage settled in Andover, Mass., in the 1600s.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the analysis of CRAWFORD.—R.E.C., Long Beach.

R.E.C.: The Scotch CRAWFORD family trace their origin to Sir Reginald de Crawford, sheriff of Ayrshire in 1296. "Craw-ford" was a place description, a river crossing or "ford" where flocks of crows lived. Craw was the old word for crow. The Crawford coat-of-arms has an ermine stripe across the center of a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Will you give the meaning and coat-of-arms of BACHMANN. — MRS. G.H., Harbor City.

MRS. G.H.: The German BACHMANN family achieved their name from a locality. The original name Bach-mann meant "man who lives near a brook." No coat-of-arms is available for this family.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please tell the nationality and meaning of DUGAN.—MRS. Z.K., Long Beach.

MRS. Z.K.: The surname DUGAN is taken from the Irish name Dubhghain meaning "little dark-complected man." The early Gaelic name was modernized to O'Doogan and then to Dugan. Three separate lineages form the modern Dugan family. One is from Cork, another from county Galway and a third from county Clare. The Dugan coat-of-arms is a shield divided into four parts. The upper left and lower right sections are blue with a gold griffin head on each; the upper right and lower left sections are without an emblem, covered with ermine.

DEAR MISS RULE: I would like information on CRITCHLOW.—M.B., Long Beach.

M.B.: The CRITCHLOW family of England were so designated because they lived at the Cruch-Low or cross-shaped hill. Richard Critchlow was a Cheshire landowner in 1587. The original cross-hill was located in Lancashire. The Critchlow family crest is a green harp, placed above the coat-of-arms, a shield divided into four sections, the upper right and lower left being silver with a black heraldic bird on them; the other sections are red with no emblem.

DEAR MISS RULE: We would like information on HARRIS and HARRISON. — T.H., MRS. K.S., Long Beach; L.H., Anaheim; E.H., San Francisco.

ENGLISH KINGS beginning with Henry I in 1100 gave popularity to the given name Harry, formed from Henry (meaning "ruler of private property"). HARRIS meant long their academic career. The students are enabled to learn from eminent instructors mellow in experience, wisdom and authority.

They Retired

"We seldom get complaints about the faculty," says Dean David E. Snodgrass. "The students take their authority for granted and seem to think they know what they're doing." Snodgrass, incidentally, is Hastings' youngster—63.

THE FACULTY attitude is reflected by Dr. Everett Fraser, 78, former dean of law at the University of Minnesota where he taught one extra year without pay before joining the San Francisco 65ers.

"That's where I get my fun in life," he explains. "Teaching isn't labor—it's fun.

"I always advise my students to choose law as a profession only if they enjoy it, and not for social prestige. That's the only way they can get any fun out of it."

At Hastings, which celebrated its 80th birthday in March and is the oldest law school in the Far West, the professor teaching a class usually has written both the text and case books being used by the students.

The professors carry a work load comparable to, or greater, than that of the average U.S. law professor.

THE AVERAGE annual salary is $12,000, which mounts up when added to retirement benefits.

Dean Snodgrass said the oldsters teach classes of about 120 students in the five large classrooms or the courtroom of the modern five-story downtown Hastings Bldg.

The "65 Club" was born largely by accident in 1940 when Snodgrass suddenly found himself dean after the death of William M. Simmons.

It was too late to hire another professor through regular channels, so he turned to 70-year-old Orrin K. McMurray. He had retired the previous June as dean of Boalt Hall, another of the University of California's law schools.

The same year McMurray accepted, Arthur M. Cathcart, retired Stanford professor, came to Hastings at 67.

After World War II, Hastings' enrollment leaped from 37 to 915 in four years. Dean Snodgrass turned again to retired professors.

FACULTY RESPONSE was summed up by Dr. George W. Goble, 69, who said, "I love to teach and I'm certainly grateful for this opportunity to continue."

George G. Bogert, 73-year-old former Cornell University law dean, said Hastings offers him a chance to pursue his main interest—teaching and writing. He also said he enjoys his freedom from administrative duties.

Bogert, busy updating four law texts he wrote earlier, said he never could be content to sit back "and live on what I learned 30 years ago."

The faculty youngster, Dr. Rollin M. Perkins, 68, taught previously for 30 years at the University of Iowa, three at Vanderbilt and eight at UCLA.

Lawrence Vold claims to be the only teetoler among the "65 Club," and the most active member. About twice a week he walks the five-mile distance from the downtown campus to his Golden Gate Heights home.

He did tackle one bar—the tough California State Bar examination—and he passed it. He was the only non-California faculty member to attempt it.

The oldest professor is 82-year-old Merton L. Ferson, former law dean at the University of Cincinnati. He, Fraser, Bogert and Edwin D. Dickinson, 70, formerly of Boalt Hall and the Universities of Pennsylvania and Michigan, are ex-presidents of the Assn. of American Law Schools.

Other "65 Club" members are Judson Adams Crane, 73, retired University of Pittsburgh dean; Albert Brooks Cox, 71, from Tulane University; William E. Britton, 71, Illinois; Harold Gregg Pickering, 68, one of two retired attorneys; and John U. Calkins, 69, the other lawyer, who served 32 years as counsel for the University of California regents.

At Hastings, the students knuckle down to hard work for their distinguished professors, or out they go.

"Only about 40 per cent of the first year students are graduated," Dean Snodgrass explained. "They either do the work or they have to leave. Everything depends on the examination."

PET PARADE

Take Pride in Your Dog

By Eleanor Avery Price

FIRST impressions are important when a dog is presented at a show. Unfortunately, many novice exhibitors stumble tensely and incompetently around in such a fashion that the dogs don't get even a late flash at showing how good they really are. Some dogs would do better if they were turned into the ring on their own.

If you are going to train your dog for show, get him accustomed to a lead early in life. Pick a quiet, restricted spot where the dog's attention won't be distracted and where, if he leaps around like a fish on a fly, you won't appear cruel to the neighbors. Teach the dog to walk around and around in a close circle as well as up and down a straight line, to finish in a poised, standing position. (Sitting position in obedience.)

When you halt, the dog must be concentrating on you. If his position is bad, much can be done by slight movements of the lead. Moving him forward a pace may help him fall into a better stance. A little feint to his right will often bring the left fore up into position.

DO NOT EXPECT perfection at the start. Limit lessons to 5 minutes at first, and the dog should literally dance with pride and happiness. This means you do not nag, shout, or unnecessarily punish.

When you have gained your dog's confidence and attention, let someone watch you and your dog. Gradually add more distractions—other dogs, people, traffic, etc.

Since a dog normally does not walk in convoy with other dogs and their handlers, he must be taught to do so. If necessary to keep your dog's attention, carry a choice tidbit in your hand (except in obedience). Never let him know when a piece of the prize is coming his way, for you want him to be alert constantly.

NOW LET SOMEONE else walk your dog. Watch to see if he likes to stride out briskly, move collectedly, or whatever, keeping in mind that some show rings are small and crowded, others less cramped.

Practice feeling and examining your dog. Do this just before feeding so such business as having his teeth examined, his ears put into place, and other attentions will be associated with the joy of eating which follows. Later ask the family, then friends to handle the dog. If he knows he is going to eat immediately after, he will soon accept even the attention of strangers. (Remember, judges are strangers!)

Sporting breeds should appear as they would in the field. Tip of tail may be held, and judges permit the head to be lifted a trifle. Collies and Shelties should look down their noses so ears fall forward in approved style. Some dogs' ears can be alerted with a tidbit tossed in the hands. Streamlined breeds such as the German shepherd look better if fore legs are placed at top of any slight incline in the ring.

$5 Thousand Gold!

By Bob Ruskauff

THE QUESTIONS were: What is the most valuable yachting trophy in America today? What is this thing called predicted log racing?

Over the Memorial Holiday will fall the most boating activity ever scheduled in the Southland (and that's a lot). That's why the above questions fit beautifully into today's theme because:

1—Long Beach Yacht Club, since 1941 has been custodian of the nation's most intrinsically valuable yachting trophy. This is the solid gold, $5,000-appraised James Craig Trophy. It has a remarkable history.

2—On Memorial Day, some 20 of the sleekest power yachts in the Southland will move out on staggered starts from a point off the Anaheim entrance bell at Long Beach, bound for Coronado, 88 miles away.

ON JUNE 7 they'll race back. The predicted log winner for both legs of one of the nation's top power yacht races of 1958 will receive inscription on the James Craig trophy.

The lucky fellow and his crew will get a look at it, to be sure the spellings are right. Then it will be popped back into a vault down in the Farmers and Merchants Bank for another bleak, black year.

For, let us be realistic. Unlike that piece of pewter called the America's Cup, this is one that some unromantic bum could melt down to some real advantage.

IN THE 12 RACES since 1941, three men have thrice won inscription.

With his Revellers II, III and now IV, Pomona automobile dealer Frank Ruppert will be in this race seeking a fourth victory and defending. Ruppert won in 1947, 1953 and last year.

Non-competing will be Larry McDowell, present Long Beach Marine Department director, whose Veralee II won in 1948, 1950 and 1951.

These men deserve signal honor because winning a truly tough predicted log contest such as this, takes some doing—despite what a "rag sailor" says about a "stink-potter."

Predicted log is a unique form of competition, due to disparity in sizes (cruisers 25 to 75 feet may compete for the Craig Trophy) and at both top or cruising speeds.

HENCE IT'S A RACE of boat performance and piloting ability. The skipper predicts in advance his exact log, destined to get him to the finish at an exact time. He picks his own time of start, must pass (in this case), six control points on the button time-wise. He has no watch (pardon, chronometer); an "enemy" observer aboard does.

This wouldn't be so bad, except—wind, tide and ocean conditions constantly vary, so he must out-guess them. The down-hill trip to Coronado takes one kind of thinking; the uphill battle home, sometimes against high seas, takes another. And that's about it.

BOAT HOOKS: Top event today in boating will be that 50-mile ocean derby, the second this year, sponsored by United Stock Runabout Association. Nearly 200 stock outboard runabouts and cruisers will go five 10-mile laps (one leg fronting the strand), starting in fleets from Pacific Landing at 9 a.m.

BOATING Brief

By Ed Ianuzzi

GYBING-COMING ABOUT

To come about is to head the boat into the wind to go from one tack to another. A gybe is the reverse of heading into the wind. Here you swing the stern to get the wind on the other side of the sails without luffing or fluttering of the sail.

Your Name

"son of Harry," while HARRISON was a long form of the same name. Both surnames are recorded from earliest times in England, Scotland and Ireland. The Harrises were baronial land owners in Devonshire and Cornwall in 1422. The Scotch clan Harris is a branch of Clan MacLeod. The Harris coat-of-arms has silver crescents on a black shield. The Harrison shield is blue, with three crowned half-lions on it.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the genealogy of FARRELL and FERRELL.—MRS. C.F., D.F.: The Irish names FARRELL and FERRELL began as O'Fearghail meaning "sons of the most valorous one." These lineages originated in county Longford where they ruled for many centuries. Branches of the family lived in Counties Donegal, Tyrone and Wicklow. Descendants of these families settled in Pennsylvania in the 1700s. Later records show four Ferrell families living in Floyd County, Indiana, in 1850. The coat-of-arms for these families has a golden rampant lion on a green shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give information on the name LUEDKE.—Long Beach, E. L.: LUEDKE originated as the German surname LUDKE which had the pronunciation mark called an umlaut (two dots) over the "U." Formation of this name was achieved by shortening Ludwig, the German form of Louis (meaning "glorious one"). To the resultant "Lud" was added "ke," a nickname ending. No coat-of-arms is available for this family.

DEAR MISS RULE: The analysis of JACOBS, please.—J. J., Lakewood; E. W., Long Beach.

J. J., E. W.: The JACOBS families of America may have either English or German backgrounds. Jacobs is from the Biblical "Jacob," son of Abraham, with the translated meaning "supplanter." The Jacobs family of England were 17th century settlers of Donvers, Mass. George Jacobs of this lineage was hanged as a wizard in the notorious witchcraft trials of 1692. Today he would be known as an advanced thinker.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give information on STEELE. — W. S., A. S., Long Beach.

W. S., A. S.: STEELE was at first a given name symbolizing a strong, sturdy man. The surname was first recorded in east England where Robert Stele lived in Lincolnshire in the 1200's. The Steele coat-of-arms has a diagonal checkered black and ermine stripe between two red lion heads on a silver shield.

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for the origin and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

Baby-toter crib, pictured with NBC-TV actress Lois Paul, is a happy idea for mother tending an infant.

Baby-Toter: a Happy Idea

By Steve Ellingson

EXPERTS SAY that parents are becoming frustrated these days in an effort to save their children from frustration.

"A child needs security," they say, "but if mother is to remain sane, then she must have some security, too."

With these facts in mind, we set out to design something that would be beneficial to both mother and the baby.

The little criblike contrivance you see pictured with this article makes it possible for mother to keep the baby beside her no matter where she goes or what she does. It's very light and has handles which make it easy to carry.

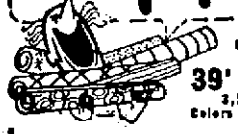

DOCTORS approve of this cradlelike chair because it elevates and supports even the tiniest baby. It's comfortable. When mother goes driving she can put the crib right beside

BEAUTIFUL HOMES

Southland takes its readers into a different, attractive Long Beach area home each week.

Seemingly braced against passage of time, this marker stands in Norwalk, marking route of San Diego stages.

CALIFORNIA YESTERDAYS

Signpost to Yesteryear

By Helen Smith

FOR MORE than 100 years a leaning, cryptically marked, time-worn slab has been located beside what is now Imperial Hwy. in Norwalk.

Yet, until just a few months ago, no one took the trouble to find out its significance.

Investigation by Cien Anos Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, has proven that the slab, just a few hundred feet from the busy Imperial Hwy.-Firestone Blvd. intersection, indicates the route was an old stagecoach road which led to San Diego.

THE STONE was placed there many years ago as a 17-mile marker announcing to weary travelers that they were only 17 miles from the Los Angeles depot. Close by was an inn where stagecoach passengers could freshen up by washing off accumulated dust and buying something to eat.

The original inn burned to the ground and the adobe structure that replaced it has long since returned to the soil from which it was made.

Besides the circled "17," the stone carries the numbers "340-342" which historians believe gives the approximate distance to San Francisco. At the base are the letters "S. D. R.," for San Diego Road. Offering such brief information, the old marker and the road it stood beside bear a definite contrast to modern-day travel with its well-defined roadways, multitude of signposts and accurate road maps.

When the railroads came into the Downey, Norwalk and La Mirada area around 1861, stagecoaches could no longer compete.

HISTORY RECORDS that the last horse-drawn conveyance was retired with ceremony when the driver, a Mr. Seeley, presented his whip to the inn keeper's wife, stating "he would have no further use for it."

Carrying on its efforts to preserve old landmarks in the area, Cien Anos Parlor built a cinder block enclosure around the old stone.

Dedication rites were held Oct. 7, 1957, with many city dignitaries and youth groups present to pause and hark back to the days of the Old West.

Today, high-powered cars by the thousands roar by the unpretentious slab which will probably still be standing when modern automobiles give way to transportation of the future.

Three-team conveyance shown here is typical of stagecoaches that carried travelers before rails arrived.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

TOKYO

"I plan to go to Italy this summer with my wife and daughter. Appreciate any information on advantage of buying lire in the U. S. Clothing? Electrical current problems? Best guide book?"

THERE IS NO advantage in buying lire in the U. S. The lire run officially 625 to the U. S. $1. The banks will give you about 620. Money changers might give you about 622. Hotels will take a cut to about 614—a piece of legalized robbery practiced by most hotels all over the world.

The current runs 220 as compared with our 110. You need adapters for irons, shavers, radios. Also adapter plugs. Ours don't fit the Italian outlets.

Best guide book is the Michelin "Guide for Italy." I have only seen it in Paris. But I imagine a big book store in Rome would have it.

It is written in Italian. But the Michelin system of symbols makes it easy to understand. The Michelin "Guide for France" is so excellent I think this one would be, too.

Light clothing. Hot weather.

* * * *

"You mentioned using a lightweight typewriter for traveling. . . . Did you buy it in Europe?"

I USE the Olivetti Lettera 22—about 8½ pounds. I bought my first one in Italy. This one, however, I bought in the U. S. I get it equipped with the international keyboard that gives you accent marks. You lose the ½ and ¼ marks and the commercial pricing keys. Most correspondents I run into are using the typewriter. I hear Germany is now making an excellent lightweight typewriter, too. I don't know the name.

* * * *

"What is the name of the town where the bulls run in the street? In Spain? When?"

LIKE IN "The Sun Also Rises?" That's Pamplona. The time is the second week of July and it is HOT!

* * * *

". . . some good stores and restaurants in Tokyo, please?"

I HAVE found a few through Japanese friends. But you wouldn't have a chance of finding them. There are no street numbers, and streets named (by the Occupation) don't mean a thing to a Tokyo taxi driver. When he is on 10th street, he doesn't know it. And a Japanese can't even say the word. I give you my word this is true.

I am getting a list of such places together now and will send it to you when it is printed. After long sessions with Japanese, we decided to do it this way:

We will list the type of food and the phone number.

You give the tax driver 10 yen and tell him "Denwa"—telephone.

He telephones and the restaurant or shop gives him directions.

For the present, the best you can do is window shop. Try the stores along the Ginza and the food shops on the alleys one block in back of the Ginza. They are all good. If you find a good one, take the paper chopstick holder. That has the telphone number and name in Japanese.

Now a taxi driver with this in hand still can't find the place. But he CAN telephone. They give him the nearest railroad station. Then they tell him something like: "Go two blocks right to a department store. Turn into the alley at the Bangbasha nightclub. Walk 50 meters to a red phone booth. We are across the street."

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Fallen Stardust

By Margaret Roxby

HAZARDS of space travelers as concerns collisions with meteorites, even the word of modern aircraft pilots and passengers telling of near-misses with flying objects aloft recalls the devastating effects of such falling "stardust" on impact with the earth.

Some 200 miles from the California border, between Winslow and Flagstaff, is a gigantic reminder of the result of one such mighty impact, the meteor crater of Arizona.

There, six miles off U. S. Highway 66, rising from the flat wasteland of the Arizona desert, is a formation known as the world's largest meteor-caused crater. In its center is an enormous pit, three full miles around the top by footpath, 570 feet deep and 4150 feet wide—carved (according to scientific calculations) some 50,000 years ago by a star fragment which hurtled into the earth from unknown regions beyond the stratosphere.

The fiery mass of concentrated metal, weighing about two million tons, crashed into the earth and buried itself 1300 feet beneath the surface. It is estimated that 400 million tons of rock and earth were ejected at the time of impact to form the three-mile rim of the tremendous hole. Such a mighty blow, in one catastrophic swoop, could conceivably eradicate an area as large as downtown Long Beach.

FOR MANY YEARS the crater was believed to be an extinct volcano, or the result of some cataclysmic underground "blowout." However, an intrepid Philadelphia mining engineer, Daniel Moreau Barringer, devoted more than a quarter century to proving its meteoric origin—a feat accomplished only after many disheartening setbacks, both mechanical and financial. A skeptical scientific world was finally convinced after the discovery and location of a solid mass of meteoric metal, believed to be 120 feet in radius and weighing two million tons. This buried mass is "chiefly a nickel-iron alloy averaging 92 per cent iron and 7 per cent nickel" with the remainder made up of carbon, silicon, sulphur, phosphorous, cobalt, platinum, iridium, gold and silver.

Although the metallic treasure has persistently resisted efforts to unearth it, it is hoped that an effective means of mining it may yet be found, so that the world may benefit from it.

At the present time, the crater is a point of interest to students and travelers, and thousands of sightseers visit the site each year. There they may (for a small fee) visit the air-conditioned museum perched on the very edge of the crater.

OUTSIDE THE museum are marked trails. The more venturesome visitor may hazard a trip around the rim, or go down to the floor of the crater to examine the remains of the original shafthouse. Shorter and less ambitious hikes are possible, too.

Meanwhile, whether the Crater is a wonder for tourists, an education for students, or a subject for scientific speculation, its nearness to the Southland is tinged with the peculiar excitement of jeopardy. Will there ever be such another? If so, at what place on earth will Destiny point her next gigantic, long-range missile? Will it be a lone, unfrequented desert — a desolate, wind-swept mountaintop — or a teeming metropolis?

Hurtling into Arizona wasteland from outer space, a meteor created this crater, viewed here from the air.

'Bad' Weather Makes Good Photos

By the Shutterbug

Morning mist on a lake; fog creates atmosphere which makes for prize-winner. Photo taken at 1/100th at f/8.

DAYS of the "fair weather photographer" who takes pictures only when the sun is shining are gone forever!

Washed away by a flood of fast, wide-latitude films, dark, cloudy days no longer hold terror for the amateur photographer. In fact, so called "bad" weather provides him with some of his most exciting picture possibilities.

With such a black-and-white film as Verichrome Pan, a simple box camera can "see" almost as well on a fairly cloudy day as on a day drenched with sunlight. Even with color film the box camera can be used with striking results as long as there is sufficient sun, either bright or hazy to create shadows on the ground.

THAT IMPORTANT quality called latitude make it possible for modern film to produce an acceptable picture even when it receives less light than it was really designed for. And the subdued light orchestrates the picture with mood music impossible to produce on brighter days.

One of the major photographic dividends in snapshooting on an overcast day is the relative ease with which dramatic close-ups can be obtained.

With an adjustable camera, of course, there's no problem even when color film is used. And in this exciting field, the pictures will be bathed in soft, pleasant pastel tones unattainable in brighter light. It's a good idea, however, to put a "skylight" filter over the lens when using color film on overcast days to eliminate the slight bluish tinge that may detract from the picture.

Other pictures that will weave a magic spell through your photo album include a tear-stained rose bowed sorrowfully in the wind, a cluster of faceless umbrellas huddled on a street corner, a fisherman's craggy face framed against an angry seascape, and broken, quivering lights trapped on a wet pavement.

LONG BEACH Camera Guild members will hear an illustrated lecture by Florence Harrison of Click Chicks Camera Club at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., according to Helen Harrison, program chairman. Title of the talk will be "Development of Photography from the Snapshot Stage to Pictorials," illustrated in black and white and colored slides, with running commentary on the hows and whys of this development. Photography enthusiasts are invited. There will be no admission.

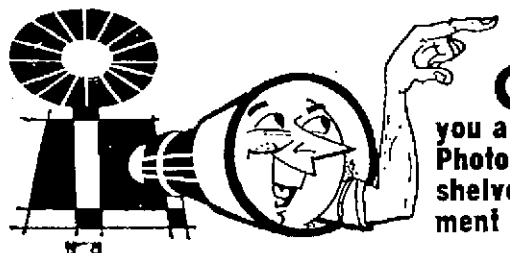

Recent winners in Guild contests: Color—Don Hayward, 1st honor award; Clara Watkins, 2nd; Floyd Williamson, 3rd; Gerald Church, 1st honorable mention; Carl Kissell, 2nd; Floyd Williamson, 3rd; Carl Van Steenbergen, award for portrait; Clara Watkins, award for scenic; Margy Pilkington, creative award. Judge was "Pop" Wright. Black and white prints: Harry McDonald, 1st; Hazel Vosper, 2nd; Marion Paglow, 3rd; Bob Tarlton, Marion Paglow, Estill Bartlett, honorable mention. HOW TO Make Lightweight, Sturdy Sawhorse

1. FOR LESS THAN $10, you can build these lightweight, rugged sawhorses. They'll help you do hundreds of jobs—sawing, assembling, furniture refinishing—faster and easier. Standard height of sawhorses ranges from 18 to 23 inches. If you are tall in the saddle, you may want to add a couple of inches or so to this measurement.

2. NOTCH AND TAPER 2x4 cross-pieces to accept 1x4 legs. This cut is placed about 2½ inches from ends; depth should be about half of thickness of 1x4—or about ⅜ to ½ inches at what will be top edge (arrow) of 2x4s. Cut the tapers from top to the bottom edge, and, with a chisel, clean out wood and smooth with a rasp.

3. GLUE AND NAIL legs to cross-pieces, making sure the inner edge of legs fit flush with top surfaces of cross-pieces. Edges of 1x4s that project will be cut level with top later. For added strength, stock you buy for this job should be split- and knot-free. If your jobs call for extra heavy sawhorses, use 2x6s for cross-pieces and 1x6s for the legs for the added strength.

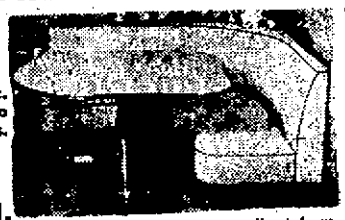

4. STRENGTHEN leg assembly with ½-inch plywood cut to match splay of legs. One plywood brace may be adequate; two braces add rigidity. Good way to mark plywood for cutoff points is to trim it to near size first, then hold it in right position, using edges of legs to guide pencil. Braces butt against bottom edge of cross-pieces.

Shasta daisies, with long blooming season, fit nicely into plans for extending flower harvest year around.

GARDENS

All-Year Color and Fragrance

By Bob Gilmore

IN THE LONG BEACH area, gardeners follow their hobby in every month of the year. In fact, plants will flower in this area almost continuously. By careful selection you can have color and fragrance in your garden from January through December.

You might start with a low-growing plant, the lobelia. This is certainly one of our best garden subjects for edging purposes. Lobelias grow rapidly from seed, a characteristic that is true of most annuals. It should be explained that an annual completes its entire life cycle in one growing season. Perennials, on the other hand, are more permanent but also take a longer time to flower.

Perhaps the best lobelia for local growing conditions is a variety named Crystal Palace. The flowers are dark blue accompanied by dark foliage. The plants hug the ground, rarely ever growing taller than four inches. Another interesting lobelia is Cambridge blue, which has light blue flowers and green leaves. The plants like lots of moisture.

MARGUERITES AND Shasta daisies flower intermittently throughout the year; frequently a few flowers will adorn the plants even in our coldest months. These plants belong to the chrysanthemum family and are extremely easy to grow. Usually they are propagated from plants, although seed is available of several strains of Shasta daisy. Marguerites and Shasta daisies want a spot out in the sun; they ask for little attention and are relatively pest-free.

One of the most dependable of all our flowering shrubs is the common geranium, botanically identified as pelargonium hortorum. These plants seem to grow like a weed. The worst thing you can do to them is coddle or pamper them. More geraniums succumb to overwatering than any other single obstacle. Geraniums serve a wide variety of uses, performing equally well in pots, for massing, as a ground cover, for bedding purposes and as specimen plants.

THE COREOPSIS is one of the few perennials that will flower the first year from seed. In the outdoor garden they must have a spot in the sun. The Double Sunburst is certainly the most spectacular member of this family. The flowers are large, golden yellow in tone and almost entirely double. The Mayfield Giant is a single, and about three inches across.

The semperflorens in begonia semperflorens indicates that the plant is always in flower. This certainly seems to be true here in Southern California. This is a fibrous-rooted begonia and the flowers are much smaller than those of the tuberous-rooted type. Begonia semperflorens may be grown from seed or by obtaining established transplants from the nursery. Partial shade or full sun will prove ideal. Dark scarlet and pink flowers are available.

THE OLD STANDBY for free-flowering habits is the calendula. Its name, in fact, is derived from a Latin word indicating that the plant flowers during every month of the calendar year. Actually, the calendula is perhaps best known for its ability to bloom during our mild winters but it also performs well during the rest of the year. Orange King and Lemon Queen calendulas are recommended for cutting purposes as well as for the outdoor garden.

Ivory Fashion (left) and Starfire score top rose honors by being named AARS for 1959. Ivory Fashion is a white floribunda; and Starfire is a cherry-red grandiflora.

Two New Roses Win Regal Honors

By Walter Finch

TWO new members of rose royalty wear the regal mantle well. They are Ivory Fashion, a white floribunda, and Starfire, a cherry-red grandiflora, chosen as All-American Rose Selections for 1959.

The award, the highest honor in the flower world, is bestowed upon the finest new rose varieties developed in the United States and Europe.

Ivory Fashion and Starfire are the 49th and 50th varieties named to the Royal Rose Family since AARS was founded 20 years ago.

A DESCENDANT of Fashion, AARS winner in 1949 and considered the most popular floribunda of all time, Ivory Fashion is almost four inches wide when it is open. Its buds suggest the perfection of form usually reserved for the hybrid tea class. The ivory color is set off by a suggestion of yellow in the bud stage. The flowers are highly scented.

Starfire, latest winner in the new grandiflora class created by AARS several years ago, produces bright cherry red blooms both singly and in clusters and is declared to be exceptionally hardy. It is a splendid bedding rose and is adaptable for hedges and foundation plantings.

Key to Hot-Spot Planter Needs

By Joe Littlefield

Badger Photo

To finish off planters in unusually warm locations, intersperse some gazanias.

OUTDOOR planters that form a part of the unit of the house wall often present problems due to the exposure to which plants are subjected. South and west exposures are most difficult because some plants that stand lots of sun won't take reflected heat from stucco walls.

One of several groups of shrubs that stand such tough conditions and continue to grow in popularity are Raphiolepis, the Indian hawthorn. The plants withstand heat and are hardy down to about 15 degrees of cold. They are ideal shrubs for outdoor sunny planters, as well as specimen shrubs, or for the shrubbery screen planting.

Some new pink varieties have been developed, several are spreading, others more upright. Black berries form after the small, bell-shaped, pink flowers finish blooming.

THERE IS A NEW white variety of Raphiolepis, "Clara," that landscape architects, contractors, and gardeners are interested in, because it grows quite bushy to about four feet. There also may be several other white varieties not generally known to the horticultural trade.

We have perhaps one of the oldest raphiolepis ovata white variety in our garden. It is about 30 years old, and still thriving. It doesn't have to take a back seat for several nearby camellias, because it is neat and attractive.

Abelia schumanni, A. goucheri, and a new dwarf white abolia, take well to sunny, warm outdoor planter conditions. The abelias stand cold down to about zero.

Abelias bloom after raphiolepis have finished flowering. Combination of both these shrubs for that outdoor planter it large enough, or for the shrubbery screen planting, provides a long season of bloom and eliminates extra culture care because both types of plants get by on moderate care.

TO FINISH OFF the shrubbery and have the foreground soil area covered, plant some hybrid gazanias for additional year-around color. The single, daisy-like flowers in a wide range of color help brighten the planting area. They, too, dislike to be pampered or kept too moist.

Heavy rains the past several months have washed down (leached) any nutrients that were in the root zone areas of lawns, and plants. This means, feed the plants and lawns to replace lack of nutrients and trace minerals which help them to grow sturdy and withstand later hot weather.

Grass lawns 1½ years old or younger are susceptible to lawn moth worm damage. Keep close check on the lawn. If you notice spots in the grass lawn starting to die out and see small moths flying over the lawn at night, you can be sure the lawn is infested with lawn moth worms. Spray with an insecticide your nurseryman or garden supply dealer recommends.

If you don't do anything about crab grass weeds in your grass or dichondra lawn last year, you can be certain that lawn is heavily infested with crab grass seedlings right now! A crab grass weed allowed to mature fully produces over 44,000 seeds. In a lawn where crab grass has to battle the lawn grasses or dichondra for existence or where the lawn is mowed regularly, the individual crab grass weed doesn't mature fully. Nonetheless, when mature, it produces several hundred weed seeds to reinfest the lawn next year.

Baby-Toter

her in the car. When she plants flowers, the baby can be with mother outdoors. At ironing time, the crib may be placed on a chair or table in front of the ironing board.

When the family sits down to dinner, the baby can be there, too, on a chair beside the table. When mother does the dishes, the baby can be placed beside the sink where mother can keep an eye on her. But best of all, when feeding time comes this is an ideal crib because baby's head is elevated just right for eating. So you see, this gives both, the parent and infant security because they can be together.

BUILDING THE little tot-toter is both easy and inexpensive when a full-sized pattern is used. Trace the pattern on plywood, then saw out the parts and put them together. Simple hand tools only are required. This is a project that mother can build all by herself if she chooses. It's far easier than making a dress from a pattern.

To obtain the full-sized baby-toter pattern No. 177, send 75 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, 15155 Saticoy St., Van Nuys, Calif.

Perfume for Your Garden

Mock Orange bears fragrant flowers which will perfume the spring garden. It is hardy in Long Beach climate.

By Gladys Diesing

A GRACEFULLY arching fountain of creamy white blossoms perfuming the spring garden with a delicious fragrance is Philadelphus. Philadelphus or mock orange as it is often called, is a deciduous shrub, completely hardy in the climate of the Long Beach area. It will grow in full sun or partial shade and will serve either as a specimen shrub or a part of a shrubbery border.

Perhaps the best and the one cultivated for the longest time is P. conarius. This plant grows to a height of 8 to 10 feet, has 3-inch ovate-lanceolate leaves and carries its creamy-white fragrant flowers in dense racemes in May and June. A number of hybrids were developed by the French nurseryman, Lemoine. By crossing P. conarius with the small American species P. microphyllus he obtained P. Lemoinei, which is a small graceful shrub with fine leaves, slender stems and small fragrant flowers. There are many varieties in this group.

ANOTHER hybrid is P. virginalis especially noted for its flowers which are double, snowy-white and fragrant, and in addition are 2 to 3 inches in diameter.

The Philadelphus is a very undemanding plant, adjusting as it does to almost any soil and avoiding most garden pests. Pruning should be done each year after flowering, removing wood which has flowered, taking out some old wood clear to the ground to make way for new young shoots.

Arbor vitae, cedar, cypress, pine and other evergreens are susceptible to what we call blight . . . a breakdown which is in many instances, established by a severe previous infestation of red spider. The reason red spider infestation has increased so alarmingly in recent years is because of the excessive use of some of the newer spray materials that have destroyed the beneficial insects.

So you see, spraying to kill red spider in many instances, is also preventing blight. It is an excellent practice to give any evergreen in your garden a clean-up spray with a product which kills mites and spiders without destroying the beneficial insects.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . Although new rainfall records have been established, it is amazing how quickly the soil dries out. In addition, the recent wave of hot weather has done a lot to reduce the moisture content of the soil. Adding sizable quantities of peat moss or leaf mold at this time will increase the porosity of the soil, as well as its ability to retain moisture.

Most evergreens are now growing rapidly, and there will soon be a need to trim them back. You should trim the plants by selecting the bud from which growth will emerge in the desired direction. Thus, with a rose for example, by cutting to the outside bud you will increase the lateral spread of the plant. This is desirable. Cutting to an inside bud produces crowded growth in the center of the plant, and this is totally undesirable.

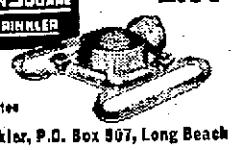

The shortage of dichondra seed makes it necessary for the wise gardener to purchase his supplies immediately. The best time for sowing dichondra seed is during the warmer months of the year.

FRANK ALAN RICHMOND

Caricature by Milt Reppert

He May Have to Grow One

FRANK ALAN RICHMOND doesn't have a continental moustache, but—being a thoughtful young fellow—he may grow one simply to please the patrons at the Manhattan, 1909 E. 4th St.

For years the moustache of Frank's father, Jimmie (Francois) Richmond, has been one of the French trademarks at the Manhattan, which features superb Parisian cuisine. During the next six to seven weeks that moustache will be absent from the restaurant while Richmond Sr. and his wife, Frances, tour Europe. They will visit the continent's famed restaurants and bring back recipes to be used at the Manhattan.

The elder Richmonds will start their trip today, leaving young Frank in charge of the restaurant. "If the guests miss Dad too much," says Frank, grinning, "I'll grow a moustache so they'll think the scenery around here hasn't changed."

RECENTLY OUT of the Air Force, Frank has assisted his father off and on at the restaurant for many years. He, in turn, will be assisted during Francois' absence by hostess, Jestine Smith. Already Frank has designed a new gourmet item which promises to be as popular as the many dishes Francois originated. Called Baked Shrimps Manhattan, it includes a special sauce composed of crab, lobster and fresh mushrooms sauteed in butter with shallots and white wine. The shrimp are placed in an oyster shell, the sauce goes on top along with hollandaise and whipped cream. It is baked for 15 minutes before being served. It's $3 on the super-generous French dinner, complete from hors d'oeuvres, soup du jour, salad, vegetables to beverage and dessert.

Among the many other featured dinners at the Manhattan (in addition to the fabulous flaming duckling) are Chicken Manhattan, $2.60; broiled Australian lobster tail, $3.25; handsome prime rib au jus, $3.75, and sauteed fresh mushrooms prepared in wine, $2.75.

I'll always remember...

When I fled the stage in tears

by JERRY LEWIS

Young hopeful: This was the author at 15, all ready to set the world on fire.

FAMILY VISIT: On location at Yuma, Ariz., for The Sad Sack, comedian Lewis takes time out to pose with his three sons, (l. to r.) Gary, Scottie and Ronnie.

When I was 15 I left high school to go into show business. I was quite the mimic with the drape jacket and the pegged pants and a jar of pomade rubbed into my hair. Fifteen and I thought I had the world on a string.

I had played a few dates at Catskill Mountain resorts doing a record-pantomime act. I had been received well enough to have an agent book me into the Palace Theater in Buffalo, N.Y. I knew I would be a smash. In my imagination I could see the other performers looking at me in awe as the thunderous applause swept the theater.

The Palace was a burlesque house and I was one of several variety acts that filled the intervals between the main attractions — the strippers. As I stood in the wings waiting for my turn to go on, I couldn't help but resent the stripper writhing her way through her number. "Wait 'til they get a load of me," I told myself.

Then I found myself on stage, doing what I thought was the funniest act in the world. But something was wrong. Where there should have been applause there was nothing but a deafening silence. Half-way through my act the audience started to heckle me with the inevitable call, "Bring on the girls!"

Finally, when I couldn't even hear myself, I fled the stage in tears. I wanted out. I rushed to my dressing room, started throwing clothes into a cardboard suitcase. Then suddenly the door opened. In stepped a little man in baggy pants — the burlesque comic.

"Where do you think you're going?" he asked. "One little flop and you quit. Well, kid, if you're a quitter, it's better you get out now 'cause show business has no place for your kind. But let me warn you, if you quit now, you'll never perform again. Just remember that whatever you do, a guy who quits in the middle of the race can never see his name in the winner's column."

A spanking well deserved and a lesson well learned. Today, whatever the temptation to quit when a particularly unpleasant situation arises, I always remember the little baggy-pants comedian who added a pound of starch to my backbone.

On Parade

Did you work the quiz Can you add? (April 20). Seems lots of people did, judging by the number of letters pointing out that the answer to question 8 was six coins, not five. As Reed T. Draper, Bay City, Mich., writes, "When I went to school five quarters and one nickle were six coins." Same with us, Mr. Draper. But we always spelled it nickel.

Back from the Northwest is our Ed Kiester with the story of one family's vacation visit to a giant sawmill (pp. 32-33). This is the final piece in the current Know Your America series. We hope they'll help you to have a grand vacation. And if you still haven't gotten your copy of the 1958 PARADE Turnpike Guidebook, be sure to use the coupon on p. 33.

From time to time PARADE has run articles urging more emphasis on teaching foreign languages in our schools. So we were glad to hear from Tim Egan of St. Catherine's High, Racine, Wis., who says:

"In a recent issue you quoted a Bryn Mawr student who said Russian should be taught in high school. I am a high-school sophomore and am taking a course in Russian."

Pozdravliain — or, as they say in English, Congratulations. We know of a few high schools, including three in Portland, Ore., which offer courses in Russian. But are there still others? If you know of any, drop On Parade a line.

Remember the USS Arizona, sunk at Pearl Harbor in 1941 with 1,102 men? The Pacific War Memorial Commission of Hawaii begins a fund-raising campaign this Memorial Day to make the Arizona a national shrine. A worthy cause. May it prosper.

SHE'S FRANCE'S NO. 1 MODEL...

Meet 'Lucky' Janichewsky

PARIS.

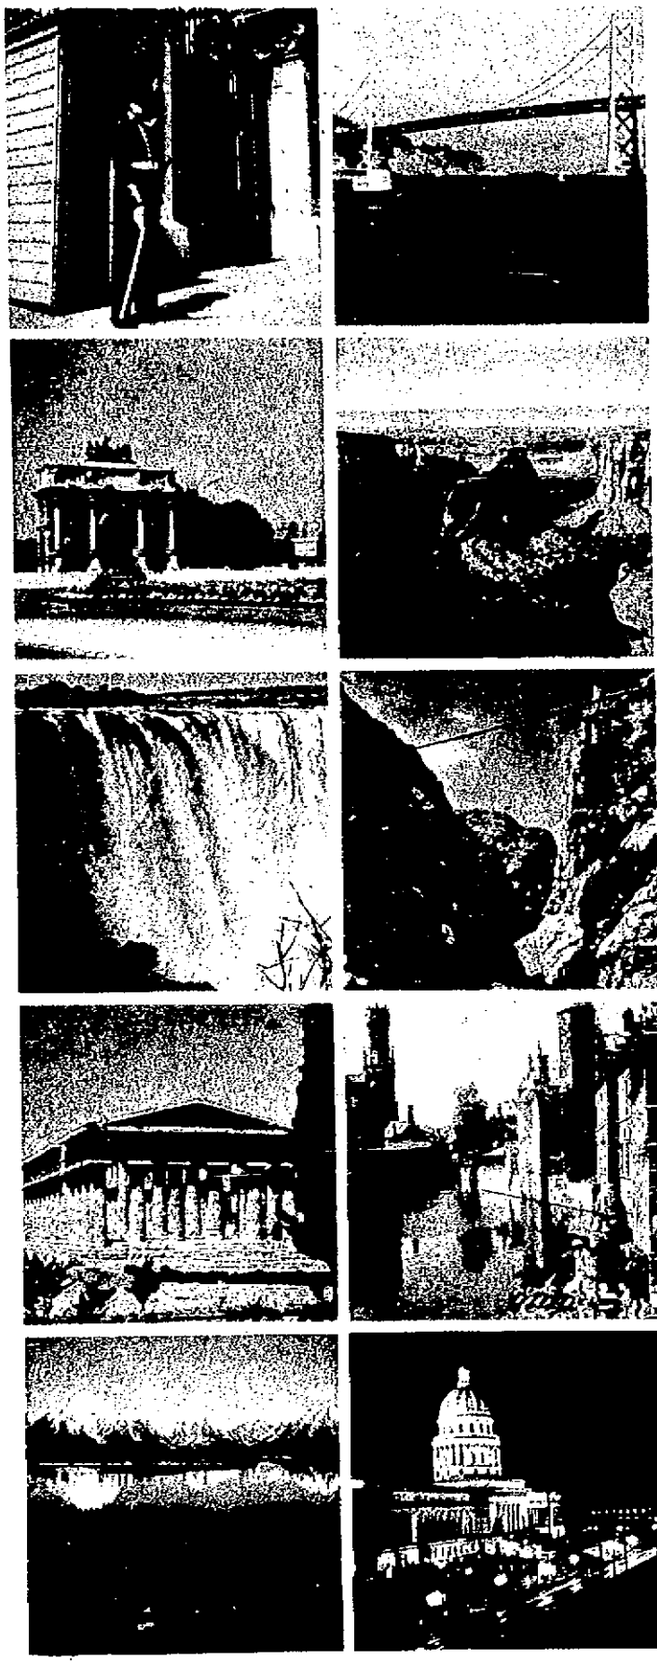

America has its "Candy" Joneses and "Choo-Choo" Johnsons, but the fashion industry here has the girl to match them. "Lucky" Janichewsky is her name, and she's the top mannequin at the House of Dior.

As French as Montmartre, Lucky got her surname from a youthful marriage to a Pole. Now, at 31, she supports herself and daughter Michele by hard work. Most days she's up at 7 at her house in suburban Chartres. She gets Michele off to school, does the housework, then comes in for a full day in the Dior atelier. Five nights a week she goes on to teach at her own school for mannequins and their daughters.

Tall, slender, fine-boned, Lucky takes her schedule in stride. She even finds time to be the moving spirit behind the Mutuelle des Mannequins, a kind of beneficial society for models who are old, ill, pregnant or otherwise unable to work. The Mutuelle's annual fund-raising ball is one of Lucky's rare social diversions. This year it comes next Thursday. Lucky, who has been black-haired this year and was a redhead last, plans to go in a blond wig. ■

G. KEITH FUNSTON...

The boy who grew

Head of the New York Stock Exchange, he wants

COLLECTOR Funston displays china soldiers — symbol of a boyhood hobby — in his handsome Greenwich, Conn., home.

by MARYLIN BENDER

Once upon a time there was a boy who lived with his mother, father and three sisters in a Midwestern city. He was a conscientious student who minded his p's, his q's and his parents, and never put off today's duty until tomorrow. A Boy Scout and a churchgoer, polite to his elders, popular with the young, he saved his money, worked his way through college, was tall, handsome, modest and kind.

And he grew up to be President — of the New York Stock Exchange.

In years to come, American male children may well be advised to follow this fable instead of the traditional success dream which culminates in the White House. After all, the jobs pay the same: $100,000 a year plus fringe benefits. But the president of the Stock Exchange is not obliged to deal with Soviet premiers or hydrogen warfare. His life expectancy is higher and the world isn't tuned in to the state of his digestion. Generally, his job is what he chooses to make it.

G. (for George) Keith Funston, the hero of the above true story, has made the Stock Exchange presidency a crusade. In the seven years he has held the job, he has spent the equivalent of two full years traveling to spread the word, "Own your share of American business [by buying stocks]." A New York Financial Writers lampoon once amended this to, "Give every American the right to own a share in the next depression."

With the floor of the Stock Exchange as a backdrop, Funston poses for PARADE.

Now a recession has arrived, but Funston isn't retrenching. His campaign to draw small investors into the securities market (and to make the market safe for the small investor) proceeds full steam ahead.

America will be a real "people's democracy" when 15 million of us have stocks in publicly owned companies, Funston asserted in a boom-year speech. During his administration, share ownership has increased by one-third to a record 8.6 million. Recession hasn't discouraged him from trying to nearly double that figure. For "people's capitalism" (another Funston image) meshes neatly with one feature of the 1958 economic dip — the fact that personal savings now are at an all-time high. Some banks have more savings deposits than they can handle. Some, after whipping up thrift fever with advertising gimmicks and jolly managers, are thinking of slowing down.

A dentist's son, he gives high finance the common touch

"Our task is to compete successfully for the saver's dollar," says Funston, who at 47 radiates the untarnished zeal of a college valedictorian (which he once was). Over the long pull, industry needs capital in order to expand, Funston reasons. Meanwhile, inflation whittles away at "risk-free" savings. If millions of Americans in the lower- and middle-income range invest their surplus savings in industry (by buying voting shares of corporate securities), the U.S. economy will grow while the investors benefit through dividends, profits and appreciation.

Funston's theories are chapter and verse out of an elementary economics course. But how many Americans could pass a midterm quiz? With a $1,100,000-a-year advertising budget, and a shower of pamphlets, movies and talks beamed at the financially unsophisticated, Funston strives to close this gap in popular education, and "strengthen the ties between Main Street and Wall Street."

The two long have regarded each other with suspicion. Wall Street, which begins at a river (the East) and ends in a cemetery (Trinity Churchyard), has had an allure akin to that of a chichi gambling casino where the little fellow always gets taken. But nowadays the little fellows seem more confident. The last big decline in market prices saw few of them exiting in panic. Funston and his aides consider this proof that Main Street and Wall are indeed growing closer.

MIP—Success or Flop?

There also is Funston's "baby," the Monthly Investment Plan, through which stocks can be acquired by investing as little as $40 every three months. MIP is doing better in the recession, some brokers say. Just four years old, it has 65,700 subscribers and has brought $80 million into the market. Funston calls it a success.

Yet many brokers deem these statistics small potatoes and feel that MIP "hasn't gotten off the ground." Some won't even handle it. "Funston is an idealist," states one exchange member who admits to a preference for rich customers. "The Stock Exchange a public institution?" adds a customer's man for a conservative firm. "It's still a clique — one big, exclusive club run by the roughest, toughest, dollar-chasing monkeys in the country."

But the small investor who plays it cautious in the market, investing — not trading — in "blue chips," appreciates his newly won acceptance. A stock-ownership census, taken after Funston's advent, showed that two-thirds of U.S. share-owners earned under $7,500 a year. In this bracket, substantial lumps of cash are hard to roll up at one time. Funston, the son of a Sioux Falls, S.D., dentist-turned-banker, recognized this basic truth that Wall Street ignored. Result: his "dramatic tool," MIP.

He Paid His Own Way

To the role of interpreter between Main and Wall, Funston brought a priceless asset — the experience of being broke. His father's bank failed in 1924. Keith put himself through Trinity College in Hartford, Conn. (A.B. 1932 and Phi Beta Kappa), and the Harvard Graduate School of Business. He financed his way with scholarships, profits from an oil stock (bought in 1927, sold in '28) and a series of chores that included grocer's helper, dog washer, newspaper subscription vendor. None of these kept him from Sunday School teaching and fraternity dances.

He was suggested for successor to retiring Stock Exchange president Emil Schram by another "poor boy made good," Sidney Weinberg. Pint-sized alumnus of a Brooklyn public school, Weinberg is an investment banker, board director and kingly figure in finance. Funston's election was announced May 24, 1951.

It received mixed notices. "A breath of fresh air," cried those concerned with cleansing the public memory of 1929 and Richard Whitney, the Exchange president who was jailed in 1938 for misappropriating securities. But others were dubious. Several friends bluntly informed Funston that he knew nothing about the stock business — he was then president of Trinity College — and was too old to learn. Funston grins when he recalls the bearish prophecy of Barron's, the financial-trade Bible. "Mr. Funston has his job cut out for him," Barron's editorialized.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON at home lets Funston enjoy a rare interlude of calm with Timothy, the golden retriever.

Certainly he was a radical departure from precedent, an "evangelist" compared to "political types" like New Dealer Schram and William McChesney Martin, Jr. (now chairman of the Federal Reserve Board). "Modest, sincerely friendly, forthright" — cynics and admirers apply identical adjectives to Funston. "And so-o-o good-looking." A gracefully stooped 6'3", Funston possesses wavy, graying hair, china-blue eyes, a pearly-toothed smile and the kind of cleft chin and dimples that made a generation of Robert Taylor fans shiver in their saddle shoes.

The offer to preside over Wall Street came to him "out of the blue," Funston says. What, then, is the formula for his rise to the top?

As a youngster, he was "loyal, dependable, truthful, a brilliant student and a natural leader," according to testimony from Sioux Falls. Says a Harvard classmate who knew him when he was hesitating between business and academic life: "He was a guy who had success on his mind."

Once a Salesman . . .

On his first jobs, with American Radiator Co. and Sylvania, Funston established himself as a sales executive with ideas, loyalty and "a wonderful personality." Weinberg spotted him in 1941, recruited him to Washington as a dollar-a-year War Production Board aide. Later Funston served in the Navy. In 1944, Trinity College trustees tapped him for president. He was 33 and, he admits, "knew nothing about the job."

Funston made his mark by raising $5 million for the college in six years. His "evangelical" secret was simply to ask wealthy businessmen — sincerely and enthusiastically—for donations. In this period, Weinberg proposed him for board director of B. F. Goodrich and General Foods, positions he resigned when he went to the Stock Exchange.

When he was a college president, Funston and his family lived modestly. They still do — now in a Tudor house with acres and lake in Greenwich, Conn., a suburb noted for its multimillionaires, millionaires and others hoping to be mistaken for same. Typically, on Sunday nights the Funstons — including wife Betty; Peggy, 15; Gail, 12; Keith, Jr., 8 — observe the ritual of popping corn.

On his protégé's seventh presidential anniversary, Weinberg declares: "Public trust in the New York Stock Exchange as an honest market place is Keith Funston's monument." Yet attitudes linger. Last week, a taxi driver discharging a passenger at 11 Wall (the Exchange) was seen to wink and urge, "Pick up some good tips!"

Keith Funston still has his job cut out for him. ■

FUNSTON WARNS: "Don't invest unless you have a regular income and emergency cash or Government bonds . . ."

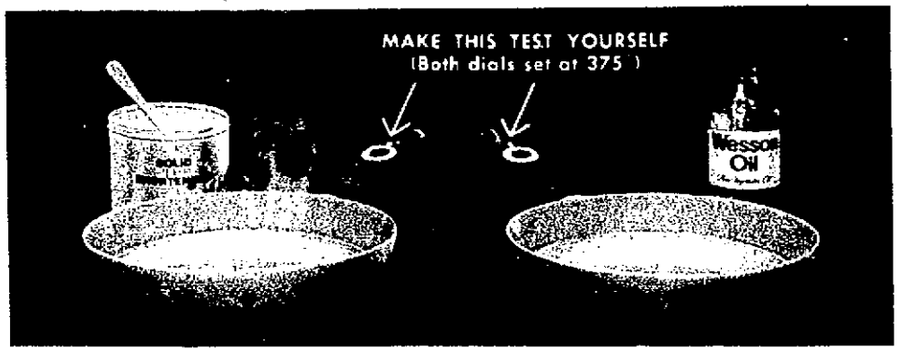

"Get the facts. Avoid tips and rumors. If you worry when your stock declines 50¢ a share, but then when it rises . . ."

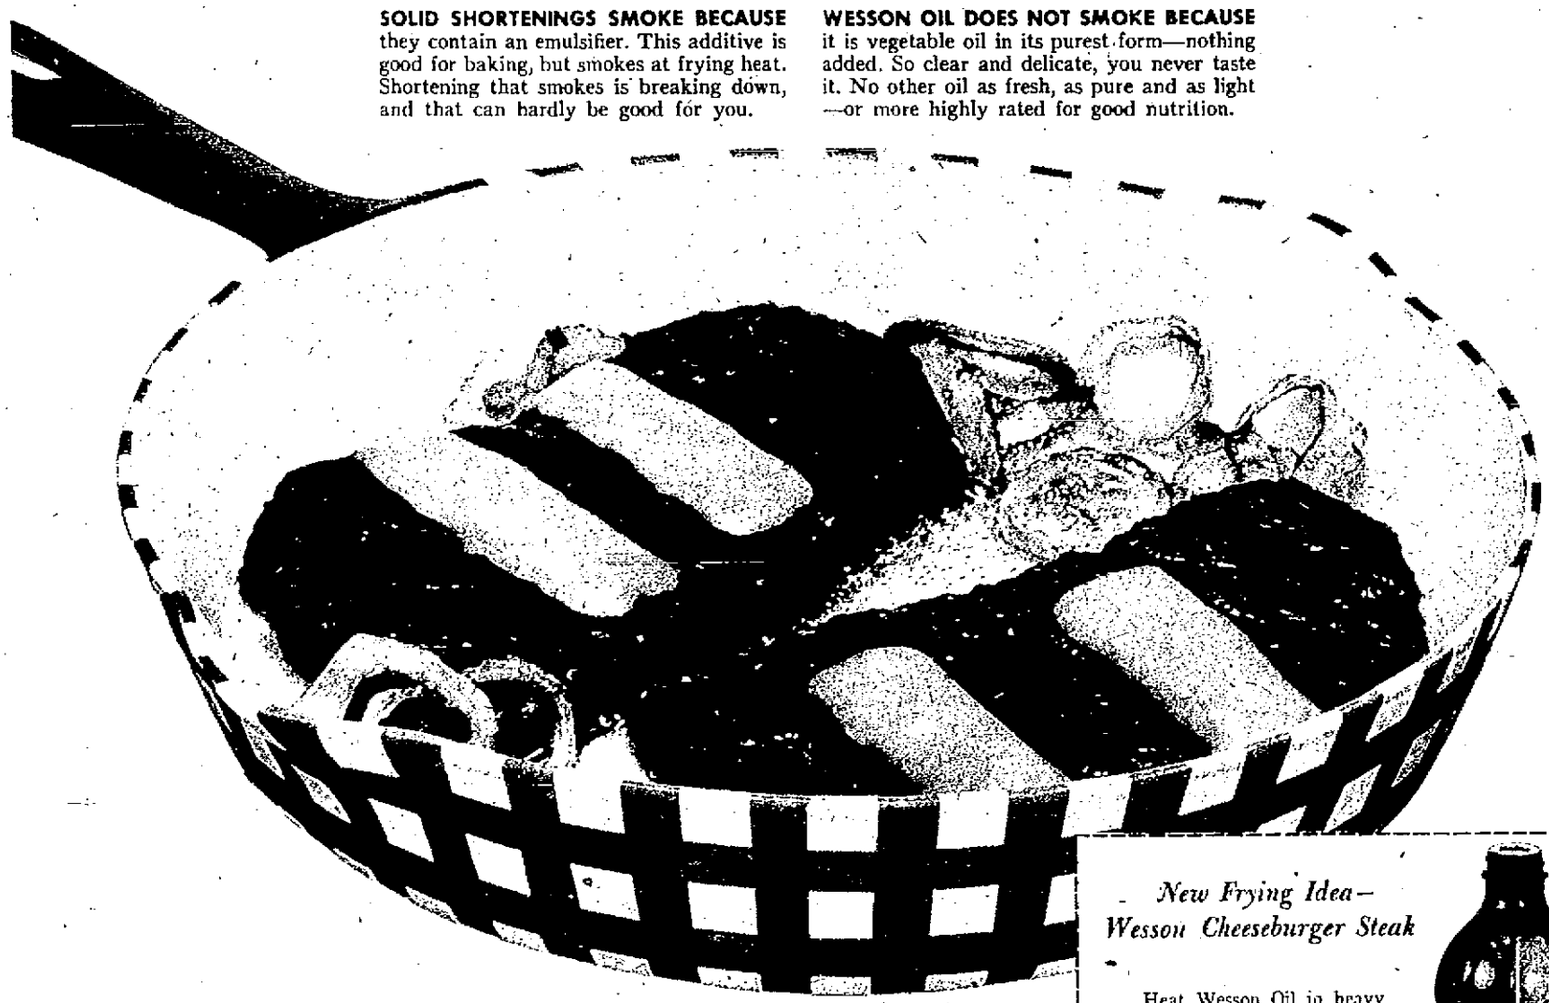

". . . you start pricing Rolls-Royces, I would suggest that you leave your money in the bank. You'll be happier."

Paula Jean Myers faces a challenge...

Is she really champ?

by JOHN DEVANEY Parade sports editor

ENCINO, CALIF.

It had happened many times before, but this time it hurt the most. With just two more dives to go in the high-diving championships at the 1956 Olympics, pert Paula Jean Myers had a 6-point lead over world champion Pat McCormick. "But then," says Paula Jean, "I did only fair, Pat did well — and I lost."

Losing to Pat McCormick was nothing new for Paula Jean (shown diving on today's cover). During the previous five years she had faced Pat in some dozen U.S. and Olympic diving championships, plus a slew of West Coast meets, and beaten her only three times. "But losing at the Olympics was the worst," says Paula Jean. "I was so close to winning, to showing all the world that I could do it."

When Pat was announced the Olympic high-diving champion, P.J. — as everyone calls her — dashed over and shook her hand. "I smiled for the cameramen. What else could I do? It isn't very sportsmanlike to bust out crying at the Olympics. But afterwards I went off by myself and cried till it hurt."

Not long after that, Pat retired. The year 1957 saw P.J. grab off every diving title in sight. She won 16 straight championships, including the national AAU indoor and outdoor crowns. But this spring, at the indoor championships, she finished second instead of first in the two diving events. Again she looked like the girl who's destined to be a bridesmaid, not the bride.

This summer, though, P.J. will be out to prove she deserves the title — U.S. diving queen — that Pat relinquished to her. Says her coach, Lyle Draves of the Encino Swim Club here: "Now that school's out, she'll be able to practice regularly. This semester she took 21 units, about five more than most students, at the University of Southern California, where she's studying to be a dental hygienist. That cut down on her practice time, which hurt at the indoor championships. But come August 1 and the outdoor championships, she'll be ready."

PAT McCORMICK salutes after winning first at '56 Olympics. Paula Jean (r.) forces a smile.

The red-hot rivalry between Pat and P.J. began in 1951 when Pat, then 20, and P.J., 15, were members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club diving team. "We were close pals," says P.J. "Pat, in fact, was the one who nicknamed me P.J. For a summer I lived at her house with her and her husband. Being older, she was way ahead of me in diving — a national champion — but I kept trying to catch up, in a friendly way."

P.J. caught up by winning the 10-foot springboard dive at the indoor championships in 1953, stunning the judges with a double-twisting one-and-a-half somersault, the first time any girl had ever dared it in competition. "It was different between Pat and me after that," says P.J. "We were still friends but, after I beat her, there was a feeling of tension. It was each girl for herself."

Then came new tension. Coach Draves, who had been the diving coach at the L.A. Athletic Club, left — and Glenn McCormick, Pat's husband, was named to replace him. "I didn't feel," says P.J., "that having the husband of one of the divers as coach would work out too well for the other divers. Also I felt Lyle was the world's best coach — so I left too."

Note of Triumph

Other members of the club, including Pat, begged her to stay. "They told me I'd ruin the team. Some were so mad they wouldn't even talk to me. A month later, in August, 1953, they were all out to beat me at the outdoor championships, to show me I'd made a mistake. But" — and here P.J. can't help sounding triumphant — "I showed them it was no mistake by beating Pat for the 10-meter high-platform title."

But there was no beating Pat after that and P.J. learned well the ashes-in-the-mouth taste of defeat. "Usually I smiled and tried to act as if it didn't really matter. But after some meets, I went off by myself and cried."

Never, she vows, was there malice between herself and Pat. "Being on different teams, of course, we weren't as close as before. Also there was the natural feeling of tension between competitors. But when we'd hear how we were supposed to hate each other, it used to send us into fits of laughing."

Defeat after defeat has failed to puncture brown-haired P.J.'s good-natured buoyancy. Wild about athletics, she spends much of her spare time skiing or romping on horseback (she owns two horses) near her mother's Glendora, Calif., home. Lately, she has found a more sedate activity: cooking. This has its dangers, since P.J., at 122 lbs. and only 5'4", has to watch her weight.

While attending USC, she lives in her own Los Angeles apartment, dates "every chance I get" — mostly with athletes. This summer, though, she'll spend every day practicing for the three events at the outdoor championships — the 3-foot springboard dive, the 10-foot springboard dive, the high-platform dive — aiming to repeat last year's clean sweep.

Does she breathe easier, knowing Pat won't be there? "No, because the competition keeps getting tougher. A few years ago there was just one girl, Pat, to beat. Now there are six or seven, and they're doing dives we didn't try to do even in practice five years ago."

Now 23, P.J. hopes to keep diving through the 1960 Olympics, then turn pro. She also hopes Pat attends the outdoor championships in August. Says P.J., with a look that says she took more beatings than she liked from Pat McCormick: "I always want to win — but especially when she's there." ■

SAMUEL CARDINAL STRITCH: At 70 he underwent an operation now routine at his years, amputation of an arm.

HARRY S. TRUMAN: At 70 he was operated on for appendix and gall-bladder trouble. He has been active since.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER: At 65 he underwent surgery for ileitis, recovered quickly and returned to his duties.

SAFER SURGERY AFTER 60

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

Last month, former President Herbert Hoover underwent surgery for removal of his gall bladder. The next day he sat up in bed. Soon his doctors gave him permission to arise at 2 a.m., as he normally does, to spend two hours at work, solitaire and reading before going back to sleep.

Mr. Hoover is 83 years old.

Four years ago, former President Harry S. Truman was operated on for removal of his appendix and gall bladder. At the time it was an emergency. Fully recovered, he has been active ever since.

Mr. Truman is 74.

Two years ago, President Eisenhower underwent surgery for relief of an intestinal obstruction. He resumed some of his duties four days later.

Ike is 67.

These three Presidential examples point up one of the most heartening facts of health today: No matter how old you are, you can benefit from the new wonders of life-saving surgery. Consider these developments:

1) Patients at ages 60, 70, 80, 90 and beyond are undergoing surgery routinely today (mostly for hip, stomach, colon, breast and prostate ailments). A generation ago, this was virtually unheard of.

2) Some of the same patients who were refused surgery as bad risks in their 60s now are being operated on safely in their 70s.

3) Today the mortality rate in operations of the aged is as low as 5 per cent. A generation ago it was three to four times that. An elderly patient now has about a 95 per cent chance of pulling through.

These striking facts are vital to every age. If you are older, they mean you can face surgery with confidence. If you are younger, they should ease your fears for a parent or relative — not to mention for yourself, later on. In any case they offer one more proof of the cumulative value of constant effort by uncounted workers in many areas — doctors, research scientists, technicians and many others — over a period of years. And that work still is going on.

To get the hopeful story of surgery's new accomplishments, PARADE surveyed medical centers across the U.S. Everywhere the picture was the same: better, safer surgery for more and more elderly persons. Here is how medical scientists themselves sum up the three main areas of achievement:

Anesthesiology. New, precision methods mean that today the surgeon can operate for up to 12 hours or even longer while safe anesthesia keeps the patient asleep. A generation ago, such lengthy operations were almost unknown. As one surgeon points out, "Years ago, we had six or seven minutes to do an amputation. If we took any longer, the patient died."

The Beauty of Half-sleep

One remarkable development in this field involves "light" anesthesia, which can be especially useful with older persons. Years ago, when patients were put into deep sleep, their hearts and lungs were affected. Often the heart failed and the patient died.

Today we have light, perfectly controlled levels of anesthesia. It can be so delicately administered that the patient is in a half-sleep during the surgery itself. There is a complete absence of pain — yet the patient's eyes may be open at least part of the time and he may be able to answer questions by nodding "yes" or "no." Or anesthetics can be administered so exactly that he is entirely "out" for the operation, yet awake before leaving the operating room.

New instruments let the anesthesiologist keep constant tabs on the patient's pulse rate and the amount of oxygen reaching his brain. The anesthesiologist can "breathe" for the patient, via a tube inserted into the windpipe during surgery. A variety of muscle relaxants, unavailable a generation ago, eases the operation. The choice of sedatives is so broad today that the anesthesiologist can tailor their use to the individual patient's special needs.

Research offers hope of at least two further developments for operating-room use. One is an electronic device to measure blood loss in surgery, saving time and trouble for the operating team. The second is a machine to give constant readings of the patient's blood pressure while he is undergoing the operation.

Actually, in the past generation anesthesiology has emerged as a science. This means the surgeon no longer must rush "in and out" of an operation. Today he can be far more careful, take much more time. At any age, patients benefit accordingly.

The pre-operative period. Older patients may have one or more illnesses besides the one for which surgery is to be performed. They may be more tired, run down or weak than younger patients in the same situation. Thus they may need a pre-operative "build-up" before going to the operating room.

This now is done by means of careful diet control (knowledge of nutrition has zoomed in the past decade), by giving blood when necessary and by controlling vital body fluids. The last can be especially important. Years ago, relatively little was known about body fluids and their special tasks. Today, pre-operatively, doctors make sure the patient does not become dehydrated. They guard against potassium imbalance, which can lead to heart or kidney "shutdown" and death during and after surgery. They carefully control the acid-alkali balance in the body, also to prevent complications later.

Sometimes hormones are administered to bolster the patient's glandular system, particularly if it has been injured by disease in the past. Currently research is underway on a method of using hormones to predict — pre-operatively — how the patient will tolerate certain types of surgery.

In addition, pre-operatively, new drugs can be used

MAMIE EISENHOWER: At 60, she underwent surgery for "a benign condition," dined with Ike three days afterward.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES: At 68, the State Secretary was operated on for intestinal trouble, quickly was back at work.

HERBERT HOOVER: At 83 he had his gall bladder removed. Shortly afterward, the former President was working.

Today, you can face an operation confidently even if you're 90.

Life-saving advances make the outcome safer than ever before

to sterilize the intestinal tract. After stomach operations, this means fewer complications — possibly fatal ones.

The post-operative period. Today, post-operative elderly patients often are taken to "recovery rooms" immediately after surgery. The recovery room is a little hospital in itself, equipped to deal effectively with post-operative emergencies. Prompt recovery-room care has saved many lives. A decade ago such facilities were almost unknown.

Before the age of the antibiotics — which date from the mid-1940s — post-operative infections, a threat to life, precluded surgery of many conditions of the elderly. New drugs virtually have wiped out pneumonias and other chest disorders.

Years ago, elderly patients were kept in bed following surgery for days or even weeks. That no longer is the rule. An older person is helped from his bed as soon as possible. One result is fewer dangerous blood clots from long immobilization.

The Picture Is Good

Still other developments play a part in surgery's new miracles. There are tests to determine blood volume of the elderly patient in surgery, new findings concerning blood-protein factors in the elderly, the comparatively new science of rehabilitation of the aged. Put them all together and you get a fact like this:

Today, in U.S. hospitals, successful surgery on patients past 60 is up 25 to 100 per cent over only 10 or 15 years ago.

Another facet to the same picture is a little story told by a New York surgeon, Dr. Arthur Aufses. It seems that in 1948 he performed what was then a rare chest operation on an 83-year-old woman. The other day he was out walking when an elderly lady stopped him to inquire, "Doctor, don't you remember me?" It was the same patient — 93, and still going strong.

OPERATING-ROOM LINEUP shows tools of today's anesthesiologist. On table (l. to r.): machine to regulate irregular heartbeat; drugs to anesthetize a patient, revive him, regulate his blood pressure, replace his body fluids; egg-shaped anesthesia mask; speedometer-like device (with tube) to measure breathing; machine connections; tubes to help "breathe" for patient; temperature-recording device (large dial). At rear (l. to r.): machine to record brain waves, heart action; machine to deliver anesthesia; machine (with screens) to picture heart action; respirator; machine (white finish) to start heart action if it stops; oxygen tank.

HAVE YOUR HEADLIGHTS AIMED NOW!

Do you drive at night in a hit-or-miss fashion? Chances are you do, if your headlights have not been aimed in the last six months. Improperly aimed headlights can rob you of as much as 80% of your available light, causing you to overdrive your lights even at legal speed limits.

You can't tell whether your lights need aiming just by looking at them. There's only one way to be absolutely sure of a full margin of safety. Have your headlights checked and aimed periodically. Stop at your General Motors dealer's or wherever you see the AIM TO LIVE sign. And if your headlights are three years old, replace them with the new, modern headlamps (with three aiming points on the lens). They will give you 15% more light in a far better pattern, and they can be aimed quickly and accurately.

THE TRUTH ABOUT

Actresses and their men

HOLLYWOOD.

A few weeks ago four events occurred here, public reaction to which shattered the usual blasé composure of the movie colony. These occurrences were:

1) Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter stabbed to death her mother's hoodlum gigolo, John Stompanato, 32.

2) Judy Garland charged that her husband, Sid Luft, had beaten and attempted to strangle her on many occasions. Later she announced a reconciliation.

3) Loretta Young's husband, advertising executive Tom Lewis, sued his wife and her business associate, alleging "dishonesty, mismanagement and unfairness," then revealed that in 1956 he and Miss Young had

JUDY GARLAND was pleased to have husband Sid Luft (above) as manager. Hollywood was shocked to hear Judy accuse Luft of beating her.

Some actresses are self-centered, domineering—and divided their community property. It was disclosed he was raising their two sons in New York and would not return here.

4) Esther Williams, 35, divorced husband Ben Gage on the ground that he stayed out until 5 a.m., adding credence to the rumor that the divorce was motivated by her hope of marrying actor Jeff Chandler.

The reaction of the public to these happenings was one of disillusionment with screen stars as a group. And disenchanted fans have been asking questions. Typical of the many letters sent to studios, columnists and newspapers is one to this correspondent from a housewife in Portland, Ore.

"Are these actresses idiots? What sort of women are they anyway? Is there any publication that will tell us the truth?"

This article is an attempt to answer those questions. To understand how Lana Turner could have associated with a gangster like Stompanato, one must first know the truth about Miss Turner. Apparently incapable of living a manless existence for any great length of time, Lana invariably has chosen men who lack her kindness, charm and money-making capacity. As Ava Gardner once pithily put it, "When it comes to men, Lana and I are the world's lousiest pickers."

It isn't commonly known that Lana is half-Spanish (which is why so many of her literary endearments to Stompanato were penned in that language). She started going with boys in San Francisco after she was expelled from Presentation Convent for not abiding by the rules. Lana's father was a small-time gambler who was murdered in an unsolved San Francisco case when she was 10. Her mother was busy running a beauty shop. As a result, her rearing was not strictly supervised.

marry men who use them

As a teenager, Lana was in love with love and crazy about boys who had money or looks or the biggest cars. She rarely had money herself — her mother found the going tough — and for a while Lana worked as a waitress at The Eagle's Nest, a lunch-bar hangout near the high school. Close friends were not surprised when Lana went to Hollywood and was "discovered." The publicized story of Lana's "accidental discovery" in an ice-cream parlor is only partly true. Her mother always had planned a show-business career for her.

These glimpses of Lana's background may partially explain her later affiliation with Stompanato. They point up her need for masculine companionship and admiration.

Pick-up by Phone

Stompanato lived by his good looks, extracting money from frustrated and susceptible women. He came upon the scene last year after Lana's fifth marriage, to actor Lex Barker, had ended in divorce.

If you move in the right Hollywood circles, it's easy to obtain the phone number of a movie queen. Stompanato had quite a few. Phoning Lana one evening, he said, "I've heard so much about you. How about having a drink with me?" Lana's first reaction was proper and negative. But eventually, by phoning three or four times a week, Stompanato wore her down. They met, and Lana was charmed by his looks. He thereupon moved into Lana's life and refused to move out.

What did Lana see in Stompanato? Clinton Anderson, chief of Beverly Hills Police, says, "You know how some women are. They like to have a man around. Lana was working hard, leading a respectable life. Then Stompanato came along. We knew what was going on. But what could we do? We couldn't intervene until the roof fell in."

Is Lana Turner typical of leading Hollywood actresses? Are many others just as badly adjusted in their relationships with men?

A leading Hollywood psychiatrist told PARADE, "Many actresses choose mates whom they do not love but whom they want to love them. What they say in effect is, 'I am so beautiful you must love me.' The only type of man who will buy that is crooked, immature, subnormal or psychopathic."

Where do most Hollywood husbands come from? Many are actors eager and ambitious for success, or charming, unskilled men who want an actress to manage, or operators who intend to use an actress-wife as a bargaining tool in the climb to Hollywood success.

A veteran private detective here claims that many actresses are so intent upon using their husbands purely as chattel or as professional escorts that they never realize that their husbands also intend to use them.

"Take Ginger Rogers," he offers. "She goes to Paris a few years ago and brings back this big strapping French youngster, Jacques Bergerac. He's 15 or 20 years younger than she is, and I think he used to work as a hotel clerk. Ginger takes him down to Palm Springs, gets her agent to fix him up with a contract at MGM. Soon they're married. How long can such a marriage last? The minute he gets any kind of break he's going to rebel. That's exactly what happened."

AVA GARDNER, here looking svelte, admits she's jealous, possessive and a "lousy" picker of men.

A columnist who used to be an actress herself told PARADE, "It's easy to call Lana Turner or Ginger Rogers silly and fatuous. But look at all the other actresses who have taken young husbands. Greer Garson married Richard Ney. Ann Sothern married Bob Sterling. Bette Davis married William Sherry. Barbara Stanwyck married Bob Taylor. All ended in divorce. As a matter of fact, there's hardly an actress in Hollywood who hasn't been divorced at least once."

Formula for Happiness

The most happily married actresses in Hollywood are those who have just about retired, or those who—like Ann Blyth, Cyd Charisse, Hope Lange, Jane Wyatt, Rosemary Clooney — look on their careers as secondary to marriage.

Where an actress holds her career in higher regard than she does her husband — "I can always get another husband, but where can I get another career?" is a favorite crack of such girls — then the marriage has about as much chance for happiness as Lana Turner had with Johnny Stompanato.

Unfortunately, Hollywood has too many actresses who, despite protests to the contrary, are more in love with money and the starry heights than marriage and the steady husband.

PROVED ON THE ROAD...
In constant tests under all driving extremes of temperature and climate, the performance superiority of Atlas products is proved time and time again. In fact, in rigorous field tests, Atlas tires consistently average better mileage than the tires that come on brand new cars.

THROUGH THESE ATLAS LABORATORIES...
Every year literally thousands of automotive products from the four corners of the world are given a thorough going-over to make sure that none exceeds Atlas quality. Thus, Atlas engineers keep well abreast of any new developments that might make Atlas products even better.

HUNDREDS OF TIRES DESIGNED, TESTED
Atlas tire men devote their efforts to developing treads that give the greatest possible mileage, traction and skid-resistance. This is typical of the research, testing and improving that go into all Atlas products.

Juniors in cotton —and in style

by VIRGINIA POPE

Parade fashion editor

As the new fashion settles down, a number of silhouettes are emerging as particular favorites: the trapeze, the melon, the trumpet. They're all available to the American girl who wears a junior size (5 to 15), in a nice variety of summer cottons and at popular prices. The trapeze, which has been adapted in many ways, is shown here (lower left) in a coat version. The chemise is becoming the darling of the juniors for all hours of the day. And there's the Empire variation with a high-waist accent, a late starter that's coming up fast. Its converse, the very low-waisted middy dress, generally is completed by a full skirt that has a gay easy swing. The more sophisticated trumpet silhouette is characterized by a tubular top and a low-set flounce. And for evening, the full-skirted dress — whether the old-fashioned bouffant or the very new puffed melon —still is the favorite.

THE TRAPEZE is shown here in a coat of airy black-cotton eyelet, worn over a slender black-piqué dinner sheath. The ensemble is about $25. By Jonathan Logan.

FULL SKIRTS are pretty at night. The bouffant (l.) is of cotton, printed in pink roses and stripes. By Madeleine Fauth. About $25. The melon (r.) comes in green-and-white cotton. By Junior Accent. About $30.

THE TRUMPET SILHOUETTE with a tubular chemise top and flaring ruffle is of black-and-white cotton, white Buster Brown collar. By Jonathan Logan. About $15.

Three ways to use peanut butter

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

Every so often it's good to be reminded of "everyday" food products on your pantry shelf that can play a "special" role — dressing up a recipe, adding flavor distinction to plain food. Peanut butter is one such product. Perhaps you've never thought of it except as a spread for bread. But when you try today's recipes, you'll change your mind. There's rich peanut flavor in the soup and the dessert, and teamed with bacon in grilled sandwiches. And don't forget — peanuts are a source of high protein, energy and important B-vitamins.

Here's a wonderfully different version of custard bread pudding. To vary it, use brown sugar or add a half cup of raisins.

DIXIE PUDDING: Scald 2 cups milk; add 1 cup soft bread crumbs; let stand 15 minutes. Meanwhile, add ¼ cup light cream slowly to ½ cup peanut butter; beat smooth. Add another ¼ cup cream; beat smooth; add to bread-crumb mixture. Combine 1 beaten egg, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vanilla; mix well; add. Spoon into greased custard cups; set in pan of warm water. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 1-hour or until knife inserted near edge comes out clean. Chill. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Serves six.

Truly a meal-in-a-bowl, this smooth, rich, creamy soup will surprise family — and guests — with its delightful, mellow flavor.

VIRGINIA BISQUE: Blend 6 tablespoons peanut butter and 4 tablespoons flour in top of double boiler. Stir in 1 can condensed tomato soup and 1 quart milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Cover; cook 10 minutes longer. Serve in bowls, garnishing each with a spoonful of dairy sour cream. Makes six good-sized servings.

Try this perfect partner for a warm-weather soup-and-sandwich lunch or supper. For dessert, fresh fruit would be ideal.

GRILLED SANDWICHES: Spread 6 slices bread generously with peanut butter. Crumble crisp bacon over peanut butter; top with 6 slices of bread. Brush sandwiches on both sides with melted butter or margarine. Grill until golden brown on electric table grill or hot griddle. Makes six sandwiches. Note: Crunchy-style peanut butter may be used if preferred. FROM PARADE'S TEST KITCHEN

PARIS.

THE ARTIST whose work is sampled on these pages may be creating masterpieces for tomorrow — or pulling one of the great hoaxes of today. With modern art, it's hard to be sure. Georges Mathieu's paintings look like blobs thrown at the canvas because that's just what they are. They may be striking, evocative, haunting, but they're still produced by hurling paintbrushes at canvas javelin-style. Mathieu himself, a dedicated eccentric, lives in a stately villa on the edge of town with a page whose duties include keeping the busts of famous personages turned to the wall. (Mathieu opposes too much civilization.) Nicknamed "The Duke of Brabant," the painter drives a yellow Rolls-Royce, sports a mustache which turns down at the ends much as Salvador Dali's turns up. His work baffles some viewers, but at least one respected critic (a Japanese professor) calls him "the greatest French painter after Picasso." Commercially, the latter view seems to prevail. Mathieu gets about $800 a square yard for "medium" efforts, more for better ones. At 37, he need have little concern for posterity. He has it made right now.

Spear-thrower's run illustrates Mathieu's method. The Eiffel Tower is visible behind his right hand.

'How much lumber do you

Giant band saw bites out important first cut of a log as Virgil Rogers family, visiting a Washington timber plant, watches operation from guests' catwalk.

LOGS ARRIVE from woods via flatcar as family looks on. Overhead crane lifts them gently, sets them down in Columbia River to float to mill. Gentle drop avoids splintering.

LOGS FLOAT to sawmill after being sorted by agile "boom men." Long pike poles help workers to maneuver 48-foot logs into bins according to their thickness and species.

LOGS END UP as timbers like the 24"-by-24" monsters towering over family above. Guide Glee Ann Gardner (r.) hands pamphlets to Marian, Roberta, Gayland and Virgil Rogers.

make a day?'

This family learned that visiting U.S. industry can give you both facts and fun

FRIENDLY FORESTER explains scientific reseeding program to Roberta, 12, and Gayland Rogers, 10.

"PUBLIC PARK" operated by timber firm is family camp site. Fish-filled river flows in background.

LONGVIEW, WASH.

It takes a Douglas fir tree 150 to 200 years to reach its full 4-foot girth and 200-foot height. It takes about a week to cut it down with a chain saw, truck, rail and float it 50 miles to a sawmill, slice it into lumber, cure it in a kiln and pack it into boxcars for shipping and use in home-building. How these giant trees are reduced to manageable and useful dimensions provided a fascinating, educational — and economical — vacation stopover here recently for the Virgil Rogers family.

At Longview, 50 miles northwest of Portland, Ore., Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. operates one of the world's largest wood-processing plants, including sawmills, pulpmills, plywood plant, prefabricating plant, chemical and bark-products plants. The operation stretches for two miles along the Columbia River. A guided tour of the plant takes about three hours.

"This kind of thing is great for kids," said Virgil Rogers after guide Glee Ann Gardner had conducted the family through the mill. "They ask the most sensible questions and pick up the best information. Only they don't think of it as a lesson."

Resources Spell Progress

A visit to Weyerhaeuser — or to any of the thousands of U.S. industries that welcome visitors — is a lesson, a lesson about America. Natural resources, like the mountainside cathedrals of Douglas firs here, and industry, which capitalized on them, explain the rise of 13 backwoods colonies to world economic power. Industrial smokestacks are the backbone of the nation; industry provides millions of jobs, billions in income, hundreds of billions in goods.

As you and your family travel this summer, you'll find thousands of industries eager to show off. (Best bet is to write ahead to the Chamber of Commerce of the city or cities you plan to visit, asking for a list of plant tours.) You can see industry of all types, and you'll find it a cheap way to learn about America, since most tours are free.

Perhaps you'll want to include an industry near your home. Perhaps, if your vacation takes you to the Northwest, you'll want to visit one of the 10 Weyerhaeuser plants which welcome visitors. (Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Tacoma Bldg., Tacoma 1, Wash., can furnish a full list. West Coast Lumbermen's Assn., 1410 S.W. Morrison, Portland 5, Ore., lists other plants with guided tours.)

Here are some of the things that interested the Rogers family — Virgil, his wife Marian and their children, quiet Roberta, 12, and lively Gayland, 10 — during their tour here.

- A giant crane that lifted piles of six 48-foot logs and dropped them gently into a pond to be floated to the sawmill.
- An ingenious "barker" that blasted logs with a high-pressure (1,400-lb.) water stream, removing bark without damaging the wood.
- A massive band saw, 59 feet long, that could chew through logs 7 feet thick.
- A plywood machine which "peeled" logs, converting them into continuous sheets as thin as one-tenth of an inch.
- An impressive battery of machines that could slice, square, sort and stack semi-finished lumber.
- A hard-working crew of 4,200 employes who made the machines go.

The family talked to the mill's key man, George Gilles, 69. As chief sawyer, Gilles quarterbacks the giant mill's whole operation from a tiny booth full of buttons and levers. His "head rig," a huge band saw, makes the first cut into the log. Gilles must judge — quickly — from that cut how the log should be cut further to get the most valuable lumber from it. To date, he has cut more than 2 billion feet of lumber.

On a catwalk above the head rig, the family began their tour. The children were full of questions. "How do you stand the noise?" (Many employes wear ear plugs.) "How much lumber do you make a day?" (1,250,000 board feet, enough for 150 three-bedroom houses.) "What's the biggest tree you ever had?" (10½ feet across.) "What happens to the scraps?" (They're converted into pulp.) "What happens to the bark?" (Valuable chemicals, which can be used to prevent food spoilage, are extracted from it. Chips can be used for molding, glue and insulation.)

Almost every splinter of the tree is used, the Rogers discovered. About 20 per cent — top, limbs and small bits — remains in the woods. Three-fourths of the rest goes into lumber. The other 25 per cent goes into pulp manufacture and ends up as paper.

The logging camps, of course, were off limits to visitors, but the family did visit the St. Helens Tree Farm, which feeds the operation at Longview. Here foresters explained modern, scientific timbering: big blocks are cleared completely, but other blocks of trees are left standing to reseed the area naturally.

And in this vicinity, the family capitalized on another Weyerhaeuser service. Traveling with tent and camp gear, they pitched camp in Harry E. Morgan Park, on State Route 1-R, one of 22 such parks maintained by the company and open to the public. (You can obtain a full list of these parks by writing Weyerhaeuser. You can find out about parks operated by other firms from the West Coast Lumbermen's Assn.)

Fish and a Picnic

The 10-by-12 umbrella tent went up near the north fork of the Toutle River. Gayland, a young outdoorsman, and his dad were able to fish for steelhead and trout nearby. Firewood was furnished. (The nation's largest timber producer hires a private logger to do this.) There were fireplaces and picnic tables.

These park areas are one answer to the forest-fire problem. By concentrating campers and picnickers at patrolled spots, they cut down the possibilities of fires in remote areas. Begun only a few years ago, the plan has been spreading widely.

The four Rogers stayed in the park only two nights, for there was more vacation to come. But when they left, they felt they had learned a bonus lesson about modern American industry. In this country, industry goes out of its way to welcome people. This may be your summer to accept the invitation — to take advantage of an opportunity to know America better.

And before you go, these are things you should remember to do: 1) Advise local police of your absence and have them check your home. 2) Leave a copy of your route and license number with a neighbor for emergencies. 3) Lock windows and doors, turn off appliances and pull main electric switch. 4) Stop milk delivery. 5) Continue your daily newspaper and have it forwarded or held for your return. ■

Ex-gem thief, five years in solitary, says

Not long ago, in a report on prison reform, the Prison Association of New York asserted that merely keeping felons locked up is not the function of a prison.

But a man who once spent five straight years in solitary confinement challenges that assertion. He is Arthur Barry, imprisoned during the 1920s for looting wealthy homes of more than $5 million in gems. Says Barry: "As far as the wardens and guards are concerned, it is the function of a prison. Their job is done when every man is locked up in his cell and accounted for."

Barry's five years in solitary is a hitherto unrecorded chapter in his crime career. It did not end when he was sentenced to 25 years in the maximum-security prison at Auburn, N.Y. In 1929, he and three other convicts shot their way out in a break that triggered one of the worst prison riots in history. Recaptured, he was sentenced to seven years for escape, five to be spent in solitary.

Today a respected citizen with a job and a deep interest in problems of juvenile delinquency and prison rehabilitation, Barry here tells this story for the first time.—THE EDITORS

SOLITARY confinement is a deliberate effort to break a prisoner's spirit so that he will conform to rules and regulations.

It is total isolation. I was in my cell seven days a week. I ate my meals there. I was not permitted in the exercise yard but was taken to a cage on the prison roof for an hour a day. I was allowed one bath a week. I could not work or attend church. I could write one letter a week and was given books, but no newspapers.

TODAY, rehabilitated, Barry has a good job as manager of a New England restaurant chain. Key to rehabilitation, he thinks, is an indeterminate sentence — plus parole.

And so I spent 23 hours a day in that 6'-by-8' cell. Always I had to fight the impulse to scream or bang my head against the wall; I soon learned that this kind of a "break-up act" would bring the guards down the line shooting tear gas into the cells to quiet things down.

It is true that some of the inmates' outbursts were phony, staged just to get out of isolation and into the hospital. But most were real. I saw about 20 men taken out of isolation — some in strait jackets — in a state of screaming insanity.

When the Mind Breaks

But there was another form of escape. A man would lapse into what is known as "prison stupor," which is living death. Failing to keep his mind active, the prisoner retreats into the past and gradually loses contact with reality. In prison lingo, he is "ready for the straw hat" — the mental institution.

Yet for some, even that wasn't the end of the line. I know men who fully recovered under treatment in the mental hospital, regained their freedom and are now living normal lives. I also know men who finished their sentences in solitary, then came out into a "dog-eat-dog" world bitterly hating all officers of the law and everything they stand for.

During my five years, there was one period when I was out of my cell and into something worse than solitary. It happened that, in the cell next to mine, there was a fellow who was mad at himself and the world at large. As soon as the lights were turned off at night he would start kicking the wall and keep on kicking until daylight. His way of getting even, I guess. After several nights of this, I was afraid I really was going to crack up.

One day I met this fellow in the corridor on the way to my weekly bath. He made some sarcastic remark. Jittery from those sleepless nights, I blew my top and belted him in the mouth.

That meant the "cooler" for me. This was a black, rectangular hole in the wall. There, dressed only in underwear and socks, I slept on the damp, bitterly cold floor. The blanket I was given covered me only from my neck to my ankles. My "meals" consisted of two thin slices of bread and two glasses of water a day. I spent 10 days in the cooler. There was one small satisfaction: They told me I broke that fellow of his kicking habit. It was a tough price to pay for peace and quiet.

The next time I left my cell for an extended period I was carried out — to the prison hospital. For weeks I had suffered an agonizing pain in my right side. I begged the guard to call the prison doctor, but he thought I was faking and ignored me. It was during the winter, with the temperature 18 below outside and close to zero in the unheated cell.

Finally, when I no longer could get out of bed, the guard decided I really was sick and sent for the doctor. He discovered I had an infected gall bladder and rushed me to the operating table.

Back in solitary after I recovered, I was weak and shaky, perilously close to breaking up. To keep my mind active, I mentally built and furnished the house I hoped to live in when I got out.

There is a curious twist to this. You retain your sanity at a price, so to speak. The constant turmoil of thoughts makes it more and more difficult to sleep. After long solitary confinement, it will take a man years to learn how to sleep again.

Along with all my planning, I kept trying to devise some practical scheme to get out. Finally I decided to go right to the top. I wrote the New York State Commissioner of Correction: "Either put me to work, transfer me or shoot me. I don't give a damn which you do."

It wasn't that I felt I was going to break. For that matter, I don't think another year or another five years in solitary could have broken me. But I wanted to get out of there.

When the Commissioner came to Auburn on one of his regular visits, he sent for me and said: "Barry, if we give you a chance, will you pull another 1929 act?"

He meant the prison break. I answered: "Mr. Commissioner, I have no intention of doing anything like that, and if you'll give me a chance I'll prove it."

I Kept My Word

Subsequently I was transferred to another maximum-security prison at Attica, N.Y., where I was put with the regular prison population. There I served the remaining 12 years of my sentence. To this day, I have kept my word to the Commissioner, to those who believed in me — and to myself.

I have thought a lot about rehabilitation, and these are my conclusions:

- The way to rehabilitate a prisoner is to give him something to look forward to. When, for example, a man is given 99 to 100 years, or two natural life sentences, he loses all hope.
- The law that compels a judge to impose that kind of a sentence should be taken off the books.
- All sentences should be indeterminate, starting with one year and going up to what the judge thinks is reasonable. That will give the prisoner hope — some reason to rehabilitate himself — and his own efforts then will regulate his time in prison.
- Let the prisoner finish his sentence under strict parole, outside, where his freedom will last just so long as he behaves himself. That, by the way, would save taxpayers the $700 we spend each year to keep each man in prison.

You may ask if solitary confinement did me any good. I say solitary never did anything constructive for anybody. But it can do something else: make a hopeless rebel of a man — or drive him mad. ■

Faces of the world

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM. After the first few performances of Circarama, one of the top attractions at the World's Fair here, Elizabeth "Pat" English, a U.S. girl guide from Chevy Chase, Md., exclaimed, "This is a show that makes me proud to be an American. I could stand here and watch it all summer."

Part of the big U.S. exhibit, Circarama is, in effect, a full-circle screen showing color movies of life in America. Spectators stand in the center of the building — a circular pavilion — and above their heads the movie, with full sound effects, is shown on a screen extending around the entire circumference. The film, prepared by Walt Disney, is an 18-minute documentary that whisks you through a dramatic tour of the U.S. — from New York harbor and Times Square to rural life in Vermont, from San Francisco's cable cars and Golden Gate Bridge to Williamsburg and majestic panoramas of the Rockies.

To European visitors, as these photos indicate, Circarama is a startling, often overwhelming experience. Unfortunately, of the 40,000,000 people expected to visit the Fair, only about 3,000,000 (because of Circarama's limited capacity) will have a chance to see this great film.

Wide-eyed couple watches image cast by 11 projectors behind the screen.

New York harbor and the Statue of Liberty are among the views of America which impress European audiences the most.

UNEMPLOYED dictator Juan Perón, in an exclusive photo taken in Venezuela, takes coffee before portraits of his late wife, Eva (Evita). Her money, allegedly millions, probably is in Swiss banks.

LATIN AMERICA STILL IS PRODUCING...

The world's richest

by JAMES BRYANS

Not too long ago, ex-dictator Juan Domingo Perón of Argentina occupied a hotel suite in Caracas, Venezuela. Outside the door, a silver plaque read: Vuelve Perón (Perón will return). But this January the sloganeer had to pack his bags and follow his former host to new exile. Marcos Pérez Jiménez, dictator of Venezuela, also had been thrown out.

Was this the begining of the end for the old-time Latin American dictator? Was the legendary "man on horseback" making his last ride?

Within a scant five years no less than five south-of-the-border strong men have left on the run, taking with them as consolation an estimated billion dollars. Their three remaining dictatorial colleagues have reason to shiver in their boots. So, at least, say such informed observers as Dr. Germán Arciniegas of Columbia University. Says he: "The Latin countries, once isolated from democratic influences from abroad, fell into the hands of money-grabbing gangsters: Today, real democratic forces are at work. These men cannot last."

Meanwhile, five ex-dictators are "on the lam" with unlimited funds. Who are they? Where are they? What are they up to? Here are their dossiers . . .

- Jacobo Arbenz Guzmán, handsome, leftist strong man of Guatemala, took power in 1950. When anti-Communist forces overthrew him in July, 1954, he lost a fast-amassed personal fortune estimated at $5 million. But Arbenz, recently reported in Uruguay, still has deposits abroad — estimated at "plenty."
- Juan Domingo Perón, 62, is said to own not merely a silver plaque but some $700 million, largely stashed away in U.S. and European banks. When he fled Argentina in September, 1955, he left 400 suits, 14 autos, four palatial homes, several hideouts and $20 million in cash — apparently without even wincing. When he showed up in Venezuela in 1956, he carried an estimated $175 million in cash.
- Paul E. Magliore, 50, big-chested former President of Haiti, ruled behind the scenes for four years prior to his election in 1950. His paternal approach won him such epithets as "Iron Pants" and "Good Papa" — until his ouster in December, 1956, after reportedly skimming $12 million off the top of public-works projects. Today, apparently inactive, he lives in New York City.

runaways

• Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, 57, gaunt ex-dictator of Colombia, seized power in June, 1953. In May, 1957, when a rigged election backfired, Rojas was deposed and fled to Spain with his family — and a reported $25 million.

• Marcos Pérez Jiménez, 43, plump former boss of Venezuela, left this January after five years of rule. "P.J.," whose pastimes were said to include the pursuit of teen-age playmates on one of his 30 motor scooters, decamped to the Dominican Republic with a reputed $247 million. Recently the ex-dictator and his family were reported buying a $400,000 home in Miami Beach, Fla.

Big Deals in Cuba

These five examples might well sober the three who still sit shakily astride their white horses. Yet to outward appearances they're still living in the free-wheeling, free-stealing past.

Informed sources set the private fortune of Cuba's Fulgencio Batista at $100 million - -allegedly derived from gambling and real-estate deals. Paraguay's Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, boss of an impoverished land, presumably is getting what he can. So is the Dominican Republic's Rafael Trujillo, who has rather larger opportunities. Though his nephew Hector is the country's "elected" president, Trujillo runs the tightest dictatorship in the hemisphere. Says an observer: "Nobody can tell what belongs to the Dominican Republic and what to Trujillo."

Traditionally, Latin America's top dogs have made off with everything that wasn't nailed down. But traditions — including this one - - can change.

INCUMBENT Cuban chief Fulgencio Batista: When he leaves, observers say he'll be able to take perhaps $100 million.

HAS-BEEN Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, former strong man of Colombia, seems contented in retirement with his wife, money.

New lineup: Latin America's heads of state

Above you've read of five dictators who are gone. With three exceptions, most of the current leaders were elected, and govern, in the democratic tradition. Here they are, by countries.

Do BLESSED MEDALS Really Protect Us?

You see a Catholic with a religious medal hanging from a chain around his neck.

And if you don't understand what it means... and why he wears it... you may imagine, as some do, that he is merely ignorant or superstitious.

Catholics, of course, don't believe any more than you do that a mere piece of metal has supernatural value, even with a sacred image engraved upon it. Nor do they believe that the blessings derived from medals and other devotional objects come from the objects themselves.

It is the official prayer, the blessing of Christ's Church, that gives special value to a medal. The prayer is the appeal of the world-wide church for God's blessing upon those who... with piety and reverence... associate themselves with a particular devotion. The medal is merely a sign or symbol of something that does possess spiritual power—the blessing and prayer of the church.

Blessed medals, of which there are many, are called "sacramentals." Holy water, candles, scapulars and other devotional objects are also sacramentals, or devotional objects blessed and authorized by the church as aids to piety and worship. Their use by Catholics is a matter of choice, not obligation. And they are not to be confused with the Sacraments, instituted by Christ Himself, which do constitute an obligation upon all Catholics.

Catholics believe... and the Bible confirms... that Jesus did establish His Church. He gave it the authority to teach, to baptize, to forgive or remit sins, to minister to His "flock." When His disciples said: "Lord, teach us to pray", he taught them; and he assured them their prayers would be heard in heaven.

For nearly 2,000 years, Catholics the world over have been wondrously blessed by the prayers of the whole Church... and their own... through a wide variety of practices and devotions. Therefore, when you see a Catholic with a blessed medal hanging from a chain around his neck, you can be sure he is not praying to the medal itself... nor to the image upon it ...but that he and millions like him are uniting their prayer to God Himself for a special purpose.

The sacramentals of the Catholic Church are a powerful aid to piety and devotion. And whether you're a Catholic or not, it will be interesting and helpful to you to read our free pamphlet explaining the Rosary, holy water, the Sign of the Cross, Scapulars, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, etc. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. PR-38. It will be sent free in a plain wrapper; nobody will call on you.

A career job for youth after school

Not going to college? This experience may help you

Today, many girls are finishing high school, not planning on college, but refusing to settle for "just a job." They are training for and getting career jobs — work they can get some satisfaction out of now, and can go back to in later years if they wish.

Pretty, slender, brown-haired Marigayle Failor, 20, is one of these.

Eighteen months after being graduated from Lemoyne High School, Harrisburg, Pa., she had her diploma from the Harrisburg Institute of Medical Arts. She now is medical assistant to two doctors, general practitioner Stanley Wetmore and pediatrician Virginia Williams. She started at $50 a week, good for Harrisburg, and she stretches her salary by living at home and walking to work.

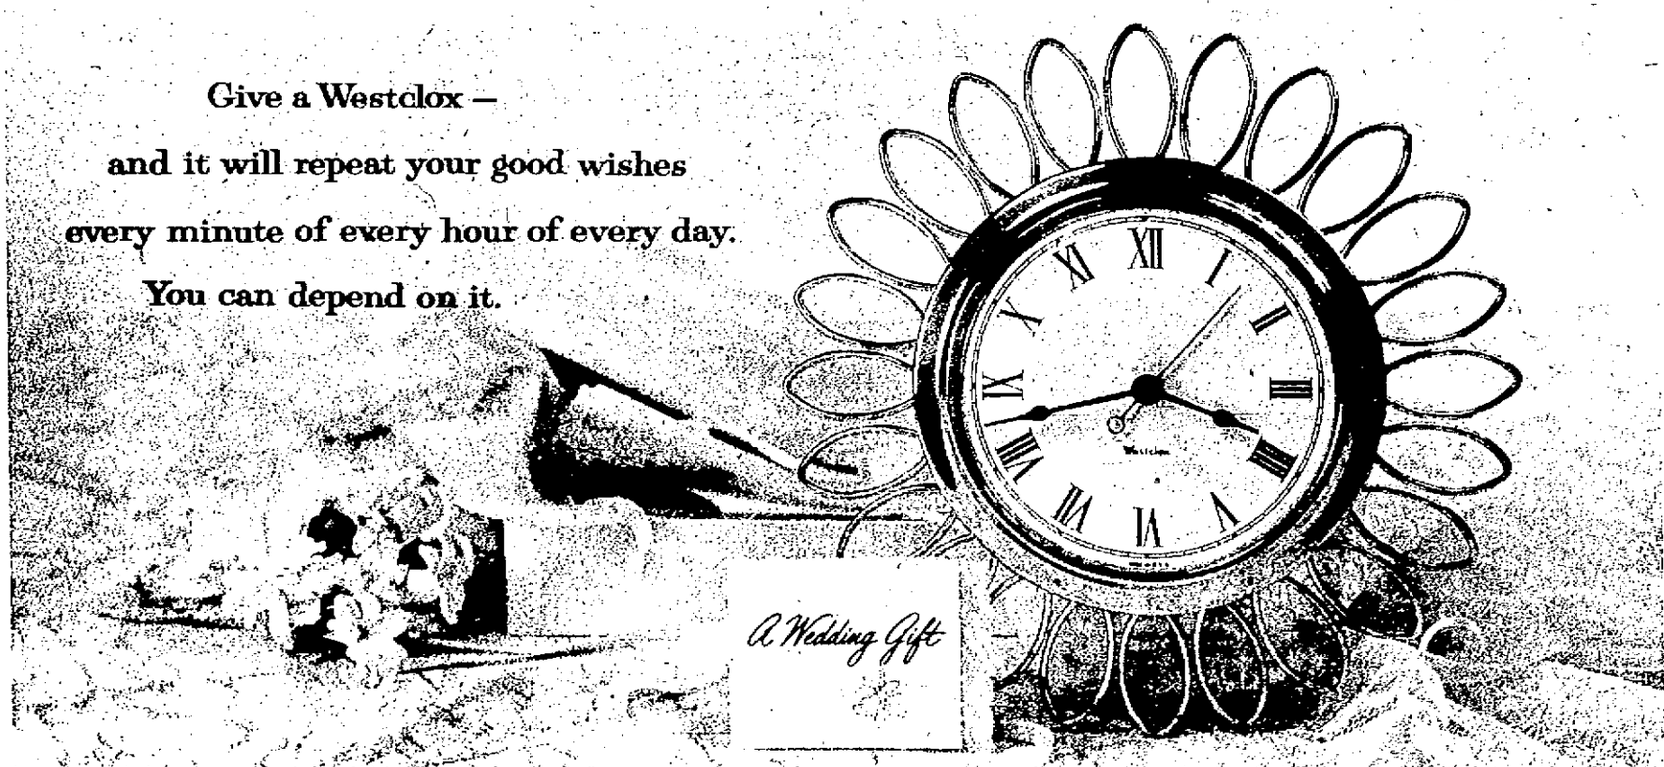

At the office she is the entire staff. She prepares patients for examinations, sterilizes instruments for her bosses' use, does routine lab tests. She also is the receptionist, writes the letters and keeps the books.

"Handling frantic telephone calls baffled me at first," she confesses. By now Marigayle, who has a sweet gentle voice, has learned how to advise and comfort a patient or a patient's worried parents.

"I like talking to people," she told me. "I like being around them. I guess I just like people." This, her school counselor says, is one of the first requirements for anyone in the health field.

Medical assistants are in high demand. Every member of Marigayle's class at the Institute had a job before graduation. They work in hospitals, insurance companies and health clinics, as well as for physicians in private practice. The larger the city, the higher the salary is apt to be. One of Marigayle's friends, three years out of school, is making $100 a week in Philadelphia.

Though it is possible to begin as an apprentice and learn on the job, Marigayle decided that the $500 and 18 months needed for a course was worth the solid start it would give her. (It now is $600 and 24 months.) Emphasis at her school is on lab skills, medical terminology and nursing techniques. Basic secretarial training also is required.

She's Not a Nurse

"School is terrific," Marigayle told me. "I loved every minute of it. And I landed this job six months before I graduated."

All her life Marigayle had been interested in medicine. But nursing didn't appeal to her. She didn't want to spend eight years getting an M.D. And "medical secretary" sounded more "secretary" than "medical."

Then, during her junior year in high school, she went to a Career Night. That's when people from various professions and trades describe their jobs and tell about the requirements — and the rewards.

Marigayle was astonished to learn that there were more than 150 different opportunities in the health field for men and women. When "medical assistant" was described, she was almost certain it was what she wanted. "I was amazed. It seemed to have everything I had been looking for."

The variety in the job, the opportunity to help people, even the hours appealed to her.

She's on duty about 35 hours a week, but not the usual business hours — 10 to 4:30 Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays; Thursday, Saturday, Sunday afternoons off; on duty three nights a week, from 7 to 9.

Marigayle is engaged to a nice fellow who's studying to be a teacher. She intends to work after they're married — at least for a while. "I can't imagine giving up my career quite yet."

Now, here are four tips from Marigayle for high-school students seeking careers.

Look — Then Settle Down

1) Be curious. Be broadminded. Look into all sorts of opportunities — even ones you're pretty sure you don't want. Chances are you don't know how many different ones there are. Here's where your school counselor can be a big help.

2) When you think you've found something you like, investigate it. Talk to somebody who does this kind of work. Learn the bad things about it as well as the good ones. You owe it to yourself as well as your employer not to leap into something blind.

3) Even if you think you know what you want, keep an open mind — at least while you still are in high school. Things may change. Maybe you'll go to college after all. Something may come up that you like better.

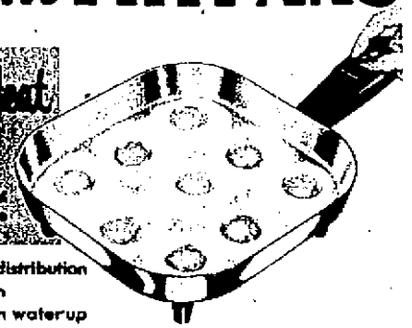

4) Once you start work, or start training for your work, settle down. Stop thinking of all the other things you might have done. Stick to your choice — at least until you have given it a fair trial. Maybe at times you won't like it. But that's to be expected of any job. It's a waste of your talents, your money and your time to skip from school to school or from job to job.

To find out about medical-assistant training near your home, call your local or county medical society.

For information about other careers in health, consult the Health Careers guidebook in your school library. If your library doesn't have it, you can get it free by writing to The National Health Council, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N.Y.

LANCE

WARREN TUFTS

BLACK POWDER, LEAD BALLS, FUSES, ARROWS.....WITH THESE, LANCE HOPES TO STAMPEDE THE HORSES OF THE ENEMY.....

EACH HUNTER IS EQUIPPED WITH A DOZEN OF THE INGENIOUS MISSILES. SHORTLY AFTER MIDNIGHT, THEY SET OFF FOR THE ENEMY CAMP.....

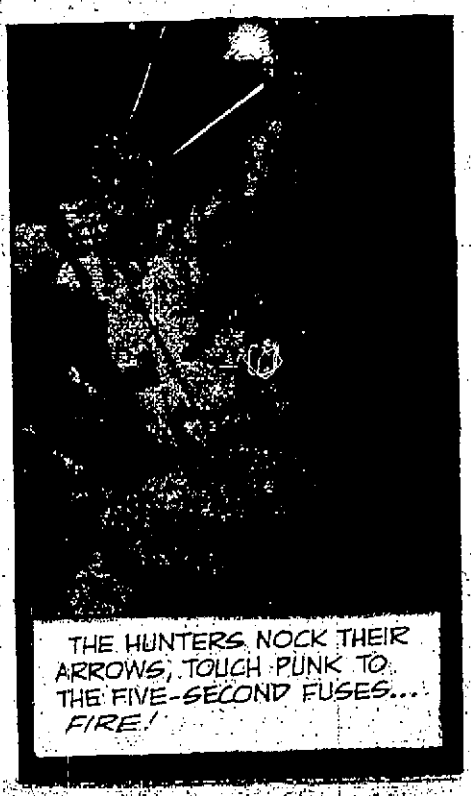

AT THE FAR END OF THE VALLEY, CAPTAIN BLAZE MOVES HIS TWENTY RANGERS INTO CHARGE FORMATION AND WAITS.....

LANCE TAKES UP POSITION AT THE OPPOSITE END. THE ENEMY IS BOTTLED UP. IT IS FOUR O'CLOCK, AN HOUR BEFORE DAY-BREAK....THE SIGNAL IS GIVEN!

THE HUNTERS NOCK THEIR ARROWS, TOUCH PUNK TO THE FIVE-SECOND FUSES... FIRE!

THE ARROWS ARC THROUGH THE BLACK NIGHT, STREAMING SPARKS, AND EXPLODE ABOVE THE HORSES! ANOTHER EXPLOSION FOLLOWS, AND ANOTHER..... PANIC!

THE GRASSHOPPER IS WELL EQUIPPED WITH EYES, FOR HE HAS FIVE!
WITH HIS TWO LARGE EYES, HE SEES DISTANT OBJECTS...
AND BECAUSE THIS PAIR PROTRUDES FROM HIS HEAD, HE CAN SEE IN ALL DIRECTIONS
BUT THESE BIG EYES WILL NOT FOCUS LIKE THOSE OF ANIMALS AND MAN...
SO FOR CLOSE-UP VIEWING HE SWITCHES TO THE THREE SMALL ONES ON HIS "FOREHEAD"
THESE ENABLE HIM TO SEE WHAT HE'S EATING, OR TO GET A BETTER LOOK AT HIS LADY LOVE
AMERICAN INDIANS, AND OTHER RACES IN THE PAST, HAVE USED GRASS-HOPPERS AS FOOD MIGRATORY FLIGHTS OF GRASSHOPPERS ARE A SCOURGE TO FARMERS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD AND OCCASIONALLY THE PEOPLE OF OUR WESTERN STATES MUST FIGHT THESE HUNGRY SWARMS TO SAVE THEIR CROPS
